Admiralty Withholds Figures of May Sinkings, Evidently Fearing Popular Disappointment.

Copenhagen, — The Associated Press correspondent today had an opportunity to converse with a man just returned from Germany, who said responsible Germans had quite abandoned hope of forcing an end to the war through submarine activity.

The German Admiralty is showing no haste to publish the submarine statistics for May. No estimates of the tonnage sunk in May have yet been issued, though announcement of the 1,000,000-ton result in April was made May 6, and the figures for March were published April 13.

The delay tends to confirm the impression that German statistics will show a considerable diminution in the April figures, information from Germany being to the effect that between 700,000 and 800,000 tons were sunk in May. It is also thought that the German Admiralty is endeavoring to prepare the public for the situation by false assertions that results are to be measured not by the actual tons sunk, but by the tons and the necessity of arming ships kept from being sent to the front.

The newspaper writers at the Berlin press conference on Friday were instructed to emphasize the delay and embarrassment to allied commerce caused by the necessity of convoying ships.

No definite date was given them as to when the end of the war might be effected through the submarine campaign and the preliminary papers, like the Tageszeitung and the Kreuzzeitung, have shown marked nervousness at the mention by the Conservative leader, Herr von Heydbrand, of two months as the probable period by a German Admiral as the time necessary to see the finish of England.

The Tageszeitung immediately protested against the delay and interpretation of Herr von Heydbrand's time limit and surrounded it with a hedge of conditions and explanations.

The Admiralty Press Bureau insisted to further publicity by Major Morantz's statement in the Tageszeitung that the submarine had done nothing to interfere with the shipment of munitions and supplies from England to France, recently gave the newspaper correspondents permission to make statements that the campaign had attained what was desired by interfering with supplies of raw material for munitions and food for munition workers.

HUNT FIREARMS OF ALIEN ENEMIES Washington, June 18.—Information that alien enemies in certain sections of Illinois, Iowa, Missouri and Wisconsin had the means to buy all the firearms in their possession when the final call was made in April has resulted in a hunt now being waged by agents of the department of justice.

The suspects are said to have evaded the law through the medium of various organizations to which they belonged. They surrendered all the small arms they had been keeping in their homes, but it is understood did not turn in the rifles and shotguns kept at the club houses. These quarters were not searched at the time the order to surrender arms was issued because a majority of the members were believed to be either of American birth or naturalized citizens of years' standing.

It was said at the department today that no arrests had been made by department agents since the espionage law went into effect Saturday.

ENGLAND SPENDING MILLIONS IN U. S. New York, June 18.—England is spending between $5 and $10 million dollars each week in this country for materials of all kinds, said Lord Northcliffe tonight in a statement upon his return from Washington where, he said, he had "an interesting audience with the president."

WOMAN BOOKKEEPER CHARGED WITH THEFT Rochester, N. Y., June 18.—Miss Elsie Pennock, 23 years old, bookkeeper was taken to Washington tonight by Detective Sergeant Evans and Policeman Farley, of that city. She is accused of embezzling $91 from William A. Treacy, company tailor, of 611 Fourteenth street, Washington. The girl insists that there is nothing wrong with her accounts and that the law is wrong in charging money belonging to the concern.

AMBRINE BRINGING FAME TO PHYSICIAN

Discover of Marvelous Cure for Burns Was Ignored at First by Fellow-Doctors.

(By Winifred Stephens, in Detroit Free Press.) All Paris is visiting the suburb of Vanves, going to the vast Lycee Buffon, which the city has transformed into the military hospital of St. Nicholas.

The miracles of healing worked daily for many months in the wards of this hospital are unsurpassed even in these days of triumphs of surgery and medicine. It is especially for the treatment of burns that the St. Nicholas Hospital is becoming famous. I have had some experience of the terrible sufferings, endured by the burned when their wounds are dressed. I went one morning to the St. Nicholas to see the new method of treating burns.

Imagine my surprise on going to the dressing room where some eight or nine patients were being treated. I saw a fine specimen of a young man, about 20 years of age, who had been burned over the entire body. He was lying on a table, his body covered with a thick coating of a white substance.

As I was about to leave, I saw a man in a white coat, who was the physician in charge of the ward. He was looking at the patient with a look of interest.

He said to me: "This is a very interesting case. The patient has been burned over the entire body, but he is still alive. This is due to the use of Ambrine."

