SENATOR DIAL'S MISTAKE

The following editorial is from The Spartanburg Carolina Citizen: It is true that there are many people in Europe, even in Italy, who would make desirable citizens here...

The danger is that those who would come would be the kind we do not want, the kind that has caused so much trouble in the north and west where they have settled in such large numbers...

Perhaps we are not doing as well here in the south as we could hope for, but we are doing very well. Certainly we have been escaping many of the troubles and perils caused by the large foreign-born population...

A polyglot population has never been a happy one, nor a prosperous one. There would be no better thing for all our people are native-born. The few foreigners who have come among us have come in better condition...

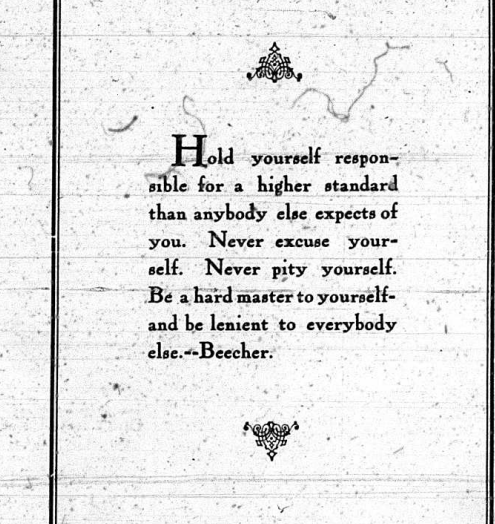

The foreigners who have come of their own accord and who have obeyed our laws and conform to our customs have been welcomed, and they have done well for the most part...

There would be trouble here, just as there has been trouble whenever a new population has been dumped upon an old one...

Senator Dial would do well to drop this immigration scheme. There are plenty of other things that need his thought and energy.

WANTS TO MEET DEMAND FOR CAROLINA POTATOES

Florence: That the advantages gained for South Carolina in the marketing of sweet potatoes may not be lost by the planting of a crop insufficient to meet the increased demand South Carolina farmers are urged to plant sweet potatoes in a statement issued here by Thomas H. Young, president and general manager of the South Carolina Sweet Potato Association...

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS CAUSE NEGRO EXODUS

Governor McLeod Says It Is Up to the Negro to Work Out Its Own Salvation. Columbia, S. C., June 2.—The exodus of the negro from the south is the most serious problem of the present time, Economic conditions were held responsible by the chief executive for the migration of negroes...

As to Communism.

By H. Addington Bruce. It has come to my attention that certain corporation heads in cities of dense population object vigorously to their employees' living in suburban towns and commuting to work from their places of work...

representative number of the membership was present. Mr. Young says in his statement, "a complete review of the past season was given. It showed that the South Carolina sweet potato had been especially profitable to the large market during the season just closed at average prices of from 90 cents to $1 per carload..."

Declaring that the negroes had not been the only class to suffer from hard times in the agricultural districts, the governor continued: "The most serious problem from the standpoint of the colored man is whether or not his condition is going to be better and permanently improved by removal to the north..."

It is all very well to say that if the employees commute they will in their daily traveling exhaust energy and that they should live close at hand so as not to be too inconvenienced if there is an occasion to work overtime...

in view of these facts as presented before the meeting of the association those present went on record as set forth in the following: "Whereas, The South Carolina Sweet Potato Association has held during the season now closing, between 240 and 260 cars of sweet potatoes at reasonably fair prices and whereas, it has spent between $8,000 to $10,000 toward advertising this season; and whereas, it is in view of this advertising there will be a natural demand for the coming season..."

The letter was written in reply to one containing a protest against the prohibition of labor soliciting and other measures to impede the migration of the negroes by the state authorities. Following is the text of the governor's letter in part: "The lack of prosperity coming to the negro in the south is by no means altogether to be blamed, even in a large measure to the treatment he received here. It is due more especially to economic and other conditions which neither he nor the white people who likewise are engaged in farming have been able to control..."

Employees who live in dwellings having an insufficiency of light and air are of necessity always more or less below par mentally as well as physically. Also, if they are family men, their working ability is bound to be further impaired by the bitter knowledge of the sad consequences of unfavorable housing conditions on their families.

"First, that the sweet potato production on an intelligent basis seems a reasonably safe venture for this season. It is resolved by those present that we go on record in recommending to the agricultural interest of this state: "That the sweet potato crop be increased by the planting of a larger acreage than in the past season."

"Second, that it will be very unfortunate from the standpoint of the state interest of this side crop should the advantages gained during the past season be lost from lack of interest and production during the present season and so that the supply of the crop be adequate to meet the demand next season."

"Go to the suburbs," should be their dictum, "where your wife and your children will have a better chance to keep well and strong." "What if I do mean a railroad journey every day? That is nothing compared with the benefits conferred by suburban and country life."

