Patricia Travers, outstanding young American violinist, will appear as the second number on the Winthrop college 1946'47 artist course series in the auditorium at 8 p.m. Friday, October 25.

When nine years old, the youthful violinist made her formal debut on the Ford Sunday evening hour with the Detroit Symphony orchestra.

During the nine years of her professional career, Miss Travers has made 66 appearances as soloist with the leading symphony orchestras of the country.

To complete her three-fold career of concert, radio and screen, she has recently made a movie for Paramount, "There's Magic in Music."

Miss Travers was born in Allwood, N.J., where she began the study of violin at the age of four, and gave her first public concert at six at Music Mountain, Conn.

At present, she is taking voice at the Paul Althouse in New York.
