THERE IS ONLY ONE DISEASE, SAYS DOCTOR

More than 300 Charlotte people, largely of the scientific persuasion heard Dr. J. T. Tilden, of the Tilden Health School of Denver, Colo., discuss his theories of how to get well and stay well without the aid of medicine and surgery, in an address delivered recently at this Chamber of Commerce.

The physician said that he was a practicing physician for 25 years, with an ever-growing conviction that his efforts were in the wrong direction, despite his success; that at the end of that period he changed his method of healing and has taught thousands habits of health for 27 additional years, and now feels that the latter accomplishments constitute a real success and service. Medicine and surgery have their place, he said.

He was introduced by Mrs. W. B. Sullivan, who, in a few words, said that she had personally known and known of so many other people who experienced the benefits of Dr. Tilden's teachings and that she had introduced him to the present him to the Charlotte audience.

Dr. Tilden's theory is simple—merely being that correct eating and habits are the foundation of health.

There is no true disease, he said, except that which is caused by faulty elimination.

By faulty elimination he meant, he said, the natural process of all broken-down tissue in all parts of the body and the removal of such tissue and its accumulation which accumulates in the system.

This error of elimination, he continued, is the cause of all disease, leading to all the most common diseases.

Toxemia is the name which Doctor Tilden applied to the basic disease, a name which has become famous through his many articles and books.

Everything that is irritating, he said, causes toxemia. Worry, strain, excesses of all kinds, less eating and especially careless mastication of starchy foods, he declared, are the main causes of toxemia, and consequently, of disease.

When nerve-energy is from any cause, he said, it is used, and nervousness and excitations are lessened. A lessening of secretion deranges the organism of power to remove food and toxins and assimilation become impaired. Excessions, the waste products caused by cells and tissues broken-down, cause the toxin to be retained in the system, and toxemia results.

The "old" diseases, he said, which are treated with medicine or surgery, he declared, are merely symptoms of toxemia. The cure is not complete until the toxemia is cured.

When elimination is faulty, a "natural" condition exists in the membranes and itself a vicious elimination, this being one of the first symptoms, as a rule, he said.

He condemned all purgatives, protests the practice of "eating nothing," the use of cathartics, or laxatives, or food bread without thoroughly to eat any starches, but rather to eat whole wheat bread thoroughly bread. Filling gas, he advised, people should eat shredded wheat.

He first brought out his principles of eating as they applied to children. Instead of many starchy foods, soft bread and biscuits, the child should be given dry crisp shredded wheat for breakfast.

Should the child refuse to eat, he advised the doctor, the mother should not insist, but rather the food away until such time as the child has had no other food for several days. All that he will probably be quite willing to eat, he said, and thoroughly enjoy it at that time, he said, with a smile.

MECHANICAL

Augusta Chronicle Tells of New Manufacturing Industry in That City.

COTTON PICKER

Augusta, Ga., June 22.—A mechanical cotton picker is being manufactured here in a great quantity, it is expected. The article follows:

"Augusta has another new industry. It is announced yesterday that the Poche Cotton Picking Company is manufacturing its products here, which is the invention of an Augusta man, Harry E. Poche. The enterprise, which has for its purpose the invention of a practical cotton picker, is financed entirely by Augusta capital and located in this city in the face of indubitable opposition from other sections of Georgia and South Carolina."

"Already, it was stated by a large stockholder in the company, there have been placed for the manufacture of 100 of the cotton pickers, and the machines are now under construction in Augusta. Hundreds of other orders are expected in the very near future, as soon as the farmers learn of the advantages of the picker over the old methods, and the light is stated, will average fifty-five pounds per hour, and will pick the cotton cleaner than by hand. It has a life of ten years and according to its inventor, will pick as much clean cotton in a day as four men or hands. The picker was announced, will be sold for approximately $1500 each. The machine is run by a small single cylinder engine and is operated by a hand, picking the cotton and handing the cotton and conveying it to sacks in a very light manner, as soon as the farmer who operates the picker."

