EXPLOSIVE OF MIGHTY POWER

Discovered by Accident—Tells Medic Chemist

New York, May 29.—The announcement was made last night by Dr. Dayne B. De Walford, Vice President of the American Medical-Pharmaceutical League, a member of the League for the Enforcement of Peace, and a surgeon on the list of 451 Forty-seventh Street, Brooklyn.

Dr. De Walford made an announcement in the Hotel Astor at the annual convention of the Medical-Pharmaceutical League. He said that, officially, he and his partner, who was assisting him when they made the discovery, had called the new explosive "Terrorol." It is a substance of great strength, the doctor said that five grains of "Terrorol" would be sufficient to destroy the Woolworth Building, and a large quantity would have force enough to blow up the Palisades.

Dr. De Walford said to speak on "Prevention and Treatment of Polymia," but he did not touch upon that subject because he did not want to impress upon chemists and members of the medical profession how much more important now is the question of preventing the United States from being forced to surrender. He read a message of greeting and a pledge of support from the League to President Wilson and Congress. This was signed Dr. De Walford then said:

"In experimenting about a year ago with my son, who is a chemist, we discovered an explosive force so tremendous that one-tenth of a grain blew into bits a heavy Wedgwood mortar. We are not at work on the problem of the safe handling of this explosive, and I hope that by the time our boys reach the front, we shall have solved this. Until we bring calamity home to the German people, I am afraid they will blow down to Kaiserism."

After the reading Dr. De Walford threw more light on his discovery of "Terrorol," but he did not say whether the explosive had been brought to the attention of the Government. The discovery was entirely accidental, he said. It was when he was working to discover a cheap substitute for gasoline. They held a theory that a substitute could be produced from chemical combinations as well as from crude oil, and their experiments carried them far afield in many directions.

It was while working on an unusual combination of chemicals that an almost infinitesimal particle of metal fell into the mortar in combination with a particle of another chemical, and the resultant explosion shook the laboratory and shattered the mortar. Although the doctor would not discuss what elements entered into the combination of destruction, he said it was entirely a domestic product and that large quantities could be obtained in the East. He said that it could be used in a portable capsule and would burn like a match.

Dr. De Walford also told the league that it probably should be used over German cities from aircraft, so the cities might be destroyed and the people still have opportunities to escape with their lives. He said it was apparently forgotten that look at a solution had been announced that would render the air and clouds opaque. With these chemical firebrands Berlin and Vienna could be burned up. Copies containing a recipe for this chemical would cost $100. It can be made in one day and one airplane could carry 500,000 of them and the aviator scatter them like sowing seeds.

"Germany is using every means and every intellect in the world of discovering means to defeat us," he said.

"We have got to compete with her in this direction, as well as in the field of science. We have got to study the mechanical and scientific side of the matter that will bring victory to our cause. We have got to study the German business and bring home to the inhabitants what Germany has done to Poland and to Belgium."

LOT OF STUDENT AVIATORS

New Men Being Trained at College Aiding Governments.

Washington, May 28.—Another lot of 150 student aviators for the army went into training today at the six month course for aviators, and a similar group of 150, in the interim.

New classes will be started each succeeding Monday until the full 400 of the plane is to turn out 800 aviator reserve corps officers each week after the first class graduates.

SHIP SEIZURE RECOMMENDED

Brazil is Rapidly Framing Up to Strike Against the Kaiser.

Rio Janeiro, May 29.—Seizure of German ships and adoption of naval measures against Germany, as recommended by the entente allies, is recommended by the diplomatic commission of the chamber of deputies to which was referred the message of President Braz regarding the torpedoing of the Brazilian "steamship Tyra." The commission decided to submit to congress a bill authorizing the president to utilize German ships in Brazilian ports, to provide for defense of Brazilian navigation, to reach an understanding with the allied nations in regard to measures which will assure freedom of foreign commerce and to revoke the decrees of neutrality as soon as advisable.

It is probable that the bill passed by the chamber on first reading yesterday for revocation of the neutrality decree in the war between Germany and the United States will be amended so as to provide for the cancellation of the decree of neutrality in the war between the central empires and the United States. The commission's report says that the Brazilian government has remained quiet in regard to the rights of the United States, but it is not clear whether the commission has recommended that the United States should be invited to take any action in regard to the rights of the United States.

