Spring One-Act Festival Run Begins April 9

Quick Facts

- The student-produced, directed and acted festival will spotlight four plays, including one written by a Winthrop theatre major.
- Spring One-Act Festival will run April 9-11 in Johnson Studio Theatre.

ROCK HILL, S.C. - A beloved campus tradition more than 50 years in the making, the Department of Theatre and Dance will bring the Spring One-Act Festival to Johnson Studio Theatre in April.

The culmination of student work in the Department of Theatre and Dance class THRA 431: Directing II, the Spring One-Act Festival will include performances on April 9 at 8 p.m., April 10 at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. and April 11 at 2 p.m. This semester's production will feature "Stars," a play directed by theatre major Erin Lee of Rock Hill, S.C.

The Department of Theatre and Dance began doing one-act plays in spring 1955, according to Russell Luke, instructor of theatre and faculty advisor for the Spring One-Act Festival. Since then, the department has done more than 600 one-act plays, estimated Luke, and added a fall one-act festival. Both festivals have become eagerly anticipated and well-attended traditions on campus that involve theatre majors and non-theatre majors alike.

"Students enjoy seeing work that is completely student driven, since the directing, design, acting, stage management and backstage work is all done by students," said Luke, adding that student participants "come away learning much as well as having a good time."
