INDEX.

 The Numeral Letters refer to the Volume, and the Figures to the Page.

A

BASEMENT, not the natural consequence of Polytheism, ii. 440.
Abstraction, what, ii. 485, Note (P).
Absurdity, not always the greatest in Polytheism, ii. 422.
-------- greedily coveted by popular Religions, ii. 443.
Acheans, employed Force in forming their League, i. 479.
--------, their Number, i. 449.
Addison quoted, i. 93, 207. ii. 184.
Æschines quoted, i. 341, 445.
Æschines Socraticus quoted, ii. 374.
Ætolians, their Number, i. 449.
Agathocles, the Tyrant, his Cruelty, i. 425, 558, Note (CC).
Agreeableness, a Source of Merit, ii. 299.
--------, to Ourself, ibid. &c.
--------, to Others, ii. 311, &c.
Agriculture, how best encouraged, i. 276, 277, 234, 435.
Alcorn, its Ethics, i. 243.
Alexander the Imposter of Lucian, his Artifice, ii. 126.
Alexander the Great, his Saying to Parmenio, ii. 301.
--------, his Toleration, ii. 438.
--------, his Emulation of Bacchus, ii. 441.
Alexandria, its Size and Number of its Inhabitants, i. 453.
Allegiance, its Obligation, whence, i. 487. ii. 253.
Allegory has naturally place in Polytheism, ii. 422.
Anacreon quoted, ii. 390.
Analogies, and sometimes slight, have Influence in Jurisprudence, ii. 244, 362.
Anaxagoras, the first Theist, and the first accused of Atheism, ii. 503, Note (ZZ).
INDEX.

Bancroft, what, ii. 503, Note (XX).
Angels, modern, equivalent to the Deities of the Philosophers, ii. 421.
Animals, their Reason, ii. 109, &c.
Antioc, its Size, i. 453.
Antipater, the Cyreniac, his Saying, i. 188.
Appian Alexanderinus quoted, i. 343, 393, 413, 419, 422, 425, 429, 440, 463. ii. 382.
Arnobius quoted, ii. 417, 425.
Aristides the Sophist quoted, i. 502, Note (KK).
Aristocracy, Polish, Venetian, in what respects different, i. 15, 16.
Aristophanes not impious according to the Ideas of Antiquity, ii. 417.
——— quoted, i. 408.
Aristotle quoted, i. 227, 408, 446, 456. ii. 371, 503, Note (YY).
Armstrong, Dr quoted, ii. 370.
Arrand quoted, i. 132, 369, 432, ii. 438, 441.
Atheism, whether possible, ii. 157.
Athenaeus quoted, i. 443, 444, 446.
Athens, i. 99, 273, 341, 428, 443, 444, 446, 478.
Athenians, on what they chiefly value themselves, ii. 308.
Athenian Man of Merit, ii. 377, &c.
Augustine (Saint) his Dogmatism, ii. 449.
Augustus, his Impiety mixed with Superstition, ii. 418.
———, his Superstition, ii. 450.
———, his Age compared with that of Camillus, i. 274.
Annoi, Madame, quoted, i. 200.
Aurelius, Marcus, his Theism, ii. 421, his Superstition, 455.
Austria, House of, Causes of its Decay, i. 358.
Authority of Teachers, useful to check it, i. 126.

B

Bacon, quoted, i. 56, 95, 213, 282. ii. 136, 267, 427.
Balance of Power, i. 32, 353, &c.—Of Trade, i. 327, &c.
——— Of Property, i. 32, 47.
Banks and Paper Credit, whether advantageous, i. 301, 336.
Barbarity an Attribute of the Deity in popular Religions, ii. 465.
Bartolli’s Plans of ancient Buildings, i. 451.
Bayle quoted, ii. 441, 484.
Beauty, why the object of Pride, ii. 187.
Belief, what, ii. 51, &c.
Bemarina, Cardinal, his Saying, ii. 441.

INDEX

Benevolence, i. 89, disinterested zeal, ii. 349, &c. its kinds, 351.
——— a Virtue, 222. from its Utility, 225. from its Agreeableness, 307.
Berkeley, Dr, a real Sceptic, ii. 484, Note (N.) quoted, i. 223.
Bera, Canton of, its Treasure, i. 342.
Bentivoglio quoted, i. 225.
Boccace quoted, i. 190.
Boileau quoted, ii. 321.
Bolingbroke quoted, i. 44, 445.
Bolainvilliers quoted, i. 571. ii. 415.
Casals, his Saying, ii. 441.
Bramoy, Père, quoted, ii. 417.