"The light wagon which is pulled by a mule or horse, and which is very light in construction and has six empty canvas bags of a capacity of seventy-five pounds of cotton each. When the bag is filled it is chipped along the row. The wagon is fifteen inches wide and fifty inches high, and is operated by a hand, operating the cotton picker."

"It is the claim of the inventor that the machines will obviate the need for pick trash with the cotton. Poche, according to his own statement, worked eighteen years in the cotton fields, and he says in his own words, 'The success in this line is the result of a case of homicide. George was 35.'"

NEW BIRTHPLACE FOR JACKSON

Old Newspaper Found at Gaffney. New Birthplace for Jackson.

According to a newspaper story sent out from Gaffney a few days ago, a copy of the Spartanburg Express, published in 1850, had just been discovered in Gaffney which carries a story to the effect that Andrew Jackson was born in Chester County, South Carolina, near the town of Gaffney, on the 15th day of March, 1767.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McLow, Sr., of Charleston arrived Sunday for a visit of two weeks with relatives in Lancaster, Liberty Hill, Greenville, Union, York and Chester, S. C., Charlotte and W. Pleasant, S. C., and other points. After visiting for a fortnight among the family connections, Mrs. McLow will spend the remainder of the summer with her son, William McLow at her county home, Fairview Farm, in the South-Lancaster section.

Cecil, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe McLow of this city, sustained a painful injury to his head, Wednesday when he fell out of a tree. He fell from a height of about 18 feet, landing on his hands and feet, and injuring his ribs. There appeared to be no bones broken, but it has not been determined whether there are any internal injuries.

Elliott Burch, a 17 year old negro youth, was instantly killed by the scowling of H. C. Johnson, in Chesterfield county, about two miles from Mt. Croghan, Thursday. He had been working at the mill for some time, and was in the mill when he was killed. The cause of the killing was not determined.

Dr. Baker said that the sun's rays are a powerful agent in the treatment of tuberculosis, and that the sun's rays are a powerful agent in the treatment of tuberculosis.

THE TOWN OF CLOVER

The County Owns Forging to the Front—Many Improvements Have Been Made and Many Others are Contemplated.

On last Monday night I, with Mr. J. W. Frohman, manager of the Chester Branch of the Southern Public Utilities Company, went to Clover to attend a citizens' meeting called by Mayor Alexander of that town for the purpose of placing before the people of that town the advantages of going to the High School (Public Utilities Company) to take over the Clover municipal electric light and power plant.

A citizens committee had previously been appointed to look thoroughly into the matter and they made their report at this meeting in which they advised that the change be made. From the information furnished it was evident that the committee had gone thoroughly into the matter even so far as to recommend that the town should do no more for their plant than an inventor showed it to be worth.

Arriving in Clover the first thing to make an impression on me was the courtesy of a policeman. I asked him where I could find the Mayor and he advised that he was probably at home. He said, "If you wish to see the Mayor, call on him here. We did not put him to this trouble and proceeded to get our car for the purpose of going to the High School auditorium where the meeting was to be held. About the time we got to our car a young man came up and told me that the Mayor was down on the street.

Mr. Alexander is a live Mayor. You do not find a better Mayor until you find this out. Being Mayor of Clover is like being Mayor of most of the towns in this section. Whole lot of work and not much pay. But Mayor Alexander has been selected for his position without opposition and he is grateful to the people of his town for their confidence in him.

Those who have changed to pass through Clover in recent months are acquainted with the fact that a new cotton mill has been built with its scores of houses. Since 1920 Clover people have erected approximately 250 homes. Whole streets have been built up in the past five years and a lawyer informed us that Clover merchants expect about the best ratings of 1925. You'll admit you can not even buy any merchants in this section.

During recent months the town has voted $75,000 for agricultural improvements. It is proposed to hand-surface Main street and possibly another in the business section. It is also proposed to put down concrete curbing on a number of streets and build cement sidewalks.

