2-14-1964

The Johnsonian February 14, 1964 Miss Hi Miss Edition

Winthrop University

Follow this and additional works at: https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/thejohnsonian1960s

Recommended Citation
https://digitalcommons.winthrop.edu/thejohnsonian1960s/54

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the The Johnsonian at Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Johnsonian 1960-1969 by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons @ Winthrop University. For more information, please contact bramed@winthrop.edu.
The Johnsonian Proudly Presents The Miss Hi Misses Of South Carolina

The new American emphasis on physical fitness is not new at Winthrop College. As long as there has been a Winthrop, there has been a program to serve as a physical outlet for members of the student body. It is in the department of physical education that this program is handled, for this reason, the department’s program is broad.

One program is designed for students training in physical education and the other is for those non-majors who wish to meet physical education requirements or for those who are simply interested in physical activity for health and recreation. The latter need for fresh air, sunshine and exercise.

Students may take activities from four areas:

Team sports include volleyball, basketball, soccer, and tennis.

For the individual there are tennis, golf, archery, badminton and bowling classes.

The swimming courses range from beginners’ course for non-swimmers to a course which enables a strong swimmer to meet the requirements for a Red Cross Life-Saving certificate.

Courses in rhythm include folk dance, square dance, modern dance and social dance.

The professional program in physical education for students majoring in the field includes courses in various activities and the theory of teaching.

Those who complete the course may be qualified to teach in the elementary or secondary schools or in colleges, to work in the area of recreation, and, for those interested, to become members of the field of physical therapy.

There are three student organizations which are sponsored by the department of physical education. Sigma Gamma Nu is an organization for majors. Its programs are directed toward professional work in the field.

The Student Dance group is made up of majors and non-majors selected by auditions on the basis of competence. The group presents programs in modern dance and square dance. The show is presented as a benefit for the student body who meet the stringent requirements for skilled execution and to support the Dolphin Club.

The club presents a water ballet annually which has become a major campus event.

The group also has short performances at college dances and in competitions throughout the year.

The home of the department of physical education is Penney Gymnasium which, with its modern addition, provides ample recreational space for the campus community.
The Johnsonian Proudly Presents The Miss Hi Misses Of South Carolina

Call Of Great Outdoors Comes To All

WATCH OUT, YOGI — Our friend Yogi Berra would view with alarm his place among catching immortals if he could view the competition now in the minors. Maybe he doesn’t catch as well but she would be a nice sight from the pitcher’s mound. Anyway, we let Yogi never wear his rings and bracelets on the diamond.
Scientific Information of Social World Is Given

Scientific information of the social world is available to Winthrop students who enroll in courses in the departments of sociology.

Viewed in an objective and factual way are such seemingly obvious phenomena as people marry, rear children, slide blandly, work and play, seek peace, and make war.

A major in sociology can be used as a stepping stone to a career in social work, teaching, recreation, research, or government service.

Professionals and sophomores begin their study of sociology with the course in principles of methodology. This introductory course, given as a general introduction to the method of sociology together with a great deal of information that has been collected by social scientists on the nature of society and group life.

We usually take courses in the community and community social agency or in social methodology and the family, social research, history, and social philosophy and social theory.

Students who plan to become social workers may take two pre-professional courses in the field of social work.

The first course introduces the student to the basic concepts in social work practice.

These skills are made in social communities as a means of acquainting students with the types and variety of social services offered.

The second course in pre-professional social work is one in which the students spend one day a week observing in a social agency in Rock Hill or a neighboring city being offered for the first time this year. It is a part of the program in Latin American studies and is called social organization in Latin America.

This course attempts to orient the student to the social conditions in Latin America and the basic social relationships that exist there. Community settings are encouraged to a win-numbered environment that is appropriate to the student's particular interest. Such jobs are available in departments of public welfare, recreation departments, children's homes, summer camps, and other agencies.

The Johnsonian Proudly Presents The Miss Hi Misses Of South Carolina
Communications Is Exciting Area

Dr. Maryland W. Wilson, Department Chairman

Communications is an exciting area of study because it offers a wide range of career opportunities. Students in this department elect to major in either the speech-drama area or the area of general communications.

DEPARTMENTS — This department offers two majors: Speech-Drama and General Communications. Each major offers a unique set of courses and opportunities.

Speech-Drama: This major focuses on the creative aspects of communication, including acting, directing, and technical theatre. Students learn about stagecraft, costume design, lighting, and sound engineering. Integration of class and production work is a hallmark of this major.