The commission's report says that the Brazilian government has remained quiet in regard to the rights of the United States, but it is not clear whether the commission has recommended that the United States should be invited to take any action in regard to the rights of the United States.

During the debate yesterday, the greatest enthusiasm was shown. The galleries were crowded with members of the diplomatic corps and other prominent persons. A peaceful deputy was interrupted by other deputies who cried: "The Germans are traitors!"

CREAMERY AT ORANGEBURG

New Enterprise Started in Orangeburg, S. C.

Orangeburg, May 28.—The Orangeburg Cooperative Creamery opened for business in this city today. The plant, which is located on North Main street, is the largest and most modern of its kind in the South. It is equipped with the most up-to-date machinery obtainable. Besides making butter, it produces cream, cheese, and other dairy products. The enterprise is owned and operated by the local farmers, and it is expected that it will be a great benefit to the community.

A CENTURY AGO

In 1818 the Emperor of Brazil, Pedro I, visited the United States. He was the first foreign monarch to visit the United States since the American Revolution. He was accompanied by a large entourage and was received with great honor. He spent several weeks in the United States, visiting various cities and meeting with President James Monroe. His visit was a significant event in the history of international relations between the United States and Brazil.

"BUFFALO BILL"

National Monument to a Popular Scout.

Plans for a national monument to the memory of William F. Cody, known as "Buffalo Bill," were announced today. The monument will be located in Wyoming and will honor his contributions to the American West. Cody was a famous scout, soldier, and showman. He was one of the most prominent figures of the Old West and his adventures are well known throughout the world.

NOW ADMIT FAILURE OF SUZ CANAL ATTACK

"German Writers, Male and Female," Blamed for General Staff's Ignorance of Country.

The Hague, May 28.—Full Schweder, president of the German general staff, has admitted that the attack on the Suez Canal was a failure. He blamed the failure on the German general staff's ignorance of the canal's defenses and the strength of the British fleet. Schweder also criticized the German press and writers for their lack of realism and their exaggerated claims of success.

The statement was issued by the British War Office with the object of showing America's complete participation in the war and its ability to give immediate powerful aid. It is reported that the British War Office will give an army of 2,000,000 men, and say there are prospects of the greater success for the year, $75,000,000 of which has already been advanced to the Entente Allies.

DR. CARELL'S SYSTEM

Wonderful Success in Saving Lives of the Wounded.

The success of Carell's system, I am told by those who know, is not due to a single element, but to the combined advantages of a highly developed technique, says George E. L. Hays, in the June Scribner. The system is based on the use of a special instrument called the "Carell's System" which is used to treat the wounds of the wounded. It is a simple and effective method that has saved many lives.

SEE GERMAN HAND IN PARIS STRIKES

Government Keeping Close Watch on Activities of Whom-Come.

Paris, May 28.—Information has been ascertained through the police that German influence was responsible for the disorders here. It is believed that the German government is keeping a close watch on the activities of those who are known as "whom-come" agents. These agents are believed to be working to undermine the French government and to bring about a revolution.

100,000 AMERICANS SOON TO BE IN FRANCE

London Announces Officially Our Extensive Preparations for Prosecuting the War.

London, May 28.—An official statement was made today that 100,000 Americans will be in France soon to be in France. The statement says that the American government is making extensive preparations for the prosecution of the war. This includes the training of American troops and the provision of supplies and equipment.

COMMUNITY FOOD SERVICE

WAR

The government asks each man to consider himself a committee of one to see that every man, in his community, between the 10th and 30th inclusive, registers on June 11. You are also requested to report any one who should, but does not register on this day.

The failure of the public to buy the "Liberty Bonds" does not mean that the government will be unable to secure the necessary funds with which to defray the expenses incident to the conducting of the war. The government has two ways which will secure funds. One is the selling of bonds; the other is by taxation. The matter of buying bonds is optional with the people, while taxation is not. The government officials have already made it plain that the government MUST have the money and in the event the bonds are not taken up, the money will be secured by taxation.

The United States government is going to have a hard job providing mules and horses for the army, which will be in training about the first of September. Already something like one million mules and horses have been taken from this country by the European countries and the United States must have something over 400,000 mules and horses for the army of over one million men to be placed in training in the next few months.

While the motor vehicle takes the place of large numbers of mules and horses, it has been found, even in modern warfare, that the motor vehicle cannot transport guns and ammunition to the front lines owing to the proved ground-traveling troubles.

