CONSIDER THE PEANUT CROP

Except for the Potato Its Annual Value Exceeds That of Any Vegetable Crop in This Country—Whip the Bull Weevil—Keeps the Oil Mills Going Where the Cotton Produces Has Had to Cease

Washington, D. C. July 19.—While cotton is still king in the South, the peanut promises to dispute or to share its dominion in some sections as part of well-balanced farming practices. The State of Texas, for example, has planted 600,000 acres to peanuts, more than doubling the acreage of last year, according to figures just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The prospective crop, on the same authority, is more than 20 million bushels for a whole South. Texas already had 1,900 acres in 1916, though in 1909 it stood sixth with only 300,000 acres. In the Gulf Coast States, Alabama, Georgia stand from 190,000 acres last year to 1,000,000. The increase in Texas has been in the larger States, for the South as a whole, however, it is remarkable that the acreage has increased from less than a million and a quarter acres to more than two million acres.

OUR MEN IN FRANCE GET DOWN TO WORK

American General Arrives, Followed Shortly by the French Commander.

American Training Camp in France
Sixteen American General officers arrived last evening, and today began supervising the initial work of the troops who are now nearly all here. At noon today the General command in the French troops, who will train with the American troops and give them the benefit of their long and varied experience also reached the camp. The scene was impressive, the more so because of its staging in a quiet little village, which turned out to the last child to stare in wonder at the new-comers, when they had as savants. The army is fast getting down to real work, and the countryside is swarming either with squads bound to or from the training places or with supply columns. To the best of their ability the people of the entire neighborhood welcomed the newcomers, with great enthusiasm and the Americans only have language difficulties in fraternizing with the French. The troops almost without exception have been billeted in the countryside and are fast getting accustomed to the French ways of living. Beautiful weather has assisted materially in the speedy emplacement of the troops.

MOB SOLDIERS IN CANADA

Anti-Conscription Agitation Grows and Riots Occur in Montreal and Quebec—Run on Banks Started—People Act on Leader's Advice to Fight the Government by Withdrawing Their Savings.

Montreal, Canada—Signs multiply that the struggle here against conscription will be bitter. Yesterday fifteen thousand people who assembled to hear the Mayor reiterate his views against conscription, turned into a mob and Colonel Restford, when he denounced as false allegations made by Alphonse Slesky, the Labor M. P., reflecting unfavorably upon the Canadian soldiers now in England. Colonel Restford and a soldier in uniform with him were run over by a street car near by under police escort but as they went some of the mob kicked them on the shins. Colonel Restford demanded that the police arrest these men, but they refused. When they and the soldier were on the street car, which they had entered by the customary rear entrance, the mob ran in members of the mob by the front door, and for a time looked as if there would be a fight. However, the mob contented themselves with throwing stones and breaking windows. The Mayor of Montreal was a witness of this scene. After the departing of Colonel Restford and the soldier, the mob called for three cheers for the King. "To show that we are loyal British subjects," while this demonstration was in progress in Montreal, P. B. Blondin, who recently resigned as Postmaster General and enlisted to form a Progressive Party in Montreal, was the subject of an attack on a ferry boat below Quebec City. The steambot officials had to protect him from the mob aboard, and landing, it was with difficulty that he escaped from the crowd.

SAY GERMANS FEEL THE WAR IS LONG

Germany Lost More Than She Could Gain, People Believe, When America Was Forced to Fight.

New York City—Refugees from Poland who have fled to this city yesterday declared that underneath the surface in Germany there is a deep political unrest and a growing belief that the country lost more than she could gain by the unrestricted use of the submarine when she forced America into the war on the side of the Allies. Unlike those who profited from the war, refugees stated that Germany less than three weeks ago seemed doomed to a crushing defeat, which they believed was going against her, while some predict the real political upheaval will come when the soldiers are released from the rigid discipline of military duty and what has been a gradual realization of what has come to pass in internal affairs.

