HERBERT HOOVER TALKS OF SUGAR

Gives Views on Entire Situation. Has No Real Information of Procedure as to Louisiana Crop Price.

Washington, May 14.—Herbert Hoover, former food administrator and candidate for the Republican nomination for president, gave his views to congress today on the sugar situation.

Appearing before a house committee investigating the sugar situation, Mr. Hoover declared that the world shortage of the product was likely to continue two or three years.

Although the hearing related primarily to the action of Attorney General Palmer in approving a maximum price for the Louisiana crop, he reached out into a broader field after Mr. Hoover said he could give only an "off-hand" opinion as to that proceeding.

Earlier in the day Mr. Hoover, who was a member of President Wilson's second industrial conference, told the senate labor committee he did not believe that the relationship between employers and employees could be settled by any form of federal regulation whether it be by injunction, compulsory arbitration or industrial courts.

While a large audience heard Mr. Hoover's views before both committees, the greatest interest was displayed by crowded galleries.

Mr. Hoover frankly disagreed with the policy adopted by the attorney general saying that if he had been in the latter's place he "certainly would not have attempted such an operation."

"Prices never could be fixed by threats of jail," he said, adding that the proper course was through commercial channels.

"Making reply to members who wanted to know what should have been done to keep prices from going up," Mr. Hoover reiterated that the government should have bought the Cuban crop, as well as the Louisiana crop and that even there was a chance to help by limiting the supply to non-essential industries.

In this connection he told the committee that prohibition had stimulated the use of sugar in manufacturing of sweet drinks, and thus had added to the drain on stocks needed for home consumption.

NAME OF DANIELS FORGED TO CABLE

Read by Sims to Senate Committee. Head of Navy Department Continues to Present Testimony Contradicting Admirals.

Washington, May 13.—Secretary Daniels told the senate naval investigation committee today that he had not signed a cablegram bearing what purported to be his signature which was among those read to the committee by Rear Admiral Sims today.

Mr. Daniels declared Admiral Sims in his statement had stressed the word "signed" in the cablegram, and that its purpose had made him feel like "jumping overboard."

"In regard to censors, I consider that American newspapers should be guarded as safer when willing independently."

"The original of the cable was found at the British embassy through which it was transmitted and was signed 'A. F. Carter, by Direction of the Chief of Naval Operations,'" Mr. Daniels told the committee, presenting photographic copies of the original dispatch.

Admiral Sims asked both the committee and himself an apology for the subject but that the subject was based upon a false signature.

"Much of Secretary Daniels' testimony today was devoted to Admiral Sims' criticisms of the department's work," Daniels declared, protesting in regard to charges that he was "in the middle" of the case.

TOBIAS MAY BE SELECTED AS THE STATE CHAIRMAN

Understood His Name Will Be Presented as Evans' Successor.

Columbia, May 14.—It is announced in Columbia today that friends of Ashley C. Tobias, Jr., prominent Columbia attorney and for some years past secretary of the state democratic executive committee, would present his name to the state democratic convention which meets in Columbia next Wednesday for the position of chairman of the committee.

Mr. Tobias has been chairman of the committee for eight years, and announces that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Tobias has a remarkable record as secretary. In the midst of the heated factional fight in 1918, at which time the Australian ballot was used in the state elections for the first time, Mr. Tobias handled the matter with a single error and without complaint or protest, an achievement which was widely commended upon in political circles.

Mr. Tobias is perhaps more familiar with the workings of the executive committee and its machinery than any other man in the state, and for this reason as well as others he is regarded by his friends as the logical successor to Mr. Evans.

Mr. Tobias is very popular throughout the state and is regarded as one of the state's leading attorneys and business men.

REED PREDICTS A FIGHT AT FRISCO

Attacks Wilson's Telegram to Oregon Democrats—President's Vote Message on Peace Resolution Expected to be "War" Number.

Washington, May 14.—Arrangements for the senate vote tomorrow at 4 p. m. on the republican peace resolution were completed tonight.

Democratic estimates were that the resolution would have a majority of from five to seven votes, depending on whether another republican joins Senator McCumber of North Dakota in opposition.

Mr. Reed predicted that the treaty would not be ratified by the senate with the veto message but that the President would decline to veto the message and thus let matters go to the country.

J.S. WANAMAKER BEFORE SPINNERS

Deliver Address to New England Business Men. International Association of Garment Manufacturers Makes Proposition.

Columbia, May 15.J. Scott Wainman, president of the American Cotton Association, who is on a business trip to New York and Boston, today delivered an address before the New England spinners, in view of Boston.

