TEACHERS ARE GETTING RELIEF BY INCREASED PAY

Columbia, May 11.—The agitation in recent months for better pay for teachers in having the desired effect and is bringing relief to the teaching profession, is the opinion of several of the state department of education, several of whom have been interviewed on the subject. The relief however is only partial and has come at least a year late.

It is stated that there is still a scarcity of teachers, and male teachers especially are leaving the profession rapidly. Both women and men find better pay in other lines of work and this explains the small supply of teachers, as compared with the heavy demand.

The department of education has been waiting a design for special levies in the school districts of the state, to provide more money for teachers' salaries and for school equipment, and it is said that many of the districts have reported action on the special levies. In many cases, however, these levies are not large enough to take care of the increased cost of living.

The education department recently sent to all the county executive committees copies of suggested resolutions, calling on school districts to vote special levies. In many of the counties these resolutions were introduced and adopted unanimously, according to reports reaching the department and the press reports. It is expected that similar resolutions will be introduced at the state executive committee which meets in Columbia on Wednesday of next week.

The demand for teachers is not expressing itself at this season of the year as it will a few months later. During the summer the demand for teachers will be felt, when the district boards begin arranging for the teaching forces for next fall. It is expected that the state will then face a shortage, as has been the case for several years recently.

DELAY SUFRAGE FIGHT

Baton Rouge, La., May 10.—Louisiana becomes the thirty-sixth state to ratify the federal woman suffrage amendment the action will not be taken before next week.

Both sides said satisfied that ratification would pass the House. However, neither side claimed the Senate.

FINANCIAL AID TO EXPORTERS WITHDRAWN BY GOVERNMENT

Washington, May 10.—Financial aid for exporters was withdrawn by the government today. At the request of Secretary Houston the war finance corporation suspended further advances to aid in shipping abroad except such as already have been authorized.

Mr. Houston said that if more loans were made by the war finance corporation the government would have to alter the war borrowing field. This he said, does not seem advisable under existing circumstances.

SMOOTH STRIKES SLOW AT SOUTH

May Prevent Honor for Confederates.

Washington, May 11.—Discussion over the matter of leaving off the names of Lee and Jackson on the Arlington national cemetery is likely to precipitate a stubborn sectional fight within the year. The issue has been discussed recently.

When it was found recently that there was no law authorizing the placing of the names on the inscription, resolutions were introduced. In the house it was offered by General Sherwood, a gallant old veteran from Ohio, and in the senate, Senator Overman of North Carolina was its sponsor.

Senator Overman brought the matter up today and said that congress had made provision for the erection of the amphitheatre and that while the commission contains no Confederate soldiers this commission is not able to construct the law so that the names of Lee or Jackson or any other Confederate could be inscribed there. He said also that a Confederate section had been set aside for Lee and Jackson, and that Confederate veterans, their sons and grandsons, in peace and in active military service during the war with Spain and in the war with Germany had demonstrated their fealty to the United States.

It was at this point that Senator Smith of Utah moved to take action as would probably prevent these names—those of Lee and Jackson—from being inscribed on the monument. This motion was carried by a large majority.

Senator Overman said that if the resolution took its usual course and went through the committee it would be too late, with all the necessary routine, to accomplish the purpose of the amendment. Senator Smith insisted that the resolution be followed and that the committee on the subject be instructed to report the matter to the committee on the subject.

PROTECTING WOODLANDS FROM INJURY

That young growth in the woods known popularly as "brush," is something to be rid of, is a prevalent, oft mistaken conception, since it is the place of other nutritious plants.

It has now gone to the committee on the subject of the protection of the woodland. It is very doubtful whether the names of Lee and Jackson will be placed on the amphitheatre because of the Utah senator's objection.

He is survived by his wife and two children. Mr. Cowan has been one of the most prominent citizens of the county for years. Burial services will be held at noon Thursday in Sylva.

For Sale.—Lot of good second hand lumber. A. Bargain. T. G. Cornwall. 17-24.

TO PREVENT STAMMERING

Handicaps hundreds of thousands of people. It is eminently preventable.

Stammering is usually begun in early childhood, and usually after a period of perfectly normal speech. There are few stammerers who have always stammered.

There are not a few who stammer because, when they were little children, their parents foolishly allowed them to imitate playmates or older persons who stammered.

The children themselves thought it "funny" thus to imitate the unfortunate. Their silly parents they have thought it "cute." At any rate, they did not promptly put a stop to the imitating.

