FRIDAY, JULY 27.

ELECTRICITY.

Do you know that the business of supplying electric power is one of the most firmly established and steadily growing industries in the United States?

That the demands for electric power have been doubled in the past five years?

That approximately one-half the mechanical power used in American factories is now supplied by power companies?

That a large proportion of American homes desiring electric services are not yet supplied?

That the coal strike of 1922 has emphasized the reliable character of the power and lighting service supplied by the power companies?

That nearly one-half of the immense quantity of power supplied by central station companies is manufactured by water power?

That large scale electric production and extensive transmission systems are serving the public huge amounts in lighting and electric power bills?

That these agencies are helping to develop the growth and prosperity of every community in which they operate?

The extraordinary growth of the electric power business in the past is, in all probability, an index of still more remarkable growth to come.

From his backyard frog ranch near Oshkosh, Wis., Emil Neuenfeldt ships 2,000,000 frog legs a year. The frogs are kept in concrete trenches 50 feet long and 6 feet wide, in which are refrigerated pipes and running water. The cold water makes the frog silbinate and stuns the frog chords. When an order is received the required number is scooped from a trench and the frogs are placed in a tank of water charged with electricity. This kills the frogs, tightens out their legs and makes impatation easy.

COVERING RAVAGES OF WAR

Belgians Have Accomplished Wonders in Restoring Devastated Areas
—Public Edifice Rebuilt.

By the end of the year, if building goes on with the speed it has now attained, the war wilderness of Flanders and only will have resumed its former aspect in point of housing accommodation, but will have modern improvements unknown in 1914.

Moving through the horrific battle-ground today one is impressed by the capacity of production of the Belgian people. Shell-shocked wastes have given place to productive pastures and extensive vegetable gardens. Scattered walls have been replaced by comfortable farm-houses. Men and women are gathering sustenance from fields which were the theater of strife.

Almost 75,000 private dwellings out of 100,000 destroyed or damaged only built, and most of these are occupied by their former inhabitants. Only ninety of the destroyed or damaged public buildings of Flanders remain unrepairs. The reconstruction of private houses has entailed an expense of 600,000,000 francs. The public edifices have cost 125,000,000 francs to rebuild. Most of this work has been done by the government through its special reconstruction department, the Devastated Regions of Belgium.

DO SURELY HARD TO PLEASE

"Hi High, Hi Low," Old Gentleman Evidently Was Determined Not to Be Satisfied.

The son of a Boston lawyer at the end of his first term in college exulted in the fact that he stood next to the head of his class.

"What! Next to the head?" exclaimed his father. "What do you mean, boy? I'd like to know what you think I send you to college for? Next to the head, indeed? I'd like to know why you aren't at the head, where you ought to be."

The young man, naturally crestfallen, worked his hand on his return to college that the end of the term found him in the covered place. He went home very proud, indeed.

The lawyer contemplated his son for a few moments in silence; then, with a shrug of his shoulders, remarked:

"At the head of the class, eh? Humph! That's a fine comment on Harvard university!" —Harper's Magazine.

TOO MUCH WHEAT

Not long ago the world was hungry for wheat, and eagerly absorbed it, but America had to offer. There were golden days for our wheat-growers. Now there is a sad slump. It is good as regards the welfare of the world in general, because it means more plentiful production and less hunger everywhere; but it is hard on the American farmer.

There is a hold-over of 200,000,000 bushels of last year's wheat in this country. The new crop is estimated at 900,000,000 bushels, making a round billion available when the harvest is ended. That means a surplus of 400,000,000 bushels, of which other nations will hardly take as much as one-half. So wheat, now bringing little more than a dollar a bushel, will continue to be a drag on the market.

A situation like this naturally remedies itself eventually. Farmers are losing on any crop for two or three years, plant less of it; and sometimes Nature steps in with bad weather or blight and so brings up prices by cutting down production. But it does seem as if, with all the agricultural intelligence and governmental authority in this country, more might be done in an organized way to adjust acreage and production to the demand, year by year, instead of leaving such adjustments to chance and the judgment of individual farmers.

Know All About It.

William had become the friend of a pig and insisted upon having all the care of it. After a few weeks, as the pig did not seem to thrive, his father said to him:

"William, I'm afraid you are not feeding your pig enough. It doesn't seem to be fattening at all."

"I don't want to fatten him yet," answered the young stockman. "I'm waiting till he gets as long as I want then I'll begin to widen him out."