He told them frankly of the objects and purpose of the American Cotton Association and declared his address to them that the association was going to put its program across.

While in Boston Mr. Wainman and B. F. McLeod, of Charleston, chairman of the finance committee of the American Cotton Association, will have a conference with a delegation of English spinners who are now in the country.

This is expected to be a very important conference, as the English spinners will probably desire to make an effort to perfect some arrangement for the direct export of cotton from the South to England.

Mr. Wainman has received an urgent invitation to deliver an address before the International Association of Garment Manufacturers at St. Louis. This association is considering making application for membership in the American Cotton Association.

In a telegram to the American here tonight Mr. Wainman said: "The garment manufacturers' association takes the position that their organization and the American Cotton Association working together can force some economic reforms and jointly promote enormous benefits."

"We are urged," said Mr. Wainman, "to make a special fund of $500,000 for the purpose of putting the American Cotton Association in control of the cotton producing industry and to assure of subscriptions from contributing members from various sections of the country."

"A meeting of the executive and finance committees of the American Cotton Association has been called for June 6 in Atlanta for the purpose of electing a vice president and general manager of the association. These committees will also take steps to put the association on a strict business basis."

SIR OLIVER SAILS ON RETURN TO ENGLAND

New York, May 16.—Sir Oliver Lodge sailed back to England on the Celtic today with Lady Lodge, accompanied, he said, by his wife and two children.

Summarizing his impressions after a three months tour of the country, the British aviator said: "I have been deeply impressed by the wide spread interest in aviation."

SWIM RIO GRANDE TO ESCAPE FOES

Officers Forced to Flee When Troops Revolt.

Brownville, Texas, May 15.—The Carranza garrison at Anzaco, about 20 miles west of Matamoros, revolted Wednesday afternoon.

Gen. Frederic Ricat, commander, barely escaped death in the demolition of the garrison. This information was brought here today by E. H. Parker, of the United States Department of Justice, and Capt. Herman Tuttle, United States army intelligence officer, who have been investigating the situation in the vicinity of the Rio Grande.

The garrison numbered about 900 men and all went over to the revolutionists. It was said: "Gen. Ricat was taking his command from Monterey to the vicinity of Matamoros and planned to attack that city when the train was halted near Carranza, where the railroad track was torn up. It was there that the revolt occurred."

Gen. Ricat, Governor Rafael Carranza, of Tamaulipas, and Antonio De La Torre, the latter's secretary, escaped into the United States, walking twelve miles and swimming the Rio Grande.

Nearly $1,000,000 worth of Gen. Ricat carried on the train, was taken by the revolting troops. It was said: "The association has received national and international recognition. It is now up to our people of the cotton producing industry and to assure of subscriptions from contributing members from various sections of the country."

EFFORT TO CURB RECKLESS BUYING

Campaign to Vigorously Waged in Louisville.

Louisville, May 5.—Leaders of churches, and women's clubs and social workers here are engaged in a citywide drive to induce residents of Louisville to join in a campaign to cut down the cost of living by curtailing reckless buying at high prices.

The movement was inaugurated by the Louisville club women. It was inspired and given impetus by the Presbyterian minister's circle, the Present Hill Forward club and the Conference of Social Workers.

It is proposed to organize a cheaper living committee to be composed of representatives of many civic organizations.

Mayor George W. Smith has endorsed the movement a semi-officially, and is being abetted by his adherents and Mrs. Smith has promised that her household will be conducted so near as possible along the lines of economy suggested by the promoters of the idea.

"The drive against reckless buying," led by the Rev. Dr. Charles W. Welch, president of the Louisville Ministerial association, who is aided by a committee including in its membership a Roman Catholic priest and a Jewish rabbi as well as representatives of women's clubs.

"Buy no new clothing, shoes or other wearing apparel," is the slogan of the economy platform. "Wear what you have, no matter how shabby or out of style," it continues.

"If the people of Louisville will take this movement seriously," said the Rev. Dr. Welch, "we actually can force down prices here on the necessities of life. Persons generally are spending money like drunken sailors."

SHOULD PLANT SOY BEANS.

Clemson College Says They May Be Planted Late.

Soy Beans may be planted any time from early spring until midsummer, says Prof. O. H. Collins of the agronomy division. For a grain crop they should be planted early, but for soybeans, grown as a late crop they may be planted as late as August 1.