Ambrine is a new medicine, which was discovered by a French physician, Dr. Ambrine. It is a very powerful antiseptic, and it is also a very good analgesic.

It is used in the treatment of burns, and it has been found to be very effective. It is also used in the treatment of other conditions, such as ulcers and wounds.

Ambrine is a very valuable medicine, and it is well worth the attention of physicians and patients alike. It is a true discovery, and it is a great boon to the world.

WAS CITY OF GREAT CULTURE

Constantinople Was Center of World Activities When London and Paris Were Villages.

As everyone knows, Constantinople, like Rome, was built upon seven hills. Nature has given Constantinople a unique and curious strategic position; the city has been taken only twice in its history—once by the Turks and once by the Crusaders. It is so situated that it can be captured only as the result of simultaneous attacks made by sea and land.

In the middle ages, when Paris was a London village but Constantinople was a great city, it was only a great city, either, but it will be in the people of the East and the West met. Here they came to transact their business and to enjoy themselves. This world city had in those days many of those advantages which London enjoys but which Constantinople has not.

At the congressional meeting of the First Baptist church of Yorkville Sunday morning a unanimous call was extended to Rev. H. W. Waugh of Beach Bluff, S. C., and the congregation is hopeful of his acceptance. Mr. Waugh is one of the strongest of the younger ministers of the South.

RUSSIAN NAVY ACTIVE

Berlin Reports Revival of Mine and Submarine Warfare.

Berlin, June 18.—German airplanes on Friday effected a landing on an island in the Bay of Riga and destroyed a Russian mine base, it is announced officially. The statement follows:

Greater activity by Russian naval forces in submarine and mine warfare made necessary defensive measures on the German side, which had the following result:

On June 12 our airplanes dropped explosive and incendiary bombs in large quantities on Russian bases, obtaining good results.

On June 14 the military station on the island of Runo, in the Bay of Riga, was bombed with visible success. Following this enterprise, our airplanes destroyed the remaining portions of this base. All our airplanes returned.

ALBERT THOMAS HOPEFUL

French Minister Says Russian Situation Has Improved.

Stockholm, June 18.—The situation in Russia has improved noticeably in the last two months, in the opinion of Albert Thomas, French minister of commerce, in a speech before the representatives of labor interests, has been a mission to Petrograd. The country's leadership is no longer dual.

The situation according to the French minister's view, is still precarious in many respects, but it is far from desperate. The influence of the coalition League and its followers has passed the high-water mark and is now declining.

Mr. Thomas expressed the belief that the resumption of the Russian offensive was quite possible unless unexpected things should happen. The greater danger to the Government, he said, lay in the German program, which was conducted actively and in the most extensive proportions.

YORK COUNTY NEWS ITEMS

L. G. Gunn of the county board of registration has sent his resignation to Governor Manning, because he does not feel that he can afford to hold his job any longer, and has suggested to the governor that it would be a very good idea to appoint as his successor a resident of the county seat.

J. A. Scott, a noted preacher who has been in jail here for several weeks past, has been released from custody, since he is believed to have purchased a bugle from the plaintiff, and he has sold the property and left the county but was captured in Atlanta and brought back here. SERBIANS DRIVEN INSANE

Envoy to Paris Charges Mistreatment of War Captives.

Paris, May 28.—The minister of Serbians to the Associated Press announced today that the mistreatment of Serbian prisoners of war in Austria and Hungary.

"In spite of the difficulties of ascertaining facts in regard to prisoners of war and interned civilians, the statement of Serbian authorities has been able to get some public facts that may be made public now."

"Soldiers and civilians are held in wretched barracks, unhealthily insanitary districts, in the banks of the Danube. They sleep on the bare floors with no bedding but a thin layer of straw, and with only old blankets for covering, while the roofs and sides of the barracks afford little shelter."

"The punishment consists of forced labor, in part, and of lack of bread made with nasty chemical and wild chemicals. None of the prisoners nor interned civilians has been allowed to write to their families, though they are forced to hard labor under the guard of ex-military soldiers who beat them with the butt ends of their rifles."

"A great many of both soldiers and civilians have lost their minds as a result of physical and mental suffering in these camps. An Austrian officer, who was killed and was taken to a hospital in Vienna, was taken to a hospital in Vienna, and was taken to a hospital in Vienna."

