PROPOSE A SURVEY OF EYE-SIGHT CONDITIONS

Eye-Sight Conservation Council Sends Questionnaires to Many N. Carolina Cities.

New York. A nationwide survey of eye conditions in American education and industry has been undertaken by the eye sight conservation council of America, it is announced at the national headquarters at the country near New York.

As to industry, the aim of the survey, according to Guy A. Henry, general director of the council, is to disclose the relation between defective vision and the efficiency of the nation's millions of workers.

The eye sight conservation council's survey, marking the start of the research program recently adopted by the board of directors, has set out to reveal the effect of incorrect vision upon production. It has prepared a questionnaire designed to show increase in individual performance, decrease in accidents, increase in production and decrease in fatigue.

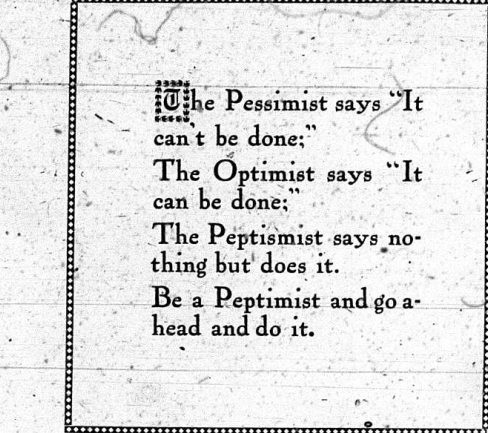

The council will endeavor to bring about a more intelligent attitude on the part of the public and those workers who have been permanently or temporarily disabled because of eye injuries.

To Survey North Carolina. The council's school survey extends to the public schools of North Carolina. A questionnaire has been prepared and sent to the superintendent of schools in numerous North Carolina cities.

Previous investigation, it is stated, has revealed that a large percentage of vision which must be remedied if national physical deterioration is to be avoided.

Proper lighting of schools, it will go far toward eliminating these evils. Glazing, according to Prof. F. C. Caldwell of the department of electrical engineering, Ohio State University, should be a member of the board of directors of the eye sight conservation council, is a frequent source of poor eye-sight.

FLORIDIAN SHOT DOWN ON EVE OF WEDDING

By Mystery Woman

St. Augustine, Fla., July 14.—Archie McQuig, employed by the local traction company, on the eve of his wedding day, lies in a hospital with a bullet through his left side one inch below his heart and authorities are seeking the mysterious woman who McQuig said is responsible.

The injured man will not reveal the name of the woman who he claims shot him this morning, nor will he tell anything of the circumstances. He was found shortly before 11 o'clock, seated by a highway in New Augustine, a suburb, after he had walked over a half mile in a weakened condition.

AUTOMOBILES ARE MADE TO ORDER FOR FAST-GROWING BOOTLEGGING BUSINESS

WILD NEGRO KILLED

CHICAGO, July 11.—Rum running along the Florida coast has developed into such a flourishing industry that some Florida automobile dealers sell them specially built to transport liquor, furnish a negro chauffeur and guarantee safe delivery anywhere, the Chicago Daily News declared today.

The writer, who with a bootlegger named "Terry," investigated rum running along the Florida coast, declared he had been approached by such a dealer who believed the newspaper man to be a bootlegger and described methods, particularly the negro driver.

The secret is this, the article quoted the dealer as saying, "If you buy a car from me I will supply a negro chauffeur who will drive the car in style for $10 and his expenses. Most of the northern rum runners try to take booze through from Florida, but the mistake of driving the car themselves, they wear caps and sweaters, they don't sweat, some of them chew tobacco, they talk with their 'ra's spread all through their conversation."

CHICAGO, July 16.—The car of a southern cop can spot them as far as he can see them. If you take one of my sedans and one of my chauffeurs and simply look back, all dressed up in the back seat and let my chauffeur do your driving for you, I positively guarantee that you will get by. To make assurance doubly sure, take a private license long to let you in the back seat. In fact for a trifling extra charge I will furnish the private 'jiff' license from the State of Michigan.

WILD NEGRO KILLED

CHICAGO, S. C., July 14.—Coroner J. Blakely Scott today as inquest tonight over the body of John Wilkes, a negro, who was killed Thursday night by W. S. Rhodes, a cotton picker, and the verdict of the jury was that the killing was justifiable. Wilkes was admitted to a negro hospital Thursday.