The government is preparing for a war of at least a year, and the government officials state that unless emphasis is placed on the necessity of maintaining our horse-breeding operations that in a few years, even now, face an actual shortage of horses for farm work.

The Reformers of South Carolina of which Ex-governor Blewett is apparently the spokesman, have had much to say recently about the manner in which the selective draft and the "draft law" would be carried out in this State by the Manningtons. We hardly think the Manningtons, or any other "ites" will have the nerve to try to put anything over on the federal government. However, we fail to see any necessity for mixing local politics with the selective draft and if such is done with a view of benefiting certain individuals, we trust the matter will be dealt. Another thing, if the Reformers are not going to be killed with square, we believe it would be to their benefit to get another leader other than Mr. Blewett. It is plain, plainly evident that this gentleman has lost his force and does not deserve the attention from those in authority that the name of any party should receive.

SOME WILL NOT KNOW.

Despite the wealth of information that has been printed, the reports that have been posted, and the agencies requisitioned by the government to inform the people that June 11 is the day of registration for the selective draft, there will be a host of people who will hear nothing of it. This may sound strange and will lack interpretation in these times of rapid advancement of the telephone and automobile, but no matter how enlightening a community nor how advanced these physical means of progress, there can always be found many who seldom come to town, who are not in range of the electric wires, who get their news in a newspaper, and know what really is going on in the world. If there is such a person, the neighborhood of the enlighteningly the whole county included, it would be conferring a favor upon them to tell them about Registration Day. The man between the 10th and 30th inclusive, fails to register, is guilty of a violation and a penalty will be waiting for him. There is no penalty attached to a year or two delay to inform him, but the conscience within should be your accuser. If you are doing the ignorant and the uninformed a very great kindness, you will tell them of their duty, enlighten them as to the requirements of the law, and see that they are essential. If they are ignorant, make themselves available for service.

Disseminating the news in your community in that range which your daily activities require you to cover, and if there is to the knowledge of any man another who may not have had the opportunity of acquainting himself with the facts about the registration, tell him about it and make it impressive upon him that it is his duty to register, that unless he does register, he is subject to a heavy penalty. This will be doing the government of this country a splendid service, a patriotic service, and at the same time it would be conferring a favor upon the eligible friend. Tell him—Charlotte News.

Proper Disposition.

New York Evening Post.

President Wilson has disposed of the wheat speculation problem in a way to satisfy all reasonable men. He gives warm praise to the soldier's vigor and enthusiasm and high patriotic motives, but points out that this war is a grim business, that the most carefully trained men, and declares that he is bound to follow the precedent of a splendidly given day's days and nights to the strain of "the most immediate means of military action." It will be noted, too, that the president's policy is the policy of professional war experts on both sides of the water. If any other reason were needed to justify the president in deciding to make no use at present of the permissive Roosevelt clauses of the army bill, it would be found in the war department plan for the early sending of an expeditionary force to France. It is to be under the command of a "trained officer." General Pershing and to consist of a regular army, already trained. If the regular army has, here we have intelligent promises. Instead of turning to a man who has had no experience, and asking him to see if he can raise an army which could be sent into the French line until after four or five months of training, patch a practical general with troops that can be made ready to fight in a few days, and to be sent into freedom and common sense. The country will be convinced, we are in a position that the president, in this matter, has done his duty.

"MANKIND IS SICK"

This modern life draws heavily on all resources. E. S. Martin writes in Harper's for June. Three years ago next fall an emigrant American historian watched the beginnings of the war of all the nations with foreboding that if it lasted for a few months, it would end in the collapse of national credit, followed by the collapse of all the nations, and the world to a negative condition, and the worst of what life remained by personal agriculture. It has not come to that yet, but the country that has made us has made undeniable progress in that direction. Up to lately the opinion prevailed that our civilization, with all its defects, was certainly on the right track, and far better and more promising than any civilization that had preceded it. Men saw its incomparable progress in mechanics and scientific knowledge, and its apparent extrication from dreadful errors that had harassed their fathers, fathers and looked for such a multiplication and exchange of commodities as would abolish poverty, and for such an expansion of liberty, order, and the rule of wisdom as should progressively stabilize the happiness of mankind. But all those expectations have been very sadly shamed. Everything which was trusted to smoothing the process of universal salvation is now again under critical scrutiny. We look to the last days of mankind, and will turn out to a valid millennium. We doubt that, after all, eel and iron and copper and organization and efficiency are the things that will turn out to a valid millennium. We doubt that, after all, eel and iron and copper and organization and efficiency are the things that will turn out to a valid millennium. We doubt that, after all, eel and iron and copper and organization and efficiency are the things that will turn out to a valid millennium.

