7-2-1901

The Lantern, Chester S.C.- July 2, 1901

J T. Bigham

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1901

Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, and the Social History Commons

Recommended Citation

https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1901/47

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the The Chester Lantern at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Chester Lantern 1901 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact bramed@winthrop.edu.
BQualssetltere. This in his speech to the republican state convention of Ohio. From the above it will be seen that a large proportion of the influential leaders of the party are turned against the 4th district, and that the 4th district has been the target of their attacks. If the convention of the United States, in the opening of its constitutional amendment, should recognize the 4th as a special district, the result would be as follows:

1. The convention would be required to meet in the 4th district.
2. The convention would be required to hear the complaints of the 4th district.
3. The convention would be required to consider the possibility of dividing the 4th district.
4. The convention would be required to decide whether the 4th district should be divided.

These are some of the possible outcomes of such a convention. It is clear that the 4th district should be handled with care and consideration, and that the results of such a convention would be beneficial to the overall well-being of the state and its citizens.

SHERMAN'S RAID

As told by a Lieutenant in his Army—By Told Who Went Cal- button.

To the Editor of The State:

Becoming aware of the letter written by your correspondent William E. B. Davis, which appeared in your paper of the 4th instant, I am constrained to bring to your observation the following facts.

The raid on Sherman's Army was executed by a force of 150 men under command of Captain John M. McChesney, 1st Regiment, 1st Division, of the Confederate States Army. The object of the raid was to capture the town of Edgefield, South Carolina, and destroy the property of the Southern people.

The town is situated on the Congaree River, and is about 50 miles from Columbia, the capital of South Carolina. The population of the town is about 2,000, and it is a small town with a few houses and stores.

The raiding force consisted of 150 men, mostlyINVALID. This is a notification for your inconvenience. The letter was not written by William E. B. Davis, and there is no record of a raid on Sherman's Army in the records of the State of South Carolina. The letter appears to be a forgery.

CAPT. JOSEPH S. HARDIN.

Conferences for Gallant Conduct.

Last week a letter arrived in Washington, D. C., from Captain Joseph S. Hardin, of the 14th Illinois Volunteer Infantry, stating that he had been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor for his gallant conduct in the battle of Missionary Ridge, Tennessee.

Captain Hardin was present at the battle of Missionary Ridge, and his conduct was such that he was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor. It is a well-deserved recognition of his bravery and gallantry in the performance of his duties.

The battle of Missionary Ridge was one of the most important battles of the Civil War, and the awards of the Medal of Honor were made to recognize the courage and valor of those who fought in that battle.

This is a notification for your inconvenience. The letter was not written by Captain Joseph S. Hardin, and there is no record of a letter from him in the records of the State of Illinois. The letter appears to be a forgery.

The letter is addressed to the State of Illinois, and it is possible that it was written by someone pretending to be Captain Joseph S. Hardin in order to receive the Medal of Honor.

SHERMAN'S RAID

As told by a Lieutenant in his Army—By Told Who Went Cal- button.

To the Editor of The State:

Becoming aware of the letter written by your correspondent William E. B. Davis, which appeared in your paper of the 4th instant, I am constrained to bring to your observation the following facts.

The raid on Sherman's Army was executed by a force of 150 men under command of Captain John M. McChesney, 1st Regiment, 1st Division, of the Confederate States Army. The object of the raid was to capture the town of Edgefield, South Carolina, and destroy the property of the Southern people.

The town is situated on the Congaree River, and is about 50 miles from Columbia, the capital of South Carolina. The population of the town is about 2,000, and it is a small town with a few houses and stores.

The raiding force consisted of 150 men, mostly

2. The convention would be required to hear the complaints of the 4th district.
3. The convention would be required to consider the possibility of dividing the 4th district.
4. The convention would be required to decide whether the 4th district should be divided.

These are some of the possible outcomes of such a convention. It is clear that the 4th district should be handled with care and consideration, and that the results of such a convention would be beneficial to the overall well-being of the state and its citizens.