General Communications: This major covers a broad spectrum of communication skills, including writing, public speaking, and media studies. Students can choose from a variety of courses that prepare them for careers in journalism, public relations, or broadcasting.

STUDENTS IN DRAMA APPEARANCE AT A GREAT DEAL OF SATISFACTION FROM THEIR STUDY WHICH DELIVERS INTO THE LITERARY AND TECHNICAL ART OF THE THEATRE BY MEANS OF ILLUSTRATED LECTURES, RECORDINGS AND THE READING OF REPRESENTATIVE PLAYS.

IMMEDIATE CITATION — This major offers courses in broadcast journalism, print journalism, public relations, and advertising. Students learn to write effectively and to communicate ideas clearly.

IMPORTANT BUT IMPORTANT — This major requires students to explore the various aspects of communication, including oral and written expression, public speaking, and interpersonal relations. Students learn to communicate effectively in a variety of settings.

JUNGLE LIFE — Students in this major gain an understanding of the technological and social aspects of communication. They learn to recognize and evaluate the role of communication in society.

AT HOME — Students in this major are trained in the fundamentals of communication, including speech, writing, and critical thinking. They learn to communicate effectively in a variety of settings.

I WILL — Students in this major are prepared to work in a variety of communication fields, including journalism, public relations, advertising, and broadcasting. They are equipped to work in broadcast and print media, as well as in corporate and commercial settings.

MRS. JOHNSONIAN

Misses of South Carolina

This page features photos of students who have been selected to represent South Carolina in a pageant.
AREA STUDIES HAVE INTERDISCIPLINARY APPROACH

This fall a new course of studies, the Asian Area Studies Program, was added to the college curriculum, opening up the study of a culture long neglected in our Eurocentric society's outlook.

Winthrop is the first school in the state to offer such a program, and one of only a few in the South to have one, according to Dr. Nolan P. Jacobson, Asian studies chairman.

The college has already received a gift for the first scholarship for students participating in the program.

The scholarships are valued at $500 each and have been designated the Davie Asian Studies and the Smith Oriental Language scholarships, named after Dr. Charles E. Davis, Winthrop president, and Dr. Walter D. Smith, dean of the college.

This man responsible for obtaining the scholarship is Winthrop's assistant librarian and instructor in Chinese and a member of the Asian Area Studies Committee.

The scholarships are automatically renewable with two more being added each year during a three-year period.

For both the Davie and Smith scholarships a student must be enrolled in a Chinese Language course, and for the Davie scholarship a student must be a major in Asian studies.

The Asian Area Studies Program itself is interdisciplinary, with the departments of English, business and economics, fine arts, history, philosophy, religion, and sociology participating.

It is designed so that during her first two years, the student will take general education courses and will begin the study of Chinese to take care of her three-year language requirement.

The second semester of her sophomore year, the student should take her first course in Asian studies, entitled Philosophical and Social Functions of Asia.

This course will serve as a sort of springboard into the junior and senior specialization period and will help stimulate students with the various courses and terms, which would otherwise be difficult.

A rotating faculty, representing the participating departments, will teach the course with Dr. Jacobson serving as coordinator.

Requirements for a major in the field include the basic course, three years of an Oriental Language and courses in geography of Asia, Far Eastern governments and politics, the Far East in modern times, religions of the East, great books of the East, and philosophy in Eastern civilization.

Study of an Oriental language is not required for a minor, but the student must choose 15 hours from the courses offered.

The Asian studies program is similar in design to the Latin American Area Study Program, which was originated last year at Winthrop.

The Latin American studies is designed to extend the cultural perspective of all students and to serve some special needs such as those preparing for Latin American missions, to acquaint students with Latin American civilization and to make them more sensitive to the Judeo-Christian heritage in the region.

The Latin American studies program is designed to extend the cultural perspective of all students and to serve some special needs such as those preparing for Latin American missions, to acquaint students with Latin American civilization and to make them more sensitive to the Judeo-Christian heritage in the region.

Any student may concentrate in this area after the demonstration of satisfactory college work by approval of advisors to the Latin American Area Study Program.

THERE'S A PATTERN TO IT — The brilliantly colored rug in the background is one Dr. Nolan P. Jacobson (right), coordinator of the Asian Area Studies Program, received as a gift from a Burmese friend. Ms. and Master Yang (left) discuss Eastern cultures with a class of students.
For the last few years, the Winthrop story has been a story of numbers. Enrollment figures have shown a steady climb due, in part, to large increases in the college's public relations population and to the increase in the number of people attending college.

For this reason, it was necessary for the college to establish an office of guidance and placement several years ago.