HOW WHEAT SPECULATORS PLAY THE FUTURE GAME

Average Bushel of Wheat is Sold at Least One Cent a Day.

Chicago, "Futures" or as they are more often called on the floor of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce and Chicago board of trade, "speculators" are verbal or written contracts to buy or sell at some future time.

For instance: July wheat. One man on the floor of the board of trade or acting through his commission man, buys 1,000 bushels of July wheat for $2.41 per bushel. He pays a small portion of the purchase price, called a "margin." The seller contracts to deliver to him 1,000 bushels of wheat in July. The buyer must take when delivered and pay the balance of the price over the margin he laid down at the beginning.

Or, a man may sell 1,000 bushels of July wheat. That doesn't necessarily mean that he has ever seen a bushel of wheat. This man is illegally betting that wheat in July will be selling for less than the "future" price quoted today. If he guesses right he can buy 1,000 bushels that at a lower price and sell at the higher price he contracted at. If he guesses wrong by the time he loses the difference.

September wheat is that contracted for delivery in that month. At that time the wheat speculator is betting in May, July and September wheat. After June 1, May wheat is dropped and December wheat is added.

Dealing in futures, commission men say, is necessary to protect terminal elevator owners and flour millers from the risk that wheat prices will hedge on the market which is constantly fluctuating.

But a much of grain speculation, while it may or may not be necessary, is only a minute part of the speculation in futures. To gamble in futures means betting 990 that are nothing but empty or "rearranged orders" to affect the market price of cash grain.

The average bushel of wheat is sold at least 100 times on the Minneapolis chamber of commerce. Every morning there were up to May 10, 100 bushels of wheat sold in futures trading on the Chicago board of trade than there are bushels received during the whole year.

"That is grain gambling—betting of the rise or fall of the wheat. One man sells hundreds of thousands of bushels of wheat, and he does not and which he never expects to have, to another man who doesn't want that wheat and never expects to see it. The man who sells his wheat again and again forcing the price up or down.

HOOVER TALKS OUT SAVS 'VERY LIQUID'

Will Look Carefully Into 'No Grain or Liquor' Before He Gives Opinion.

Washington.—Herbert C. Hoover, chosen by President Wilson to be the country's food administrator when the pending legislation is perfected, has definite authority on the prohibition of use of foodstuffs in brewing and distilling.

Mr. Hoover said it always means "bottle" in mind that the proposed food administration is purely for the benefit of the consumer and not for the benefit of the producer. He said that the food administrator would hold his eyes straight on its true objective and take no interest in ethical questions involved in temperance or non-temperance, any other question.

"If the problem of giving administrative action to the provisions in the act on brewing and distilling comes up, Mr. Hoover said, he would first want to determine accurately and beyond all question the extent to which such saving can be made in the consumption of alcohol and the importance of this saving.

"In order to determine these facts, if the legislation passes, and if I had to deal with the matter, and if I had to recommend to the president the appointment of a committee of national scope and of strictly unprejudiced view to determine exactly how much saving could be effected by such a restriction, I would naturally take into consideration the conditions and with fairness to all sides. After the finding of this committee it would be necessary for the president to weigh the benefits obtained as against other questions, such as the allocation of revenue and industry. What would be lost in these matters is real fact, and it is impossible to collect fundamental data after the legislation has been completed.

Miss Rankin Earns Applause.

It has never been a pleasant task to criticize the "lady from Montana," as out of the House of Representatives, for as in this, there has been a kind of a feeling for her, and no desire, especially on the part of a few particularly crabbed antagonists of woman suffrage, that her course in the House should illustrate the deficiencies of her sex as lawmakers. There will, therefore, be every general satisfaction that at least Miss Rankin, even if she had not an important statute an amendment which nobody can find any fault with, that she supported in a speech that she delivered, including those of brevity, simplicity, and an accurate presentation of dispassionate truths.