The choice of a variety must be made by the farmer himself. The South Carolina experiment station has found that Mammoth Yellow, Brown, Austin, Farber, Black and dored, and given impetus by the Presbyterian minister's circle, the Present Hill Forward club and the Conference of Social Workers.

Whether grown for seed or hay, soy beans should be planted in rows with a row of corn or a long stop on the fertility of the land and the variety grown. The seed should be planted just as soon as possible. An ordinary grain planter can be used very successfully. About 25 to 35 pounds of medium size seed should be planted per acre. The seed should be planted in rows one and a half to two inches.

Cultivation should begin as soon as the weeds are up. The ground. One deep cultivation is advised, but after that the cultivations should be shallow. Level cultivation is best. The best time for harvesting is thus greatly aided.

About 10 to 30 bushels of grain and one to six tons of hay will be produced by the acre. Some varieties, climate, fertility and cultivation. The vines are cut with a mower or reaper, shocked in the field, and then stored in stacks or covered hay. The beans may be threshed from the stalk by specially prepared harvesters.

TUESDAY, MAY 18.

Lots of men expect opportunity to carry a letter of introduction.

It isn't what we know that gets us a raise in pay—it's the ability to apply what we know.

Employ an optimist to get results and a pessimist to figure 'em up.

There are two sides to everything—except the most expensive phonograph records.

A dollar saved now will probably be worth two dollars in purchasing power two years from now.

We have not the figures at hand, but we are under the impression that the money which the people of the United States formerly spent for whiskey would buy the output of all the automobile factories in the country. If this is so, a great deal of the present extravagance may simply be a rearrangement of our budget. In the old days it was not uncommon for a laborer making $15 a week to spend $7 of it at the saloon. He and his family can make out a better case on his present wage when he puts it into clothes and amusements.

Chester county has been apporportioned $2,200 in the Salvation Army drive. Of this amount, only about $450 has as yet been collected. The $500 of this was raised through the churches. On next Sunday the matter will be presented through a number of the churches in the rural sections and every one is asked to give to this most worthy cause. It will be recalled that last year, the people were promised that none of the money raised would go toward increasing any of the salaries of the officers of the Salvation Army. This fact has been established that no single officer in the Salvation Army paid income tax last year. Those who would like to give to the cause may find pledge cards at the Chester Drug Store, The National Exchange Bank or at the office of Mr. A. M. Simpson, who has charge of the drive in Chester county.

Wait a Little Longer.

When you stop to think of it, we are not doing so badly. Of course, we are in a deplorable mess. The dirtiest type of politician seems to be in control and determined to humiliate the nation by deserting and not consulting our late allies; the labor agitator has the industry of the country by the throat; and the blather-ske and mischief maker are abroad in the land. All of these play in to the hand of the reactionary and pave the way for his return in triumph.

Still, we used to be worse off, and a glance at the past shows we are improving.

Bad as Trotsky is he is better than the czar and all he stood for. And the worse excesses of the revolutionists in Germany do not contain anything like the seeds of universal ruin that lay in kaiserism.

We're getting on. Slowly. But we're getting on.

We must remember that progress is not by grown-ups, but by children. It is only the new crop of human beings that advance.

In other words, real progress is not by politics, nor economics, nor churches, nor any other institutions composed of people who have had their day, but by education, or by people who have it in their power to make a new day.

This is about the first generation that can read and write.

A string of four or five generations, a line of grandfathers only a few times removed, could stretch back to the days of absolutism, tyranny, and cruelty well established all over the earth.

We have got rid of kaisers, czars, slavery, torture, the inquisition, Louis XIV, the Hapsburgs and the oppression of the masses, and the divine right of the privileged few—all only a white ago.

Don't be in a hurry.

Come back in a hundred years or so and we'll show you quite a world.

Gigantic forms of justice are being brought forth, and partitioning is painful. After a while, when the children of these times grow up, we shall be glad of them.

There are being men justice to the laborer, justice to the woman, justice to the child by removing the peril of alcohol, justice to the world by the formation of all nations into a league for the prevention of war, universal commerce, the era of science replacing hubbub, and a better grading of the spiritualities.

Give them a chance to grow up.

BAPTIST TAKE FLING AT PRESS AND CATHOLICISM

Washington, May 17.—Amendment to the constitution to prohibit the use of public funds for the support of sectarian institutions is recommended in a resolution unanimously adopted today by the Southern Baptist convention.

Introducing the resolution, Dr. Campbell, president of the convention, declared that Baptists were opposed to receiving money for their own work and every religious order in the world ought to pay its own expenses.