"Third, that inasmuch as grain crops are now being harvested that farmers who are in position to get wide cuttings from pure satisfactory stock might put part of their surplus into great potatoes. It is urged that they stock for sale and feed the calls to stock."

Madison, Ga., June 1.—Two men were shot to death by federal officers here tonight, in an attempt to seize a car in which a strand liquor was being carried, it is alleged. Henry Galley, one of the federal officers, a party of five, engaged on the running board of the automobile. Two men in the car are said to have opened fire on the men, he, returning the fire with an automatic pistol, shot and killed the two men.

KILLED HIS FATHER FOR ATTACKING WIFE

Goldboro, N. C., June 1.—Testing in his own behalf, Dewey Smith, charged with the murder of his father, John E. Smith, wealthy Waynes county farmer, today declared that his father had attacked his wife on four occasions. The last occurred on the day of the tragic slaying of his father with a shotgun April 18, and the other four days before the killing, the defendant stated. His wife, who also testified, corroborated all her husband said, declaring that her husband's father once forced the door while she was bathing, and that on the morning she was killed, he had seized her while in the bedroom. Each time she escaped him. The elder Smith, though he was about 70 years of age, was held last summer in prison court here on a charge of attempted assault on a 14 year old girl friend, and given a suspended road sentence.

TOM MOORE ESCAPES IN MISSISSIPPI

Man Thought to Have Been Slayer of Sharon Officer Breaks Jail. York, June 2.—Tom Moore, brought here from Mississippi in March as being Mills Moore, slayer of Policeman Peninger of Sharon, who was held last summer in prison here and was returned to Mississippi, has broken jail today, according to information received today by Sheriff F. E. Quinn. He was awaiting the outcome of an appeal from a five year sentence for safe cracking when he escaped a revolt of Irish boys here offered for his capture. The bringing of Moore to York following his identification by a son of the slain policeman, his identification by other York county men and the collapse of the case against him after he proved these persons were mistaken proved statewide interest a few months ago.

TEN ARE KILLED IN RELIGIOUS RIOT

Mexico City, June 1.—Newspaper dispatches from Durango City report that ten persons were killed and seventeen wounded, eight seriously, when a riot broke out in the provincial palace in protest against the law limiting to twenty-five the number of clergymen allowed each religious congregation. Military patrols were on duty throughout the state capital during the night, augmented in the latter hours by troops dispatched from the province. The riot broke out in a church which was the scene of a religious service. The trouble grew out of what was intended to be a demonstration and protest against the law. A committee of prominent Catholics, accompanied by a crowd of 3,000 persons, marched to the palace to ask the governor and legislators to prohibit the measure. While its spokesmen were awaiting admittance to the building the assemblage listened to the words of Rev. Fr. Merritt, who became so excited that it began to bombard the palace with stones.

ABOUT GRAIN RUSTS.

Clemson College.—Small rains in some parts of the state are beginning to show a certain amount of rust infection. The information at hand, however, is not yet sufficient to determine whether the epidemic will be severe (as was the case last year with wheat) or mild. In the meantime, growers should become widely alarmed at the presence of rust in their fields, says Dr. C. A. Ludwig, Associate Plant Pathologist. In this section almost the only grain rusts of any abundance are the leaf rusts. Of these there is a separate and distinct one for each of the five crops, corn, barley, rice and oats. It takes a very heavy infestation with any of these rusts to do serious damage. There is also a stem rust, known for one of the other which will attack each of these crops except corn. It does not take such a heavy attack of this rust to do appreciable damage. It is usually present in such small amounts in this section that the damage is negligible. In the North it is more abundant. In general, however, there is little or nothing that can be done to reduce the attacks of rust on grain in this section, and anyway the attack will ordinarily not be very serious.

The Laymen Vs. The Preachers.

Let those who will worry over evolution and the questions of them of the Scriptures. Preachers and church bodies may say and resolve as they may, but many of us—well said with Mr. Thomas M. Marshall, former Vice President of the United States, who on last Sunday, in an address in Spartanburg, S. C., preaching a great sermon applicable to the time in these terse words on the subject of evolution: "I am not concerned in whether or not my grandfather was a monkey; I have been kept busy not making one out of myself. I do not care what they prove about where I came from—where you came from, they cannot prove that Jesus Christ was not the incarnate Son of God."

Mr. Marshall does not claim to be a theologian nor even a preacher. But he declares that "the real cornerstone of the Republic of America is the Golden Rule of the Nazareth." "The tendency of the country is toward a materialistic and a democracy."