C

Caesar quoted, i. 419, 462, 463, 550, Note (K). ii. 416.
——— his Account of the Number slaughtered in his Wars, i. 560, Note (FF.)
Cambyse, his Extravagance, ii. 441.
Capitoline quoted, i. 461.
Caprice, an Attribute of the Deity in popular Religions, ii. 466.
Carlist, Earl of, quoted, i. 138.
Cartes, Des, quoted, i. 259. ii. 475, Note (D).
Ceritage, its Size and Number of its Inhabitants, i. 456.
Carthaginians, their human Sacrifices, ii. 504, Note (BBB).
Catholics, Roman, Genius of their Religion, i. 80.
——— led into Absurdities, ii. 446.
Cato de re rustica, quoted, i. 411.
Cato of Utica, his speech to Caesar, i. 289.
Cause and Effect its Ideas, whence, ii. 26, 27, &c. Its Definition, 80. 447, Note (G).
Causes moral, how far they contribute to national Characters, i. 213.
——— physical, how far, i. 222.
Causation, a Reason of Association, ii. 22, 54, &c.
Cavalier Party, i. 69.
Cervantes, his Merit, i. 237, quoted, 259.
Chance, what, ii. 62. Its influence in Society, i. 117.
Characters, national, i. 213, &c.
Charles XII. of Sweden, his Character, ii. 308.
Chastity, its Merit, whence, ii. 255.
Cheerfulness, its Merit, whence, ii. 290.
China, its Excellence and Defects, i. 146.
Christian Religion founded in Faith, not in Reason, ii. 136.
Vol. II.
L1
INDEX.

City, Reasons which limit the greatness of every City, i. 456.
Cleanness, its Merit, whence, ii. 517.
Clergy, why no Friends to Liberty, i. 66.
Cold, greater in ancient Times, i. 457, 458.
Colonies and Orsini, Parties in modern Rome, i. 57.
COLUMELLA quoted, i. 325, 403, 407, 412, 413, 460, 465, 544, Note (T).

Comitia centuriata & tributa, their different Powers, i. 392, &c.
Commerce, its Advantages, i. 272. foreign, its Advantages, 279, 280.

Commonwealth, perfect Idea of it, i. 523, &c.

Companionable Qualities, ii. 312, &c.

Comparison, its Effect, i. 84, necessary to forming the Taste, 254.
Comte, Pere le, quoted, ii. 416.
Confucius, Prince of, a Saying of his, i. 124.
Confusius, his Disciples Deists, i. 79.
Congreve, his Character, i. 269.

CONJUNCTION frequent, constant, the only circumstance from which we know Cause and Effect, ii. 73, 77, 81, &c.

Connection necessary, our idea of it, ii. 63, &c.
Constantine, Emperor, his Innovation, i. 366.
Constitution, British, i. 25, 49, &c.
Contiguity, a Reason of Association, i. 22, 52.

Contract, Original, i. 471, &c.

Conventions, whether the Source of Justice, ii. 360, &c.

Conviction, strongest, but not more general, in Theism, ii. 444.

Corn distributed in Rome, i. 451, 452.
Corneille, his Character, i. 209.
Corpus juris civilis quoted, i. 423, 556, Note (Z).
Courage, how far national, i. 226.

— — —, its Merit, whence, ii. 303.
Country Party, i. 27, 66, 67.
Court Party, i. 27, 66, 67.
Creation or Formation of the World enters not into the primitive Religion, ii. 421.
Credit, public, its Abuses, i. 369, 370, &c.

CUTRIUS, Quintus, quoted, i. 218, 377, 565, Note (NN). ii. 415, 425.

CUSTOM or Habit the source of experimental Reasoning, ii. 46.

— — —, the great Guide of Life, ii. 47.

Customs, some remarkable ones, i. 387, &c.

Cyrus boasts of his Drunkenness, i. 228.

DARIUS Hystaspes records his Ability in drinking on his Tombstone, i. 228.

