Winthrop University
Campus Elections Scheduled For Tuesday

Students Vie For Top Campus Offices

Election time rolls into officially Wednesday night at a Student Government Association meeting in the Smith Administration Building to consider its actions for the coming week. Peter Flynn and Pat Whitehead are candidates for president, John Sherry and Jenny J. Smith, preside over the meeting.

At the opening of the session, Jenny J. Smith, Secretary to the SGA, read out the agenda for the meeting, which included the election of new officers, the outcome of the Student Council elections, and the announcement of the result of the SGA All Party Primary election.

The meeting then turned to the business of the evening, with the candidates for president, Peter Flynn and Pat Whitehead, making their final pitches to the SGA members.

Peter Flynn, a second-year student, emphasized his experience and his vision for the future of the SGA. He promised to bring new ideas and fresh perspectives to the organization, and to work tirelessly to ensure that the students' voices are heard.

Pat Whitehead, a third-year student, highlighted his record of service and his commitment to the SGA. He promised to build on the legacy of the SGA and work to improve the student experience on campus.

After the candidates had made their pitches, the SGA members cast their votes, with Peter Flynn emerging as the new president of the SGA.

The meeting then turned to other business, with the candidates for the other positions on the SGA slate making their final pitches to the SGA members.

Following the election results, the SGA members adjourned to prepare for the upcoming week, with the new president, Peter Flynn, ready to take the reins and lead the SGA into the future.
Break Those Chains

Several centuries ago a common practice in libraries involved chaining books tightly to the shelves so they could not be removed. In some places anyone daring to remove a book from the shelves was liable to be punished by public disgrace. Librarians did not question the practice, and under the direction of a head librarian, book rooms were chained together so tightly that the books could not be moved. Several centuries later in our day a common practice in libraries is to use a library card system in place of chaining books. A book may be taken from the open stacks, returned to the proper shelf, and up to the time a card is returned the book is not available to other borrowers. The convenience and informality resulting from change in the library's physical appearance apparently have made the practice of removing books from the building too easy. Some places are returning to the reserved book room; the lending library is coming from the periodical room. The mounting number of disappearances in libraries has become a matter of grave concern. Library losses are now represented as being quite high. Although some branch libraries are not so well equipped as are others, the over-all trend shows a marked increase in the number of books reported lost or stolen, even in the more modern library buildings. The problem is not new, for a study of the periodical room will show that the theft of books has been a problem for years.

The Faculty Speaks

I was teaching a one-semester course in educational psychology in a group of student nurses at a "Yankeev" university. One student, who had been assigned to the group, fell to the floor and died during class. With quick, light-hearted motions she greeted each other by having a card in her front pocket. In a novel drinking fountain. Moments later the patient was wheeled away and the two went as through nothing had happened. Later that same year I made arrangements by telephone to introduce a series of psychological tests to a group of nursing students. She asked if she could come at 1:00 and 2:00. When I showed her the door she was dressed in a very ordinary woman, and I knew that the result would be to set her to a new pace. After an hour forty that particular last day in the faculty's office for me... After a commission's report she smelled and announced that we were finished. When we finished, I added to her, "What a woman."

Performance, Direction Is Excellent, Says Reviewer

By LUBISITA LOPEZ

Tensions with the scenery end, according to the reviewer, in the musical's last scene. "Twelve Angry Jurors," staged at the U Mass Theatre, is a well-crafted and well-acted study of the Twelve Angry Jurors. The play is directed by Mr. J. David Brown, who also produced the show. The director and the rest of the cast have done excellent work, according to the reviewer, and the production is said to be "an excellent example of the American jury system." The reviewer adds, "The Twelve Angry Jurors are comparable to the Twelve Angry Men in the way they work, and the way they come to conclusions.

The review concludes with a call for people to see the show. "Twelve Angry Jurors is a must-see theatre event," the reviewer writes. "It is an excellent example of the American jury system and is comparable to the Twelve Angry Men in its portrayal of the justice system. The review encourages people to see the show and to support the arts in their community."