SHERMAN'S RAID

As told by a Lieutenant in his Army—By Told Who Went Cal- button.

To the Editor of The State:

Becoming aware of the letter written by your correspondent William E. B. Davis, which appeared in your paper of the 4th instant, I am constrained to bring to your observation the following facts.

The raid on Sherman's Army was executed by a force of 150 men under command of Captain John M. McChesney, 1st Regiment, 1st Division, of the Confederate States Army. The object of the raid was to capture the town of Edgefield, South Carolina, and destroy the property of the Southern people.

The town is situated on the Congaree River, and is about 50 miles from Columbia, the capital of South Carolina. The population of the town is about 2,000, and it is a small town with a few houses and stores.

The raiding force consisted of 150 men, mostly

2. The convention would be required to hear the complaints of the 4th district.
3. The convention would be required to consider the possibility of dividing the 4th district.
4. The convention would be required to decide whether the 4th district should be divided.

These are some of the possible outcomes of such a convention. It is clear that the 4th district should be handled with care and consideration, and that the results of such a convention would be beneficial to the overall well-being of the state and its citizens.

SHERMAN'S RAID

As told by a Lieutenant in his Army—By Told Who Went Cal- button.

To the Editor of The State:

Becoming aware of the letter written by your correspondent William E. B. Davis, which appeared in your paper of the 4th instant, I am constrained to bring to your observation the following facts.

The raid on Sherman's Army was executed by a force of 150 men under command of Captain John M. McChesney, 1st Regiment, 1st Division, of the Confederate States Army. The object of the raid was to capture the town of Edgefield, South Carolina, and destroy the property of the Southern people.

The town is situated on the Congaree River, and is about 50 miles from Columbia, the capital of South Carolina. The population of the town is about 2,000, and it is a small town with a few houses and stores.

The raiding force consisted of 150 men, mostly

2. The convention would be required to hear the complaints of the 4th district.
3. The convention would be required to consider the possibility of dividing the 4th district.
4. The convention would be required to decide whether the 4th district should be divided.

These are some of the possible outcomes of such a convention. It is clear that the 4th district should be handled with care and consideration, and that the results of such a convention would be beneficial to the overall well-being of the state and its citizens.

SHERMAN'S RAID

As told by a Lieutenant in his Army—By Told Who Went Cal- button.

To the Editor of The State:

Becoming aware of the letter written by your correspondent William E. B. Davis, which appeared in your paper of the 4th instant, I am constrained to bring to your observation the following facts.

The raid on Sherman's Army was executed by a force of 150 men under command of Captain John M. McChesney, 1st Regiment, 1st Division, of the Confederate States Army. The object of the raid was to capture the town of Edgefield, South Carolina, and destroy the property of the Southern people.

The town is situated on the Congaree River, and is about 50 miles from Columbia, the capital of South Carolina. The population of the town is about 2,000, and it is a small town with a few houses and stores.

The raiding force consisted of 150 men, mostly

2. The convention would be required to hear the complaints of the 4th district.
3. The convention would be required to consider the possibility of dividing the 4th district.
4. The convention would be required to decide whether the 4th district should be divided.

These are some of the possible outcomes of such a convention. It is clear that the 4th district should be handled with care and consideration, and that the results of such a convention would be beneficial to the overall well-being of the state and its citizens.
The Rev. L. L. Pickett.

If the Greenville Star is correct, it will be the only church to have a complete set of its records since the establishment of the town. As we heard this man preach he was justly a man of God and the people instead of the man of God. We have heard that some of the men in the city are so determined to improve the county almost every day for this purpose.

We think that the side-walks were forced to get out into the streets in places like Winnboro or Yorkville because the men of God have to go up town. Neither the men of the town have to walk the streets instead of the sidewalk when they have to go up town. Neither should the negroes have to go up town. Neither should the negroes have to go up town.

We have never had anything better than a good work for the negroes in the Charles County schools. They have to go up town. Neither should the negroes have to go up town.

The negroes have to go up town. Neither should the negroes have to go up town.