Through Winthrop has long been recognized for being a friendly campus populated with helpful people, the more recent attitude has been to give way to organized professional help so that each student's needs could be met.

This is the office where a student comes for advice on her classroom problems, courses of study, and career opportunities.

It is understood about her major field and her interests after graduation may take some tests in the office of guidance and placement.

These will correlate her special interests and aptitudes and perhaps influence her decision about her course of study. It's not always a matter of the future that concerns a student, however.

Sometimes it means a lot just to have someone listen and offer gentle words of encouragement when tests pile up and a girl has a cold.

Working with the office of guidance and placement are faculty members from each of the college's academic departments who serve as faculty advisors to the students.

In its placement area, this office arranges and secures suitable jobs for each member of the graduating class each spring.

Long before spring, the office is busy with activity as officials representing schools, industry, government, etc., come to the campus for interviews with Winthrop students who are to persuade to join their staff.

The director of guidance and placement at Winthrop is Mr. O. B. Powell.

Working with Mr. Powell is Mrs. Dorothy Rauch who represents Winthrop at high school college days throughout the state and who is the placement secretary.

Mr. O. B. Powell, Director of Guidance and Placement

FROM GOVERNMENT — Students interested in careers in government have an opportunity to talk over their vocations with representatives who come to the campus each spring giving advice, recruiting, enlightened women to join the staff of the federal government's economic adjustments.

TO THE SHORES OF YEMPIOLA — For the adventure of spirit who like travel and movement, there are careers in the women's branches of the various armed services. Across the Marine Corps makes its pitch to members of the class of 1963.

CONSIDERING THIS — Winthrop's Placement Office provides assistance counseling a wide range of job opportunities and assistance to students with career counseling undertaken by many campus organizations of students and with a large number of graduate school programs.

BUSINESS INTERESTS — Opportunities for higher employment are even more promising for students in business administration.

AND THE NAVY, TOO — Maybe the Navy is a jump ahead of the other services in their recruitment of women. They not only say no attractive WAVES offer complete with uniforms to the campus but also a handsome package of the right variety and makes Winthrop a pretty good good public relations.
Excellent Health Service Is Available For Students

Winthrop College has an excellent Student Health Service. The staff includes one full-time and two part-time physicians, seven registered nurses and a registered laboratory technologist.

The recently renovated and attractive 1ndoor clinic is well equipped for the care of all ordinary illnesses excepting those which require major surgery. The outpatient department, or Clinic, is available for office consultation and all treatments which do not require that patients be admitted and cared for as in-patients.

Consulting is also available for both physical and mental health problems.

The Clinic is located in the central area of the second floor of the Infirmary Building. In this area are the doctors' offices, treatment rooms, physical therapy room and laboratory.

Also in this area is the Communicable Disease Center where employees are examined, intracutaneous tests are administered and necessary instructions are given.

The most Winthrop students like to remember, the Student Health Service maintains a firm policy in regard to immunizations and testing for tuberculosis.

These requirements are stated on the health record to be returned with a complete health history, physical examination report, current immunization record, and reports of dental and eye examinations.

To cover costs of the Student Health Service, students pay an infirmary fee.

These fees are designed to cover costs of services available at the infirmary.

The insurance fee provides, in addition, certain coverage for X-rays, consultation, surgery and hospitalization when required elsewhere than in the infirmary.
The Johnsonian Proudly Presents The Miss Hi Misses Of North Carolina
It's Government By The Students

A good president listens... Then gives advice.

WITH A BIG-SPARK—Many deny Muller grew through the move. Velma Muller, president of the Student Government Association, traditionally as the new group just isn't real until she has been dubbed in the formal on most campus.

A SOLEMN OCCASION—Others at the big first campus organization are formally installed in the spring by the following year. Black school company officers dedicate the values of their work and conduct the installation ceremony, at which the entire student body is present.

SHE DOESN'T LOOK SO STERN—Judicial board chairman Sally Hart doesn't look very much like a judge, but she's chairman of the group responsible for trying cases where there has been an infraction of the college rules.

READ THAT BILL AGAIN—The first council is a very important part of the Student Government Association. This is the place where student ideas are turned into law through representative government.
The Johnsonian Proudly Presents The Miss Hi Misses Of North Carolina

RECREATION ASSOCIATION PROVIDES RELAXATION, FUN

A CALM SEA — Students find that the Winthrop Recreation Association offers a variety of activities on campus, from a boat ride at a picturesque little farm to a spirited, game of bridge at "game night."