"During the typhus epidemic in Austria-Hungary 416,000 Serbians died and were buried by hand in the open fields. A false inscription, evidently intended to hide the result of their neglect, was placed by the Austrians on a church near the place, reading: 'Serbian soldiers died of wounds received in the Serbian-Austro-Hungarian war which was prosecuted by Serbia.'"

LETTER FROM KING ALBERT

Personal Communication to President of United States.

Washington, June 19.—The personal letter to President Woodrow Wilson from King Albert, delivered yesterday by Baron Moncheur, head of the Belgian mission to this country, was made public today by the State Department and is as follows:

"I am proud to see your excellency's kindly approval of the mission which I have undertaken. This mission is due to the President's feeling of understanding and enthusiastic admiration with which my government and people have received the decision reached by him in his wisdom. The mission will also tell you how greatly the important and glorious enterprise of the United States has confirmed the confidence which the Belgian nation has always had in the great American spirit of justice."

"The great American nation was particularly moved by the unexampled and violent attacks made upon Belgium. It has sorrowed over the distress of my subjects subjected to the yoke of the enemy. It has succeeded in my happy to have an opportunity to express to you my sympathy and the gratitude which my countrymen owe you and the firm hope of my return to Belgium that the America will contribute as heartily as possible to my country's recovery."

"My government has chosen to express its sentiments to your excellency through two distinguished men of letters, and Colonel Wolf, who has been chosen to represent me in Washington, has earned high appreciation during a long military career."

"I venture to hope, Mr. President, that you will accept with a cordial and friendly reception to everything that they say, especially when they assure you of the hopes I entertain for the happiness and prosperity of the United States of America and of my faithful and very sincere friendship."

"Albert." FOOD SAVING FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE By mobilizing public opinion and inducing the volunteer forces ready to be mobilized by Mr. Hoover can accomplish this in the construction of the country's food resources.

MEN TO SEE ACTIVE SERVICE

Colonel Wolf Says Practically Every One Will Be in Army by the Middle of August.

Plattsburg, N. Y., June 19.—Practically every man now on the Officers' Training Camp, list of active service by the middle of August, when the course ends, Lieut. Col. Paul A. Wolff, the camp commander, announced today. Those not selected to officers' duty will be sent to the national army will be taken for other branches of the military service.

According to a letter from the War Department, forwarded from Governors Island to Colonel Wolf, forty-five men will be selected from each of the twenty companies at the camp for duty as lieutenants in the national army. In addition 200 men will be chosen from each camp to be captains and Majors in the national army.

The camp will be selected for men who meet the requirements for the various corps, and Colonel Wolf stated that the first 500,000 of the national army will be taken for other branches of the military service.

Colonel Wolf said that this order meant that every man who qualified for active service in Plattsburg in all probability would be sent into active service immediately after the close of the camp. At the beginning of the training camps it was announced that only one out of four students would be selected to officer the first 500,000 drafted army. The rest of the men would receive reserve officers' commissions and return to civil life. It called into action in his first interview with the newspapermen at Plattsburg. Colonel Wolf said that he believed that the cream of the country was in Plattsburg and that the greatest success of his life today was caused by the fact that he would be forced to choose only that which he might be found to obtain more men from Plattsburg for active service.

"The possibility that we may be able to place every man here," said Colonel Wolf today, "has caused me more gratification than anything since I have been commander of this camp."

The news that every man qualified for a commission is certain of immediate active service will heighten the Plattsburg camp more than any other announcement that could be made. The possibility of wholesale discharges owing to shortage of instruction staff threw the camp into a commotion, and many men with family responsibilities were worried whether, even if they remained in camp, they would be chosen for the first 500,000 of the national army. Men were debating the wisdom of remaining at camp, in view of the slight possibility of immediate discharge. Active duty for all men qualified for commissions, it is thought, will put the men over their nettle. It is a matter which has determined to finish their training.

Plattsburg echoed all day from firing on the rifle range. New England troops, who were sent to the range, were practicing their marksmanship. The aid of the only artillery equipment at Plattsburg, a battery of muzzle-loading cannon of civil war type, now used as decoration behind the post flagstaff. AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS WENT TO THE FRONT LAST WEEK Paris, June 18.—Two hundred and seventy volunteers from the headquarters of the American field service for the front during last week, making altogether 1,500 men actually serving in the American army in the front lines. Reports to the department of agriculture indicate not only that more fertilizer has been used in the past year than in any other year, but that South Carolina has used 50 pounds to the acre more than last year.