In an address given at the Southern Christian conference, and Detroit ministers preaching from the same text at the Detroit we hear Rev. Dr. Charles William Cochran, pastor of the Woodward Avenue Presbyterian Church in Detroit, who recently declared that Jesus Christ was not the Son of a virgin. At the same time he declared that the doctrine of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church at Indianapolis had repudiated the resolution of William Brewster, a famous naturalist, that church funds should be spent on any church schools that gave a favorable interpretation of the theory of evolution. "The tendency of the modern church to ape politics by regarding freedom of thought and speech as a crime," was characterized as "most unfortunate and stupid," by Doctor Cochran.

In New York City three leading Presbyterian ministers in sermons preached at the 14th Presbyterian General Assembly at Indianapolis last week in declaring five articles of faith essential to the conception of the church's faith. Rev. Dr. I. Mason Clark, for 20 years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, declared he did not believe in the resurrection of the dead as stated by the assembly. "It voted," he said, "what it was necessary for a Presbyterian minister to believe in the incarnation of Christ, in the virgin birth of Christ, in a particular theory of the death of Christ on the cross, and in the resurrection of the Lord, and in the veracity or genuineness of the miracles attributed to Jesus. In all frankness I do not believe in any of these five points. Certainly the Scriptures are not inerrant and never were."

The others who assailed the article were the General Assembly members Rev. William P. Merrill, of the Brick Presbyterian Church, and Rev. John Keimann, of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church. Rev. Merrill said the move was "an attempt to put a yoke" on the necks of ministers. "For our part, we would go much farther. We would like to see to hear Mr. Marshall, a layman, any day in the week, than to hear any of the big city preachers argue over whether or not the Scriptures say whether Jesus was the Son of a virgin, and whether man descended from a monkey. What this old world is doing is to make the religion of the old fashioned Gospel and less of argument over how much of the Bible can or cannot properly be believed, and in our opinion there is more true religion in Mr. Marshall's declaration that 'the real cornerstone of the Republic of America is the Golden Rule of the Nazareth; the essentials of the Gospel of Jesus Christ are the essentials of democracy.' It is the only religion that has a dozen of the distinguished divines who quarrel over the 'errancy of the Scriptures' and 'freedom of thought'."

In the opinion of an average man, the layman puts the preachers to shame. In our opinion he makes the stronger appeal to the people, and is doing more to bring about the Kingdom on earth, he are not so sure if in reality he is so. More than that, he is doing more than are the "free thought" preachers. At any rate, you'll take our religious teaching from every time—Charlotte Observer.

The famous Hippoboscus has given its last to the world. A new York playhouse has been purchased by a reality corporation with the definite purpose of erecting a commercial building on the site. It is too great to take vicinity for a business that was only eight months in the year to be profitable. More than that, it is doing more than are the "free thought" preachers. At any rate, you'll take our religious teaching from every time—Charlotte Observer.

TUESDAY, JUNE 5.

Many of the large manufacturing interests of the United States, are endeavoring to get the government to let down the immigration barrier to let foreign labor into the United States by the wholesale.

Organized labor and numerous other organizations are busy endeavoring to keep the admittance of foreign labor. These organizations want "selective immigration" allowing only those of "better class" to invade this country.

Article on the subject of card, and

J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, in a special article in this week's issue discusses the immigration question from a broad national and philosophical standpoint, giving his views as to how the immigration question should be handled in a way which he believes to be to the best interests of the entire country.

"In the course of his interesting discussion of the immigration question, Davis points to the need of selective immigration and draws some valuable conclusions as to what it would mean to let in only those of better class during the last third of a century.

We have something less than 14,000,000 foreign-born people living in the United States. Measured by the psychological examinations of white men selected at random, pro rated by the twenty-four to forty-eight hours, the third time was when he brought back from the land of the dead a middle-aged man, his second ex-wife and a young man outside of the gates of the City Beautiful after the young man had been dead for some four days.

"I cannot bring myself to believe that any of these resurrections 'just happened,' the evangelist declared. "Let us study the cases of these miracles during the ministry of Christ. The first was the little girl who had just died. Jesus went into the room and said, 'She is not dead; she is asleep.' Immediately He was laughed to scorn by the old folks, and he had to put them out of the room and said, 'She is not dead; she is asleep.' This was His only difficulty, the skepticism of the old folks standing around."

SPRAYING TOMATOES.

Clemson College—Inquiries have come to the Botany Division lately about tomato diseases, particularly concerning tomato spraying, what diseases it will control and what can be expected in the way of results. The following is a brief statement of the situation by the plant pathologists.

Members of the main types of parasitic tomato diseases. In one type the infection reaches the plant through the soil and therefore it is not so easy to do good. Types of this group are the bacterial, fungous wilt, and root-knot disease.

