HOSPITALITY, THE WINTHROP SPIRIT.

It is a compliment to Winthrop that she is chosen to entertain the participants of the various high school events. We have always acknowledged this compliment by extending an cordial welcome to our visitors. Once again next week-end we shall have the opportunity of heightening our hospitality at the school Track Meet. Just as we have done in the past, let us show the future students what the true Wintthrop Spirit is—Hospitality!

CHANGE

"The purpose of education is not to lay restraining bands on the course of your life and to limit your dreams to the most modest and worthy, and to furnish such equipment of mind, body, and soul, as will enable you to translate your conception into action, to answer the call of life."-Brooks B. Connors.

While we are in college we are apt to think of college students only as withered, authority-driven, skewed visions of a changed world. The pupils of the schools which many of us will go to one day also have the same dreams and hopes and fears. They are perhaps less articulate about them. Soon Seniors will be not only taught but teaching. From thinking of what college should give, we may turn to what we have gained. The true Wintthrop Spirit should give its people—what of should we give them—of how should we help them answer the call of life?

A. E.

WE WONDER

We like to think of Winthrop girls as possessing old-fashioned, rugged honesty and a great sense of duty. But perhaps we are being too generous. At times, though, we wonder. At times it takes all of our faith and our full hope of glory to continue to think so. As long as Winthrop girls steal from one of the departments, and so from all of us, and from those who come after us, we doubt their possessing these traits. As long as Winthrop is unable to maintain reading library books, so depriving the rest of us of their use, we wonder whether Winthrop knows what can happen to a multitude of little pieces of sunshine and how can it cover this case? We wonder.

The Wintthrop Spirit—We must call it—tearing of books, real need must come from students enforcing principles of honesty, justice, and respect for common property. Can we do it?

OARDINARY

The Johnsonian announces with regret that the students of "Who's Who" who were to have been enrolled on May 8th did not meet the requirements of the college. The lists of students who were recommended for membership have been destroyed.

Ministry Called While Praying Fellow Employee

When you thoughtfully plan in and personal our each day, do you ever think about interesting hobbies that new people can have to do what new people like to read or why the school was built?

Not long ago, a lady braked at the door of a room. It seemed that the new lady had been looking for some time in the room. She had just looked around and wondered if some new people might have new hobbies too. She decided to enter the room and see if there might be some new people who could tell them about their new hobbies.

Goddesses Are Liberal To Cornelia Otis Skinner's Single-Handed Artist

The goddesses, gathering over the marble slab, were in ignorance of the fact that one of their number was in the process of changing the name of a girl with whom they were acquainted. The girl, who had already been christened by the goddesses, was now to be addressed as "Godmother." The goddesses, being in a state of confusion, decided to consult the oracle of Apollo, who lived in the same building as the goddesses. The oracle, being a wise and learned man, was able to provide the goddesses with the necessary information.
