TUESDAY, JUNE 12.

Some time ago the city council passed an ordinance requiring all parties living within a certain section to put in sewerage connections. A number of people have been notified by the ordinance, so we understand while others have not. We feel that the justice of requiring some individuals to obey an ordinance while others are allowed to do as they please. We have not investigated this matter, thoroughly, but our information was received on the streets, a man to speak.

The public is wondering just why some Senators and Congressmen are opposed to food-control legislation. The matter of food-control is at this time and it has already been proven that certain individuals in this country are getting rich by speculating in food. It is a matter of fact that the failure to control the price of food-stuffs will not only work a hardship on the government but it will cause many people in this country to go hungry. The lack of food-control legislation will allow a few bloated speculators to dominate the market, as has already been done.

One Mr. Peabody, President of the American Association of Woollen and Worsted Manufacturers, in discussing the wool situation in the United States and the statistics calculated to alarm the public and one which, no doubt, a number of clothing makers will use to justify their getting out of the market of part cotton.

In mentioning figures he gives the amount of wool used in the United States last year as a whole and crediting it to the civilian population alone, when as a matter of fact thousands of pounds were used in the manufacture of clothing shipped abroad. In mentioning the amount of wool which will be used here the coming year and that the government will use 100,000,000 pounds this year which they did not use last year. He then adds the amount to be used by the government this year to the amount used by the civilians last year and hands out as the total amount to be used during the present year. According to the manner in which Mr. Peabody figures the men who enter the army will use more wool in their clothes than did when they were civilians in addition to the amount they will receive from Uncle Sam. This is just one instance in which manufacturers are trying to justify their high prices.

THE LIBERTY LOAN.

Henry Snyder Harrison.

The Liberty Loan is the first test of America as a nation. Not only is it an initial opportunity to show up as a nation, but it is also a test of our stand as our only opportunity to have a personal share in the most gigantic process in the history of the world.

To lend money is, indeed, a most exalted compared to giving life; to exempt shame to us, should we betray in this immediate and easy task, the smallest taint of reluctance. Let us not merely meet our first obligation with readiness; let us discharge it with an air becoming to men of a great young strength.

The yield of a $50 bond will be $1.00 a year. The yield of a $100 bond will maintain a soldier or sailor for one year in the service of his country. It is provided that non-combatants may, in some cases, take their place with fighting men. But beyond all practical aspects, this financing comes upon us with a moral meaning. It is an opportunity this offering for universal participation in a great national undertaking.

It is this that makes the Liberty Loan unique. To a country literally riven and torn, it offers the first time that the American people are impelled, a great united obligation. Hardly any man is so poor that he cannot afford to buy a bond. So our enterprise comes fairly home to every family in America. It is an enterprise which gives to most of our people their first chance we have ever had to serve, in ourselves, our country. Out of service grow loyalty and love. No man who senses his own country's need now can fail to be heartened by a better and more humble American.

The Liberty Loan can make the most memorable of American undertakings. It can be of itself a fitting movement of momentous consequences, and invest our money-lending with the dignity and power of a national spring.

MEN AND MONEY.

Germany will be slow to learn the truth about what is happening in the United States. It is our duty to inform them. They will learn it promptly. They know presently already that American registers for war debts are not fictitious. They know that the number of subscribers to the loan is not over-subscribed nor, it may be vital concern to the country just at this time and it has already been proven that certain individuals in this country are getting rich by speculating in food. It is a matter of fact that the failure to control the price of food-stuffs will not only work a hardship on the government but it will cause many people in this country to go hungry. The lack of food-control legislation will allow a few bloated speculators to dominate the market, as has already been done.

Never was there an opportunity for the average American to kill as many birds with a single stone. He can make the rich pay taxes for every dollar of bonds secured upon the allotment to small subscribers. If this offering is sufficiently over-subscribed, the next offering may be at the same rate of interest. But if the rich are the chief subscribers it will be necessary to raise the rate of interest to make the loan attractive to investment subscribers, when the exemption demand is satisfied. To raise the rate on this two billion loan. As the rate of interest is raised it will be necessary to raise the rate of interest. It comes about that the modest investor who wishes to reduce his taxes and share the privilege extend to the very rich can do so best by making the rich pay taxes, and by reducing the general rate of tax.