In the second type the infection is air-borne, and spraying will go a long way toward prevention. The most serious disease of this type is late blight (or leaf spot) disease caused by Septoria lycopersici. This disease is characterized by spotting of the leaves. Where the spots become numerous, as is usual in this state, the leaves turn yellow, dry up, and fall off. Often the lower part of large tomato plants is completely bare of leaves, while at the top will be a cluster of leaves, the younger ones being healthy and the older ones showing the effects of infection according to stage.

The proper method of control is to spray with Bordeaux mixture. This is best covered with vigorous green leaves all summer, but to get it the spraying must be begun early and repeated periodically every ten to fourteen days all through the season. Now is the proper time to begin. The 4-4-80 strength of spray material if stock preparations of the spray materials have been made up in advance, as was suggested earlier in the season by this Division, will be ready for preparing the spray for each application will be negligible.

Further information concerning the making of Bordeaux mixture and of stock preparations for this spray can be secured from the Botany Division, Clemson College, S. C.

SOLD MANY RANGES.

Various Offices of Southern Public Utilities Company Sold 438 Electric Ranges During Recent Campaign—Manager Fox Attended the Meeting.

Mr. F. L. Fox, manager of the Chester branch of the Southern Public Utilities Company recently attended a meeting of the managers of the Southern Public Utilities Company system, the meeting having been held at the general offices of the company at Columbia, S. C.

The principal feature of the meeting was a review and analysis of the electric range campaign which was conducted simultaneously in every branch of the company, and which was declared by representatives of electric range manufacturers to be probably the most successful range campaign ever conducted in this country.

At the beginning of the recent campaign, President C. Marshall fixed a quota for each branch, and a prize of $25 was offered to each branch which completed its quota. A prize of $100 was offered to the branch making the highest percentage, and a similar prize of $50 to the branch making the next highest percentage. The total of the quota for the system was 215 ranges, and this number was more than doubled in the number of sales. Every branch exceeded its quota except one. The Winston-Salem branch won the first prize of $100 by selling 184 ranges, which was 85 per cent of its quota. The second prize of $50 was won by Greenville, which sold 91 ranges, this being 42 per cent of its quota. The total number of ranges sold was 468, increasing the number of electric ranges on the lines of the company by considerably more than 50 per cent, and although the campaign is over the sales of this remarkable cooking appliance are still brisk.

"The campaign was very successful," declared President Marshall at the executives' meeting. "It was notably successful not only because of the number of ranges sold and the enthusiasm which permeated the entire organization, but because it has given many of our sales a new vision of real service. It has helped many members of our sales force as much as it has helped the people for whom we have installed electric ranges."

Go to it—Chester boys, you are showing the Southern white man how to do a real day's work.

Big Crowds Attending The Brown Meeting

The largest crowds yet attending when you mention the winning of a child to Christianity. It is the same difficulty that Jesus experienced with the old folks at the resurrection: the difficulty in dealing with the child is not with the child, but with the skeptical, cold-blooded men and women as well as some from more distant points.

John E. Brown is delivering strong messages to the people, who are displaying a great amount of interest. Brother Brown is a wonderful evangelist and has the tact of reaching his audience seldom attained by man. His sermons are very plain and are delivered in a way that they are readily understood by even the children of the teen ages.

It was a beautiful sight yesterday afternoon to see the members of the various churches of Chester marching to the tabernacle for the brown people also.

"Tonight will be 'Family Night,'" and the evangelist stated last evening that he hoped the members of the various families would attend.

The Rev. Brown chose as the text for his sermon last night a passage from the seventh chapter of the book of Luke. "When Jesus was here on earth, the evangelist said, 'he opened blind eyes, he healed the lame, he raised the dead, he raised the dead who had been dead only a few hours; his second ex-wife and a young man outside of the gates of the City Beautiful after the young man had been dead for some four days.'"

"The average child in the average American home is ready to join the church when he or she is 8 years old," Brother Brown declared. "The church belongs to our children, and the church when he or she is 8 years old; he is asleep; all I have to do is to awaken her, and the old folks laugh at me to scorn, and Jesus put them out."

"Nine-tenths of the opposition to children joining the church is because of the fact that the parents do not assume the responsibility of teaching their children the truths of Christianity."

"The second resurrection which Jesus performed was in the case of the young man. Jesus was standing outside of the walls of the City Beautiful when the funeral procession of the boy even goes to hell alone; and no girl ever goes to hell alone. They always go in groups. Birds of a feather flock together, and if they are of a feather they will be or else they'll quit flocking together."

"The third resurrection was in the case of the middle-aged man who had been dead four days. Between the ages of 20 and 25 there is one person of every 100 who will join the church between the ages of 25 and 40 only one person out of 1,000 joins the church; and between 40 and 60 years of age there is only one person in 10,000 who will join the church. With the advance of age the difficulties increase. In the case of the third resurrection it was a middle-aged man who had been dead and buried four days. The relatives had given up hope for him. But Jesus came before the tomb and cried in a loud voice, saying, 'Lazarus, I say unto thee, come forth.'"