PRESIDENTIAL

During this period of transition here at Westmont, many changes will be made to our campus. WCA is no exception to this statement. In thinking about change, we consider what this means to us, as college students. This thought process is reflected in this editorial. The purpose of WCA is to benefit the student body as a whole. I believe that the most important of our goals is to present programs on campus in an effort to bring together the student body as a whole. We are all students, just so long as we are here. Whether we participate in the activities on campus or not, we are all students. This is a goal of WCA, to present programs in an effort to bring together the student body as a whole.

WCA meets on Tuesday nights at 7:30 PM in the Commons Cafe. If you are interested in WCA, please come and see what we have to offer. WCA is open to all students, and we welcome new members. WCA is a great way to meet new people and have fun. WCA is a great way to experience the college experience. WCA is a great way to learn about the college experience. WCA is a great way to have fun. WCA is a great way to make new friends. WCA is a great way to have a good time.

JOHN D. JOHNSON

Why are we here? Why are we students? Why are we at Westmont? What is the purpose of our education? What is the purpose of our lives? These are all questions that we must ask ourselves. We must ask ourselves what we want to get out of our education. We must ask ourselves what we want to get out of our lives. We must ask ourselves what we want to be when we grow up. We must ask ourselves what we want to do with our lives. We must ask ourselves what we want to accomplish. We must ask ourselves what we want to achieve.

The purpose of WCA is to bring together the student body as a whole. We are all students, just so long as we are here. Whether we participate in the activities on campus or not, we are all students. This is a goal of WCA, to present programs in an effort to bring together the student body as a whole.

Winthrop Receives Traveling Scotch C. S. F. flag is presented to Winthrop by Robert W. Hemphill, envoys from the city of Edinburgh, Scotland. Congressmen Hemphill and Senator Carrillet both spoke in the rotunda of the State Capitol. Conger ran flag flown in both states.

On December 23, the Congresswoman rode her horse, with the flag and the following December in the Mail in Portland. Miss Hemphill rode from the same location, where she had ridden as a young child. The next day Miss Hemphill rode from the same location, where she had ridden as a young child. The next day Miss Hemphill rode back to Portland, where she was received with a hero's welcome.

MAP TO HARRISON
Harrison is a small town located in the eastern part of the state. It is situated on the Willamette River, about 25 miles southeast of Salem. The town is the site of the Harrison College of Nursing, which is one of the oldest and most respected nursing programs in the state. It offers a variety of programs, including a Bachelor of Science in Nursing and a Master of Science in Nursing.

Dr. Gunnel primarily focuses on the treatment of chronic pain and its associated conditions. He believes in using a multidisciplinary approach, combining medical and non-medical interventions, to effectively manage pain and improve quality of life for his patients. Dr. Gunnel is also involved in research related to pain management, and he has published several articles on the subject.

In 1988 the American Association of University Women organized a women's conference in Portland, Oregon. Miss Hemphill was one of the organizers, and she took the opportunity to visit with some of the other women attending the conference. They talked about the challenges women face in the workplace and discussed strategies for achieving greater equality and fairness in the workplace. Miss Hemphill was impressed by the dedication and commitment of the other women attending the conference and was inspired by their ideas for making positive changes in the world.

Nine Seek Treats, Positions SGA

BETTY RAYBEAD

As a candidate for Treasurer of the Student Government Association, I realize the importance of the Student Government Association, and of the position of Treasurer. This honor would mean the responsibility of managing student funds. I would manage the funds responsibly and in such a manner as to benefit the students.

I believe that being responsible for the funds of such a large group of students is a difficult task, but I will accept this charge if elected. I am willing to work hard to make sure that the funds are managed efficiently. I will keep accurate records and manage the funds in the best interest of the students.

I, Betty Raybead, will be a member of the Student Government Association. My experience in managing student funds and my willingness to accept this challenge make me a qualified candidate for the position of Treasurer. I believe that I can manage the funds in a responsible manner and ensure that the funds are used effectively. I am willing to accept this challenge and work hard to manage the funds in a responsible manner.

DELLI WILDEN

The purpose of WRA is to fulfill the demands of the student body and the needs of the student body. The purpose of WRA is to publish quality student body material in a responsible manner. To fulfill this purpose, WRA has its own distinct identity and character. WRA is the voice of the student body.

WRA is a public organization, and its purpose is to serve the student body. The Student Government Association is the representative of the student body, and WRA is the voice of the student body. WRA is a public organization, and its purpose is to serve the student body.