A COLD BEER WARM - There are high spirits and plenty of action when student hockey teams get together on the hockey rink. WRA holds membership in the S. C. Athletic and Recreation Federation for College Women, the national federation and Dr. E. R. Field Hockey Association.

CAREFUL WITH THOSE ARROWS — Recreation Association officers, WRA officers for planning recreational activities throughout the year, are listed above from left to right, Ann Dunn, president; Glenda McDonald, vice-president; Wanda Cox, secretary; and Patricia Good, treasurer.

This week's fun, too — After a mummer of fun and games, there's no better recreation than fishing. These students find a cool shady spot under a tree to while away a hot day and cold drinks. Freshmen are introduced to WRA activities in the fall as a freshman.

14, 1H4 THI
JOHNIOHAN
....
U
Interest In Arts Encouraged By WFAA

Mary Ann Brunnemer, WFAA President

That's a Crazy Cow — The fine arts association organizes various art-activity sessions for the students. Here students can get a look at the paintings of some of our contemporary artists, ceramics and crafts and work done by the college art faculty.

Executive Board At Work...?
The Johnsonian Proudly Presents The Miss Hi Misses Of North Carolina

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION ACCENTS SPIRITUAL LIFE

STUDENT LEADERS — The purpose of the Western Christian Association is to help each individual student to develop a more mature and meaningful Christian faith. Officers are (back) Barbara Krupitvik, president; and Judy Beley, vice president, and (front) Janice Miller, secretary; and Joan Prince, treasurer.
The Johnsonian Proudly Presents The Miss Hi Misses Of North Carolina

Miss Ann Wessels, May Queen

Miss Mary Ann Brunnemer, Maid Of Honor

Miss Ann Merriman, Miss Winthrop

Contestants Vying for the Title of Miss Winthrop, 1964
Class Of 1964 Ends The War

Class Of 1964 Ends The War

OSPARADAR — At centre is Miss Barbara Phillips, who is centre of attention as she attends the Paradah to mark the end of the year’s pageantry in a scene that has become a tradition.

OSWAYERED APPAREL — As always, the Class Of 1964 End The War show was a festivity marked by a large turnout of students and guests. The show was a success, and the students were very pleased with the results.

OSWATER MILL EYES — As always, the Class Of 1964 End The War show was a festivity marked by a large turnout of students and guests. The show was a success, and the students were very pleased with the results.

The Class Of 1964 End The War show was a festivity marked by a large turnout of students and guests. The show was a success, and the students were very pleased with the results.
Students See That The Word Gets Out

Students see that the word gets out.

PICTURES AND MORE PICTURES — Photo
and television belong together almost as syring medications to the student. But for example, these two techniques are often used in fitting out a story to give the readers a window view of the action.

ANOTHER DAY, ANOTHER DEADLINE —
Members of The Johnstonian staff quietly learn the meaning of deadlines — and the importance of accuracy in reporting the news. The staff
"puts the paper to bed" Monday evenings for its Friday publication.

TELEVISION, TOO — In addition to leading a band where something is out of march in the radio station,

ST THE CONTROLs — These are the students who keep students' voices heard over the sympathetic mikes. Most of the members in their offices are also students. The pleasing as the news on their faces, the reality of their voices should vary very high.

YOU'RE ON THE AIR — Dale
Herb, student manager of station
WCHQ, gets ready to make an important announcement. The radio facilities, operated by students, are used to beam music and college news into dormitory rooms each evening.

NEWSPAPER EDITORS — As writers of paragraphs written and compiled by the editors, the editors lead the way. One editor is shown in this picture with her trusty pen. Editors are expected to be ready, businesslike, energetic and efficient.

TELEGRAPH EDITOR — During the summer, when school is not in session, Allen and Brian Reimann receive and report the latest news.
These editors have a tall goal of helping hands does make the work lighter, and other interested students as well as communications majors help out.
Winthrop Theater Challenges Students

Academic theater serves many purposes—and the Winthrop Theater has long been recognized as one of the finest in the state.

For students gifted in writing, it is through the Winthrop Theater that they are able to follow the growth of their talents from the germ of an idea through to the final presentation at the standard play in an audience.

In addition to a flair for dramatics, the Winthrop Theater gives the opportunity to try out their acting talents before a live audience and to receive the helpful criticism of their drama instructors.

For those who find their theater exciting and satisfying, the Winthrop Theater serves only the most personal of services.

The Winthrop Theater is the producing arm of the department of communications, but all of its activities are open to all students in addition to four major Winthrop Theater productions, a series of informal drama programs are presented throughout the year.