He had gone on a rampage and tried to kill another negro physician in the hospital. He attacked a woman and a little girl. The little girl, who was the victim of an auto accident, he hurled to the floor, fracturing her skull.

Dr. Rhodes was called to the hospital to subdue the wild negro. The music turned on the physician, who drew his pistol and fired. The crazy negro fell dead.

GERMANY UNABLE TO PAY FURTHER

So Says Head of Institute of Economics. Payment of Total Reals Upon Condition of European Industry, Declares Moulton.

Washington, July 16.—Belief that Germany at present can make no further reparation payments was expressed tonight by S. C. Moulton, director of the Institute of Economics, who declared this was the chief conclusion to be drawn from an analysis of Germany's capacity to pay which has just been completed by the institute.

"The total that may in the long run be paid," Mr. Moulton added, "depends upon the state of European trade and industry—in other words, upon factors over which Germany has relatively little direct control."

Characterizing Germany's present economic condition as "extremely grave," Mr. Moulton said that since that nation's gold supply "is not sufficient to meet her obligations for more than a few months, and her paper is not acceptable to the reparations commission, she can pay for her imports only with the proceeds from exports."

"It must be emphasized," continued Mr. Moulton, "that Germany can not possibly utilize all the proceeds from her exports in meeting reparation obligations. This is because she must have imports of raw materials and foodstuffs if her economic system is not to break down completely, and she can pay for these only with exports."

CHESTER WON YESTERDAY.

The Second Series Opened in Chester. The catcher missed it and Chester takes a Good Game by Score of 1 to 0.

The second series of the Palmetto League opened yesterday with Rock Hill playing Chester in Chester. The game was a snappy one and the final score read 1 to 0 in favor of Chester. McNeal pitched for Chester, with Hood catching. Rock Hill had "Hilton" pitching, and Edgins catching.

Both teams played jam up base ball with the exception of a few of plays. Hilton allowed Chester only one hit, while McNeal let Rock Hill have four. McNeal fanned seven Rock Hillians, and Hilton only fanned one Chesteric.

Chester's score came in the seventh inning with Sheep O'Neal on second and Paris at the bat, with two men down. Paris struck at the ball, the catcher missed it, and O'Neal went to third, and Edgins had a Rock Hill man on the bench blocked the ball and O'Neal came home for the only score of the afternoon.

The Chester boys are entering the second series with fight in them, and are asking the support of the fans. The gate receipts yesterday amounted to almost $150 and promise to be more this afternoon. Games like that of yesterday are deserving of strong support and it is hoped that Chester will play the team going.

Hughes played third base yesterday in the absence of Studemire, and was all around the sack, robbing Rock Hillian of a pretty one. Duke was in right field. They say he is a heavy hitter but he didn't get connected yesterday. The fans are watching this newcomer.

DIAMOND DUST.

Well, Rock Hill won the first series, taking one from York last Friday and again on Saturday. They had a big crowd and York mopped up on game receipts.

York had a new pitcher Saturday but Rock Hill was too good for him.

Chester has only two games this week.

Wednesday and Thursday we go to Union for a couple.

Friday and Saturday we go to York for two rounds.

The schedule would indicate that Rock Hill and Chester are both running short on Saturday games. The strike is about to give another lull; York 7; Rock Hill 3; Union 5; Chester 3.

In the second series York gets 4 Saturday games; Rock Hill 1; Union 2; and Chester 1.

The directors ought to change this Saturday game business and give each team a show for Saturday.

The first series closed with Rock Hill in York and Chester in Union. The second series is scheduled to close the same way. Seems the fair thing to do would be to close the second series at Rock Hill and Chester. This would make it a fifty-fifty proposition all around.

County Agent H. K. Sanders has a number of farmers for whom he expect to leave tomorrow for a motor trip to Coker's farm at Hartsville, and also the expenses at a school at Florence. They expect to be gone two days and will thoroughly investigate the work being done at the two places mentioned.

The matter came before Magistrate Davidson yesterday and each of the parties alone admitted each guilty. Day being fined $15 and each of the other three $10.

The officers say they watched and listened from the rear of the building for more than an hour and finally closed in on the crowd. In addition to catching them gambling the officers say they found 37 empty ginger bottles, 3 full ginger bottles and a fruit jar which smelled strong of whiskey.