A pretty affair was the party given Monday by Miss Annie Iffine Marion in honor of three charming Timmonsville visitors, Misses Janie Mae Purvis, Elizabeth Cobarr and Mary Ada Anderson, who are visiting Mrs. W. L. Davidson, on York street.

After several delightful games, ice cream and cake were served, followed by fudge and wafers. The guests were Misses Mary Louise Cowan, Beatrice Young, Lucile Carter, Jessie McFadden, Sara Nell Chick, Mary Beaky, Ethel Ann McLere, Susan Caldwell, Ellen Hough, Elizabeth Anderson, Mary McMillen, Margaret White, Rhoda Carter, Lora Prosser and Sarah Trevelly.

Mr. W. C. Callaghan, cloth room over-seer for the Union branch of the Union-Buffalo Mills Company, met a most tragic death late last Sunday afternoon when, while his automobile became uncontrollable as he was turning a curve in the Ball Rock section of Union county, on the road between Liberty and Lockhart, Mr. Callaghan fell with the Union-Buffalo mills for a number of years and was a man highly regarded by all who knew him. He was about forty years of age and is survived by his wife and several children.

Bishop Kirkman G. Finlay announced yesterday that he would possibly be in Columbia until Thursday. He returned from Chester Monday night. While away he visited in Chester and also the mission at Great Falls—Columbia State.

A married daughter of W. T. Snipes, who lives in the Tradeville section, met a tragic death last Thursday by being burned to death in the absence of members of the household. The unfortunate woman had not been in good health, and it being somewhat cool that morning, a fire was kindled for her before the other members of the family went to work in the vicinity. Upon returning her charred body was found in the yard. It is not known how the tragedy occurred, but as there was some evidence of self-destruction, coupled with the fact of her ill health, it is suspected that she was responsible for the affair. Lancaster News.

Herman Gale, a 16-year-old negro boy, was arrested by the sheriff in Flat Creek last Friday and lodged in jail here, charged with attempted assault on a young white girl 12 years of age, a niece of A. L. Gardner, who lives near Flat Creek school. The girl is understood to be from Fort Mill and is on a visit at the Gardner home. The negro boy overheard the conversation as to the arrangements being made for his sleeping quarters and is alleged to have entered the room about 7 o'clock Friday morning. The young girl was aroused by his presence and made an outcry, whereupon the boy made his escape. The sheriff was notified and succeeded in taking the boy into custody. He at first denied the whole affair, but upon being lodged in jail made a confession. Lancaster News.

Miss Hattie Haynes, of Winnsboro, is the guest of Miss Rutledge Smith.

Miss Rutledge Smith has returned from Great Falls where she has been nursing a patient.

The Triax picnic will be held in the afternoon at the Triax picnic ground. This affair was long noted as the time for the launching of campaigns of political years but, of late has been devoted to agricultural interests. J. Skotlowe Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton Association, will be the principal speaker this year. Hundreds of people are expected to attend the picnic this year.

Hoq. R. O. Atkinson was in Chester recently and when interviewed stated that he had definitely decided to enter the race for the House of Representatives from Chester county. Mr. Atkinson was brought out by numerous friends who have been talking to him recently and prevailed upon him to offer for the place. As is well known, Mr. Atkinson has served Chester county most admirably in the House a number of times and is especially qualified to take up the work left off by Capt. A. L. Glenn who was appointed Solicitor. Mr. Atkinson is well known by members of the House from various other counties of the State who have great respect and confidence in him. Many supporters of Mr. Atkinson saw him yesterday and were very much gratified to know that he was going to enter the race and assured him of their hearty support.

Following the lead of Chester, the Democratic executive committee of Orangeburg county, has decided to fill a vacancy in the county's legislative delegation in a general election, without going to the trouble of selecting a nominee by primary election. In both cases the saving of expense is set up as justification for the committee's action. While it is not to be denied that the holding of a primary election means a lot of expense, still it is a serious question as to whether it will pay to dodge this trouble and expense.—Yorkville Enquirer.

When You Buy an electric sweep-er, buy a Royal and get service. "Service follows the appliance when sold by the S. P. U. Co."

Thomas F. Beard, trainmaster for the Southern, was in Yorkville for a few hours Saturday night, having come over for a social call and to renew old acquaintances. Tom is a former citizen of Yorkville, having lived here for a number of years as a child while his father was a locomotive engineer for the old Chester and Lenoir railroad.—Yorkville Enquirer.

Fallacy of Buying by Mail.