Datames, the only Barbarian, a General, i. 292.
Decency, its Merit, whence, ii. 317.
Debt, public, its advantages, i. 372.

— — —, its Disadvantages, i. 373, 374.
Deists united with the Independents, i. 80.

Delicacy of Passion, how hurtful, i. 3, &c.

— — —, of Taste, how advantageous, i. 3, 4, 5, what it is, 249, whence its Merit, ii. 369.

Democracy without a Representative, hurtful, i. 14, 15.

DEMOSTHENES his Character, i. 299, quoted, i. 109, 341, 354, 388, 390, 404, 408, 418, 432, 445, 559, Note (CC). 561, Note (HH) ii. 303, 393.

Desire, Aversion, ii. 191.

DIONYSIUS Siculus his Character, i. 560, Note (EE).

— — —, Superstitious, yet not a Theist, ii. 419.

DIODEDES LAERTIUS quoted, i. 438. ii. 425.

Diogenes, the Cynic, his Character, 396, 397.

ION CASSIUS quoted, i. 324.

DIONYSIUS Halicarnassus quoted, i. 205, 549, Note (I). 429, 450, ii. 412, 421.

Dionysius the Tyrant, his Massacres, i. 426.

— — —, his Army, i. 274, 441.

Discretion, its Merit, whence, ii. 356.

Division of Property, useful, i. 420.

Domestic Situation of Ancients and Moderns, i. 401, 422.

Dorians and Ionians, i. 226.

Dryden quoted, i. 215. ii. 448.

Dubos, Abbe, quoted, i. 232, 333, 457, 466.

ECLECTICS, a Sect. i. 127.

Egyptians, why Persecutors, ii. 437.

Egyptian Religion, a Difficulty in it, ii. 449.

— — — —, and Jewish resembling, ii. 505, Note (CCC).

Elizabeth, Queen, whether her Resurrection could be proved, ii. 137.

Eloquence, i. 101, &c.

L 12
INDEX

G

GALLANTRY of Civility, i. 135.
— — — of Intrigues, ii. 394.
Gamesters and Sailors why superstitious, ii. 412.
Gaul, Number of its Inhabitants, i. 463.
Gec, Mr, quoted, i. 328.
General Rules, their Influence, ii. 198, 255.
Genoa, its Government and Bank, i. 22.
Getes, immortal, their Faith, ii. 433.
Golden Age not susceptible of Justice, ii. 237.
Good Sense, how far essential to Taste, i. 256.
Georgius Leontinus, his Eloquence, i. 543, Note (D).

Greece, its Advantages from its Situation, i. 127.
— — — its whole Military Force, i. 450.
— — — Numbers of its Inhabitants, i. 461.
Grotius quoted, ii. 498, Note (PP).
Guelf and Ghibelline Parties, i. 58.
Guicciardini quoted, i. 292, ii. 373.
Gustavus Vasa, i. 67.

H

HARDOULIN, Pere, quoted, i. 563.
Harrington, his Oceana censured, i. 525.
— — — quoted, i. 47, 95, 524.
Heliogabalus, a conic Stone, ii. 435.
Henry IV. of France, his Character, i. 308.
— — — a Saying of his, i. 554, Note (S).
Henry the IVth and VIIth of England, their Title, i. 479.
Helvetia, its Inhabitants, i. 464.
Hereditary Right, how important, i. 511.
Heresy, Appellation rests commonly on the Side of Reason: Examples, ii. 443.
Hero-worship, ii. 423.
HERODIAN quoted, i. 453, 462, 489. ii. 425.
HERODOTUS quoted, i. 432, 443, 449, ii. 304, 416, 433, 438, 444, 459, 462.
Hertha, Goddess of the Saxons, ii. 426.
HESIOD, not a Theist properly speaking, ii. 418.
— — — Inconsistency in his Theology, ii. 431.
— — — quoted, i. 411. ii. 418, 423, 431, 503, Note (YY).
INDEX.

