ORATORICAL CONTEST.
 Catawba Oratorical Contest in Rock Hill Friday Night—List of the Winners.

Rock Hill, April 6.—The fifth oratorical contest of the Catawba association held last night John Marion of the Chester high school, was declared winner of first place in the boys' contest and Miss Nellie Branson, of the Rock Hill high school, was pronounced winner of the first place in the girls' contest. Fred Bryant of the Rock Hill high school won second place and Jane Law of the Winthrop training school won third place in the boys' contest. Mary Bowers Mackrell of York won second and Jane Law of the Winthrop training school won third place in the girls' contest. The contests last night were of a very high order indeed. The rivalry was keen and each speaker was a credit to the school he represented.

DRESS-UP WEEK

A Great Spring—A Glorious Easter

Chester, your ideal city, and mine. This is Dress-up Week! Wake up, it's spring. Dress-up for this is Dress-up Week. With all womankind the world over bent on new apparel for Easter, it is important that this store maintain its lead. Select your Spring Coat, Suit, Dress or Blouse now. Our lines embody all the charm of novelty, individuality and exclusiveness that irresistibly appeal to smartly dressed women. In order to help you and help us to make this the Banner season in this department we have decided to cut the price just at the time when you need them most. Read the goods listed here at prices unheard of for quick selling;

CHESTER GROWING.
 The News awaits with interest the 1920 census of Chester and Chester county. That Chester is growing and growing rapidly is generally known. The demand for houses in Chester was never greater than it is today. We do not know of a single available house in the city but believe that at least twenty-five houses could be rented within a few days.

ADVERTISE CHESTER.
 It will be recalled that the automobile license tax a few years ago bore the name of the county from which the car was from. It is different now and an automobile bears a State license tax instead of a county license tax. Of course, we have no reason to complain about this but the News believes every automobile owner should display the name of his town somewhere on his car.

We would like to see every automobile in Chester county have the word "CHESTER" on it. It would be an excellent advertisement for the town where ever the cars might go.

HAS BURLISON A FRIEND?
 No man in the incumbent Democratic administration, and none that we can recall in any other administration, has been so thoroughly excoriated and reviled as Postmaster General Burlison. Out of the chorus of gibes and denunciations no voice has been raised in his defense, so far as we have heard, except that of the Hon. Otto Praeger, Second Assistant Postmaster General, who admits that the postal service has been rotten, blames it entirely on the incumbent Administration, and says that it is being improved. Mr. Burlison defends himself with courage, and said last Tuesday that his critics had been unfair and their charges "specious." Among other defenses he asserted that among all the belligerent countries the postal establishment of America was the only one "that did not break down to a certain extent."

Mr. Burlison is perhaps too self-centered to perceive the speciousness of this defense. All the other belligerent countries were, excepting possibly England, in the very theatre of war with their transportation lines cut and their countries more or less devastated. And England, suffering a great deal more than we did, although the land was invaded, Mr. Burlison's comparison is silly. It is not strange that Mr. Mackey of the Postal Telegraph company should be bitter against the Socialist autocrat of the P. O. Department. Mr. Burlison has directed the full force of his arbitrary power against Mackey. But when Mackey denounces Burlison's increase of the telegraph rates, which will result, he says, in the public paying $16,000,000 additional revenue per year to the telegraph company, which is a government which operates them, and says if Burlison will return the management of the Postal Company to him he will restore the old rates over his lines, then he becomes interesting. If the Postal company can do that, and make a profit, as Mackey says it can, why should the government increase the rates 20 per cent?

Mackey says the reason is that Burlison is playing the game of Theodore Vail of the Bell Telephone and Western Union companies, in whom he has committed himself to grant increases in rates amounting to an increase of $30,000,000 in revenue for the year 1919, and quotes voluminous figures to prove his statement. How, however, maintains that Burlison also is further Vail's plan to consolidate all the telegraph and telephone properties and lines in one great corporation or system under a central control, or control, of course, to be in Vail's companies.