SOME GUARD MAY GO SOON TO FRANCE

War Department Regards Many as Ready Now for Intensive Training Behind Firing Line.

Washington, July 16.—Mobilization of the National Guard for war service began today, and while no orders for embarkation of State troops for France will be given until after Aug. 5, when the entire force will be formally drafted into the United States Army, there are indications that some divisions will be regarded as ready to board transport ships before that date. The first class of President Wilson's proclamation providing for the federalization of the National Guard for the war became effective yesterday. Under it all guard units from New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, and Nebraska went on the Federal payroll from that date. Approximately 200,000 men, members of the National Guard, or more than 125,000 men, is included in the force assembling.

AMERICAN CAMP EDEN IN FRANCE

Perishing, Troops Making District Look Like Garden Spot.

American Training Camp in France, July 17.—(By the Associated Press)—The American troops training and resting at the front in France are not all here by any means and they have already made themselves thoroughly at home, so much so that this section of France looks like a little bit of America. The correspondent made an extended visit to the encampments this morning and found the men in good spirits, and full of praise for the friendly cooperation of the French people, who have willingly and cheerfully given up many of their own comforts to accommodate the American. The available houses, however, are not sufficient to accommodate all the Americans who have arrived and so the countryside is dotted with newly erected barracks and makeshift structures. The water is abundant here, but unclean, and the troops are adopting fireproofing methods by burning up bags suspended from tripods which astonish the local inhabitants as much as the American in applying their first water, which is unknown to wine drinkers. A task which the army has taken upon itself is the clearing up of the entire countryside and at the present time the whole district will soon look like a well ordered garden.

TILLMAN WARNS OF RACE CLASHES

Fears Trouble For North—Migration, He Believes, Will Cause Civil Outbreaks by White Men Who Lose Employment.

Washington, July 16.—Senator Benjamin R. Tillman, of South Carolina, in a speech in the Senate today, said that the recent East St. Louis riots, further inflamed by the A. W. P. or not, were the outcome of racial prejudice against the negro and that the North was experiencing what the South had long endured with the negro problem. The South Carolina, characterizing himself as an "old slave holder," said he had long intended to write a book on the negro question, but that his health had prevented, so that he may never be able to do it. He is extremely feeble and returned to the Senate only ten days ago to take part in debate on the Food Administration bill, after an absence of several months. Senator Tillman made his speech in the course of a debate on a resolution offered by Senator Shoup, of Illinois, calling either for a Congressional investigation or one by the Department of Justice into the causes of a race riot in the South. The resolution was laid aside when Senator J. Hain Lewis, Democratic whip, extending Shoup's bill had been informed by the Department of Justice that he had already arranged for an inquiry into the riots by the Federal Court in that district. East St. Louis is situated, and that an early report was anticipated. In his speech Senator Tillman expressed the view that the South in some ways had treated the negro unjustly, and that slavery in the South had been a curse. He said that the negro in the South had introduced this resolution and has taken such an active part in fretting out the truth about the South, that he should not be censured in his own State, and the whole country indirectly. From the "old slave holder," Tillman they are a had lot, whether citizens or aliens, and should not be tolerated in this country if it is possible to get rid of them. He said that the negro working Americans have joined this association because it preaches a doctrine, which appeals to them, that white laborers, because they are real or imaginary—are here both. "I have undoubted evidence from my own experience that the riot arose because negroes in the South had been brought to East St. Louis for the purpose of taking the places of white laborers, whether I. W. W. or what kind of laborers I do not know but they were white men. "I have known for many years and in many States, that the negro in the North in lectures and on the floor of this Senate that the average 'Yankee' or Southerner call all negroes 'kikes,' and that the average DIXON line—has no love for the negro, except for political reasons. They want his vote and nothing else. They are laborers of labor, of the war or the ways and where-fores of this feeling; enough that it exists. "The North is ago beginning to understand the race problem, to and I am very glad to see so many Northern men who are coming to camps in the South for drilling and training. In this way they will see something of the race problem in its home, where there are the most negroes. The Spanish war served to open the eyes of a great many of the troops from the North about the race problem. "The more the Northern people know of the race they like them less. It has long since been proven they love him according to the square of the distance. The further he is the better they like him. "Now, slavery was a curse and the civil war was necessary to do away with it. Nothing else could have done it because of the profit in it. Just as the greed of steel is now causing this tragedy in East St. Louis, so the struggle for freedom and the rights of the laboring classes is going on in Europe right now. "More and more it becomes evident that the native Americans and the descendants of the early immigrants are fast becoming the fiercest foreign born competitors, no matter where they come from, and when they happen to be black, as the negroes from the South are, this feeling is added to race prejudice and class feeling. The white blood, because of its color, is being the fiercest of all."