"God grant that many of those who come to this temple tonight out of the church and in darkness may leave it in the church and in light," said the revivalist, in conclusion.

WORK'S BASEBALL TEAM.

It is a lucky bunch of baseball artists that Manager Pulliam is gathering around him with which to capture the Yorkville baseball championship. Already some fifteen or more of them have arrived for the purpose of letting the manager—try them out with a view to seeing what they can do, and the local fans are going daffy over them as well as the boasted prowess of others. "Fairest crotch" they have ever had around here," has come to be a common verdict, and all are agreed that Victor Sanderson asks no odds of any of them. It is declared that Couston can "cutting" around Ray Ormand at second base, and Ray can catch 'em at bat as hot as they can come. Pulliam himself is a noted shortstop who will play in that position generally; but wherever he may be needed especially.

Among those who have so far reported are the following:

J. W. Richard, second base and outfielder, Clemson college.

John S. McGinty of Maxton, N. C. First base, from Adams Dental college.

B. E. Hipp, Jr., of Canton, N. C. (Wesley college), first baseman.

M. R. Ray of Maxton, N. C., catcher.

Clifton Pools of Clayton, N. C. (Wake Forest), outfielder.

Eddie Crech of Selma, N. C. (Catawba college), outfielder.

J. P. Phillips, Charlotte, N. C., a brother of Dody, outfielder.

Red Johnson, (N. C. A. & E.) outfielder.

T. W. Gressette, coach of Yorkville High school, outfielder.

J. D. Sanderson, Trinity College, N. C., pitcher.

J. V. Poglesman, Elon college, North Carolina.

E. D. Ester, Reidsville, N. C.

J. D. Sanderson, Trinity College, N. C.

Alex Smith, Garner, N. C.

Charley Smith, Trinity College, third base.

George L. Adams, Winston-Salem, N. C. (Catawba college).

C. C. McCouston, L. P. I. college, Thomassville, N. C., 2nd base.

The boys are practicing each afternoon when the weather permits; but as yet the weather has permitted but little practice—Yorkville Enquirer.

The FAIRIES CASE.

The appeal of Wm. C. Faries, convicted at the November term of the court of general sessions of the murder of Newton Taylor on September 6, 1922, is set to come up for a hearing in the supreme court next Monday.

The case may or may not come up according to schedule, and if it does not come up during the June term of the court it will go over until next September.

In the prosecution of this case if November the state was represented by Solicitor J. Monroe Spears of Darlington, Solicitor Henry having been incapacitated a few weeks previously by a broken leg. Mr. Spears was assisted by John R. Hart, Esq., of Yorkville, and John G. Carpenter and C. M. Austin, Esq., of Gastonia, N. C.

With the elevation of Solicitor Henry to the bench followed by the appointment of J. L. Glenn of Chester, as solicitor, responsibility for the further prosecution has devolved upon Mr. Glenn, who is now leading counsel for the state in the matter.

Solicitor Spears and Mr. Hart have prepared written arguments in the case; but the North Carolina attorneys, not being familiar with South Carolina practice, are not taking any especially active interest in the appeal.—Yorkville Enquirer.

THINGS BETTER THAN MONEY.

Some people may think it strange that J. W. McClothlin, president of Furman University, should decline to accept an increase of $2,000 in his salary, his reason being that the University as a whole is in greater need of additional funds than himself personally, but others, and especially those who know Dr. McClothlin, will not be at all surprised.

The fact is that there are a great many men in the world whose chief motive in life is not the pursuit of money, and the number, we believe, is increasing every day. There are men who had rather achieve a worthy object than to accumulate a fortune. There are men who are working at a financial sacrifice in order to arrive for certain ideals.

We would not be understood as saying anything to detract from the fine spirit shown by the president of Furman University. The point we are trying to make is that there are at least some who will understand and appreciate what he is doing, and we believe the number of those who will understand such devotion and sacrifice is greater now than ever before.

A good life is better than great wealth, and a good example before the world is better than great power in the world. More than ever before we believe the number of those who appreciate this principle, and that is why the world is better today than it ever has been.—Carolina Citizen.

Two special trains loaded with citizens going to Washington passed through Chester on the Seaboard yesterday. One of the trains was bearing Shriners from New Orleans. It is said that Washington is expecting half a million visitors at the Shrine convention.

Chester people learned with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Waddy C. Thomson, of Lancaster, which occurred last Saturday afternoon after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Thomson was a native of Spartanburg but had resided in Lancaster for the greater part of her life, where her husband is treasurer of the Lancaster Cotton Mills. She is survived by her husband, three daughters and two sons.