It is well known that Mr. Vail's idea is that the lines here the communication, including the cable lines, should be so consolidated. In a letter to Chairman Moore of the Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads last December, he gave his views on the subject, as requested by Mr. Flood and the Postmaster General. Following Burlison's acquiescence to the doctrine that the lines should be subjected to government regulation, he deprecated "unmodified private ownership and operation, and Great interest centered in the morning of the caps. The school whose representative won will hold the cup for one year. In the girls' contest the following have won the cup in the history of the association: Lancaster once, Winthrop training school twice, Rock Hill once, Winthrop once and Chester twice. These cups are donated by The Peoples Trust Company and A. Friedman and Brother. The athletic cap is donated by the First Trust Company. Gold medals were given to first and silver medals were awarded for second places.

Delightful features of the contest last night were the musical selections by representatives of the two local schools. The yells and songs after the contests were over were fine too. There was the best of feeling between all the schools.

The officers of the Catawba Oratorical Association are: W. D. Magruder, president; D. L. Hambo, vice president; and R. C. Burts, secretary and treasurer.

Following is the program presented last night:

Boys—Edward West Marshall, York; "The Declaration of Independence"; William Cherry, Winthrop training school, "Peace Conference Address"; Charleston Garrison, York; "The City Versus Southern Country Home"; John Marion, Chester, "Memorial Address on Henry W. Grady"; Thomas Funderburk, Lancaster, "Americanism"; Fred Bryant, Rock Hill, "America's Entrance into the War"; Marion Bryant, York, "An Eye That Never Slumbers"; Girls—Nellie Branson, Rock Hill, "In This Sign We Conquer"; Elizabeth Branson, York, "The Garden of the White Swan"; Bowers Mackrell, York, "The Garden of the White Swan"; Margaret Phillips, Chester, "At the Mercy of the Gods"; Laura Gilbert Williams, Lancaster, "The Garden of the White Swan"; Jane Law, Winthrop training school, "In the Trenches"; Fair Lee, Fort Mill, "Universal Education"; The Ladies were Mrs. Ellen Watkins, Columbia city schools; Prof. H. D. Davis, University of South Carolina; Prof. F. M. Harper, national period of education.

A HIGHWAY MONUMENT.
 There should be erected to the memory of Colonel Roosevelt, whose great outstanding monument, which shall endure through the centuries and be wholly devoid of any commercial aspect, but at the same time a monument worthy of the wealth and power of this country, should be built which, while honoring him, would benefit mankind. A monument of this kind might well find expression in a superb highway, built as solidly as the Appian Way, one which would stand through the centuries and be known a thousand years hence as the Roosevelt Highway. It should be built so thorough, so broad, with such deep foundations, and be beautified with trees as the highways of France are, that it would be worthy to rank as an honor to the Nation. It is probable that if Roosevelt could give voice to his own wishes he would prefer it to any other monument which could be erected to his memory. Charlotte Observer.

PROFESSIONAL CARD.
 Dr. Robt. E. Abell, having been discharged from the U. S. Army, has returned to Chester to resume his practice. Practice limited strictly to surgery.

There is without doubt an opportunity for a great piece of beneficial and constructive work by combining and co-ordinating all the existing utility services into one or more well-balanced systems. The very system of the future will be one nationwide system, under single control.

Mr. Mackey says that "the whole wire control arrangement has developed into a gigantic job, whereby the American Telephone and Telegraph Company has been and will be enabled to exploit the public through the medium of the Postoffice Department."

Within the next two years, we infer that Mr. Burlison will be more or less investigated—Columbia Record.

SEES ONLY ONE SIDE.

That, "It is Alleged, is a Common Weakness in Our Reformers." What we really need, and badly need, is a balanced method-in-perspective. We have developed a new spirit about the business that refuses to see both sides of a question, that denies the possibility of mixture of good with evil, and that convincing itself that the only way to get rid of an undesirable thing is to destroy the whole premises in which it is found.

Our reformers go at the evils they detect with blinders; on they will not even look at the prospect about them, bent only on braining the serpent. But it is characteristic of the serpent in our social organization that they do not run away. It would help a reformer to stop in his characteristic of evil long enough to get a sense of proportion he totally lacks.