Three Farms, One Profit.— Near Chipley, Georgia, are three adjoining farms that have a very potent meaning for Southern agriculture. One has been abandoned as too poor and run down. To justify working any longer, the second is nearly a total loss of corn. The first time in twenty years, for it was sold for that long ago. It is a part of this kind of farming would mean better homes, more bank accounts and fewer tax shays of land in the South. It is the only way to repel the thousands of acres that are drifting down the tenant-farmer, one crop road to abandonment. But it calls not only for good farm management and foresight but for more work by the white man who owns the land.—Country Gentleman.

The Malaria Problem

By H. Addington Bruce.

From a statistical survey by the public health service comes the cheering assurance that malaria is not nearly so prevalent in the United States as it used to be. But the survey also reveals that there still are a number of malaria plague spots, and that in some parts of the country the disease seems to be on the increase rather than decreasing.

This applies particularly to certain sections in various Southern states, notably Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Florida. For the period covered by the survey (Mississippi leads all other states in a malaria death rate (382), closely followed, in the order named, by Florida (35.1), Arkansas (34.6), Louisiana (32.5) and South Carolina (28.8). Then there is a big drop to Georgia (19.2), Texas (12.1), Alabama (8.4), North Carolina (8.2), Tennessee (7.8) and Oklahoma (5.2).

But even in the states where malaria continues to claim many victims it is by no means of general prevalence. It is distinctly a problem of country life, and it occurs frequently in some countries, districts than in others. As reported by Dr. E. F. Macey of the United States public health service.

"The areas of high prevalence stand out as definite foci, surrounded by larger areas of moderate prevalence. They are usually identified with the specially favorable topography offered by the board flats about the lower reaches of sluggish rivers."

Particular note is made of the Pamlico sound region of North Carolina; of the Savannah river region between South Carolina and Georgia; of the Flint river region in south Georgia; of the coast of west Florida about the mouths of the Apalachicola and Suwanee rivers.

"Finally, and chiefly, note is made of the great lower Mississippi river region with its broad flood plain, and the 'delta' lands laid down by its changing courses; and the extension, up the valley, of its important tributaries, the Alabama, the St. Francis, the Black and the Red rivers."

What this means of course, is that these regions are peculiarly favorable to the breeding of the anopheles mosquito, the great carrier of malaria. The fact, however, that in other districts malaria has been virtually stamped out, suggests that an appreciable degree of control by vigorous anti-mosquito measures might be obtained in the plague spots of great Florida and of the lower Mississippi.

To be sure, such measures call for the expenditure of large sums of money and much labor. And it might be long before encouraging results became apparent. But certainly the penalty for permitting malaria centers to remain is so heavy in loss, both of life and of treasure, that the gaining of control over the anopheles should be accounted a real necessity.

All things stand, the states where malaria still is glaringly in evidence are cruelly handicapped in their development. Their growth in population is seriously checked, they are prevented from prospering as they

Trains for Character.

By H. Addington Bruce.

Of all the findings of psychology in their practical bearing on life none is of more importance than the relationship of character defects to such social evils of today as nervousness, insanity, suicide, divorce, delinquency and dependency. "Again and again when 'giving' is made, into individual cases the fatal influence of weakness of character is to be discerned."

"This man failed in business because he could not resist the temptation to give more time to pleasure than to work." "The fatal character defect of a man is a habit of habitual disregard of the rights of others." "The marriage collapsed in divorce by reason of the selfishness of both contracting parties."

"This suicide was a product of inability to stand up under reverses." "This case of insanity is directly traceable to lack of control leading to brain destroying indulgence."

"This person became a nervous wreck from overreaction to personal sensations and feelings." "Diverse as are the immediate causes for aberrant behavior, there runs through them with sad monotony the faint of character weakness. And the tragedy of the aberrancy is deepened by the fact that, in the great majority of instances, it might have been averted had proper care been taken in early life to strengthen the character through training."

Many parents seem to forget that the lower reaches of sluggish rivers are particularly favorable to the breeding of the anopheles mosquito, the great carrier of malaria. The fact, however, that in other districts malaria has been virtually stamped out, suggests that an appreciable degree of control by vigorous anti-mosquito measures might be obtained in the plague spots of great Florida and of the lower Mississippi.

To be sure, such measures call for the expenditure of large sums of money and much labor. And it might be long before encouraging results became apparent. But certainly the penalty for permitting malaria centers to remain is so heavy in loss, both of life and of treasure, that the gaining of control over the anopheles should be accounted a real necessity.