FRIDAY, JUNE 22

A story from Chicago, a few days ago, was to the effect that a certain individual had made a net profit of between two and three million dollars on the recent rise in the price of grains. This is a scintillating example of the speculator's game...

There are a number of speculators in Norway and Sweden who will soon feel the pinch of the embargo clause in the Espionage bill recently passed by Congress.

For many months it has been known that goods have been going from the United States to the countries mentioned above, and from there they have been shipped to Germany.

Yesterday, a certain individual was heard, criticizing the donation made by a party to the Red Cross fund. The average man is more familiar with his own personal financial condition than the outside and certainly has no idea of what he is objecting to for any cause.

It must be stated that the State-south of the Mason and Dixon line should be commended for the part they have played in subscribing for Liberty Bonds and furnishing money for the American Red Cross Society.

CITY SPRINGS UP IN EASTERN BELT

Construction Company Establishes Headquarters—Tracks Near Completion and Houses to Go Up.

A new Columbia is being built six miles east of old Columbia. The new town will have just as many inhabitants and possibly more.

The Hardaway Construction company of Columbia, Ga., has been charged with the work of building the new city, which must be completed within the next 90 days.

The Hardaway company has opened executive offices on the ninth floor of the Union National Bank building and is now employing about 25 clerks and stenographers.

It is practically certain that work will begin on the construction of the many buildings within camp limits. From 4,000 to 6,000 workmen will be employed by the company in erecting the buildings.

Provision will have to be made in Columbia and at the camp to house the large number of workmen. From every indication it seems practically certain that the Columbia cantonment will be the first to be completed in the United States.

It is estimated that about $3,000,000 will be spent in making the camp ready for the reception of the new army. The water main for the city to the camp will cost $100,000.

Columbia is already beginning to feel the impulse of the development work. The pay roll now is amounting to about $10,000 a week.

Provision will be made at the camp for caring for nearly 10,000 eyes. There will be two aeroplanes for the aviation school.

Many of the officers will have to seek quarters in the city of Columbia for their families.

GERMANY STILL DERIDES US

Koehnke's Zehnung Repeats Charge of American Braggery.

Washington, June 18—Extract from German newspapers reaching the State Department show that the German press continues to deride our efforts now being put forth by the American nation in an effort to accomplish the defeat of the German government.

"It is very hard for us at this moment to form a judgment relative to America's position in this war, and we are not prepared to do so until reports come to us through a double control. They are through a double control, they are through a double control, they are through a double control."

"We must, therefore, look to indirect means of judging, such as the reading between the lines in reports designed to form the public mind as to, for example, those published in England. It is a striking fact that these reports have had of late quite an unkind tone which shows strange relations to American war preparations."

BELGIUM INSPIRED BY OUR WAR ACTION

And Gives Special Fraze to Hoover for Relief Work—Will Address the Senate Tomorrow.

Washington, June 20—Baron Mouchet, head of the Belgian War Mission, today expressed to the American correspondents, Belgium's deep gratitude for America's "generous outpouring of material assistance and sympathy."

"The purpose of our visit to this country," said the Baron, "is to express our new gratitude to you for the heartfelt gratitude of Belgium for the generous outpouring of material assistance and sympathy which have gone so far to save my stricken countrymen from the horrors of famine, and to maintain their unshaken courage in this hour of trial."

"Our admiration for your decision in entering the war is all the greater because we know that you did so in the name of all its horrors, and waited fully the sacrifices you will be called upon to make, the tear that will flow, the inevitable hardships your homes. This shows us, as nothing else could, the determination of your country to see that when peace comes it shall be an honest peace, one that can last, and one that will bring freedom and happiness to all nations."

"In voicing my country's gratitude I am happy to be able to pay a tribute of admiration and affection to Mr. Hoover, under whose able and inspiring direction our great work in Belgium was carried on. We are confident for you that a man as eminently fitted by ability and experience should be at your service in handling the great food problem that confronts you."

"From being one of the foremost industrial nations of the world, and the fourth among exporting countries, Belgium for the time being has been ruthlessly wiped out. Her factories are closed, with all the machinery from our factories and ship equipment as part of a far-reaching and cynical program of economic annihilation. And, worst of all, a part of Belgium's unfortunates are being sent to toil in Germany under a system that would have offended the moral sense of the Middle Ages."