The highway department yesterday asked the Chester county commissioners to put ten miles of state road No. 6 in condition to be maintained in order that this stretch may be taken over by the highway department for maintenance. The section in question runs from Fort Sumner to the York county line in the direction of Rock Hill and on to the main road from Lancaster to Rock Hill. The road has already been partially constructed, and could be placed in good condition by the expenditure of $5,000, Charles H. Moorehead, state highway engineer, said.

Mr. Moorehead said the department was anxious for the county to comply with the request, as the road in question is an important one in Columbia State.

Dr. Robt. E. Abell, of Chester, has been appointed by Governor McLeod as a member of the state board of health.

From information obtainable the baseball league to be composed of Rock Hill, Chester, York and Union has been formed and will be known as the Palmetto League.

It is probable that six towns will compose the league. Winnsboro is interested in the league and if the sixth town can be secured Winnsboro will become a part of the league. If those six towns are available, the league will be composed of the four towns above mentioned.

The matter of setting the salary limit has not yet been definitely settled. Rock Hill and York want the salary limit placed at $2,000, while Chester and Union want it at $1,650.

Chester has raised around $1,800 of her share and those soliciting say that they will secure the balance without any great amount of trouble. It is planned to get the league started by June 18th.

A manager will soon be secured for Chester, a number of applicants already being placed, as well as quite a number of good baseball players from various sections. The teams will be composed of semi-professionals, the most of whom will be college boys.

Death of Mrs. F. McCullough.—A platoon of address came over Chester yesterday morning when it became known that Mrs. F. McCullough, 515 York street, had died at the Pryor Hospital at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. McCullough underwent a very serious operation several days ago. Her condition became serious Sunday evening and it was then realized that the end was not far.

The funeral services will be held this afternoon at five o'clock at the home on York street by Rev. Henry Stokes and J. C. Roper, after which the remains will be laid to rest in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. McCullough was a member of Bethel Methodist church and was one of the most ardent workers, always being an active interest in all matters pertaining to her church. She was also active in civic organizations and wielded an influence for good throughout the community.

She is survived by her husband, Mr. W. F. McCullough; three daughters, Mrs. W. J. Latimer, Mrs. J. E. Vannoy, Mrs. Y. V. Richardson; one son, Mr. Walter C. McCullough, all of Chester, who have the heartfelt sympathy of a large circle of friends throughout the county.

Mrs. McCullough was a native of Greenboro, N. C., but had resided in Chester for a number of years.

In the state of Texas, city and rural schools are to merge in all counties of 100,000 or more population. New Scholarships to Clemson.

Beginning with next session every county in South Carolina will be entitled to a scholarship in the Two-year Agricultural Course. Seven appointments will also be made from the State-at-large.

These scholarships are open to young men eighteen years of age or over, who have spent not less than three years on the farm. Entrance is based upon the equivalent of ten units and the scholarship examinations will cover the work completed by the average rural school. Each scholarship is worth $100.00 and free tuition of $40.00 additional for two seasons.

Beginning at 9 A. M. on Friday, July 13, 1923 competitive examinations for the award of these scholarships will be held by the County Superintendent of Education.

This course offers an opportunity to young men who for any reason find it impossible to spend four years in college. The aim of this new course is to teach better farming methods as well as the business arrangements which enter into the management, and English are required in addition to the vocational subjects like soil fertility, farm crops, the principles of farming, cotton grading, farm machinery, injurious diseases, orchard and truck products, etc. The work is arranged to permit a transfer to the freshman class at the end of the first year for the students with sufficient preparation.

Examinations for the award of four-year scholarships and for credit toward entrance into the freshman class will also be held on the same day and at the same time.

For information write at once to The Registrar, Clemson College, S. C. Summer School for Teachers, for College make-up, etc. June 11 to July 21, 1923.

Epidemic Hysteria.

By H. Addison Bruce.

To medical psychologists there is nothing extraordinary in the strange zeal of late displayed by numerous people in dancing many hours without once stopping. Their performance is merely an outbreak in a special form of a social mania technically known as epidemic hysteria. Now can the special form itself boast novelty. For this is by no means the first time that the world has witnessed a "dancing mania" in the early years of civilization—that is, in the '40s and '50s of last century—freed dancing was at times a feature of seasons so that as many as 50 men and women might be seen whirling about. The same thing happened still earlier at revival meetings. First one person, then another being seized with an irresistible impulse to dance.

And there even were dancing manias long before spirits or revival meetings were heard of. Occasional instances are reported as far back as the 13th century, the most noteworthy being one that occurred soon after Europe was swept by the black plague. As recorded by a student of epidemic hysteria: "The black death over, the dancing mania began. About the year 1370 thousands of dancers filled the streets of European cities. So prevalent was this epidemic that peasants left their plows, mechanics their workshops, and housewives their domestic duties, to join the wild revels. Girls and boys quitted their parents, and servants their masters, to look at the dancers, and greedily imbibed the poison of mental infection.

