

Winthrop News 1947

Winthrop News and Events Archive

1-13-1947

Stuart Chase Commentator Jan. 13, 1947

Winthrop News Service

Winthrop College News Service
Jan. 13, 1947

FOR TUESDAY

News Service
(Jan 13, 1947)

Stuart Chase, noted commentator on economic and social problems, will speak at 8 ~~pm~~ o'clock tonight in the new auditorium at Winthrop college. Appearing as the fourth speaker on the college's 1946-47 lecture series, Mr. Chase will talk on "Inflation or Deflation? How to Get Rid of Both".

Mr. Chase, a New Englander by birth, first began his career in the accounting and engineering field, later turning to economics. During the First World War he investigated the profits of the meat packers for the Federal Trade Commission and the Food Administration. Later he helped start the Labor Bureau in New York, a non-profit organization which gives technical advice to labor unions.

An author of a number of books on economy, Mr. Chase has also prepared reports dealing with postwar questions, ~~of~~ in the series is ~~which~~ the most recent and final volume entitled ~~xxxx~~ "For This We Fought"

RN Herald
Also nat