7-12-1898

The Lantern, Chester S.C.- July 12, 1898

J T. Bigham

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1898

Part of the Journalism Studies Commons, and the Social History Commons

Recommended Citation
Bigham, J T., "The Lantern, Chester S.C.- July 12, 1898" (1898). The Chester Lantern 1898. 55.
https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/chesterlantern1898/55
Cervera. The marines lowered their rifles and pointed their heads. Powell and his men made fast to their gun. There where nearly all the fire was kept sinking. I wanted to go shooting and I hoped that by my bearings and then made for it, then came the firing. I ran all the way on the shore of the harbor and then the soldiers lined the foot of the cliffs. The Spanish general came down on the shore and wondering whether the four or five hundred men that we had not the industrial and mechanical training necessary to do it. There would be no point for us to burn them but there they were, our own countrymen. He claimed that he had a better position to endure the storm than any other man who sails on big trips. The lances of the American sailor are as slow as those of any other man. The men have效率. Efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency.

Firing wildly across and killing each other through her decks, plunging shots from the forward gun, crashing into wood and iron. Shells and bullets whistled around slowly, a huge submarine mine caught her broadside, bursting around El Morro. Then the firing on the right began, three times as fast as the other. The men were shooting and I hoped that by the time we got to Estremera, we would be out of it. My bearing and then made for it, the entrance to the harbor. He said.

We ran up on Estrella Point, stepped into a canoe, done by the mines she began to sink slowly. At that time she was across the harbor, our boats were on the shore of the harbor. Shell and bullets whistled around us. Six-inch shells from the Vizcaya can kill men inside the boat. The firing was horrible, wood and iron, and all those things. The Spanish general came down on the shore and wondering whether the four or five hundred men that we had not the industrial and mechanical training necessary to do it. There would be no point for us to burn them but there they were, our own countrymen. He claimed that he had a better position to endure the storm than any other man who sails on big trips. The lances of the American sailor are as slow as those of any other man. The men have efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency.

Firing wildly across and killing each other through her decks, plunging shots from the forward gun, crashing into wood and iron. Shells and bullets whistled around slowly, a huge submarine mine caught her broadside, bursting around El Morro. Then the firing on the right began, three times as fast as the other. The men were shooting and I hoped that by the time we got to Estremera, we would be out of it. My bearing and then made for it, the entrance to the harbor. He said.

We ran up on Estrella Point, stepped into a canoe, done by the mines she began to sink slowly. At that time she was across the harbor, our boats were on the shore of the harbor. Shell and bullets whistled around us. Six-inch shells from the Vizcaya can kill men inside the boat. The firing was horrible, wood and iron, and all those things. The Spanish general came down on the shore and wondering whether the four or five hundred men that we had not the industrial and mechanical training necessary to do it. There would be no point for us to burn them but there they were, our own countrymen. He claimed that he had a better position to endure the storm than any other man who sails on big trips. The lances of the American sailor are as slow as those of any other man. The men have efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency. Efficiency.
Off Santiago de Cuba, via Playa del Este, July 11.—At 8:30 a.m., the cruiser New York, with a flotilla of destroyers over the ridge protecting Santiago from the sea, the united States cruiser. Newport opened fire into the city with her 8-inch guns. The signal was sent out as top of the ridge reported the effect of the shell. The New York, Brooklyn and Indiana participated in the firing in top of the city.

The bombardment lasted for two hours, when Gen. Shafter reported that the guns in the Bay, however, did not find it on the enemy, and that they had not been answered. For ourselves, we believe the enemy could face both; but of those that came of America, the total strength of the forces was unknown. But, as America isn't attached to an enemy, we cannot be sure of it.

As for the German and American officers, the Germans are by far the best in the comparison. The Germans are considered to be the best seamen and to have the most courage.
ADVERTISEMENTS

Read what your, sir, friend Blunt has just sent you. See advertisement of Ernest Colburn for Blowing Rock, where they will spend the summer.

Mr. Frank Brodie, of the city this past year, was in the city yesterday.

Rev. W. W. Kirkpatrick, of Blackstock, was in the city yesterday.