In Italy the epidemic, reached such a height and became so general that few persons could claim to be entirely exempt from it." Fortunately nothing like this has developed in connection with the latest dancing mania, which is likely to be short lived if only because it has as motive the establishing of endurance records. Obviously the higher the record set, the fewer persons will attempt to break it, until at last all give over trying.

Yet psychologically the mania of today is as significant as any earlier mania of its sort. It goes to prove that, despite the boasted advances in education, large numbers of people remain unduly susceptible, uncritically responsive to ideas, no matter how extravagant and absurd. Also it goes to prove that large numbers are in a state of nervous irritability so extreme that they welcome even exhaustion as a means of gaining relief from a tension.

Party, no doubt, will may be attributed to the stresses of the war period and of the present uncertain reconstruction period. But in large measure the blame must again be put on educational shortcomings, and especially on the failure of education to foster poise, strength of character and a wholesome life attitude.

Always those most immune from hysteria and other nervous disorders are those who have most self-control and best know how to meet the varied demands of life. Always the gaining of self control and of adaptability is the product chiefly of training, of education, fitness when nervous disorders are rampant, most of all when outbreaks of epidemic hysteria occur, warnings given that the educational system is somewhat at fault.

In the way or another such warnings have been given century after century. Will mankind forever pay to them no heed?

BRIEFLY TOLD.

Because of the fact that dishonest individuals in religious disguise have by willful misrepresentation obtained from the government permits to secure so-called "sacramental wine" for pretended religious ceremonies, when such permits were in reality to obtain wine for commercial purposes, the trustees of St. Har Sinai Temple in Trenton, New Jersey, urged, in resolutions, action toward the revocation by the Federal Government of the privilege accorded Jewish congregations of using wine for religious purposes.

A new material, "Bravolette," is used by a German inventor in the manufacture of safety razors. It looks like ivory, tortoise shell or marble, depending on the manner in which it is manufactured. The advantage of this material lies in the fact that the apparatus cannot rust. There is no need to dry the razor after use, it is sufficient to rinse it. Another advantage is that it is cheaper than razors made of metal.

Dr. George Clarke Houghton, rector of the Church of the Transfiguration, better known as the Little Church Around the Corner in New York, died recently. At one time the Little Church Around the Corner was a favorite resort of runaway couples. But Dr. Houghton drew up a set of rules requiring every such couple to produce evidence of parental consent before the ceremony. He refused to marry divorced men and women. During his pastorate more than 15,000 persons were married in the Little Church.

THAT SPRING FEVER.

By Bruce Beiden, M. D.

From time immemorial people have fancied that in the spring they need some sort of eliminating medicine, such as sulphur and molasses, or some kind of tonic.

This is because it is the spring time that they are likely to experience angor—or a general feeling of having been let down a bit. It is in this state which first has been described as "Spring Fever."

It is particularly the members of the younger generation who are singled out by salacious mistresses and vaunted tonics at this season of the year.

These remedies usually upset the stomach and add the general system unnecessarily. As for those of unknown composition, certainly there is no need for them, and it does not matter what the claims.

The real reason why so many people feel a general letting down in springtime at this season is because they continue to live and eat as though the winter were not over. Vigor and suitable clothing are not taken into sufficient account, and more food is eaten than required in the warmer weather.

The stimulus of cold is gone, yet there is a failure to adapt to the changed conditions. We also feel the effects of activity more. We should indeed be active, but we must fit our organisms to the change, else we will experience unwanted fatigue and foolishly expect to rejuvenate ourselves merely by taking medicine.

What we need in the spring is more fresh air in and out of our homes and offices and shops, more vegetables and fruit and less meat, more sleep, and sensible adjustment in the way of clothing. This is the way nature would have us live.

There is no artificial method that will meet the requirements, which are simple enough, after all. Only the common-sense scientific course will prove effective.

Of course, if there are actual defects acting as factors, a physician should be consulted.

Priest Consulted By Detroit, Mich., June 1.—Rev. Father Michael G. Esper, pastor of the St. Boniface Catholic church, says today that a shot and slightly wounded Harold Smith, 14, of Sudbury, Wis., as the boy made a dash for liberty, after, it is alleged, he was caught in the act of robbing post boxes in the church.

FIGHT THE WEEVIL

Failure to Fight the Boll Weevil Means Certain Crop Failure.

By S. Presley Coker, Secretary-Treasurer and General Manager of Humphrey-Coker Seed Company. The supremacy of MAN over the BOLL WEEVIL is certain when man is willing to WORK and use his intelligence. The supremacy of the BOLL WEEVIL over man is just as certain when man is lazy, indifferent and fails to use his intelligence.