How would you like to journey to the nearest city for a pound of sugar, a yard of muslin, or a spool of thread, or a smoke? And how would you like to make the trip when you need a prescription filled in a hurry with death running you a race?

You would say—and justly so—that a town in which you can not buy a pound of sugar, or a yard of muslin, or a spool of thread, or a smoke or even get a prescription filled, is a mighty poor excuse for a town and not worth living in.

It is no doing this town any good to buy the little things here and then chase off to a city or send to a catalogue house when you want something on which the merchant has a chance to make a dollar.

Neither is it doing you any good, for the prosperity of each citizen is bound up to a large extent upon the prosperity of the community as a whole.

We are not telling you something you do not know, and we are simply refreshing your memory in hopes the time may come when our people will conclude that a town that is worth living in is worth trading in.

When you want anything in dark colors or tissue gingham, come to see us. The S. M. Jones Co.

Mr. S. P. Moore and family, of Yorkville left this morning for Thomaston, Ala., with the body of Mrs. Moore, who died Monday. Mr. Moore moved from Alabama three and a half years ago and has become well known in Yorkville and throughout the county. He is undecided as to whether he and his family will continue to make Yorkville their home, or whether they will reside in Alabama.—Yorkville Enquirer.

Mr. C. H. Smith, carrier on York R. F. D. No. 4, for the past ten years has been giving considerable attention to sheep raising and now has a flock of forty ewes. He has recently purchased a registered Hampshire ram to head the flock and expects to continue adding to the number of sheep on his place from time to time. Heretofore he has been having his wool clip made up into blankets, but as the production increases he finds he will have to secure a market for the straight sale of the product.—Yorkville Enquirer.

4 vital things a good oil does

Flow. Good motor oil flows quickly to the place it's needed—spreads evenly over the surface—gets there without fail in spite of heat or cold extremes.

Work. It holds the metal surfaces absolutely apart, no matter what the pressure, heat or clearance.

Wear. Above all it keeps on working, day after day—keeps a firm oil cushion longer in spite of hard service, dilution and water condensation—burns clean when it does go—gives greater mileage.

Cost less. Good oil costs less per mile if reasonably priced. It goes further and saves motor trouble.

Polarine is such an oil. It gets quickly to the spot, spreads evenly at all working temperatures, does its work thoroughly, outwears oils of inferior quality, yet costs little more per gallon and much less per mile. Buy from the Polarine Chart at your dealer's and get very vital quality in this all-round motor oil.

PREFERS THE "YOUNGER SON"

Undergraduate's Somewhat Unconventional Viewpoint on the Parable of the Prodigal Son.

Speaking with an undergraduate at Harvard, who had returned to the land of his birth to spend the summer of 1923 against the "negligence of commandments, creeds and church history," I received this reply:

"I can't make very clear what I mean by 'positive,' but the story of the prodigal son helps me to see it, and it seems to me that the younger son had six virtues and one vice, and the older son six vices and one virtue. 'I suppose that sounds funny—too much like a sermon—but you see I've always admired the prodigal fellow. He was ambitious when he wanted to get started in life, he was energetic and adventurous, for he went to a far country; he wasted his money on harlots—that was his vice; he was humble when he had to earn a honest living even though it led him to the pig sty; he repented; he had common sense, so that he took the logical course of remedying his conduct, and when he reached home he confessed his sin.

"Look at the older brother; he was jealous, proud, greedy, ungrateful, disrespectful to his father, and stupid. The only virtue he had was that he stayed at home with the old man." "Somehow, I imagine God liked the young fellow even from the beginning, for he had grit enough to strike out for himself, and vision enough to strike out far, while the older brother was a safe-house stick-in-the-mud. It is the positive, adventurous disposition of the prodigal son that I like."—A Student at Harvard in the Outlook.

GENIUS ALLIED TO INDUSTRY

Men Whom the World Calls Great Rose to Highest Place Largely by Their Own Efforts.

Every great creator in history was a failure in the beginning. Paderewski was expelled from one of the great conservatories of Europe and told he could never learn to play the piano. He was seriously recommended to study the piccolo as he then could not get a job in an orchestra. Verdi wrote for twelve years and produced eighteen operas before he brought forth "Rigoletto," his first score of intrinsic merit, perhaps, excepting "Ernani."