"Tancik is the only remedy that ever helped me. I certainly can't praise it," declared Mrs. E. H. Moore, of Piedmont, S. C., in a statement of relief in endorsement of Tancik. "I suffered from nervous indigestion for the past several years and very badly during the past two years. My condition was rapidly getting worse, too, when I began taking Tancik. I was in such bad health that I was miserable all the time. I was unable to eat, my nerves ached, too, and sleepless to bed-headed a lot. Many a night I've rolled in bed nearly all night. I had about come to the conclusion I was not going to get any better, for all the medicine I had taken had failed to give me lasting relief, when I found Tancik. The Tancik gave me just the results I wanted. My appetite came back soon after I started taking it and soon I was feeling well. My nerves were soon in fine shape, my blood got to circulating well and I was no longer one of those smothering spells since I took Tancik, and I never wake up now with my body numb like I frequently used to do. Tancik is a great medicine."

Tancik, the master medicine is sold by: Kennedy Mercantile Co., Black Rock; Leiner's Drug Store, Chester; W. C. Munnerly, Fort Lawn; Republic Pharmacy, Great Falls; Monticelli Mills Store, Lando.

Fall Tomatoes May Be Had From Castles.

Tomatoes grow readily from cuttings, and an early fall crop may be had. Where the old plants are not diseased they may be pruned back to eight or ten inches and allowed to form new tops. This will produce the earliest tomatoes. In the home garden this pruning may be extended over several weeks so that a succession of tomatoes may be had. The cuttings may be made with the same vigor.—Progressive Farmer.

MUST ELECT NEW ALDERMEN FOR WARD ONE

The fact that Messrs. H. S. Adams and Robert Gage, who are both Aldermen from Ward 1, are serving on the Chester County Highway Commission, has advised the question as to whether or not it would be proper for these two gentlemen to hold two offices at the same time in order to be eligible for the position of Mayor Gage took the matter up with the Attorney General at Columbia, and is in receipt of the following letter:

The Letters. May 26, 1917. Hon. T. H. Peoples Atty. General, Columbia, S. C.

Dear Sir: I am enclosing herewith an act passed by our last session of the General Assembly and invite your particular attention to Section 8.

Mr. J. L. Abell has recently died, and I have been appointed in his place as provided by the act.

At this time I am serving on the City Council as Alderman from Ward 1 and I desire to have your opinion as to whether I am violating the Constitution, if I retain my place on the Council.

Your prompt attention to the matter will be appreciated.

Very truly yours, ROBT. GAGE, Columbia, May 27, 1917.

Mr. Robert Gage, Chester, S. C.

Your letter of the 26th inst. to the Attorney General has been handed me for attention. You state that you are a member of the City Council of Chester and that you have recently been appointed a member of the Chester County Highway Commission and wish to be advised whether or not you are holding these offices in violation of the Constitutional provision against holding two offices.

I reply hereto I beg to advise that, in my opinion these are, two offices of honor or profit as contemplated in Section 2 of Article IV of the Constitution of 1865 and you are accepting the position as a member of the Board of Highway Commissioners would automatically vacate your office as Alderman.

Yours very truly, C. N. SAPP, Assistant Attorney General.

It will be seen that it is now necessary to elect two Aldermen from Ward 1, one for a term of two years and the other for one year. Messrs. Gage and Adams will formally tender their resignations as Aldermen at the next regular meeting of the city council, which will be held next week.

The matter of securing competent successors in this Ward has already been discussed and those suggested are Messrs. M. R. Clark and Dr. Robert E. Abell, both of whom are among Chester's most progressive young men; both proving successful in their personal vocations which is a fact for the public that they will have as yet committed themselves if it is evident that in the event their friends are successful in pressing them to offer for the place that they will have no opposition, since both are known to be fully fitted to serve and two better representatives for this Ward could not well be secured.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Owens and Mr. C. B. Stevenson, all of Mount Holly, N. C., were the guests of Mrs. and Mrs. J. H. Yarborough last week.

Miss Mrs. A. M. Gregory and child, spent a few hours in the community Tuesday.

Miss Ira Simpson of Chicago College returned home Wednesday.

Miss Nannie Atkinson who has been teaching near Columbia is at home for vacation.

Miss Nellie Hudson of Sharps, spent a few days last week with relatives in the community.

Mr. Marion J. Brakefield left last week for Charleston where he has accepted a position in the community.