It is very important that we begin poisoning the boll weevils early. This article is to urge every farmer to make his plans at once, get all poison and molasses ready and mix before any square firm. This work is easily done and the materials will not be expensive.

Use the following mixture: 1 gallon calcium arsenate, 1 gallon water, 1 gallon molasses (black strap). Sufficient for two acres.

Mix the water and calcium arsenate thoroughly and then mix this with the molasses and apply it as a mop. Old rags tied to the end of a stick will make a satisfactory mop.

The value of this early work cannot be emphasized too much. It gets the old weevils before they can lay eggs in the squares. Remember! It is very important to make this application before any squares appear.

We would urge that you make a big effort to find the places where the boll weevils start on your farm. They usually begin in defunct spots, near some piece of wood, a wood pile, near a stump or old building. If you find these places and spend your best efforts in these spots (picking squares, poisoning, working) you can keep the weevils under control until August, when the migration period sets in, without having to work over the whole farm. Neglect to fight these spots and it will be a harder fight over your entire acreage.

We are sure that those who fight hard, will be more than repaid in the resulting crop. There is considerable discussion as to the best method of fighting the boll weevil, after cotton gets big and begins to square freely and the boll weevil begins to function normally, whether to use the Molasses-Calcium Arsenate mixture or Calcium Arsenate Dust. This is somewhat disturbing to many farmers and some are hesitating as to which method to follow. Don't hesitate, choose ONE method and go after the fight. It is certain that either method will give good results, when coupled with hard work, intelligent application and fast crop cultivation.

Last season we applied the above mentioned Molasses-Calcium Arsenate mixture early, before cotton squared, and then we followed the dusting method and we made a high as 2100 pounds of seed cotton per acre. Others used the molasses mixture straight through with good results. This proves that both methods have worked well. Choose the one you will follow and determine now to go after the weevil with your best efforts, for to prove your supremacy over the weevil you must WORK, WORK, hard work, intelligently and never give up.

"Our Family Medicine"

IT WILL WRITE you in regard to Black-Draught liver medicine, as I have been using it more than 15 years," says a letter from Mr. S. F. Miner, of R. F. D. 2, Leland, N. C. "I keep it in my home all the time, for it is really our family medicine. When we begin to feel feverish or sluggish, with trouble from the liver or stomach, we take a dose of Theodor's Black-Draught and the trouble is soon over. I mostly buy the smaller package, but a fine and has saved me many a bill."

Theodor's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable remedy, acting on the liver, stomach and bowels. It is made from the best herbs and contains no calomel or other mineral drugs. It has been found of great value in cases of indigestion, stomach trouble, sick headache, constipation, and laxative, helping to relieve the symptoms caused by these troubles, and to put the digestive system into proper working order.

NEW METHOD OF LURING LABORERS TO THE NORTH

Agents Are Sent Through South on Trains Distributing Handbills at Stations.

Columbia, June 1.—Despite the Carolina law against labor collection, a new method of luring laborers to the Elysian fields north of the Mason and Dixon line was employed yesterday. When one of the New York-Florida Seaboard trains passed through, standing on the rear platform was a man with a handful of large yellow circulars. These he was distributing to negroes and others whom he could attract to the train platform. The presumption is that the same game was worked at every station where the train halted.

But the tale was told by the circular. It was a yellow sheet and it told a luring tale of the colored man's El Dorado. It said that 10,000 negro men are wanted by the Carnegie Steel company, at its Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York plants. It stated further, and boldly, that the minimum wages would be 40 cents an hour and 10, 11 and 12 a day. It appears that the negro men who answer this ad will find themselves awaiting oceans of brass before they get through wishing for the Dixie land of cotton and watermelon.

The circular ended by saying that

Farm Flocks Run Production

Clemson College. Through poultry raising is one of the side lines on the general farm, on some farms it plays an important role, and many more farmers than formerly are now asking: How can I get my hens to pay more money?"

"One of the best secretaries poultry profits is egg production," says N. E. Mohr, Extension Poultry Husbandman, as part answer to this question. If the hens do not lay a great number of eggs, we can not expect them to return a profit. Furthermore, our egg production should be great during the fall and winter when the prices are relatively high.

In Bingham, South Carolina, Mrs. W. C. Hatchell, who raises White Leghorns, made her chickens lay 1732 eggs per bird per year. This was accomplished through proper housing, feeding, and other management problems. J. F. Gaines, a breeder of Rhode Island Reds, made his hens lay 15431 eggs per bird per year.

How many flocks are getting similar production? Those not getting it should breed up the flock so as to increase production and profits.

applications were to be sent only to the Richmond employment agency which printed the yellow dodgers.