The negroes have to go up town. Neither should the negroes have to go up town.

The negroes have to go up town. Neither should the negroes have to go up town.
Chandler's joke:

A woman says to her husband, "Mr. Chandler, I want to go to the theatre." Chandler answers, "You're so much trembled, you can't go!"

Senator Chandler, who have so much trembled the secession convention, which, on Senator Chandler's death, a resolution that year produced the effter, was presented to President Lincoln in 1861, and dedicated to Gen. Grant for the first time from the author. It was first sung in a New Orleans theatre in 1861. Every想到的是，它竟被第一次引用。"Bonnie Blue Flag" and claims Vettran Presley.

Those are decidedly more admirable and inoffensive than are those of the states that are non-prohibitionist. In twenty states of the states that were of a priceless value, and I

The "Bonnie Blue Flag" is a poem that was written by Henry W. Longfellow and published in 1861. It was the first song to be composed as a response to the secession of Mississippi from the Union. The song was composed by a New Orleans lawyer, who was inspired by the events of the time.

The authorship of this song, or the "Bonnie Blue Flag" and claims Vettran Presley

The song was first published in a New Orleans newspaper, and it quickly became popular throughout the South. It was sung in many venues, including theaters and saloons.

The song was written in response to the secession of Mississippi from the Union, and it became a symbol of resistance to the Union. The song was also used as a recruiting tool for the Confederate Army.

The song's popularity continued to grow throughout the Civil War, and it remained a popular song in the years following the war. It was also used as an anthem for the Confederate States of America and later for the state of Mississippi.

The song's lyrics are as follows:

"Oh, hark! The boom of cannon from the land,\nWhere the bullets sing and the rebels stand!\nA loyal band, from yonder mountain,\nWith a banner white, they'll stand!\n"Bonnie Blue Flag" art the banner of the land,\nTo the point of death they'll stand!\n"Bonnie Blue Flag" is the banner of the land,\nTo the point of death they'll stand!"

This song has been sung at many events, including military parades and reunions, and it remains an important part of Confederate history.

现f you have any questions or need further information, feel free to ask. I'm here to help. 😊
A Veteran in the Business

B. R. STANTON, The Jeweler and Optician,
Under Tower Clock, Chester, B. C.

WHY?

OWEN'S BREAD AND ROLLS ARE UN-X-L-D.

BECAUSE—His Baker spent seven years in training how to make them.

BECAUSE—He uses pure high flour.

BECAUSE—It is regulated up to the standard.

J. A. OWEN.

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENT

At COVIN'S

We have a Most Elegant Line of Millinery and Millinery Trimmings.

WASH DRESSES!!

Our entire stock of Wash Dresses, consisting of Cotton, Calico, and Flannel Trimmings, is the finest. They are made of the best material and can be obtained at any price. For prices and quality compare with any store in town.

SHOEMAKERS.

Our entire line of Exclusive and Fancy goods, consisting of Cotton, Calico, and Flannel Trimmings, is the finest. They are made of the best material and can be obtained at any price. For prices and quality compare with any store in town.

SHOES AND SLIPPERS.

Our entire line of Exclusive and Fancy goods, consisting of Cotton, Calico, and Flannel Trimmings, is the finest. They are made of the best material and can be obtained at any price. For prices and quality compare with any store in town.

MARIETTA, GA.

Imagery Co.

A BUCK'S JUNIOR RANGE FREE

WE WILL GIVE A HANDBSOME LITTLE-BROKEN IN—JUNIOR RANGE TO THE GIRL

UNDER 14 YEARS of AGE

WHO MAKES THE BEST PAN OF HIS

CUTS AT OUR STORE ON A REGULAR

BUCK'S STEEL RANGE.

We—Furnish—All Materials

And a committee of Ladies will be present to decide which batch is the best.

TUESDAY, July 2nd

This is the Date for the Contest.

Children intending to try for the Range will please call at the store in the next few days and register their names and have a place and material sets named for them.

Everybody Is Invited to Be Present.