New York, April 10.—Five men locally prominent in the Presbyterian church were preparing today to call upon the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, special preacher at the First Presbyterian church, and demand that he affirm his belief in the Westminster confession of faith. Should he decline to do so, they said, they would insist that he be requested to sever its contract with him.

The five men named a committee for the First Presbyterian church, the Presbytery of New York in answer to an overture from the Harlem-N.Y. Presbyterian church.

Dr. Fosdick is a Baptist preaching in a Presbyterian pulpit, has been a storm center since last May when he preached a sermon entitled "The Fearful Power of Sin." His critics charge that in this sermon he spoke in a disparaging manner of the Virgin birth of Jesus Christ.

CO-OPERATIVES WIN VICTORY IN SUPREME COURT

Raleigh, N. C., April 11.—The co-operative system in the most important of the purposes of agriculture to obtain justice for and improve the financial condition of farmers and producers, according to Chief Justice Taft, has won a landmark victory in North Carolina, in the decision handed down by that body today, which upheld the contract of the Tobacco Growers' Protective Association.

In today's decision, to which no dissent was filed, the court held that the association, under which the tobacco growers formed a protective association as a form of self-governance and the association is not a monopoly or restraint of trade.

In the opinion of the highest judicial of the state, it was pointed out that the members of the tobacco growers' association are not engaged in the production of goods against private profit or unfair manipulation. "The act establishes a complete plan of organization for cooperative marketing of agricultural products under the fullest supervision and control. Every selfish safeguard against private gain is removed by a few powerful members, queuing out of the weaker members and abuse of power are embraced in the law," according to the chief justice. He stated, "instead of creating a monopoly of the subject by a rational method of putting the raw product on the market, the association, as there is a legitimate demand for its manufacture, and by the extension credit to farmers to enable this industry to develop, thereby benefits the tobacco industry by whose manufacture it is."

The right of the association to sue for damages caused by a few powerful members, which was clear by the court, which stated "the law permits liquidated damages in case of breach; indeed, such damages may have been allowed without any statutory provision."

It pointed out that on account of co-operative nature of the enterprise, even if it makes no profit, a member who has breached his contract must pay the cost of the suit, including premiums for bonds, as well as the loss of membership of the association is allowed to growers, and a contract breaker breaches his contract to the grower, and it would be unfair to make them pay his violation.

FRIDAY, APRIL 13.

The News herewith assumes the role of spokesman for the people of Chester and extends their hearty thanks to The Charlotte Observer, which, on last Wednesday morning carried a lengthy editorial heralding to its thousands of readers many good things about Chester.

Chester people are beginning to realize that when Chester wants some good publicity, the place to seek it is the columns of The Charlotte Observer. The Observer is located in one of the best, if not the best, cities in the two Carolinas and on account of the surrounding is a natural booster.

A most commendable trait of The Observer is the fact that the men who control it are not of a selfish nature and are ever willing to lend a helping hand to the surrounding towns in boosting them.

In a nut shell, Chester wants some boosting she has learned that she can get more of it in our sister state than we can in our own state, which, of course, does not say much for our Palmetto dates.

Yes, The Observer is continually aiding Chester readers to its list.

You never know what your mind can do till you use it. The man who saves his money until he can buy an automobile finds out right away what that automobile can do.

He takes it out on the road, and runs it. He reads about the speed and endurance and gasoline consumption of other cars. And he experiments with his own to find out how it compares with them.

Yet the same man who has a mind that may be of more value than a million cars will, in nine cases out of ten, go through life without ever

CALCIUM ARSENATE

We have just received a car load of Calcium Arsenate. This Arsenate was manufactured by Riches-Piver & Co., of New York, who made the first Calcium Arsenate the government used in their experiment station in Louisiana. Therefore, it's the best.

For the next 30 days we will sell this Arsenate at 18 cents in order to make room.

We are reliably informed that Calcium Arsenate is very scarce, and we think it would be very wise to secure your Calcium Arsenate now. We were fortunate in getting this early, otherwise we could not begin to sell this Arsenate at this price.

Cotton is too high to take chances in not poisoning and you cannot make it without the use of Calcium Arsenate, and when you buy it, you want to be sure you get the best.

NAMES TIMMERMAN TO SUCCEED GLENN

Lexington Member of House, Appointed on New Canal Commission to Succeed Chester Man.

Columbia—George Bell Timmerman, member of the new canal commission to succeed J. Lyle Glenn, of Chester, according to an announcement received from Thomas S. McMillan, speaker of the house of representatives, by J. Wilson Gibbs, clerk of the house.

Mr. Gibbs said yesterday that Mr. Glenn had tendered his resignation as a member of the house to Speaker McMillan and this necessitated the appointment of another member of the house to serve on the canal commission. Mr. Glenn was recently appointed solicitor of the Sixth judicial circuit to succeed J. K. Henry, elected judge of the same circuit by the legislature at the last session.