The convention was addressed today by Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The South must stand like Stone-wall Jackson and not let the enemy push it back, Bishop Cannon declared, endorsing the convention's amendment for the maintenance and enforcement of the prohibition amendment.

"If Southern Methodists and Baptists band together in the south, that settles it," he said.

A proposal to appoint a committee to study the advisability of establishing a Baptist newspaper was made the occasion for an attack by Dr. Ben Cox of Memphis, Tenn., against the American newspapers in general and the Associated Press in particular.

Seventy-five per cent. of "The blue pencils in American newspaper offices" has charged where in Roman Catholic hands.

THREE SERIOUSLY HURT

WHEN TRAIN HIT AUTO

Union, May 16.—J. Wright, former cashier of the Bank of Jonesville, his wife and Miss Mary Mobley, all of Jonesville, were seriously and one perhaps fatally injured today this afternoon when the automobile they were riding in was struck by a Southern railway freight train, at Frost's crossing and completely demolished Mrs. Susie Coleman, the other occupant of the car, narrowly escaped serious injury.

The party was in for a Sunday ride in Mr. Wright's machine and was three and a half miles out of Jonesville when the freight, going east, struck the car. Mr. Wright and his wife were thrown into the field, sustaining severe injuries. The top of the car was torn, from the body and hung onto the cowcatcher of the engine with Miss Mobley and Mrs. Coleman underneath. They were carried some 200 yards before the train was brought to a stop and a rescue effected. Miss Mobley had both eyes put out and has a fractured skull. Mrs. Coleman was considerably lacerated but it is not thought to be badly hurt.

Mrs. Wright had an ugly hole cut in her head and is in a serious condition. Mr. Wright was badly lacerated about the body. All the injured were rushed to Spartanburg, where they were placed in the Stedley hospital. A message from there tonight said Miss Mobley was in a critical condition, while Mr. and Mrs. Wright seemed to have a fair chance for recovery.

REVISED APPROPRIATION BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

ATLANTIC FLEET PUTS

TO SEA AFTER RESTING

New York, May 17.—The Atlantic fleet, which has been at anchor in the Hudson river for the last two weeks, put to sea today. Since it arrived here it has been reduced as a unit by the detaching of the battleship Oklahoma and six destroyers, which were ordered to the Gulf of Mexico for possible duty in connection with recent political changes in Mexico.

The battleship Pennsylvania, flagship of the fleet, will go to Hampton Roads direct. The other ships of the fleet will carry out a program of maneuvers and practice runs, after which, it is understood here, they will join the fleet.

Rumors were current in naval circles that additional ships may soon be sent to the Gulf of Mexico to join the Oklahoma and the destroyers now on duty there.

Boys and Girls Clubs Will Meet at Court House Saturday.—Instructive and Interesting Program Has Been Arranged.

The News gladly gives County Agent Sanders space for the following announcement:

The Boys and Girls clubs will meet at the Court House next Saturday May 23 at 11 o'clock for their club rally. Mayor Westbrook will welcome the Agricultural workers to the city, and a club member will respond, after which Dr. G. B. All parents are urged to be present. All club members are asked to write H. K. Sanders at once if you expect to be absent so that dinner will be prepared for them. H. K. SANDERS, County Agent.

WOULD CUT OUT DANGER OF POLITICAL RIVALRY.

Washington, May 17.—Public Gonzalez's withdrawal from the contest for the presidency in Mexico, reported to the state department, today was regarded here as the best indication that leaders of the political government department would eliminate the danger arising from political rivalry. Further evidence of conciliatory action was seen in the announcement that Manuel Palafox, to whom oil producers have paid tribute for several years, had been appointed chief of military operations in the state of Tamaulipas.

Restoration of free communication with the Mexican capital from the American side was brought long reports on the developments. There was no word, however, as to the fate of Carranza, who has fled to the hills near the border, or revolutionary troops on his trail.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY TO DISCREDIT WILSON.

Washington, May 17.—Republican leaders in Congress were accused today in the House of Representatives of having joined a conspiracy to discredit President Wilson. Mr. Fox cited the resolution which would make it unlawful for the President to leave the country, another declaring the office vacant because of absence from the country and a third seeking investigation of "tokens of appreciation given the President while abroad," as proof of his allegations. The conspiracy, Mr. Fox asserted, was based on a fear that President Wilson would resign upon the "bleeding" of leading his party to victory at the polls.