Most important of all, however, is the Government's opportunity to terminate the lives of our soldiers and sailors can best serve those ends by raising the Government's rate of interest. The money will be spent here, and it is a great many cases will go back into the pockets of them who it came. The Liberty Loan might also be called the Prosperity Loan. For stimulation of the trade is sure to follow the spending of these billions. The average citizen who is in any doubt what his right to do should have his doubts removed by considering what Germany would do if she were to win something different. What Germany wishes the average American to do is shown by the false German statistics of what Americans are doing—New York Times.

SIDETRACK CONGRESS.

While England and France, our allies by our own choice, are losing six thousand men each day; while Russia trembles in the balance between democracy and chaos; while Germany takes regular toll of ocean steamers carrying food supplies to England; while China hesitates to offer her millions of cannon-fodder to the side, we have hesitated; while Japan piles up her resources and draws in her gold from the four corners of the earth—Congressmen delay the game to quarrel over the location of war camps.

If New England were to be destroyed, at least he did not interfere with the fire fighters.

When we were at peace with all the world, the United States was a great and incomparable gathering of pinheads that we dignify as "Congress." It is now a group of men who are so stupid and so sound and so prosperous to be almost dumbly daunted by any fool thing that congress might do.

But now that the country is in a grave danger, real and humanly find a way to take the conduct of national affairs out of the hands of these bunglers and turn the entire job over to one man or a few men of ability.

We have allowed ourselves to be hypnotized into the belief that congressmen are men of intelligence. Our respect for the dignity of the office has led us to dignify the office. We know a candidate for congress who has been a common-law lawyer, a medicine, who has been with the ability to talk fairly well with his mouth. But we are to elect these men to the highest office in the land and home safe and sound. The love-god wishes and sincere interest of the best citizen will follow the "Moose boys" wherever they go—New York News.

higher in congress than the average of intelligence among the qualified factors of this or any other community.

If we had chosen our congressmen as the government chooses its army and navy officers, and as all private business chooses its superintendents and directing powers—because of special training and ability to do the work required, the country would today be in safe hands.

But as matters stand the country may hope for anything. Vetter than costly blunders, criminal negligence, political juggling, the playing of favorites. While congress controls the conduct of the war, able soldiers will be kept in idle positions while favorites lead into disaster. Our soldiers and those of England and France will suffer for food and clothing and use faulty implements of warfare in order that contractors may get a greater profit from the government. The poor will starve and die while the rich have abundance of money. The sons of the poor will go out to die, while the sons of the rich will slip away to neutral countries until the war is over.

The country will smart and writhe under defeat after defeat, and the people will suffer as Belgium and France are suffering. The success of sorrow until the incompetents are divested of authority and the country's nearest man is given the authority of a czar.

Washington, June 8.—As a result of the action of the French Government in permitting a direct tax to be sent from Paris to American newspapers stating that the American newspaper, stating that the American ship, Silver Shell had engaged a U-boat, and probably had sunk the German vessel, the State Department has taken up with the European allies of the United States the matter of censoring such messages so as to eliminate the name of American ships, and prevent enemy submarines. The attitude of the State Department is based on the practical ground that the Germans have threatened to treat as a pirate the commander of any merchant vessel that engages a U-boat.

In an effort to prepare for the suppression of the names of merchantmen sinking submarines, the State Department has issued a circular to the British press, stating that the British press, which was executed by the German for resisting an effort to sink his ship. Fryatt was treated as a pirate, and his ship was sunk by the German authorities that a similar fate awaited any enemy merchantmen who first engaged an enemy U-boat, and then attempted to ram.

Officials also pointed out that ever since it had been published that the American steamship Mongolia had encountered with a U-boat and was believed to have sunk the German vessel, persistent attempts had been made by U-boats to intercept the Mongolia. On her last trip, according to the press account, the Mongolia ran into a mine, and was believed to have sunk the Mongolia.

In connection with the representation of France on the subject of the Silver Shell attention was called today to the fact that while press dispatches announcing the arrival of the Silver Shell in London, and the suppression of the name of the British ship at which he landed, it was stated that among those who greeted him on his arrival at this port was the Lord Mayor of Liverpool.

Teaching Sees.

The service of the Presbyterian church yesterday morning was well under way, when an incident occurred that was probably lost on many, but brought tears to the eyes of others.

Up the center aisle to the front of the church, where a seat had been found in the crowded building, walked a father and three small, hand-colored, boys. In the hearts of the congregation, the bright, intelligent young physician, Walter Moore, the successful teacher, Joe Moore, the wholesome, sweet singer, Ed Moore, the sterner preacher, arose that on the three brothers, so soon to sail on the transatlantic waters for the firing line in France may return to their loved one and home safe and sound. The love-god wishes and sincere interest of the best citizen will follow the "Moose boys" wherever they go—New York News.

