BULSHEVISM FROM MOSCOW TO BUDAPEST

It seems about to make its term again... to any treaty of peace. We perceive... to the last. We begin... to understand... Jericho will not fall... when the doctrines of a league of nations are trumpeted along the frontiers. The president could be firm; all right. He often was. He'd never given an inch on principle. But principles were thoroughly agreed on in advance. The peoples were all for Wilsonian peace and the statesmen knew it. And Wilson didn't prove at all hard to deal with on details and methods. More than that he demonstrated time and time again that he could see the other fellow's side of the case when presented reasonably. The European diplomats... now. "We so soon found out," they say, "that a most reasonable, just man. And we all thought... if he's showing such a disposition to make things work smoothly and to consider all sides of the question, we'11 hate to climb down and meet him more than halfway." And they did—for the most part.

The allied delegates trace it right back to his reputation for unreasonable stubbornness. With that idea in their minds in advance, Wilson's sympathy with aims of all people and his effort to hunt out the methods that would suit everybody made him seem far more reasonable than they thought possible—and far more conciliatory than he probably was.

Everybody joined in the hunt for the easiest unanimous agreement, consistent with principle and the speed with which agreements were reached was the result.

J. T. COLLINS DEPARTMENT STORE
To Business Men

You're a business man, and we do not hesitate to approach you with our proposition in a business-like fashion.

When you send out letters to advertise your goods, you should never get the attention that your proposition merits.

Frankly, the letter is an advertisement for our business. We are simply taking the opportunity of letting you know that we have just received some new models in Spring line and coated developed by the famous House of Konsinger.

The advantages offered by these garments will appeal to every business man's usual sense of value. We guarantee that our goods will give satisfaction, and we think you will be quite pleased with the work and style of manufacture produced by America's foremost designers, and approved by authorities everywhere.

In closing, we wish to say that you will want to give maximum value for every dollar you invest in clothing. Keep these points in mind when you buy.

Yours truly,

THE S. M. JONES COMPANY

Remember, Dress up week April 6 to 13th.

Chairman J. A. Whitehead of the Paint and Varnish Manufacturers' Association, addressed a public meeting in the City Hall, and said that the coming of the spring season would bring with it the necessity for freshening up and decoration of our homes. He pointed out that the spring season was the best time to do this, as the weather was more agreeable and people had more leisure time.

STOMACH TROUBLE

Dr. Marion H. Rodman of North Kansas City, Mo., says: "For the past year I have been suffering from a stomach ailment, and I tried many different remedies, but without any success. I heard something about Thedford's Black-Draft, and I decided to try it. It has given me complete relief from my stomach trouble, and I am now able to enjoy good health. I can heartily recommend it to anyone."