The High school building is a handsome one and we were informed that when they decided to build it that they thought they would build one to take care of the needs of the town for several years. However, when the building was completed the town has grown so fast that the school was inadequate to properly care for the children.

Again referring to the Clover policeman, I think the Chief there is named Kiser and if he is the man I think he is, he is a first-hand and a number of years ago was a baseball pitcher. I have seen him in action many times and he certainly threw a wicked curve with that left hand.

All by the way there are some interesting lives in Clover and they are great Clover boosters, but I was also glad to note that they had a good word to say for the town of Chester.

Scores of people living in Chester do not appreciate their town. They do not know it as they should. They remind me of a lot of men who have good wives—they do not appreciate them until they are gone. We Chester people as a whole are not SOLD out, town as we should be and we ought to turn a new leaf. I am anxious to go back to Clover and when I do I want to have time to look the town over thoroughly and meet some more of their good citizens.

NEVER WILL BE MISSED

The following is from The Monroe, Louisiana and to our mind hits the "Bull's Eye." "Every community has in its midst certain citizens, who intelligent and wealthy, are able to do many great things for themselves and their section. And there is always some who do nothing, or build up a good name where they make their money, or where their success is made for them; and they pass by a ripe old age and die, never being missed by the places in which they lived."

It is pathetic to think about the man who has given over his life to the acquisition of fortune, who has made few contributions to the betterment of any cause or thing who has negligently watched the expenditures of a rich return. It is pitiable because the man has never learned to live. He has found his soul by his greed for money, and he has given his life to something that will not last when the gaunt specter beckons him across the river.

"If such men believe in a future life they must seldom think. Mark Twain told of the man, who dying, went to the pearly gates, and upon being asked from whence he came, replied, "the world." The guardian at the portal astonished him by asking, "which one?" The rich and selfish who die will very probably assail the pearly gates and be asked why they expect to enter into the kingdom. Their only chance of entry will depend upon how their answer will look. "I made a good sum of money, and took care of myself." The surprise will come when the guardian asks them, "what kind of money did you make?"

BOLL WEEVILS ABUNDANT

Will the Farmers Fight to Save the Cotton Crop? Clemson College, June 19.—"Throughout practically the whole of South Carolina boll weevil infestation is sufficient to give cotton growers serious concern," says Dr. F. H. Lathrop, State Entomologist, upon the completion of a thorough soil weevil survey covering the lower part of the state. "Contrary to popular opinion the dry weather prevailing this spring has not been adverse to boll weevil activity, so that there is a general infestation in cotton fields, and the recent rains have greatly increased the prospect for severe weevil injury," Dr. Lathrop adds.

In general the infestation was found to be very heavy for this time of year and evidence indicates that weevil multiplication will be rapid. Fortunately, Dr. Lathrop says, the growers on the whole are awake to the situation and will make a much more general effort to poison the weevil this summer than heretofore.

However, in spite of disastrous past experience and of all the propaganda regarding the necessity of boll weevil control, Dr. Lathrop and his co-workers find that there are too many farmers not generally awake to the danger now present, and he urges that every agency involved in agriculture should make every effort to arouse the people to action, for it will require united and continued effort to save a large part of the crop. Dr. Lathrop and the other workers report that throughout lower Carolina growers have apparently followed the most approved methods of spacing, fer-

We wish to thank all of our friends who stood by us through Receptivity and made it possible for this mill to operate again. We are a home industry and will employ 75 mtn. on the day and night shifts, which will be of big help to the laboring and business men of Chester as our pay rolls will be distributed each week and we will buy considerable supplies locally.

The fertilizer plant will operate next Spring, as usual and on a much larger scale.
Again thanking our friends for their loyalty to our home industry, and hoping for continued pleasant business relations, we are,

Yours very truly,
Thomas Ancrum, Manager.