SENATE AGREES ON ONE PER CENT LEVY ON SELLING PRICE OF AUTOS

Washington, June 9.—A new tax on automobiles was agreed to by the senate finance committee today. It amounts roughly to a one per cent levy on the selling price of machines. The tax is expected to raise between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000.

Here is the automobile tax schedule adopted as a substitute for the section tentatively approved several days ago:

- On autos costing $500 or less, 45¢
- Between $500 and $750, $1.00
- Between $750 and $1,000, $1.00
- For each $500 in cost over $1,000, 45¢

The committee received all connections from the tax, dropping $15,000,000 to $25,000,000 annually.

It placed a levy of 1 cent on every 10 cents charged for admission to cabarets or to other similar entertainments to cover the charge for admission is wholly or in part included in the price paid for refreshment or merchandise. This is expected to bring about $2,000,000.

The committee adjourned until Monday without taking final action on the newspaper tax.

What is believed to be a world's record for continuous driving of an automobile has just been set. It was done by the driver of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, from J. A. Van Horn, of Los Angeles, Cal. For thirty months he has been engaged in the transportation of newspapers from that city to Santa Barbara, Calif., by Chandler car on Goodyear Cord Tires, and has during that period covered the amazing distance of 84,000 miles on the same tires. Will you loan the government twelve million or will the government take your money? It is one or the other. Take your choice.

It is the duty of every man to assist our government in some manner. What are you doing?

Some people will be required to pay the government a direct tax to help finance the war, others are allowed the privilege of loaning money to the government. Those of the latter class are fortunate and should appreciate their position and buy bonds.

Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of alcohol white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweet-smelling lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smooth rough, red hands.

Buchanan-Coleman.
 Special to The News:

Winaboro, June 9.—On Tuesday afternoon, June 5, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Buchanan was solemnized one of the prettiest weddings of the season when their daughter, Hester, was married to George Franklin Coleman, a prominent young business man of Montgomery, Ala. The wedding was attended by only the immediate family and a few friends. The spacious parlor had been transformed into a bower of white flowers, the color scheme of green and white being carried out in banks of ferns, ivy and quantities of beautiful white hydrangeas.

To the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. Jordan, the bride party entered the room from opposite doors. From one came Miss Ethel Buchanan and from the other Roy Coleman, followed respectively by the bride with her sister, Miss Claudia Buchanan, and the bridegroom with his best man, Wallace Coleman. Standing in front of an improvised chancel, under the lights from the happy old time chandelier, the happy couple were married by the Rev. G. M. Gayer.

The bridemaids wore white organdy dresses and carried bouquets of pink roses. The bride was white with her wedding gown of white chiffon tulle, with a long train of georgette and white caught with a pearl ornament that had belonged to her grandmother, and the orange blossoms fastened in her veil by her mother's wedding pin. She carried a large bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. After the ceremony delicious refreshments were served and the bride and groom enjoyed the evening informal reception. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. They left for a brief visit to the mountains of North Carolina followed by the best wishes of many friends.

SLACKERS ROUND UP IN NEW YORK

New York, June 10.—Fully a thousand slacker cases will be placed before the federal grand jury here tomorrow, it was announced this afternoon. As soon as indictments are returned, there will be a general roundup of those who failed to register for the army draft last Tuesday. While the authorities will be liberal in their attitude toward the men against whom evidence of neglect has been secured, no mercy will be shown those whose neglect was deliberate. So numerous are the cases that all other work in the federal court will be set aside to give these criminal cases precedence. The charges against judges and night court rounds will be turned over to their consideration.

No definite announcement has as yet been made by the government officials as to the exact manner in which the selection of men for the first increment of 500,000 will be handled. However, it has practically been decided that each precinct will be required to furnish its pro-rata share of men. If one-third of the men who registered in Chester county are found to be residents of Chester township then one-third of the men who are called to Chester county will be from Chester township. This plan enables it impossible to draw all of the men from any one section.

For Your Soldier. Perhaps you have a son or brother who will go to war, or may be it is only some other relative—certainly you number within your own circle at least one young man who before the now files will be en route to the battlefield. Pick out some such man for it is for him we are making an appeal to you.