And presently, to their own dismay and their children's lasting sorrow, they found that it had developed into a fixed habit of speech.

Other stammerers owe their trouble to parental neglect to train them to speak slowly and distinctly. They speak in childhood tentatively and breathlessly. Words tumbled from their lips so fast as to interfere with one another.

After a while perhaps following some emotional shock they suffered by a definite speech defect. Their utterances remained explosive, and no it exploded only with the effort and strain that are characteristic of stammering.

Emotional shock itself is held by many present-day authorities to be the chief cause of stammering. This belief is based upon a false premise. It is based upon the fact that many children who have been through emotional shocks have not stammered.

"My stammering," a typical report is heard from a child, "came when I was suddenly unable to speak the night by a noise I could not find."

"My mind was full of ghost stories I had heard from an old man. Thinking the noise must have been made by a ghost. I shrieked for help when help came. I was found in a panic, almost unable to speak. Ever since that time I have stammered."

The protecting of children from emotional shocks, therefore, is not a sufficient precaution. It is a necessary precaution, but it is not sufficient. It is necessary to give them the right kind of training for the prevention of stammering.

RAILROAD CARRIERS ASK FOR INCREASE

Hearings Are Scheduled by Interstate Commerce for May 24 in Washington.

Washington, May 11.—Hearing on the application of the railroad carriers for increased rates in the Southern and Western classification territory will be held by the interstate commerce commission today for May 24 in Washington.

The carriers asked for a freight rate advance of not less than 30 per cent in eastern territory, 23.91 per cent in western territory, and 21 per cent in the Pacific and passenger increase of 21 per cent in Southern territory.

In general, the carriers proposed to secure the revenue from increased freight rates, asserting that it is inadvisable to make a general increase in freight rates. The commission's statement said. The carriers will be heard in three groups conforming to the three territorial areas mentioned and the commission said it was not deemed necessary that aggregate property values for these several respective groups which it will use in carrying out the provisions of section 15 of the transportation act, be determined in advance.

Eastern carriers are heard first followed by the Southern and Western carriers. The hearing will be held in the afternoon, subsequent to the hearing of the carriers of the Atlantic and Gulf territories in position to the proposals will be heard. The commission added that it was possible that the carriers might be devoted to each branch of the subject.

TRIAL OF GOSNELL WELL UNDERWAY

Talking of Testimony Begins in Greenville. State Introduces Two Witnesses During First Day—Eye Witness on Stand.

Greenville, May 11.—Charged with the murder of Sheriff Hendrix, on the 4, 1919; Jale Gosnell, a federal revenue agent, was placed on trial this morning in the court of general session which convened yesterday. The jury was sworn by noon, and the afternoon session of the court was devoted to the beginning of state testimony. It is generally expected that the trial will last until the latter part of the week.

The following jury as selected in the case: C. B. Martin, foreman; P. W. Shockley, Herman McManaway, J. E. Garg, A. B. Wells, James J. Hughes, Robert Bailey, Charles Manly, Lafayette Keller.

Dr. W. C. Black, who performed the autopsy upon the body of Sheriff Hendrix, testified that in his opinion, the bullet which entered the body of the sheriff, was fired from a .38 Smith & Wesson caliber revolver, to the rear of the sixth and seventh ribs was the first shot fired by the state.

Dr. Black testified that in his opinion, the bullet which entered the body of the sheriff, was fired from a .38 Smith & Wesson caliber revolver, to the rear of the sixth and seventh ribs was the first shot fired by the state.

Kellar related simply the details of the tragedy, which occurred in Briscoe garage on court street. His testimony was given in a calm and collected manner, and he was given by him at the request. He asserted that while Gosnell's car was being repaired, Rector walked in and passing Gosnell, greeted him.

Gosnell did not return the greeting. Rector told him he did not care whether he did or not, and he gave him a look which he said was a warning. Rector and Rector, then according to the witness cursed Gosnell making an unmentionable reference upon Gosnell's mother. Gosnell rose from a sitting position behind his automobile and began firing at Rector with the revolver.

J. H. Allison, coroner for Greenville county, testified that he and Rector were members of a small group of men who were celebrating the holiday by drinking blockade beverages in a garage office on the morning of the shooting. He said, stepped out of the office door into the main building where he was upon the second floor. He had taken one drink with him and the others.