Miss Beattie Atkinson is visiting her brother, Mr. E. M. Atkinson of Chester, Route 4.

Mr. Tom Puka and Miss Eliza Nelson, of Columbia were the guests of Miss Nannie Atkinson last week.

Mr. Alvin Derby was a visitor in the community last week.

TO INVESTIGATE SEABOARD DEPOT

It will be recalled that representatives of the Seaboard Air Line Railway met in this city, with members of the City Council, Chamber of Commerce and the ladies of the Civic League, several weeks ago in response to a complaint which had been made in regard to the proposed location of the passenger station at this point. This station is of ancient construction and in times past was an old eating house, which several years ago was converted into a pretentious passenger station.

At the last mentioned meeting a committee composed of the following were appointed: H. S. Adams, Chairman; A. L. Gaston, C. E. Dwyer, Robert Gage, Alfred O. Lloyd, secretary, to handle the proposition.

The creation of a suitable station was taken up with the Seaboard, and it is reported that the Seaboard Railroad Commission and Mr. A. O. Lloyd, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is in receipt of a letter from Mr. J. B. Richards, chairman of the commission, stating that a hearing will be held in Chester, Thursday, June 7th, at ten o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of investigating the complaint. Officials of the Seaboard will be notified of the hearing and will doubtless be present on this occasion. Mr. Richards also states that the entire railroad commission expects to be present at the hearing.

A large number of Chester citizens are expected to be present inasmuch as Chester's claims may be fully realized.

MARRIED WOMEN CANNOT ORDER WHISKY

The following opinion, regarding the quart-month law has been rendered by Attorney General Thomas H. Peoples, in response to an inquiry from Probate Judge G. R. Webb, of Aiken.

"In reply to your letter of the 28th inst., I beg to advise that you are allowed to issue permits for alcoholic liquors not exceeding one quart in any calendar month, to any male persons above the age of 21 years, resident of your county, provided they are not students of any institution of learning.

"You are prohibited from issuing permits to women, except to those who may be the head of a family. It would, therefore, be unlawful for you to issue a permit to a married woman who is not the head of a family, and under the law the head of a family is always considered the head of a family.

"BY Section 2, of the act a person is prohibited from receiving in excess of one quart of alcoholic liquors containing more than 60 per centum by volume of alcohol, within any one calendar month. Therefore, you are prohibited from issuing permits to any person for alcohol."

WE take this means of thanking the people for their assistance and kindness shown us in our recent recovery.

How Are We Influenced?

Our individual lives are for the most part controlled by our individual feelings; that is to say we naturally incline either to the goodness or the badness that is in us. It is impossible for us to grope feelingly to find the line which divides the two and to follow it unerringly to the end, inclining neither in one direction nor in the other. We may think we have found the path that separates our good points from our bad points, our loves from our hatreds, our happiness from our unhappiness, and perhaps for a while we keep to it steadfastly; but after its first novelty wears off we find it rather irksome to persevere without succumbing to the influences which seem to draw us one way or the other. The critical period of our lives is the one in which it is first made plain to us that we are yielding by degrees to the subtle influences which assail us both from within and from without. It is critical because it marks for us the real test of ourselves—the choice, as it were, of how our future lives shall proceed, whether in the bright light of good deeds and good impulses, or in the ever-darkening haze of wrong ideas and wrong impulses.

"The moment of appreciation of our real selves, of the understanding of certain conditions which govern our lives, of the comprehension of our individual thoughts and actions, comes at different periods to certain persons. To some of us the moment of realization may come at an early stage, to others at a much later time, but when it comes there is no doubt of its nor of the danger which it threatens. If we feel conscientiously that we are inclined to be governed by our worthless selves, we are certainly in being that much better prepared for the battles of life which lie before us, but if, on the other hand, we frankly confess that we are more easily influenced by our base passions we have had work and heavy responsibility to fit ourselves for the tests that are certain to crowd upon us. Hatred and malice and all other poisonous thoughts are destructive. They undo the good that may have already been taken root in our hearts and instead of aiding us in broadening our field of usefulness they restrict our talents and narrow our opportunities. It is a dreadful thing, a sad and disheartening circumstance, to feel that we are blasting the lives that God has put into our hands, to know that instead of building high into the clear blue of Heaven we are undermining our life-structures and by degrees pulling them down. The white curtains of successful endeavors look fair and bright against the sky of life, but it takes more than worldly effort to keep them white and fair. It takes kindly thoughts and acts, generous impulses and fine appreciation of the rights of others and above all, the confidence which knowledge that we incline to the ways of love gives us, to make and keep them the watchtowers of life, and only the evidence of what we may accomplish, but the remainder of a standard we must not fall below.