Keep your eye on him now. See what he is giving up. In the first place he is perhaps abandoning some place in industry which now pays him more than Uncle Sam, with all his wealth, is able to pay him as a private soldier. Then he is giving up his chance to progress in his business. It may be that he is sacrificing his health, some limb, his precious eyesight. May be he is making the supreme sacrifice of his life. He is doing all this willingly, for he feels that when his country calls he should not hang back.

What does he ask of you? Merely that you get him the tools of his trade, back him up with the arms and munitions of war to which he is entitled when he undertakes to do his duty. The young man who has excelled by a single nation, seldom equaled. How can you give him these things that is easy. It has been carefully estimated that the proceeds of one $100 Liberty bond will enable an army equipment soldier for service on the firing line. If you buy a Liberty bond now, you will know that you are supplying that soldier—the young man who we told you to keep your eye on—with uniform, arms and equipment; you are giving him the proper start toward success and safe return.

Now look at that soldier again. Will you send him out unarmed, with his city clothes, without tent or camp kit, to face an enemy whose equipment is the last word in military excellence? Or will you by merely lending the federal government your money at 3 1/2 per cent. interest see that that soldier is warmly clad, comfortable equipped, well armed? If you wish you can get him a tank and campaign hat, rifle and bayonet, shelter tent and mess equipment, you can have a right to feel that you are doing your best for your soldier, merely by buying a $100 Liberty bond today, tomorrow, or any other day this week. Your chance will soon, when Friday comes, will have shunted on some one else the duty of caring for your soldier boy.

OFFICERS TO ENFORCE SELECTIVE DRAFT ACT

Compulsory Registration for Each Offender—Manning Sends Out Instructions to Officials—Orders Issued by Provost Marshal General. Acting upon orders from the provost marshal general George Manning has instructed all peace officers in South Carolina to immediately arrest all who failed to register under the selective service act. The law will be vigorously enforced. The period of leniency has passed according to the telegram from Washington. Each case will be brought to the attention of the department of justice.

The telegram follows: "Quotas are to be assigned to the several States in proportion to their population as determined by the bureau of census and not in proportion to the registration. The result is that every person who has failed to register is seriously increasing the burden of those who have registered. Ample notice and every opportunity has now been given and there is no longer any argument as to the conduct of nonregistrants can be condoned. The period of leniency referred to in No. 500 has now passed. Attention is invited to paragraph 16 of the regulations. It is requested that every effort be now made to detect and arrest persons subject to registration who have not registered and to bring each case promptly to the attention of the nearest representative of the bureau of census. Wide publication should be given to the effect of nonregistration in creating the burden of those who have registered. Care should be taken that the lists presently being prepared are promptly prepared and registered persons should take pains in being nonregistrants to the attention of the police. "Summarizing reports of registration from the various districts should be compared with estimates of census bureau and effort should be concentrated on those districts where discrepancy between the two estimates seems greatest. In case of doubt as to age of persons who have not registered, the nearest representative of local organizations and records should be consulted and data may be obtained from the bureau of census. "The purpose of this telegram is to inaugurate from tomorrow a vigorous and aggressive and effective enforcement of the penal clauses of the selective service law against all who have failed to register because of their failure or refusal to register brought themselves under these provisions. "The department of justice is sending today similar orders to United States attorneys and marshals with instructions to release on their own recognizances all persons arrested by marshals or deputy marshals, or by State, county and municipal police officers, and turned over to them, who promptly register under the terms of paragraph 16 of the regulations. The secretary of war construes section 5 of the selective service law as requiring compulsory registration by the officer making the arrest of each arrested person immediately upon his conviction. "Please give notice to all who have any duty enjoined upon them in connection with the enforcement of the law and particularly to State, county and municipal police named in paragraph 16 of the regulations."

JUNE 15 IS THE LAST DAY FOR BUYING LIBERTY BONDS

GOVERNOR MANNING JOINS LIBERTY BOND COMMITTEE IN URGING PEOPLE OF SOUTH CAROLINA TO ACT QUICKLY

Columbia, S. C.—(Special)—June 15 is the last day upon which Liberty Loan bonds can be purchased, and henceforth now and that no more will be necessary for the state of South Carolina to furnish, but allotment which now is to be made in the form of a registration drive, June 5. About twenty-five per cent of this amount was subscribed; but there still remains a remainder to be taken in the form of the very various work which has been going on since that day in every part of the state.

"People in the cities, towns and country districts are realizing more and more the great responsibility that rests upon our people to take up all the bonds that have been assigned; and in the closing days of the campaign there has been a great deal of work and powerful drives instituted that will very probably result in the desired total."