Hiero, King of Syracuse, his Policy, i. 357.
Hirtius quoted, i. 425.
Homer his character, i. 248. His Ethics, i. 242. ii. 304. Inconstancy of his Theology, ii. 431. quoted, ii. 437, 423.
Homer and Hesiod, canonical Books of ancient Paganism, ii. 418.
Honesty the best Policy, ii. 334.
Hope and Fear defended, ii. 176, 177.
Hults, its Signification in old Latin, i. 531, Note [O].
Human Life, general Idea of it, i. 193.
—— Nature, its dignity, i. 83.
Humility, its Causes, ii. 184.
Husbandmen, what Proportion they bear to Manufacturers, i. 272.
Hutchinson, Mr, quoted, i. 381.
Hyde de Religione veterum Persarum, quoted, ii. 433, 438.

Jansenists, their Genius, i. 80, ii. 481, 482.
Ice. Reports of it not credible to an Indian, ii. 120.
Ideas, their Association, ii. 21, 22, &c. 52.
——, their Origin, ii. 17, &c.
Idolatry, its Origin from Polytheism, ii. 473.
Jesuits, their Rénements, ii. 489.
Jews, their natural character, whence, ii. 505, Note (CCC).
—— Reason of their Insurrection, ii. 450.
Jewish Religion and Egyptian resembling, ii. 505, Note (CCC).
Ignorance of Causes the Origin of Polytheism, ii. 411.
Immaculate Conception, a popular Opinion, ii. 439.
Immortality of the Soul, on what founded, ii. 149.
Impiety of popular Religions, ii. 457.
Impressions, what, ii. 16.
Impotence and Barrenness, ii. 293.
Incest, whence its Crime, ii. 256.
Independents, their Genius, i. 78.
Indians justly incredulous with regard to Ice, ii. 126.
Industry, its Merit, whence, ii. 285.
Instructions to Members, i. 33.
Interest, private, how far the Foundation of Government, i. 29.
public, ibid.
Interest, its Lowness, whence, i. 315, useful, 321.
Johnson, Ben, his Character, i. 556, Note (7).
Ioniens and Dorians, Tribes of Greeks, i. 226.

Josephus quoted, i. 566, Note (NN), 568, Note (QQ).
Joy, Grief, explained, ii. 175.
Iphicrates, a Saying of his, ii. 315.
Isocrates quoted, i. 408, 427, 428.
Irish, their Idea of Merit, ii. 304.
Italians, Cause of their Effeminacy, i. 292.
Italy, ancient and modern, Number of its Inhabitants, i. 465.
Julian quoted, i. 440.
Justice, Source of its Merit, ii. 232. farther explained, 357.
Justin quoted, i. 450, 465.
Justinian quoted, i. 139.
Juvenal quoted, i. 132, 224, 413, 458, 466. ii. 224, 456.

L

Lampridius quoted, i. 437.
Laws of the Twelve Tables, i. 120.
Laws of Justice, whence derived, ii. 241.
Louis XIV. Numbers of his Armies, i. 293.
Liberty and Necessity, a Dispute of Words, ii. 84.
Liberty, civil, its Advantages, i. 91, &c. 119, 120, 121.
Liberty of the Press, why peculiar to Great Britain, i. 91, 10, 11, 12.
Lipsius, Justus, quoted, i. 410.
Livy, a sincere Religionist, ii. 454, quoted, i. 23, 57, 220, 274, 342, 356, 419, 426, 435. ii. 372, 461.
Locke, Mr, quoted, i. 95, 493. ii. 59, 67, 182, 471, Note (A). 475. Note (D).
Longinus quoted, i. 104, 108, ii. 301, 417.
Lovesten Party in Holland, i. 67.
Lucan quoted, i. 414.
Lucian quoted, i. 189, 543, Note (Z) 559, Note (III).
ii. 126, 139, 209, 386, 416, 454, 459, 460.
Lucretius, his Character, i. 209. quoted, ii. 132, 424.
Luxury, in different Senses, i. 285. its Advantages, 287, 288.
—— its Disadvantages, 296, 297.
Luxurious Ages most happy, i. 286, 289. most virtuous, ibid.

M

Machiavel, his Reflection on Christianity, ii. 441. quoted, i. 20, 21, 91, 262, 525. ii. 285, 447.
Magians, their Faith, ii. 332.
Maillet, Monsieur, his Account of Egypt, quoted, i. 414. 461.
INDEX.