WILL PAY BIG REWARD FOR NEWS OF SLAYER

People of Macon Offer Inducement to Ascertain Murderer of Mr. Beiman.

Macon, Ga., May 11.—Rewards totaling more than $400 were voluntarily offered here this afternoon for apprehension of the person who Sunday afternoon murdered Mr. W. M. Beiman, widow of former U. S. senator, of the Macon Telegraph. Governor Dorney's attention will be officially called to the same tomorrow and it is expected that he will offer $200 in reward.

Persons familiar with the case believe that the reward is big enough to induce anyone who has been attracted to the attention here. The negro had been an ex-convict, according to the sheriff's office here, and he came from Macon on a freight train when arrested. The negro is still in custody of the representatives of the city to be put through a rigid examination.

Mr. Beiman was slain while out for his daily walk of eight miles last Sunday afternoon. She always took the Holton road. Her body was found a short distance from the road, in the little ravine and the apparently had been carried there by the slayer. The knife with which the crime was committed has not been found.

DECLARE THEIR INDEPENDENCE

Asheville Women Decide to Do Their Own House Work. Hold Mass Meeting and Adopt Plan to "Make" Ever Increasing Wage Demands.

Asheville, May 11.—A decision by the women of Asheville to do their own house work until the colored wage requirements were adopted for the mass meeting of the householders of the city tonight.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. Charles M. Platt, president of the Woman's club, while a brief address was made by Mayor Roberts. The meeting and its character had aroused considerable interest among the women folk of the city, and a good sized crowd was present in the auditorium of the high school.

While this meeting has been characterized as having various purposes, and Mrs. Platt in calling the meeting to order, "we will just call it a get-together meeting for the purpose of discussing the most of the diminishing dollar."

Charlotte H. Brown, of the negro college near Greensboro, accompanied by Dr. J. A. W. and Rev. Rector, were present as representatives of the colored servants' side of the issue.

When the colored speakers had finished their appeals, Mrs. Charles M. Platt told them in behalf of the householders of Asheville that "there are more different varieties of colors in Asheville than there are in the United States."

Mrs. Platt said that the householders of Asheville were not going to do their own housework and cooking until the colored servants were given the same wages and working conditions as the white servants.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION IN FAVOR PROJECTS

Approve Requests Made for Nearly $100,000 Federal Aid Money.

Columbia, May 12.—The state highway commission, at its second meeting in Columbia Tuesday afternoon, approved a request for federal aid to the extent of $90,592 to improve federal aid for four miles of road across a corner of Lexington county and put into final shape the plan for four division engineers in the state, each to have charge of the highway work in ten to twenty townships.

The headquarters of the four divisions will be as follows: L. M. Weisner, division engineer with headquarters in Columbia; D. G. Gregory, division engineer with headquarters in Florence; and H. C. Orr, with headquarters at Charleston. These division engineers have to be appointed at once.

The commission approved applications for federal aid from Anderson, York, Lexington, Colleton, Fairfield and Richland counties. The Lexington project is for the building of four miles of road which has been in the plan for years. It is a part of the state highway system.

The highway commission did not elect a secretary or a chief engineer. Applications for both offices were received and the commission will investigate and select the best man for the job.

The commission will also select a chief engineer for the department of agriculture, made a part of the highway department, and a chief engineer for the department of commerce and industry. The secretary of the department will be the executive officer of the department.

The Richland county project approved by the commission marks the beginning of the paved highway system in the county. The county commission and Capt. Pennell, who has been selected as the chief engineer of the county, have been the subject of much discussion.

Better Methods for Marketing Cotton and Other Crops

In the past two years the farmers and business men of South Carolina have submitted more about farming as a business than in any two decades of the State's history prior to 1917; and the biggest fact they have learned is that the marketing of a crop is the key to success. The acreage which has been worked but not marketed is a waste of labor and money. The Clemson College Extension Department, the United States Department, the Bureau of Markets and the American Cotton Association marks what should prove to be the most important steps yet taken in this State on a footing which will give the grower full protection. Under the plan which was published yesterday, the various agencies named above, acting under the leadership of Dr. W. W. Moore, will act to provide the most efficient and economical method of marketing cotton. However the proper conditions are met, the grower will be able to obtain the best price for his crop. The plan will also act to provide the grower with the best price for his crop. The plan will also act to provide the grower with the best price for his crop.