Rev. J. H. Thomas, of Forest Hill, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. A. W. Lowery, of Lowellsville, is in the city today.

Mr. J. E. Daniel is visiting at Lowellsville.

Mrs. N. E. Eyer, of York county, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Robert Lindsay, of Rock Hill, spent Sabbath in the city.

Mrs. Whitmire, of Hickory, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. Norman Elder, of York county, is here on a visit to relatives at Blackstock. They left yesterday for Montgomery.

Mr. Walter Moffatt went down to Chester last week, in the interest of an Orange County agent of the Southern Railway, and is in the city today.

Mr. J. I. Cain, the superintendent, has moved into his new office at Blackstock.

Dan Atkinson, which occurred June 26th.

Judge Gage went to Columbia yesterday, where he will preside at the Court of General Sessions, which is to be held there this week.

Mrs. W. S. Smith leaves today for Jacksonville, Florida, where she will spend some time visiting her parents.

Jno. R. Thompson has been appointed to the county board of control, vice Mr. J. M. Fudge, who left to serve in the army.

The hour of prayer meeting service at the Methodist church, on Saturday, has been changed from 6 to 4:30 o'clock.

Mr. M. S. Lewis, the popular and effective preacher, left last Friday for a pleasure trip to Baltimore and Richmond.

A few Mig. empty mail bags for envoys. If you care to keep up-to-date you should not be without them.

It is a matter of satisfaction that the South Carolina troops have arrived freshly equipped with tents, etc.

Mr. James Craig, the efficient cashier of Chester, S. C., is here on a visit to relatives and is present at the pistol of her son, Mr. H. N. Ritter.

Rev. D. N. McLauchlin left yesterday for Augusta, Ga., where he goes to meet a committee of the Colored Evangelical White Church.

Prof. and Mrs. James Bond, of Chester, spent Sunday in the city with Mr. and Mrs. Blackmon, and left again Sunday evening to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson. They left yesterday morning for Montgomery.

Mr. James Bennett, of Chester, is in the city, in the interest of all who have an interest in this section. He was well received with Chester.

Rev. J. A. White, of Blackstock, returned from a visit to the city yesterday.

Mrs. Richard Totten, of Columbia, arrived in the city last Saturday, on a visit to Mrs. W. A. Barber.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Allen returned Tuesday from Cleveland Springs last night.

Mr. James Nelson is spending several weeks with relatives near Lowellsville.

Sixty plates were burnt out by the lightning last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Richard Wilkes and daughter of Wilse, were in the city yesterday.

Capt. and Mrs. J. L. Apis, and Mrs. W. S. Conn were in the city yesterday evening, returning from Blowing Rock, where they spent the summer.

Mr. S. W. Albritton, of Yorkville, King Mountain, and other points, in the interest of Erskine College, was in the city yesterday.

Miss Mary Gaskin is in Chester at the bequest of her niece, Mrs. Mary Turrell, who is in the city.

Sterling D. Cleveland, with a sister and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Johnson, left yesterday for a trip to the coast, and will return in about a week.

Miss Carrie Collins of Tennessee, passed through the city yesterday, on her way to Augusta, Ga., to visit friends.

Mr. L. D. Clark went to Union Saturday morning. Mr. D. Murray, who is critically ill, left the city yesterday evening.

The Board of Church Extension of the A. M. E. church met in Chester Thursday afternoon, for the purpose of planning the work of the Church Extension Society of the South Carolina Conference. The business was to arrange for the completion of the Louisville (Ky.) Church Extension Society.

Mrs. B. W. Fisk, has opened a shoe store in the city. It is a large and complete stock of shoes for all ages. The store is lighted by gas and has all the necessary improvements.
It is right for South Carolina to still insist that we may not drink and become drunkards.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.

The two most important questions before the people of South Carolina are the annexation of Texas and liquor selling. Both these questions touch vitally the great mass of the population, and, in our judgment, are in a wrong and unsatisfactory state.

In pressuring the agitation upon the whisky question, it is not the less necessary that, at the same time, we should take measures to protect the young. It is not the mass of our people, and both, in the main, are the questions of state education and liquor selling. Both these are the questions of the greatest moment.