In every section, there have been speakers provided for every kind of occasion. At the cotton exchange, the public squares, the churches, and the schools, speeches are being made in the same spirit between times; and wherever a crowd has gathered, the Liberty Loan is being brought to the attention of the people.

"The women of the state have taken hold of the issue with great enthusiasm. They have been quicker to see the possibilities for making a contribution than the men in many instances, and now the slogan, 'A bond in every home' and to realize the motto, 'A bond for baby' may be heard on every side wherever women are gathered. The Mrs. Richard H. Manning, of the first lady of the state, has been giving much of her time and efforts toward the sale of the bonds in the capital recently in connection with her work in the Woman's League for National Defense, she has directed her efforts to do all in their power to carry the idea of the bonds into the homes and interest the women in the movement. Her committee on registration has managed the registration booth and did missionary work in every home among those who registered and those who looked on."

BOARD OF HEALTH WARNS AGAINST DYSENTERY

Sept. Dysentery is Controlled and Prevented by the Use of Meritol. The State Board of Health calls attention to the fact that the disease of dysentery that has already visited several towns in the State and caused the death of a number of children, including four in the family at the town, is a germ disease that is controlled and prevented by practically the same methods as typhoid fever. Like typhoid, it may be water borne, milk borne or fly borne, or it may be contracted from soiled hands, through unclean food, or in numerous other ways.

The main point to remember about it, says the Board, is that it is a fifth disease having the same mode of spread as typhoid, spread in exactly the same way and is therefore prevented in the same way. Consequently, open back basins, cesspools, privies, and unclean hands become the principal factors to be reckoned with in its control. In cities and towns where the disease is prevalent, and where sanitary laws are

ROOSEVELT WOULD OSTRACIZE SLACKER

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt delivered a scathing indictment of slackers, with especial attention to the "conscientious objector," in an address last night at a patriotic mass meeting in the Hippodrome of 6,000 delegates to the American Medical Association Convention. The Colonel stamped under foot any idea that there might be an iota of stigma attached to being drafted, and called the men who would be drafted more fortunate than their brothers who were not. He said that the boy who was drafted was just as honorable as the boy at Plattsburg or the boy who joined the National Guard. Slackers he called "miserable creatures who should be hunted out of the society of self-respecting men and women."

"Squads" Band was played "The Stars and Stripes Forever" when Colonel Roosevelt walked upon the stage. The 8,300 seats in the big auditorium were filled, and there were 700 extra seats on the stage. The speaker crossed as one man and gave the Colonel a genuine Rooseveltian reception. Roosevelt started a moment by saying he wished to speak to such a distinguished audience, halted a moment, and added: "But I would be much gladder if I were too far away to speak to you." The audience caught his point, and there was another ovation. He dropped his prepared speech, and biting off his words in campaign style, went after the slackers.

"The conscientious objector," he said, "contains his cowardice behind his statement that he objects to placing himself in a position where he might take part in killing someone. I guard his conscience. I'll send him to the front, but I wouldn't give him a gun. I'll put him to digging kitchen sinks and trenches so that good men would not regret the time they spent in them to kill someone. Then I'd watch his conscience to see what it would do. There may be albino crows, but I'll bet the crows I meet by their own skin."

"Some men talk as if their duty would be fully performed if they were not drafted, and they do not meanly wait. This is a great error. Service under the draft merely presents the minimum duty which will be accepted by the State. It is a pretty poor man who will do more than his minimum duty in this crisis. The man who does not heartily do his full duty by the nation is not fit to be a citizen. He does well, but not exorbitantly well, if he does everything in his power to serve his country. If he will not do this he is an object creature who should be hunted out of the society of self-respecting men and women. What we need to hold over before our eyes is not the sacrifice that may be made, but the high privilege of being allowed to serve."

"I want to tell you that the drafted man who does his duty is on the same plane of honor as any other man who loses his duty. There is no stigma attached to being drafted. But those who are registered or not registered do not do their duty, who do not make every possible effort to serve, are on the same plane of honor as the drafted man. Escaping the draft does not give you any right to serve. That's the way to look at the draft."

Colonel Roosevelt then made a passing reference to the speech of Mayor Mitchell and said that "every man of good sense and citizenship has glad to have the doctors, who are some by a man of the class of Mayor Mitchell, who stands for what is right, and is of the class who does things in his proper way." This was loudly applauded.