Lack of knowledge concerning the right food to feed rather than lack of food is the cause of much of the malnutrition found among children in this country, child specialists say, and home demonstration agents employed by county farm bureaus in cooperation with the United States Department of Agriculture and the State colleges are being asked this year to teach this kind of food that a growing child should have.

Sometimes talks and demonstrations are given to the mothers, and sometimes they are given to the children at school. It is an interesting fact that the best results come when talks with the mothers are supplemented by talking directly to the children.

Milk, whole milk, is always advised as the ideal food for the growing child, and sometimes the results of the experiments made by an investigator who fed milk to rats told the children to drink milk if they wish to be healthy and strong.

Among the pupils who heard a lecture in a school in Platte County, Mo., were three boys from one family. All three were very much underweight, as were two younger brothers at home. Their mother had had little training in the care and feeding of children and the boys showed it. She was very willing, however, to help carry out the suggestions about food that the children brought home from the lecture.

Two months later the home demonstration agent met the mother, who told her how pleased the whole family was at the children's gain in weight and general health since this change in diet. Then she said: "I must tell you about the experience the boys tried with cats to show me that what you told about the rats was true. They thought that cats ought to do as well as rats in an experiment of that kind, and they had the cats and didn't have the rats. So they took two kittens, and alone they only separated milk, and to the other they gave whole milk with a tablespoon of cream added to each feeding."

"It turned out with these cats just like it did with the rats. To the intense satisfaction of the boys. The kitten that had the whole milk grew big and strong, while the one of the separated milk diet was just puny."

BRYAN AND WILSON

Colonel Bryan entered the family quarrel in Alabama and insisted that the Democrats of that State slaughter Underwood. The Colonel wanted to see Underwood relegated ostensibly because Underwood was in league with the whiskey interest—because he was supposed to favor light wines and beer—but really because he is the Administration leader in the Senate. Bryan's personal objection to Underwood was that Underwood stood for Wilson and the Wilson policies, though it was a better political play to publicly arraign Underwood on the prohibition issue. The result of the Alabama primaries proves a sharp rebuke to Colonel Bryan, who Democrats gave Underwood an enthusiastic endorsement. It is quite likely that Underwood, who gives a larger vote than he would have received if there had been no interference by the Commover. The hand which Colonel Bryan undertook to play in Alabama affairs is but another indication of the Colonel's intention to "make war on San Francisco. The Charleston News and Courier has abundant ground for presenting as a fact "the immediate importance" to the Democrats of South Carolina, that the time has come when the Democratic party "must prepare to make its choice between the Wilson leadership and the Bryan leadership—between the fighting program of the President and the mobbing program of the Vice-President. The country will be in agreement with The News and Courier when it advises the Democratic party of its State that it should make its choice without hesitation." Not only does the duty of the Democratic party of South Carolina point the way, but the duty and the interest of the Democratic party of the Nation point the same way. Colonel Bryan intends carrying his ambition to dislodge Hitchcock in the National Convention, and Colonel Bryan is there destined to meet his Waterloo.

ENGLAND IS FAR AHEAD

IN TRADE WITH GERMANY

Regarded by French Merchants as having stolen a march on France and America.

Park, May 10.—The Great Britain has stolen a march on the United States and France in the resumption of business relations with Germany is the opinion expressed by French merchants who have tried to buy goods across the Rhine. In a great majority of cases, the merchants report, the German manufacturer replies to inquiry that his plant will be tied up for a long time to come by contracts with British goods.

An investigation based upon these reports is said to have developed the fact that the British are appropriating great quantities of raw material in Germany for which they are asking no payment in money but are taking manufactured articles in exchange. Germany now is getting her iron largely from Sweden under similar arrangement, making her almost entirely independent of France. The German manufacturer is anxious to get from her coal and agricultural implements which she can no longer buy in the United States without immense disadvantages due to the unfavorable exchange.

Every Tire Signed

We insist that Millers must be uniform. Each tire is signed. A record is kept of the maker, the inspector and the process.

If a tire comes back for adjustment we learn the reason. If the workman is at fault he is penalized. If the inspector overlooked a flaw he is held responsible. If any process or material is at fault, we correct it.

After years of this checking we've attained uniform tires. These are whole large cities from which not a Miller Tire came back last year.

Treads Must Endure

Miller Treads, by our standard, must outwear the balance of the tire. We have attained a tread which outwears rivals by 25 per cent.

