The 8 p.m. concert begins with Claude T. Smith's beautiful "Chorale-Prelude" based on the hymn "God of Our Fathers." Then the Symphonic Band will perform "A Movement for Rosa," a tone poem written by Mark Camhouse honoring the late civil rights heroine Rosa Parks.

The Wind Symphony will take the stage and perform several of the compositions recently performed at the S.C. The Wind Symphony continues with "Satiric Dances" by Norman Dello Joio, a set of three lighthearted dances with Mediterranean folk dance characteristics. The work was commissioned for a bicentennial celebration by the Concord Band of Concord, Mass., and is subtitled for a comedy by Aristophanes. The concert also features works by Frank Ticheli, Andrew Boysen, Thomas Ruedi and Edwin Franko Goldman.