With the appointment of Mr. Timmerman the new commission will now be composed of the following members: Representatives Olin Sawyer of Georgetown, W. D. Barnett of Columbia and George Bell Timmerman of Lexington and Senators T. B. Butler of Cherokee, James G. Padgett of Colleton and T. C. Duncan of Union.

School Contract Let Yesterday.

The contract for the erection of the new high school building on the corner of Columbia and School streets was let yesterday afternoon to The King Lumber Company, of Charlottesville, Va., at a price of about $112,000. This is the contract for the erection of the building, and does not include the heating and plumbing. The plumbing goes to The Chester Plumbing and Heating Company, of Chester, and the heating contract goes to Mr. C. L. Powers, of Bennettsville, S. C.

The contract price for the heating and plumbing is about $22,000.

The various bids for the erection of the new school building were opened Tuesday and it was found that all of them were for an amount greater than the amount of money which the Board of Trustees has to spend. It will be recalled that bonds to the amount of $150,000 were issued and from this a sum was taken with which to purchase the property on Columbia street. Such being the case it was decided to "make certain alterations in the building contract and by so doing a price was given which came within the amount in the hands of the Board of Trustees.

Actual construction will be commenced on the building in the near future and it is hoped to have same ready for occupancy by next school term. The building is to be modern and complete in all particulars. It is stated that it was found necessary to cut out the gymnasium for the time being and to make other minor changes.

A large number of contractors from various sections were here for opening of the bids and the majority of them remained throughout yesterday.

BOOSTS CHESTER.

The Charlotte Observer of last Wednesday morning carried a lengthy editorial in which it lauded Chester and the Chester Chamber of Commerce, and in part had the following to say:

"Chester, S. C., is one of the very best towns of its size in the Carolinas, substantial, progressive, thrifty, cultured and prosperous. We mean of a city or town where there is more evidence of community spirit, more cordial and co-operative relations between the people of the municipality and those of the rural district surroundings. And Chester County is one of the best counties in upper South Carolina, progressive and progressive, marked by its splendid agricultural development and its progress in good roads construction."

It is this which is prefatory to and vitally related to the present movement, that Chester has about the best organized and most efficient Chamber of Commerce within The Observer's knowledge. In far and wide the smaller municipalities, the Chambers of Commerce work spasmodically; that is, they function well for a period, start out with a blast of trumpets, give promise of great things, and then lapse into a state of inactivity. The citizens lose interest and the organization loses its effectiveness until a new secretary is selected, the body undergoes reorganization and a sort of revival campaign is conducted to launch the Chamber upon another start. But the Chester Chamber of Commerce has been remarkably in a year after year for a period of more than half a dozen years it has gone steadily forward, with the same secretary, all the while in the person of Mr. J. B. Branch, always a virile organization, always active, always enjoying the support and co-operation of most of the business and industrial and civic interests of the community and even of the entire county—nothing spasmodic but steady pulling all the while, striving to serve all the interest of the town and county and to lead them in the way of progress and growth and prosperity.

"The activities of the Chester Chamber of Commerce are extensive and varied, touching practically all phases of the life of the city and county and seeking to co-operate with all interests in the promotion of the welfare of all the people. This is emphatically illustrated in the annual report of Secretary Branch presented at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last night, reviewing the work and activities of the Chamber for the last year."

"The report tells of the work of the Chamber in the effort to secure a community building for Chester, which now is secured, $7,000 being available and the way opened for raising of the balance necessary, with the prospect that the construction will be started at an early date. The building is to be modern in every respect, the plans being approved by the National Community Service organization, which will be a civic center for the accommodation of the boys' work organization, Chamber of Commerce, American Legion, Civil League, Young Women's Club, etc., and what is one of the most important features, it will contain a rest room for the women and children of the county who visit Chester."

YOUR PRIDE.

Isn't false pride standing in the way to prevent you from doing many things which would benefit you?

If you would step down from the position you occupy in society would you not be relieved of much financial worry?

If you would get down and do certain lines of work you know well and can do, would you not add to your income, substantially, and have a larger bank account? If when something beyond your means is suggested to you, or proposed for "the crowd," you would admit that you are taking from you more than you receive.

It is well to have pride, but when pride controls at the expense of good sense you are carrying it too far. Exchange.

FLAPPER FAIRY TALES.

Ellen—Thank you ever so much, Bennet; but I've arranged to go to a lecture on domestic science.

ANNOUNCEMENT

To Housewives:

As a feature of our ELECTRIC RANGE CAMPAIGN, Miss Emma A. Purdy, well-known household economist and expert in the operation of the electric range, will give a demonstration in the operation of electric ranges at our display room.