Every day our tread stock is vulcanized, then tested, in our laboratory. We permit no variation.

Not a single Miller Tire with these new-grade treads has ever come back with the tread gone.

Not 20,000 Miles

Countless reports come to us on Miller Cord Tires showing 20,000 to 28,000 miles of service. And tales of that kind are told everywhere, we learn.

But mileage depends on conditions—on size, care, load and road. Millers are uniform, but they are not used under abnormal conditions.

In our factory tests we average 15,000 miles on Cords.

But a Miller Tire will outlast—almost always—any tire that you place opposite, no matter what it costs. Compare them under like conditions, and see what mileage modern tires can give.

You will gain a new criterion.

When you buy a new car insist on Miller Tires. Twenty cent makers now supply them and there is no extra charge.

A meeting of citizens and the Board of Trustees of the city school was held at the Court House last Tuesday afternoon at which time the report of a committee recently appointed to look into the school situation in Chester, was read. The report recommended repairs to present buildings which will amount to $250,000. They also recommended a six-room building for whites and a new school building for colored pupils. However, the district is authorized to only issue $100,000 in additional bonds and since the larger part of this will be taken for repairs nothing in the way of buildings can be erected at the present time. It was decided that the trustees would order an election to decide as to the issuing of the $200,000 in bonds and at the same election the electors will also vote on the question of raising the present special levy of nine mills to fourteen mills.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Edwards.

A gloom of sadness was cast over our community Wednesday evening when it became known that Mrs. Margaret M. Edwards, wife of Captain W. H. Edwards, had passed away at the home on Church street at nine o'clock after an illness of many years.

The funeral services were conducted at the residence this morning at eleven o'clock by Dr. D. G. Phillips pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian church; in the absence of Mrs. Edwards' pastor, Rev. L. McEl. White, who is attending the Southern Baptist Convention in Washington.

Mrs. Edwards was a daughter of the late Dr. Samuel E. McFadden and Mrs. Elizabeth Colp. McFadden and was born October 26, 1833 and was therefore in her eighty-seventh year. She was married to Captain Edwards on October 28, 1855 and to them were born eleven children; Messrs. C. W. H. Jr., S. M., and Misses Mary and Maggie Edwards, of Chester; Mrs. M. E. Jordan and Mr. Robert L. Edwards, of Fort Lawn, Rev. J. E. Edwards, of Pinopolis; Mr. John C. Edwards, of Rock Hill; Mr. Charles E. Edwards, of Wadesboro, N. C., and the late Mr. Reid M. Edwards.

Mrs. Edwards was a consecrated Christian woman and although confined to her rolling-chair for the past seventeen years she bore her affliction with a Christian spirit. She was a devoted wife and mother, a loving neighbor and made warm friends with all of those whom she came in contact with. She will be sorely missed by the family and hundreds of friends who will be consoled in knowing that she is with her Father.

Gen. Finch, Jr. and Sgt. J. R. White, of Spartanburg, were killed en route to a ball game at Greenville on Wednesday, when the car in which they were riding turned over caused by the breaking of a front wheel axle. Several others were badly injured.

WILSON ON SIDE OF GOD

UNCLE JOE CANNON SAYS

Uncle Joe Cannon, veteran of political campaigns since Lincoln's day, executed his famous "dancing dervish from Danville" stunt of jumping from one foot to another while waving a long black story to give emphasis to his comment on the President's letter demanding the Democratic party be committed to unreserved ratification of the treaty of Versailles.

"I'm damned glad he wrote it!" the former speaker exclaimed. "I expect to be born again pretty soon, it's possible. I'll be in the draft age then and I don't want to be called out to protect Turkey or Armenia." "He's on the side of God—on the moral side. He is taking action without regard to us business."

McCORMICK QUARANTINED.

Several Cases of Smallpox Cause of This Measure.

McCormick, May 12.—Yesterday morning city council passed an order to the town to be vaccinated and a strict distance requiring all persons within quarantine will be put on the town smallpox.

For some time there has been talk of smallpox here but no notice was taken of it, it being reported that the matter was not brought to the attention of the board of health or city authorities.

On request the chairman of the board of health investigated the case and the patient was quarantined. It is declared that the patient remained under quarantine for two weeks and then came down town. Three other cases of smallpox have later developed.

A case of scarlet fever has been reported as being near McCormick.

FARM LOAN AID IS PROMISED.