Malebranche quoted, ii. 475, Note (D). 478, Note (T).
Malice, whence it is derived, ii. 199.
Mandeville, Dr., quoted, i. 297.
Manlius quoted, ii. 416.
Marcellinus, Ammianus, quoted, i. 565, Note (NN).
Martial quoted, i. 407, 414, 466, ii. 503, Note (XX).
Mary, Virgin, became a Deity among the Catholics, ii. 430.
Massacres, ancient, enumerated from Diodorus Siculus, i. 557, Note (BB).
Mathematics, their Foundation, ii. 485, Note (P). their Advantages, 63.
Maurice, Prince of Orange, his Saying, ii. 315.
Melon, Monsieur, quoted, i. 272, 553, Note (Q).
Memory, its Merit, whence derived, ii. 289.
Menander quoted, i. 547, Note (H).
Merit, personal, how the Object of Pride, ii. 185.
— delineated, ii. 319, &c.
Metaphysics, what, ii. 7, 8.
Mine, Thine, ii. 244.
Miracles, on what their Evidence is founded, ii. 115.
— defined, ii. 120, one mentioned by De Retz, 129.
Mixture of Affections, ii. 180.
Modesty, whence its Merit, ii. 311.
Moliere, i. 140.
Molinosists, their Genius, i. 80, ii. 481.
Monarchy, elective, hereditary, which preferable, i. 17.
Monarchy and Republic, their Advantages and Disadvantages with regard to the Arts, i. 129, 130, 131.
Money, its continued Increase advantageous, i. 302.
— its Diffusion advantageous, i. 306, 307.
Montaigne quoted, ii. 372.
Montesquieu quoted, i. 399, 466, ii. 487, Note (T).
Monumentum Ancyranum quoted, i. 451.
Morals, their Standard, i. 242.
— not fluctuating, ii. 390.
Morality hurt by popular Religions, ii. 461.
Moral Causes have chief Influence on Populousness, i. 401.
Muscovites, their Manners, i. 137.

N

Natural, in what sense Justice is natural, ii. 499, Note (QQ).
Navigation, ancient, how imperfect, ii. 421.
Necessity, its Definition, ii. 85, 102.
Negroes, their Character, i. 548, Note (M).

INDEX.

Nepos, Cornelius, quoted, i. 409.
Neri and Bianchi, Parties in Florence, i. 57.
Newton, Sir Isaac, his Rule of philosophizing, ii. 257.
Newton, Locke, Clarke, Arians and Socinians, ii. 506, Note (DDD).
Nicholas, Saint, became a Deity among the Muscovites, ii. 430.
Nisus, or strong Endeavour, not the Origin of the Idea of Power, ii. 474, Note (C).
Northern Nations, their Swarms no Proof of Populousness, i. 462.
Numantius, Claudius Rutilius, his Contempt of the Jewish, and consequently of the Christian Religion, ii. 450.

O

Obedience, passive, i. 405, &c.
Obligation, interested, to Virtue, ii. 330.
Olympiodorus quoted, i. 165.
Opinion, the real Foundation of Government, i. 29.
Orange, Family of, their Partizans, i. 67.
Oratoribus, Dialog. de, quoted, i. 224.
Ostracism of Athens, Petalysm of Syracuse, i. 354.
Ovid quoted, i. 118, 132, 403, 459, 461. ii. 416, 419, 461.

P

Painters, modern, unhappy in their Subjects, i. 240.
Paper Credit and Banks, whether advantageous, i. 301. 336, 337.
Paris, L'Abbe de, his Miracles, 2. 481.
Parliament, how far it should be independent, i. 43, &c.
Parnell, Dr. his Character as a Writer, i. 211.
Parties in general, i. 56, real, 59, 60.
— of Great Britain, i. 65, &c.
Pascal, his Character, ii. 405, quoted, 489.
Passions, their kinds, ii. 175. their Objections and Causes, 184.
Patriculus quoted, i. 342, 440, 465.
Pathetic and Sublime, ii. 309.
Pausanius quoted, i. 449.
Pay, Proportion between Officers and Soldiers anciently, i. 418.
Pericles, his Eloquence, i. 113.
Peripatetics, their Mediums, ii. 281.
Persecution, whence derived, i. 61, 62. naturally attends the Principle of Unity of God, ii. 437.
Persia, ancient, whether possessed of an Aristocracy, i. 541.
Personify, to, natural, and the Origin of Polytheism, ii. 411.
Probability, what, ii. 59, 117.
Promise, what, and whence its Obligation, i. 475.
--- not the Origin of Government, ibid.
Proof, what, ii. 59, 117.
Property, its Equality impracticable, ii. 242. defended, 245.
--- why the Source of Pride, ii. 191.
Protestant Succession, its Advantages and Disadvantages, i. 511.
Providence, particular, on what founded, ii. 149.
Provinces, under what Government most oppressed, i. 17.
Pyrrhus, his Saying of the Romans, i. 292.