Lamb is took the Chinese inventors of roast pig sometime to discover that pigs could be roasted without burning down the house. It seems that if it takes us a long time to see that an evil can be banished from its intrusion without blowing up the whole district.

If we could throw off the blinders that keeps us from a free sight of the whole problem; if we could set upon what is to go and how to remove it with the least disturbance to the good in which it is imbedded, or perhaps on which it lightly rests, we should work much more easily, economically and rapidly at the business of reforming—Rockford Post Express.

Whether you buy gas or tires, you search for most miles for your money.

You ought to make just as careful search for the clothes you buy to get the most "wear mileage" for your money.

We have clothes—Kuppenheimer Clothes that are famous for their ability to deliver long service and look while doing it. As a motorist whose clothes are subjected to more or less hard wear, you are sure you will appreciate what this means.

The new styles for Spring in Kuppenheimer Clothes reflect the well-bred distinction that substantial men seek. The complete range of models includes ultramodern ideas for young men, conservative designs, and in-between styles that lean toward both.

We'll welcome the opportunity to show them to you any time you have a few minutes to spare.

Chester Came Second in Contest.

The following is from the Rock Hill Herald of yesterday: Amid the shouts and yells of the enthusiastic supporters of the various schools Rock Hill walked away with the trophy cup Saturday afternoon at the fair ground in the fifth annual track meet of the Columbia Athletic association. The final score stood: Rock Hill 45, Chester 35, Fort Mill 30, Winthrop Training school 6, Lancaster 4, Winnsboro 3, York 2. This was one of the most hotly contested meets ever held. Enthusiasm was at fever heat, especially between Chester and Rock Hill. Until the last three events, Chester was in the lead and all looked as though she would take the cup but Rock Hill came strong in the final contest and became the proud owner of the cup given by the First Trust company of this city the only school to win this distinction since the organization of this association in 1915. To own the cup a school must win it three times. Rock Hill won it in 1915 and in 1916, Winnsboro winning it in 1917 and 1918.

Summer School at Winthrop.

The 1919 session of the summer school at Winthrop college will be held on June 17th and close on July 25th. It answers to the great demand for improvement in the schools, and the desire of teachers to fit themselves for better service, the college is hoping to conduct the best summer session that has ever been held at the institution.

The equipment of the college makes it an ideal place for summer work. The fine climate of Rock Hill, and the large halls of the college, the covered ways, the swimming pool, the tennis courts, the comfortable dormitories, all help to make it a pleasant as well as profitable place to spend six weeks at the college.

There will be a selection of the selection of courses of study from primary work to high school and college. Special courses in vocational work will be offered for those who wish to prepare themselves to meet the new demands in these subjects.

For the first time in the history of summer schools, a course will be offered at Winthrop this summer to prepare for the important work of teaching illiterates, and near-illiterates.

As usual, the college will be visited during the summer by a number of distinguished educators and specialists. Among those who have already agreed to deliver courses of the season are: Professor C. Alphonso Smith, of the United States Naval Academy; Professor W. C. Bagley and Professor W. H. Kilpatrick, both of Teachers College, Columbia University; Dr. Henry E. Jackson, of the United States Bureau of Education; Washington, D. C.; Mr. Henry Y. Allen, of the War Camp Community Service, New York; Professor Edwin Sims, of Vanderbilt University; Miss Mary E. Moxey, of New York; and President Charles McKenney, of the State Normal College, at Ypsilanti, Michigan.

Full provision has been made for evening entertainments, including plays and moving pictures.

Credit for courses in the summer school will be allowed if a teacher attends class for two thirds of the session. This may be of interest to some teachers whose schools may be in session when the summer school opens.

Naturally these two monstrosities are in full sympathy with each other, consequently, you will find them walking arm in arm through life. The amazing lack of conscience, combined with the rank indifference to duty, as manifested by some of the leaders of today, is a down right crime against all that is good, pure and holy, in the sight of God and man. In other words: A conscienceless leader acting in concert with a backboneless constituency grants the criminal class a license to do just whatever they please. Unless the toiling masses throughout the length and breadth of this great country of ours can get together and formulate some plan by which they can hold their leaders to a stricter accountability the entire fabric of civilization will be destroyed.