Washington, May 12.—Representative W. F. Stevenson, of Chaw, who is a member of the committee on banking and currency, says that his committee has agreed upon legislation to relieve the emergency in the farm loan situation caused by the attack upon the constitutionality of the farm loan act.

The Supreme Court has postponed until next fall the reargument of this case, aid in the meanwhile the farm loan board is tied up, and so are many millions of dollars' worth of mortgages which have already been executed, but on which no money has been advanced. Mr. Stevenson says that the matter is one of great importance to South Carolina.

The legislation which has been approved by the banking and currency committee, and which will probably be furthered by a special rule with in the next few days, will authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to purchase farm loan bonds on mortgages executed before the 1st of March, 1920, up to a total amount not to exceed $44,000,000. This is understood to easily take care of all the mortgages which are tied up because of the inability of the farm loan board to function.

Something More Than Profits

MOST men are in business for the purpose of making money; you understand that; the profits are the objective.

All right. The next question is --- How can we make our business pay the best profits? And in answer to that question lies the big difference between businesses.

We figure that a small margin on a large volume of sales is more profitable than a large profit on each sale. We figure that if we serve our community by having the right goods; and selling them at a fair price; and giving each purchaser our assurance that he shall have satisfaction or money back, our profits take care of themselves.

Service is more than profits;
It's really the source of profit.

MASTERING OLD AGE

You have just turned fifty, and you are troubled in mind because you are troubled in body. Disquietingly you tell yourself that old age is harrying you ahead of time, and bitterly you regret psychogenic indications of your earlier years.

Perhaps you recall, with mingled self-reproach and foreboding, the story told of Senator Morrill and his Vermont neighbor.

"How is it, Senator," the neighbor asked one day, "what you, at eighty-eight, are hale and hearty, while I, twenty years younger, am full of aches and pains and hardly able to get about?"

To which, you may remember, the senator made answer:

"I can't account for it at all, unless it is that I am drawing dividends while you are paying assessments."

Paying assessments on unwise life investments is, you fear, what you likewise will be called upon to do. Old age holds out to you no pleasant prospect.

But do not lose heart too soon. At fifty it is not too late to shift into the dividend-paying class. There is another story of a man, Ferguson, historian of Rome and professor of philosophy.

Ferguson, up to fifty, "enjoyed life," as the phrase is. He was a notable trencherman, and he had an intimate acquaintance with a variety of hewage. Then something happened within him, and the doctors said "paralysis."

When the paralysis cleared away, as it did to everybody's surprise, Ferguson radically altered his mode of living, also to everybody's surprise.

He abandoned the use of all stimulants. He turned vegetarian. He made simplicity his motto, and he cultivated cleanliness. With this result, as related by Colonel Nicholas Smith:

"He lived to celebrate his ninety-third birthday. He did much literary work after his fiftieth year. His old age was a splendid example of how simple living will prolong one's life and throw a stream of sunshine on his pathway."

Ferguson was in full possession of his faculties to the year of his home-going, and at no time during his life was he more graceful and entertaining than when he entered the nineties.

Your task of mastering old age, it is safe to say, should prove easier than was Ferguson's. For it is unlikely that you have lived quite so recklessly as he did. In any case, remember that, in the words of one admirably youthful old man:

"There is a chance for most old men and women to make their last years radiant and useful if they, be assemblers of the vicious idea that old age is a condition to be dreaded."

"Complete mastication of whole some food, exercise, fresh air, cheerful temperament, and good hours are high-class reforms. They seldom fail to renew one's life and energy."

Don't further devitalize yourself by fear and self-pity. Begin today to take stock of your living habits. And where you find these faulty begin a corrective process.

OFFICIALS INVESTIGATE ALLEGED SUGAR HOARDING

Columbia, May 11.—Considerable interest throughout the state is manifested in the agreement reached between U. S. District Attorney Weston, of the eastern district, and H. C. Booker, state fair price commissioner, regarding the profits to be allowed on sugar. These federal officials are making investigations in several parts of the state regarding alleged hoardings to sugar and also regarding profiteering, and it is announced that prosecutions will be pushed vigorously, if evidence bears out the reports. The food officials have agreed that a profit of one and a half cents per pound wholesale is the limit, and all wholesalers who sell for more than that will be prosecuted, and the officials ask that persons hearing of violations report to them. These officials are also keeping a lookout for overcharging by retailers. Reports have reached Columbia of sugar scarcity in many parts of the state.