"But this is only a passing phase. Belgian confidence and courage has never wavered. On the day of delivery, our day of industry will be heard, and on that final day of victory the friendship of our two peoples, purified in the fire of suffering, will emerge stronger and stronger than ever and unite us in even stronger bonds that shall, God willing, never be broken."

Baron Mouchet will address the Senate Friday to express gratitude for what the United States has done for Belgium. The invitation was extended to him by Vice President Marshall, and accepted as an opportunity to give a message to the American people. The mission spent a quiet day today at a "distant" training camp at Fort Myer.

he seed are put down in a water barrel and covered a little deeper than the spring crop. Frequent shallow cultivation is necessary for good results.

Potato bugs are usually very destructive to the second crop and often destroy the young plants as soon as they come up. If the plants are sprayed often with a mixture made up of one pound of arsenate of lead and four pounds of stone lime in fifty gallons of water the bugs will not be troubled with either bugs or blight. The Bordeaux mixture will keep the foliage in a healthy growing condition.

The fall crop should be planted any time from July 1st to July 26th. When planted at this time the vines mature before frost and the maximum yield is obtained. It requires 12 to 14 weeks for potatoes to mature from seed, and therefore they must be planted that much before the earliest frost date. Where later plantings are made the vines do not mature and the crop is shorted. It is particularly important to note that the preparation, fertilization, and planting of the second crop, at the same place for the first crop except

SUFFRAGE FLAGS

TORN TO PIECES Tear Diligent Banner From Women's Hands and Destroy Patriotic Canvas.

Washington, June 20—The peaceful picketing of the White House grounds by silent sentinels of the suffrage cause led to the first disorder today when a crowd of angry men tore down banners the women were holding for the Russian mission to see when it visited President Wilson. The rumpus was over before the police got on the scene and no arrests were made.

The banners were inscribed: "President Wilson and Enow Roto are despising Russia. They say: 'We are a democracy. Help us win a world war so that democracy may survive.'"

"We, the women of America, tell you that America is not a democracy. Twelve million women are denied the right to vote. President Wilson is the chief opponent of their national emancipation. Help us win a world war really free. Tell our government that it must liberate its people before it can claim 'Russia as its ally.'"

The banners attracted groups of men passing, who stopped and discussed them. Finally, discussion gave way to action.

"Cries of 'Traitors!' 'Traitors!' and 'They are enemies of their country!' were shouted at the two women holding the banner and after one yelled 'Let's tear it down!' the crowd lumped forward, the canvas was torn from fastenings leaving the suffragettes holding the frames and poles.

One of the White House police surmised a man who, he said, was leading the crowd. The man was Walter S. Timmins of New York, a electrical engineer. The policeman recovered a banner from Timmins just as it was being repaired, so the suffragettes contented themselves with holding the damaged frames aloft in evidence of their "martyrdom" as one of them expressed it.

The torn banner was carried by Miss Lora Burns of New York and Mrs. Lawrence Lewis of Philadelphia of the executive board of the National Woman's party. They stood at the west end of the Pennsylvania side of the White House and unfurled it just a few minutes before the Russian mission was driven into the grounds. Members of the mission paid attention to it.

An Influence for Good.

A great deal has been said from time to time of the unhealthy influence of what the world is pleased to call "hobbies," the idea being, of course, that valuable time is wasted in their pursuit which could otherwise be used to advantage. Of course in the case of hobbies, just as in all other interests of purely personal preference, the harm lies in their abuse. To mount a hobby and ride it to death, thus deliberately thwarting our real aim, is sheer waste of time but to care for it gently, to adapt it to our advantage and to draw upon it with discretion is a very different matter. Hobbies, as such, are evidences of individuality; they represent various routes by which we are struggling to arrive at a certain goal, a path perhaps which exists somewhere for those who try to reach it. We find a certain comfort at times in yielding to the more or less soothing influences of some particular hobby, whether it be merely the discussion of a special subject or active participation in a particular pursuit. So long as we keep ourselves within check, and resist the temptation to give way to unrestricted indulgence in the favorite pursuit which others are pleased to designate as a hobby, we can do no harm to any one, but the trouble is that once we settle upon a special interest which will serve as an outlet for our feelings, we are quite likely to emphasize that interest to an wholesome degree.

