What Does Your Wood Cost You?

Possibly you are one of the many who have never taken the trouble to keep an account of what your wood for your cooking stove is costing you. If so, you should start today keeping an accurate account of this important household expense.

A responsible Chester man recently told us that he had of late been keeping an account of his wood bill and had found that it was costing him from $9.00 to $12.00 every month. In addition to the cost he lost considerable time from his business trying to find the wood and when he got it it was so green he could hardly get a fire started. And too, he or the housewife had to carry that wood into the house and put it into the stove and after all that round, the ashes were to be carried out and scattered over the premises.

What Did This Man Do?

He bought an electric range which saves him time, trouble and money to say nothing of the pleasure his wife gets by having her daily work lightened.

Scores of Chester people have realized the advantage of using electric ranges and others are daily buying them. Talk to those who have bought and then call at our place of business and let us demonstrate one of the many models we carry.

We know that if you will take the trouble to look into the matter that you will buy an electric range.