Where Peanuts Excel.

The Soybean has a great deal of sandy soil, and in many sections corn succumbs to the dry weather just at the time when it most needs moisture. Such soils in a large measure sprang just the right conditions for peanuts, which require less rain than corn. If the peanut could choose its own land, it would pick these sandy lands as just the right place.

PEANUT OIL MARKET.

Peanut oil promises to be in greater demand than ever before because according to the Department of Agriculture, it is one of the most important of the world's food oils, and doubly important under present conditions. With European imports cut off and a scarcity of cottonseed oil there is every assurance of a considerable demand at good price. American mills, however, are not getting the best prices for their product because they do not shell and clean the nuts and remove the gums. When this is done, and the first pressing is made without heating the material, the extracted oil is clear and clean, and equal in quality to the finest foreign oil.

READING MAN HELD AS SPY

Reading, Pa., July 17.—Among fourteen prominent Germans taken from New York to a prison camp, was a man named Walter J. Riedel, formerly of this city. He came to Wyoming, a suburb largely peopled by Germans, some of whom he had met. He carried a propaganda for Germany, and the newspapers rejected his communications.

BEAUTY SPOT OF THE MOUNTAINS

In Western North Carolina there is a section of country known throughout the world over on account of the wonderful scenery, fine climate and the cleverly accommodating mountain people. They have provided nice hotels and boarding houses, and almost every farm home has thrown open its doors to the people of the lowlands at rates that are so low almost any one can afford to spend a few days or a few weeks among these kind hearted mountain people.

They have provided nice hotels and boarding houses, and almost every farm home has thrown open its doors to the people of the lowlands at rates that are so low almost any one can afford to spend a few days or a few weeks among these kind hearted mountain people.

Here, with lofty mountains on each hand and the most picturesque scenery east of the Rockies, we a party of editors, have met to see for ourselves and tell the world something of the real grandeur and sublimity.

It is a revelation, and yet how many are willing to live and die without putting forth one effort to see the wonderful scenery.

turn of the road we approach the mountains unfold panoramas like displaying wild grandeur almost appalling and yet fascinating in the extreme. The curtains, was superb beyond description.

Richmond Times—"Hickory Nut Gap is the most picturesque section of country to be found throughout the Appalachian chain. To attempt a description of the great gray peaks, overlooking gorges, valleys and smiling vale, would be unprofitable."

Charlotte Observer—"The shades of night were falling as we drew near our destination. The harvest moon hung in the sky as we rounded Chimney Rock. At our right was Old Chimney Rock, a rugged granite cliff, and smiling vale below were creeping along. The river sang a woeless hymn, and it seemed as if nature were offering her evening prayer to the Creator. But it is useless to describe the beauties of this region. Go and see them for yourself."

Washington Review—"It was up hill and down dale; now in the valley shot in by high hills, and anon skirting the brow of a precipitous heights of feet above plain beneath.

The country between Rutherfordton and Chimney Rock is beautiful.

We stood upon the summit of the rugged and picturesque Chimney Rock, the eye taking in the peaks of a hundred magnificent mountains. The view is simply sublime.

Richmond Dispatch—"There is not a steeper descent in the beautiful mountain scenery, no landscape more beautiful than that of the mountains of the South."