QUAKERS, their Character, i. 78, 79.
Quintilian quoted, i. 98, 108, 212. ii. 273, 315, 454.

RACINE, his Character, i. 209. quoted, 265. ii. 483.
Ramsey, Chevalier, quoted, ii. 507.
Reason, when it influences Action, only a cooler Passion, i. 474.
--- how far the Source of Morals, ii. 216.
Reason and Taste, their Boundaries, i. 244.
Reason more precariously than Taste, i. 259.
Reasons of State, ii. 254.
Refinement, in what respect useful, i. 318.
Regnard his Voyage to Lapland, quoted, ii. 416.
Relations of Ideas, one Object of Reason, ii. 25.
Religion, two principal Questions with regard to it, ii. 401.
--- its first Principles, not primary but secondary, ii. 404.
Resemblance, a Source of Association, ii. 22, 53.
Reriez, Cardinal de, quoted, i. 534. ii. 129.
Revolution, in 1688, no Contract or Promise, i. 478.
Rhames of the Turks, ii. 463.
Rhodes, Number of its Inhabitants, i. 447.
Riches, why the Object of Pride or Esteem, ii. 191, 294.
Rouchevoucalt quoted, ii. 210, 501, Note (SS).
Rome, i. 57, 93; 97, 211.
--- ancient, its Size and Number of Inhabitants, i. 452.
--- Name of its tutelar Deity Concealed, ii. 504, Note (AAA).
Romans, when most corrupt, i. 22. anciently Pirates, i. 552.
their Government under the Empire not burdensome, i. 300.
Roman Empire, whether advantageous, i. 466.
INDEX.

Roundhead Party, i. 69.
Rousseau quoted, i. 131.
Rowe, Mr, his Tragedy censured, i. 239.

SADDER contains little Morality, ii. 461.
Sallier, Prince of, his Saying of de Ruyter, ii. 446.
Sallust quoted, i. 97, 132, 293, 425, 452, ii. 293, 370, 456, 465.
Saint Evremond’s Character of Turenne, ii. 285.
——— quoted, ii. 301.
Sannazzarius, Censure of his Pastorals, ii. 271.
Scapulaire, what, ii. 433.
Scepticism, ii. 23, 44, excessive, 157, &c. moderate, 158.
with regard to the Senses, 159, with regard to reason, 164.
Religious, 451.
Sceptic, the, i. 171.
Sciences, their Division, ii. 171.
Scholastic Religion, its usual Absurdity, ii. 442.
Scriptures, holy, quoted, ii. 232, 372.
Scriptural and traditional Religions compared, ii. 452.
Selfish and Social, not opposite, ii. 332.
Self-Love not the Foundation of moral Sentiment, ii. 323.
Seneca quoted, i. 404, 408, 411, 415, ii. 356, 374, 418.
Seneca the Elder quoted, i. 413.
Sentiment, how far the Source of Morals, ii. 216, 338.
Sextus Empiricus quoted, i. 415. ii. 227, 400, 456, 490.
Note (X).
Shaftesbury, Lord, quoted, i. 92, 135, 391.
Shakespeare, his Artifice in Othello, i. 236. quoted, ii. 300.
Simplicity in Writing, i. 207.
Slavery prejudicial to Populousness, i. 404.
——— to Humanity, i. 403.
Sneezing, God of, ii. 503, Note (YY).
Socrates, his Character, ii. 325.
Soil, very fertile, no Advantage, i. 283.
Soldier, his Character, i. 214.
Soldiers, what Proportion they commonly bear to the People, i. 293.
Sophocles, his Character, i. 209.
Spain, ancient and modern, its Inhabitants, i. 464.
Spaniard, his Politeness, i. 312.
Sparta, its Policy, i. 273. Number of its Inhabitants, 448.
Spartan quoted, i. 564. ii. 450.
Spencer quoted, ii. 305.