All things stand, the states where malaria still is glaringly in evidence are cruelly handicapped in their development. Their growth in population is seriously checked, they are prevented from prospering as they otherwise might prosper. If they really would progress, an earnest anti-malaria crusade is for them a prerequisite.

FORD EXPANSION PROGRAM AFFECTS NUMEROUS CITIES

Survey Shows Extensive Improvements Made as Assembly Plants Throughout Country. Detroit, Mich.—One phase of the Ford Motor company's expansion program, entailing the expenditure of millions of dollars, is strikingly illustrated in a survey of improvements made in assembly plants throughout the country, all of which have brought better production, and employment conditions to the several cities affected.

The survey, which is just announced through the Ford News, shows that every assembly plant of the company, numbering twenty-eight, is now in full operation and producing more Ford cars and trucks than ever before.

New additions have been erected, or are under construction, new equipment has been installed, and greater facilities afforded all around. The plant at Atlanta, Ga., has been considerably enlarged since its re-opening a year ago. At that time its capacity was 150 cars and trucks a day. This already has been increased to 210 and when improvements are completed the maximum for an eight-hour day will be from 250 to 275.

Railroad tracks which formerly ran inside the building have been removed to make way for an assembly line and a new concrete loading dock will be completed in June on which big stock conveyors will be installed running into the building. The Cleveland, Ohio, assembly branch, has been entirely reequipped and is now assembling cars at rate of 150 a day. A new electric enameling oven is in process of construction there to further facilitate the work.

Several changes have been made at the Louisville, Kentucky, branch where a one-story addition has been erected. The assembly line has been removed from the third to the first floor, a body oven has been installed for drying all paint coats on open bodies and the fifth varnish coat on closed bodies, and a new type electric enameling oven is being erected. Production has been increased from 100 to 170 cars a day.

At Indianapolis, Ind., the branch assembly line has been greatly extended and dock facilities increased which permits this branch to turn out 300 cars a day. Denver, Colo., and Portland, Ore., have again been opened as assembly plants with daily production of 150 and 50 cars, respectively. Columbus, Ohio, and Houston, Texas, branches have been equipped

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler on Intolerance in America.

Any one who takes the trouble to read carefully the history of the American people, cannot read the conclusion that intolerance, in some one of its many forms, has been characteristic of us since the days of our beginning.

Political as well as religious intolerance marked many episodes in early American history, and the liberal spirit won no small triumph when Thomas Jefferson succeeded in securing the passage of a statute providing for religious freedom in Virginia. It is not surprising that he wished to have engraved upon his tombstone a statement of this fact, to mark his own conviction that it had been one of his chief contributions to the welfare of his fellow man.

George Washington was conscious of the need for battling with intolerance among his countrymen in this new country, and much of his own greatness of soul sprang from the essential tolerance of his own nature, his broadmindedness, his sympathy, his goodness, and his human sympathy. Intolerance is a mean. The only way by which it can be done away is through the energetic action of an enlightened and aroused public opinion.

Similar intolerance on race antagonism is there, un-Christian, and immoral. That there are real differences between the various races into which humanity is divided, all of us understand, admit, and appreciate. These differences, however, offer no just grounds for intolerance, persecution, or hatred.

Throughout our history we find episodes indicating that such hatreds have sprung up from time to time, and that often they have caused incalculable misery and sorrow. There is no record of a single occasion in which civilization has been advanced because of any of their operations. Just now it is the Jew who, in the United States, is bearing the brunt of antagonism based upon race hatred.

To endeavor to determine the exact reasons for this, would be to undertake that which is impossible of achievement, and to undertake the task, for tomorrow it may be the Slav, or the Italian, or some other particular group again. — which some body of inhabitants of the United States may decide to direct their animosity.

THE CHESTER NEWS

So they greased the bottom of the ship

SMART builders of smart ships, those hardy settlers along the Atlantic Coast just after the Revolution. Many a time their sharp-bugle barks and brigantines showed their heels to the Mediterranean blockade and carried American goods into Marselle. And one ingenious device for getting a knot or two of extra speed was the greasing of the vessel's bottom. So while the friction of the water held back their pursuers, they slipped onward to safety.

Friction is always a drag against progress, especially in the case of motor cars and trucks. For years this company has been aiming at the conquest of friction by means of a lubricating oil scientifically designed. We have been successful. Ask for Polarine, the "Standard" oil for motor lubrication—not just "a quart of oil."