It is nothing of ourselves to become single-minded; that is to pervert ourselves to become so engrossed in the consideration of one subject that we give no time to anything else. We have all experienced the unpleasant consequences of being compelled to listen while someone discusses at length, and with unpleasant frequency, a subject which, because it appeals to him, he believes should appeal to everyone else. There is a large vein of selfishness in the man who persists in riding his hobby over the rights and feelings of his neighbors, many of whom are merely innocent bystanders to be sure but who nevertheless must be sure to experience the unpleasant consequences of his hobby. He is far too much occupied with his own selfish purposes ever to become a useful citizen, and it is naturally in such conditions as these that the hobby becomes an element of danger.

However, there is much to be said in favor of this sort of hobby. In an expression provided that it is not overdone. There is something very comforting in the thought that we have our own outlet for our feelings, and for our emotions, particularly in times of distress. When the cares of the world begin to weigh heavily upon a man and he finds it difficult to obtain the necessary rest and recreation of which he stands sorely in need, healthy occupation about the best means by which to bring his mind to its normal condition. The mind acts of focusing attention upon some special subject, and in a wholesome interest, and in such conditions, and under such circumstances, that men and women everywhere have found comfort and safety in the cultivation of their personal hobbies. It is good to have something of the kind to fall back upon when the mind and heart are sorely afflicted with conflicting emotions; it is good, too, to surrender to the soothing influences of an occupation in which we delight where everything else is a burden upon our consciousness and nothing seems worthwhile. Human nature is subject to depressing influences, and none of us can testify from our personal experiences, even when no satisfactory reason can be given for such a state, but the man who possesses a hobby—whether it consist in gathering the rich harvests from good books, poetry, music, art or the like or whether in the cultivation of beloved flowers and plants and all wonderful growing things, or in the assiduous study of the heavens in all their glories, or in a thousand other wholesome and helpful ways—possesses also the means of rising superior to the hardships of life and of overcoming them by degrees. Hobbies are very useful to the nerves because of the quieting influence they exert. No nervous, high-strung person can afford to be without one, and on occasion he may ride it to his heart's content and in this way find complete relaxation from the care which vex his soul and stretch his nerves to the breaking point. We can make our hobbies our best friends; we will, just as we can also make them our worst enemies; it is for us to choose what use we shall make of them.

AMERICA GLORIES IN BELGIUM'S SPUNK

Washington, June 16.—Belgium regards America's part in the war as an "important and glorious move." King Albert made this clear in a letter to President Wilson, made public today.

President Wilson made this response: "America's eagerness upon this work of feeding the people of your stricken country as being the only means, however inadequate, of expressing our deep and sincere admiration for the valiant nation that had gone forth unhesitatingly to meet the onslaughts of a ruthless enemy rather than sacrifice her honor and her self-respect."

"The American people have been able to understand and glory in the unflinching heroism of the Belgian people and their sovereign; and there is not one among us who does not today welcome the opportunity of expressing to you our heart-felt sympathy and our solemn determination that, on the inevitable day of victory, Belgium shall be restored to the place she has so rightly won among the self-respecting and respected nations of the earth."

Just why some Congressmen have opposed the food control bill is mysterious to the man on the outside. The man of ordinary intelligence should long ago have realized that the government must, in this war-time period, protect producer and consumer alike from the machinations of the middlemen, who attempt to extort an unrighteous profit. Gl-gant conspiracy, criminally conceived and executed, are operating in this country. The conspirators are as much the enemies of the government and the American people as are the crimson overlords of central Europe. Both must be chained before we can have peace and plenty.

JOIN THE RED CROSS

By joining or assisting the Red Cross Society you help the wounded soldiers and also help to keep down disease in the army.

By keeping our soldiers well you help win the war.
The following will give you an idea of the sickness in previous wars.

In the Mexican war 6 died of disease to 1 from wounds. In the Crimean war France lost 10 men by sickness for every one killed. In our own Civil war 2 died from disease for each one shot. During the Franco-Prussian war, 12 Germans died of sickness of every one killed in battle. But modern hygiene was so far advanced at the time of the recent Russo-Japanese war that the war was started by the fact that for the first time in the history of armies there was only one death from disease for every 2 men who died fighting. In the present great war sanitation is working on a super-scale, and modern hygiene is rapidly cutting down the excessive death rate.

The better the health of our army the sooner we will win.