INDEX.

Sportula, their bad tendency, i. 466.
Stanian quoted, i. 342.
States, small, their Advantage, i. 417.
Stoic, the, i. 153.
Stoics, their Idea of Providence, ii. 105.
——, their Superstition, ii. 454.
Suidas quoted, i. 113, 566, Note (QQ).
Superstition defined, i. 76, 77, &c.
Swift, Dr. quoted, i. 329, 344, 559. Note (DD). ii. 284.
Sycophant, its original Sense, i. 327.
Sympathy, the great Source of moral Sentiment, ii. 270, 300.
Syracuse, its Extent and Number of Inhabitants, i. 448.

TACITUS, somewhat superstitious, though profane, ii. 454.
Tasso quoted, i. 94, 148.
Taste, in Standard, i. 241.
Taxes, when hurtful, i. 363, 364.
—— do not fall ultimately on Land, i. 366.
Temple, Sir William, i. 95, 226, 364.
Tendency of Actions, not their accidental Consequences, regarded in Morals, ii. 500, Note (EE).
Tereus, his Character, i. 261. quoted, 135, 262.
Tertullian quoted, i. 567, Note (QQ).
Thebes, Number of its Inhabitants, i. 447.
Theism, its Origin from Polytheism, ii. 425.
Theism and Polytheism compared, ii. 436.
Theocritus, i. 439.
Thinkers, abstruse, how useful, i. 269. shallow, ibid.
Thucydides, the first Historian, i. 439.
——— quoted, i. 190, 273, 341, 355, 418, 425, 433, 438, 443, 444, 449, ii. 304, 441.
Timon of Athens, his Affection to Alcibiades, ii. 275.
INDEX

Timotheus the Poet, his Hymn to Diana, ii. 459.
Tillotson, his Argument against the real Presence, ii. 115.
Toleration naturally attends Polytheism, ii. 436.
Tory Party, i. 63. their speculative System, i. 471.
Tot, Mons. du quoted, i. 553. Note (Q).
Tournefort, Mons. quoted, i. 260, 450.
Tragedy, why it pleases, i. 231.
Tranquillity of Mind, whence its Merit, ii. 305.
Treasures. their Effects, i. 336.
Turkish Government, i. 368.
Tyrannicide, why blameable, ii. 228.
Tyrants, ancient, their Cruelty, i. 426.
USTARIZ, Geronimo de, quoted, i. 400.
Usurpation, what, i. 479.
UTILITY, a Source of Approbation, ii. 226. why, 261.

V

VALERIUS Maximus quoted, i. 562, Note (LL).
Vanity, allies easily to Virtue, i. 90. why blamed, ii. 316.
Varro quoted, i. 407, 412, 413, 459, 465, ii. 449.
Vauban, quoted, i. 334.
Vega, Garcilasso de la, quoted, i. 324.
Verna, its Sense, and Inferences from it, i. 555, Note (X).
Verney, Paris de, quoted, i. 553, Note (Q).
Vespassian, his Miracle, ii. 128.
Victor, Aurelius, quoted, i. 564.
Victor, Publius, quoted, i. 448, 465, Note (MM).
Virgil, his Character, i. 209. quoted, ii. 293, 356.
Virtue and Vice defined, ii. 219.
Vis Incerta, ii. 474, Note (D).
Vitellius, his meanness, ii. 302.
Vitruvius quoted, i. 552, Note (KK).
Voluntary and involuntary, why made by the Moderns so essential to Morals, ii. 375.
Voltaire quoted, i. 11.
Vopiscus quoted, i. 448, 454, 566, Note (QQ).
Vossius quoted, i. 399, 564.

INDEX

WALLER, his Character, i. 141.
Wisdom, its Merit, whence, ii. 288.
Wit or Ingenuity, its Merit, whence, ii. 312.
Whig Party, i. 69. their speculative System, i. 471.
Wolsey, Cardinal, i. 184.
Women, timorous and superstitious, ii. 414.
Wonder, the Passion of, inclines us to believe Miracles, ii.
123.

X

XENOPHON, his Superstition, ii. 505, Note (DDD).
quoted, i. 92, 100, 333, 354, 411, 418, 427.
Xerxes, his Pursuit of new Pleasures, i. 144.

FINIS.

Printed by John Brown.