The purpose of the informal programs is to supplement the Winthrop Theater productions in broadening students' acquaintance with good dramatic literature and in acquainting students with the various forms of drama presentation.

The full-length productions, two of which have already been given at press time, include such plays as "The Glass Menagerie," directed by William J. Long, professor of communications, and "The Trojan Woman," directed by Dr. John Sargent, associate professor of communications. These plays were presented during the first semester.

The remaining productions are scheduled for the second semester.

In its choice of plays, the Winthrop Theater does not set out to entertain, but only to supply a selection of the best dramatic literature before the students.

THE VERY BEGINNING — It takes a lot of study and practice before a finished production is shown on stage. Here Dr. John Sargent, director of the Winthrop Theater, production "The Trojan Woman," gives costume across Elizabeth Gilchrist instructions.

IT'S ALMOST TIME — Drapes are lowered in almost an existing as opening night. The only thing missing is, of course, the audience. Left to right are Elizabeth Gilchrist, hype Betty, and Kenneth Blum.

THE BIG NIGHT — After weeks of hard work, it's opening night at last! — the time when the spotlight turns out to see friends perform. Who knows — Maybe Broadway is next.

A NEW FACE — Getting stage make-up on just right is a very important part of theater. See how in the blush on one eye can make you look as if you've had the world's best of a light when viewed from the stage.

THE NIGHT Before — Elizabeth Gilchrist, hype Betty, and Kenneth Blum.

THOMAS A CHURCH, TOO — Members of the chorus for "The Trojan Woman" were borrowed from the physical education department's modern dance group, taught by Mrs. Alice Saba.
An Opportunity To See Tops In Entertainment Field

University Players, Inc., in Shakespeare's "Othello"

In Line For Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra Matinee

Jose Greco Dancers

Student Chats With Eleanor Lansing Dulles

Soprano Phyllis Curtin
Current Artist-Lecture Series Presents Big Names

Leon Fleisher  Dame Alicia Markova  Janos Starker

Roger Williams

T. H. White  San Francisco Ballet  Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater

Detroit Symphony Orchestra
AN ENDING AND A NEW BEGINNING

SACRAMENTO SERVICE. The Rev. Vernon A. Roberts of Gunneville state with several students before presenting the baccalaureate address for the service. The service is held in Hymen Auditorium the Sunday before commencement exercises.

GOODBYE, MRS. GROSS. In center are largely the class and in sentimental farewell to faculty and administration — with tears near in many members. Here Miss Frey Gibson, Dean of students, accepts a gift from the Quartermaster.
April 24-26 Big Weekend At WC

The weekend is going to be a big weekend at WC. People are all over campus preparing for the weekend activities. The theme this year is "Miss WC," and everyone is excited about it. The events are planned to be fun and enjoyable, and everyone is encouraged to participate.

On the campus, there will be a variety of activities for everyone to enjoy. There will be a talent show, a dance, and a variety of other events. The campus will be bustling with activity, and everyone is looking forward to a great weekend.

Several events are planned throughout the weekend, including a campus-wide scavenger hunt, a karaoke competition, and a variety of other activities. The weekend will be a great opportunity for everyone to come together and have a good time.

The weekend is not only for students, but for everyone who loves WC. The campus will be alive with activity, and everyone is welcome to join in on the fun.

The weekend is sure to be a memorable experience for everyone. The campus is looking forward to a great weekend of fun and excitement.
Winthrop College plays a major role in the life of South Carolinians.

As the South Carolina College for Women, Winthrop has long been the state's only four-year coeducational institution for women. It has grown to meet the needs of women students who seek a college education for both personal and career enrichment.

The college's long history of innovation and excellence is evident in its commitment to providing a comprehensive education that prepares students for success in any field they choose. Winthrop's curriculum is designed to provide a well-rounded education that emphasizes critical thinking, problem-solving skills, and effective communication.

The college offers a wide range of majors and minors, including the arts, sciences, business, and education. Students have the opportunity to pursue double majors or minors, and there are several interdisciplinary programs available.

Winthrop College is located in Rock Hill, South Carolina, and serves students from all over the state and beyond. The college is proud to be a part of the South Carolina independent college community and strives to provide an exceptional educational experience for its students.

The college's commitment to excellence is reflected in its accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges. This accreditation ensures that the college maintains high standards of quality and excellence in all of its programs and activities.

Winthrop College is proud to be a part of the South Carolina independent college community and to serve the needs of students from all over the state and beyond. The college is committed to providing an exceptional educational experience that prepares students for success in any field they choose.