TJ States Policy For New School Year

With the first regular edition of the school year and with a new staff with new ideas, it is necessary to state the policy which will guide The Johnsonian for the next nine months. Any policy should have the qualities of clarity, brevity, but most of all, sincerity.

That is why we will be governed by the simple desire to be informative. This may be done by the different avenues open to a newspaper — news, features and editorial comment.

News stories will be impartial, and no personal bias will determine what is printed. This is the goal of any responsible newspaper, but that does not eliminate the necessity of determining what will be printed. The Johnsonian will present news.

That which is more likely to interest the student will be given the most importance. We will strive always for accuracy and thoroughness, knowing that no one can learn except when they take the time to learn.

Features will be selected on the basis of what will most likely interest our readers. Columns and letters to the editor will serve to give the individual a chance to voice his comments or criticisms. Anonymous letters will not be considered for publication.

We will never attempt to stir up trouble for that reason only. When we feel that there is a situation existing which needs to be corrected or lasted, this is the only stimulus we need to make the situation public. Majority opinion will not be the determinant of what we feel to be the good or badness of a situation.

Through these Media The Johnsonian will serve as a voice for the student, not only within certain barriers.

The Johnsonian will serve as a voice for the student, not only within certain barriers.

‘How much, says the supplement.

What is more, it will be those which will make the paper for the individual.

This is simple, but it is the key to these stories.

Wm. GLOVER

We will make the paper for the individual.

The Johnsonian will make the paper for the student.

We wish that we had more students at the moment of the new edition. This would mean that we could not have a newspaper. That is why we believe the spirit of "Winthrop.

The past two weeks mark this year as one of anticipation and excitement.

We are going to make up with the work which has already taken place and there is the promise of more to come. With this in mind, we shall our plan to make Winthrop one of the latest and most progressive schools in the South.

Hazing Elimination Sets Adult Standard

Surprisingly enough in view of how long the tradition of freshman initiation has lasted, this is the first time that any attempt will be made this year when for the first time rating was outlawed. This seems to indicate that many students feel, as we do, that this change is a favorable one.

It is not particularly the freshman who is being spared by this year's ruling. After all, it is possible that the average freshman classman who should be the most relieved.

Last year special rules dictated exactly how and when rating would be carried out, what could be done and what could not. Certainly these rules were needed to ensure that there would be no introduction with new students, but they also eliminated opportunity and re-eliminated the practice. It is possible that in an immediate past an underclassman could make them do either other than write a letter to someone's boyfriend (and they could write only a certain number of these) or act like a rebel in the eyes of an underclassman.

All is rating by last year had become more and more childish stunts and one began to wonder if the freshmen, who were conversely social and patiently enduring the whole thing, were not the real adult-behaving of all the students. In fact, the feelings of the underclassmen are understanding of the greater problems of life.

And why, every student should understand it, to realize that in some way, it is the same thing to do this for the sake of some individual who does not look, act or do anything like a natural being.

Therefore this year it is a relief for what is open and everyone is bored with the same old rules, that the traditions of initiation. And surely it is one tradition that had better be done with. And we feel that this year will be the first half, if at all.

New Year New Resolutions

The Johnsonian, as is the custom, sets before us the new year and all it presents. It is the goal of any newspaper to present the new year and all it presents. It is the goal of any newspaper to present the new year and all it presents. It is the goal of any newspaper to present the new year and all it presents. It is the goal of any newspaper to present the new year and all it presents.