April 16, 17, 18, 1923

At 3:30 O'clock

Every housekeeper in the city is invited to attend this demonstration. We particularly invite those who have considered the installation of an electric range and those who are already using this modern cooking appliance.

The electric range is almost too good to be true. If we should tell you all the good things about it, including the low cost of operation, you would not believe them without seeing them actually demonstrated.

Housekeepers who are still sticking to the old wood, coal or oil range are doing themselves and their families an injustice. Come to this demonstration on April 16, 17th, and 18th, 1923, and see for yourself.

Some Eye-Opening FACTS and FIGURES

A Total of 195 Chester Families
are Today Using Electric Ranges

"There's a Reason"

There are many other reasons, of course, but we are going to give here just one of the really outstanding reasons: And that is the economy of the operation of this most wonderful of household appliances—this emancipator of the housewife.

Get These Eye-Opening Figures:

During the month of February, with 184 ranges in use, 100 electric range users paid between $2 and $5 for current; 78 paid between $5 and $10; and only six had bills of more than $10.

The Average Bill for February was $5.11.

During the month of March, with 189 ranges in use, 121 customers had bills ranging from $2 to $5; 61 bills were between $5 and $10; and only seven were over $10.

The Average Bill for March was $4.43.

The figures given above are supported by the records of our office which are open to inspection by interested persons.

But don't think that, important as it may be, economy of operation is the greatest advantage of the Electric Range. You will have to see a range and have it explained to you in detail to even begin to appreciate the good points of "Cooking by Wire." Every intelligent, progressive housewife owes it to herself and to her family to investigate carefully and thoroughly the Electric Range.

No description of the Electric Range could more strikingly attest its superior advantages than the statement that this modern appliance has replaced old-fashioned, less efficient, less satisfactory cooking appliances in the homes of the following named representative and progressive Chester citizens:

DEMOCRATS ADD TO G. O. P. MESS

Would Discredit Extremists Next Congress, Calling Them Non-Republicans.

Washington, April 11.—Democrats are doing their best to add to the galaxy of republican party affairs by insisting that the administration faction has a scheme afoot to read the Lafayette-Brookhart-Frazier extreme progressives out of the party at the best of heavy contributors to the campaign fund.

The democratic national committee makes merry with this idea in a statement which says: "Big business has shown its grave displeasure with the way in which these progressives and radicals from the west have been allowed to terrorize the stand-patters in congress, and there is a demand for a showdown. Ex-communication with Angell is the treatment that the big contributors to the republican campaign plan recommend for these agitators and disturbers of the administration's peace."

"One of the voices which has been raised against the republican progressives and radicals in congress is that of the 'national republican' organ of the republican committee. This paper is edited by George Lockwood, secretary of the republican national committee."

"This complaint clearly has reference to the primaries in Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska and North Dakota, where radical elements did support LaFollette, Brookhart, Howell and Frazier and helped overthrow the 'regular' republican machines."

"It is the plan to discredit these several senators and representatives in advance of the next congress by calling them socialists and communists so that their acts will not be imputed to the administration."

An ancient manuscript dealing with King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba contains the earliest historical reference to airplanes. The manuscript declares, "King Solomon gave the Queen of Sheba a vessel wherein one could traverse the air (or wind)."

Prosperity And The Farmer.

The country is prosperous again, but in spite of everything done to help him, the farmer still finds that he gets less income from a given investment—and a given amount of money do in other fields of enterprise. The economic system is unbalanced somehow. Business and professional men—mostly making good profits, or earning good salaries, and the wages of industrial workers are high. All of these classes can live comfortably, because with the money they get they can buy more than they used to with normal incomes and normal prices. But the farmer doesn't get enough for what he produces to buy as much as he used to of the things he requires.

In previous periods of prosperity there has seldom been such a condition. It is considered very doubtful whether present prosperity can last unless the farmer can be made to money; he will not, or cannot, con share in it. If he remains poor in times producing food and raw materials, in the quantity needed by the rest of the population, also he cannot buy what the rest of the population produces. And this is a serious factor, because the rural market is the biggest market there is.

For manufactured goods, then, the farmer must have a square deal. How to give it to him is perhaps the biggest problem now confronting this country. So far, nobody, not even the farmer himself, seems to know exactly how it is to be done. Economic law will take care of the matter, no doubt, in the long run; but nobody wants to wait for slow, natural requirements—Exchange.

The government of Switzerland has subsidized the potato-growing industry by contracting to purchase potatoes from the producers at from $1.71 to $1.90 for 220 pounds, delivered at the station of shipment, the government standing all transportation costs.

A new Mexican fiber known as "malvavisco" is said to be a substitute for jute. This plant grows abundantly in the humid level lands near the rivers and at present is employed for making brooms. Experiments show this plant to possess qualities similar to jute and the cost of extracting the fiber is small. The fiber has been woven into cloth and has an excellent silky appearance.