"The rights of universal suffrage," he continued, "can only be maintained if the duty of universal service is accepted. If there are people who deny their obligation of service, they have not the right to vote. It is to be regretted that the men who have not the right to vote are the men who have not the right to vote. Now, you doctors are face to face with your duty. Your country needs you. The United States needs 40,000 doctors and needs them now. If you haven't got them by the boys who go into camp will die by thousands like sheep. It won't be their fault, but the fault of those who didn't protect them."

"I ask you men here so soon as you get back to your country, to try to arrange the hospital assignments and everything of that kind so that the young fellow will be free to volunteer for immediate service if he can."

"We are in the great war for the good of our national honor and the national interest and for the sake of humanity and civilization throughout the world. For two years before we entered this war, we have been engaged in a relentless campaign of murder against American women and children and unarmed men. Germany has been milking several months, and there has been a sudden change in the temperature. The treatment for all such cases is to give the cow some green food or potatoes or turnips. If she is contaminated give her one pound of epsom salt. This will raise the temperature of the milk from 70 to 80 degrees. Difficult churning is due, to trying to churn whole milk or very thin cream at a low temperature; having the churn too full and churning at the slow speed. Butter should not be made in less than 25 minutes. The ordinary rate of the milk feed affects the flavor of the milk. Feed having a high flavor as cabbage, onions and bitter weed will give a bad flavor."

read Arthur Gleason's book just published, "Our Part in the Great War," for no American who reads it can fail to feel his blood hot with honor and anger over the fearful cruelties it recounts and the shameful folly this country showed in not immediately taking action to rebuke these practices and in refusing even to prepare to defend itself. No American, if he has a spark of manhood and of the old American spirit in his soul, can fail to feel his heart hardened with purpose, inasmuch as at that time, thank Heaven, we have dared to fight for the right, and to his part in thinking that this nation remains steadfast in the war until it has found the means of an overwhelming victory, and let this man feel that his children will turn from him in shame unless he does all that in him lies to aid in bringing this victory.

"So doctors, do your part, do now. Sign up tonight, sign up tomorrow. Do your part to make—American flag once more the flag of the free and the brave, the symbol of democracy and right throughout the world."

At the close of the speech Colonel Roosevelt got another reception which marked the greeting to him.

NAVY PEOPLE MUST GUARD THEIR TALK

Would Close Every Possible Avenue of Information Reaching Enemy.

Washington, June 9.—Convinced that valuable naval information is reaching the enemy, Secretary Daniels issued an order today, at the urgent request of Admiral Benson, chief of operations, forbidding all persons in the naval service from discussing, except officially, even among themselves, or with members of their families, "any question relating to the disposition, movements or proposed movements of naval or military forces."

The department acted only after officers of the intelligence division had reported that information, the nature of which was not disclosed, had leaked through somehow to Germany. Mr. Daniels said he had hesitated to make the order for many days, not desiring to hamper useful officers and others in the service; but that his military advisers had been very urgent. There was no thought, he said, that any person in the navy had revealed the plans of the department except through inadvertence.

The Secretary pointed out that experience of the Allies had shown that very important secrets have been sometimes a sufficient clue for an alert foe to determine a movement in advance. Secretary Daniels was careful to explain that the order did not refer to the press and was in no sense an effort to prevent the newspapers from getting news. The order follows:

"The Navy Department has reason to believe that information of a character most valuable to the enemy and which might prove most disastrous to the navy, has in some way reached the press."

"In view of the strenuous efforts that have been made to prevent the dissemination of such information, the department believes that in practically every instance this has resulted from certain information being given in confidence to, or spoken in the presence of, a close relative of a friend, who, failing to appreciate the gravity of the offense, inadvertently transmitted it into the hands of those who most desired to obtain it."

"The department has on previous occasions endeavored to impress upon every one in the naval service, the urgent necessity for carefully guarding against the dissemination of any military information which could possibly be of advantage to an enemy. The situation at this time is entirely too grave to permit of a continuation of present practices in this regard."

WANT FORMER CEAR PLACED IN PRISON. New York, June 9.—Demand for removal of former Gen. Nicholas to the fortress of Kronstadt was made by a specially attended meeting of the "left" and extreme "socialists" of the workmen's and soldiers' council at Petrograd, according to a cable re-received tonight by the Jewish Daily Forward.

The meeting has also passed resolutions condemning an outbreak of lynching recently occurring in various Russian cities. Three men, presumably thieves, were thus summarily dispatched to Moscow today.