"It is said that a beautiful thought is a good deed lives forever, that it waters momentum with the passing of time and that in addition to the first good effects which it produces it rolls along its way gathering force and strength and shedding its blessings upon friend and foe alike. It is the simple lessons in the world that we are told, longer than the life that first gave it birth, and it passes from one generation to another down the ages of time, made evidence in the sight of God of the wonderful results of a simple kindly act. It builds for itself and it builds for others; and the more the thought is put into pure channels and their actions into nobler fruition. In just the same way the unworthy thoughts and deeds which are inspired by hatred and jealousy and bitterness live on from day to day, to destroy something of the love and happiness which would otherwise fill the world. Our unworthy feelings weigh upon the world gradually and at first almost imperceptibly, but in the end they gather sufficient force to themselves to blast the happiness of those who have tried hard to do their little in the great world for the general betterment of man.

Which side of the line are we on? Do we feel ourselves yielding more to one side than the other, and if so are we certain enough of the influence we are exerting to be indifferent to the result? A man cannot lean in opposite directions at the same time and, as gradual and apparently unimportant as the inclination may be, he is slowly, but surely, yielding to the influences for good or bad which reign in his heart.

PARIS TODAY.

To begin with, theatres, concert-halls and moving picture shows, with a few permitted exceptions, are open only on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, writes William MacDonnell in The Nation. On those days the trains of the "Metro," or subway, run until 11 P. M., on the first four days they stop at 10 P. M. Cafes and restaurants close every evening at 9 o'clock. There are virtually no evening lectures or meetings of any sort, says a few on the evenings on which the theatres are open. If you go out for dinner you must get up by 10.

or else walk for cars are hard to find at night after this hour. The streets, including the fashionable boulevards, are dimly lighted; only here and there do shops display lights in their show windows, the Louvre and other exhibition buildings are open, and in part only on the three permitted days, or else are closed altogether. The supply of gas and electricity is rigidly limited, and any excess consumption of gas is charged for at a rate which amounts to a prohibitive fine. At the hotel at which I live the electric current is turned off at 11:30 p.m.; thereafter one must depend upon candles. The railway service has been greatly reduced; dozens of passenger trains have been temporarily discontinued and the number of coaches on ordinary trains has been strictly limited. Only the other day came a drastic reduction in the amount of excess luggage per passenger, which will hereafter be allowed, and travelers who intend to travel with several "runks" may find it difficult, and will certainly find it expensive, to get out with one.

SHERIFF'S SALES FOR TAXES.
By virtue of sundry tax executions to me directed by S. E. Wolfe, Tax Collector of Chester County, I will sell at auction before the Court House door in Chester, S. C. at 11 o'clock A. M. on Saturday in June next, being Monday, June 4, 1917:

(1) All that lot of land in the City of Chester, containing a fraction of one acre, more or less, owned by James Wain, deceased, levied on and sold as property of Anderson Green and Fannie Rainey.

(2) All that lot of land, near City of Chester on Saluda road, containing a fraction of an acre, more or less, assessed, levied on and sold as property of James Wain.

Flies Breed in Filth
Red Devil Eye Eats Filth

Kill the Cause
Germ-carrying flies bring disease direct to your home from the privy and outhouse. They wipe their germ-laden feet on your food, bathe in the baby's milk and leave many forms of sickness—then come the doctor's bills—and you know what that means.

Red Devil Eye Destroys The Fly Eggs

SPRINKLE RED DEVIL EYE FREELY over or twice a week in your privy or outhouse. You can't see too much. It will clean up these places, remove the foul odor and stop fly-eggs from hatching. RED DEVIL EYE is also highly successful for killing flies, mosquitoes, house flies and many other pestiferous insects.

DRAFT LAW CAUSES RIOT

Rival Firemen Clash in Toledo and Several Are Hurt.

Toledo, Ohio, May 29.—Two thousand persons, including militiamen, pacifists, police, and citizens, were participants in a riot here tonight as the outcome of an attempt of anti-conscription speakers to address a crowd in the streets.