THE WORKMAN'S SILK SHIRT

Silk shirts are those that make the strike of to-day less bloody than they used to be, in effect, suggests a writer in the union's weekly labor paper published at Indianapolis. His reason runs about like this: Only roughnecks throw bricks. When a roughneck puts on a silk shirt, he quits being a roughneck. He quits throwing bricks. As a lot of workers these days of high wages wear silk shirts it follows that when they go on strike they will neither throw bricks nor indulge in other forms of violence, but will conduct the affair in a silk, ladylike manner, as it were. The silk shirt is perhaps the ultimate in expression of self-respect, opines this writer, and as is well known, no self-respecting person will get himself all mused up indulging in an unseemly brawl, especially if he has his silk shirt on. It is pointed out that in the had old days when no strike was considered a sinance unless it could show a daily list of dead and wounded, and a few buckets of human gore, strikers not only were destitute of silk shirts, but many of them were so striped all. They regarded with contempt all men who affected such sartorial elegance as bolted shirts, collars, and cuffs. Naturally, such individuals would put on at their strikes only exercises characterized by extreme rudeness and two-fisted impetuosity. In view of these things, "do not wear the silk shirt," advises this writer, and he continues earnestly. We believe it is an active agent in broadening the vision of the wearer in case he was not born to a silk shirt; we are assured from observation that the workman who for his shirts attains to the silk-shirted stage of sartorial splendor is inclined to be a better workman, a more dependable workman, because he has to live up to the silk shirt. We do not prescribe the silk shirt as a cure for industrial ills, but there is a comforting assurance in the silk shirt when it envelops a brawny torso that of industrial peace. It has a place in the progress of labor, for it is both a shield and a weapon, for in access of self respect and the self-respecting man has attained the most important step in good citizenship.

Silk-shirted workmen of to-day who started in to learn a trade twenty or thirty years ago will remember that a dude as something little better than the workman who sported the fellow who smoked cigars. The pose of the hard-working youth of that day was attuned to tradition, and tradition said that soft raiment was characteristic of soft muscles, and therefore to be despised. His father had gone collarless sometimes shirtless to his work, and the son was disposed to knock his traditional contempt for the bolted shirt into his offspring or his shop apprentice with a heavy hand. The son's arrival of the European environment, when and where men must dress and act in character and according to class conditions.

The American skilled worker of the second generation, the one who three bricks at dodes in the '80's and '90's came to replicate the tradition when he began to understand that the women of his kind were not dirt unlike their sisters of most other classes, and that cuts off from him nothing in the estimation of girls with whom he aspired to associate because they were prettier and more desirable. And, that it did not always compel attention, that the fellow who took to cuffs and lived up to the tradition, and that the fellow who had a better standing in the shop and elsewhere. Some fifteen or twenty years ago it became quite possible for the workman to wear a bolted shirt, to even at his work if he was so disposed.

And there is no manner of doubt that his breaking away from sartorial tradition that dated back to the times when sumptuary laws prescribed the grade of each class and when man was in danger of losing his ears if he wore silk if by any stretch of the imagination it is to be conceived that he could attain that degree of respectability that would make silk possible there is no doubt that the breaking away from clothing that was indicative of class limitations and an immediate and ameliorating influence on living conditions workmen lived better and their families lived better and there was vast expansion of the mental horizon of the worker. And this expansion of vision has had a tremendous effect on the progress of the American industry. It made orderly citizens of men who had become self-respecting; the roughneck was in a fair way to be eliminated.

Now the silk shirt is perhaps the ultimate in this expression of self-respect. A man with a silk shirt on can not be looked for to go out and throw bricks indeed, we are not quite sure but we would order silk shirts all around if we had the means and were getting rid of labor radicals. But it is much better that the silk-shirted workman should earn the shirt which he is doing with a good deal of satisfaction. Also he does not like to be annoyed by persons who have no taste in silk shirts and he is a real nuisance to influence upon the silk-shirtless and the shirtless.

Wherefore we are not inclined to quarrel because the self-shirted laborer is putting silk shirts on our working youth, for he thereby smooths the path of that youth to self-respecting prosperity. After a time the silk shirt will be on its way to the limbo of forgotten fashions, but it will leave behind it ambitions for more and more substantial evidences of progress. Let us by all means encourage the silk-shirted man who can earn the price of it. Incidentally it is to be remarked that as between the fellow who puts twenty dollars into a shirt and the other fellow who puts twenty dollars into a quart for a silk-shirted man. He will try to live up to the shirt while the other fellow is living silk and an important element in forwarding production.