Henry Irving failed in his first appearance, and was urged by all his friends to go back to his law and his father. Shelley's first poem, "Queen Mab" was poor stuff, flimsy and incoherent. Edison worked from eighteen to twenty hours a day for seven months trying to reach a photograph without producing the letter "A." We look upon Chopin as having his genius handed to him on a gold platter, yet his practice at the piano was for hours at a stretch, repeating a single bar over and over again for nearly a thousand times.

These men made themselves geniuses by their own supreme efforts, raised what might have been mere mediocrity, or perhaps talent, to supreme power. William George Jordan, in The Forum.

American Flour Regains Hold.

American flour is regaining something of its former hold in the markets of Portuguese East Africa and direct steamer service now introduced, this tendency to return to the American product may be further accelerated. Before war there was general practice to mix the flour used for breadmaking, three-fifths American hard wheat flour and two-fifths Australian soft wheat flour, but with the transportation difficulties and governmental regulations of the war, American goods were practically eliminated from the imports, says Consul Cecil M. P. Cross, Lourenco Marques.

Mutes Gather for Companionship.

Many early morning risers, arriving at the Brooklyn bridge have recently noted a fascinating group of men who gather there every morning near their way home from their night job. All the men were dumb and dumb. They are employed in building near the bridge. Owing to their affliction they are unable to talk to their fellow workers. They agreed to meet each morning at the bridge to talk over the affairs of the world and to re-establish the feeling that they were not completely cut off from the current of human relationship.—New York Sun.

Clever.

You could heat your home with the hot blast that sweeps up the chimney. Additional heat units are lost in ashes. But there's a new way of burning coal, a way you may use later in your furnace.

The coal is pulverized like flour. A blower shoots the powder into the furnace, in a fine stream, which sweeps out fan-shaped and burns like gas. Several fires as much heat this way—and no ashes at all. Ford has installed this new process in his River House plant.

Butte.

Butte is an important city but this Montana mining center is still spoken of as a mining camp, and it is probably the largest in the world with a population of about 80,000 while mine operations are going strong. About 15,000 men are employed in the mines. The total value of the output of these mines since they began to produce copper, zinc, silver, gold, lead has been about $1,500,000,000.

Who is Swift & Company -

Perhaps you may think of Swift & Company as a one family affair. Many do.

It really consists of about 100,000 people, working together with a common aim.

45,000 of these own shares in the business. Over 50,000 of them are workers in Swift & Company, 16,000 of the workers are shareholders.

Pages 19, 20 and 21 of our 1923 year book, just published, bring out who and what Swift & Company is, in a way that helps you to understand all industry—how it operates, why it has to operate in just that way.

And it tells of the organization that has made Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Butter and Eggs, and Brookfield Sausage,—household words for excellence.

Personal Incentive To Productivity

A recent lecturer upon conditions in Russia gave an example of the operation of the personal equation that makes an excellent answer to the sophistries of the whole school of socialists and communists. As the thing related actually occurred in Russia, the heaven of the radical reformers, it is more than usually instructive.

Under the Bolshevik regime the workers in the department that printed the money made a demand for higher wages which the administration could not see its way clear to grant. The employees then came back with another proposition. After putting in their "fall day" at their regular employment they asked for the privilege of working one hour overtime, with the proviso that they would be allowed to keep the production of that hour for themselves. Curiously enough this proposal was agreed to, with the stipulation that in the extra hour no money of a greater denomination than 100 rubles should be printed.

This arrangement produced results which were highly satisfactory to the men until the administration discovered that they were producing more money in the one hour that they worked for themselves than they did in the eight hours they worked for the government. So that was the end of one demonstration of the efficiency of the socialistic method of production. The administration could not permit any such overturning of its theories and returned the workers to the old scale.

Any scheme of production which fails to base the pay of the worker upon the excellence of his own product contains a weakness which sooner or later will lead to failure. It will be a failure for both the worker and the product. The ignoring of this principle in the greatest mistake any one can make. It is the fundamental weakness of the union labor program. It leads to the level wage scale and to the killing of individual initiative. Some employers lose heavily by failing to recognize the same principle. The production has a natural inclination to fall to the level of the least efficient—as surely as water runs down hill. When a standard of production is fixed by the ability of the least efficient, the more competent ones quickly realize that any speeding up on their part not only does not benefit them but it injures their slower fellow workers.—San Francisco Journal.

For Torpid Liver

"Black-Draught is, in my opinion, the best liver medicine on the market. I have used it, in the states, Wis., Pa., White, side, of Kootenai, Idaho. The medicine was very disagreeable and brought on headaches and was very constipated and knew it was indigestion and jaundice liver. I began the use of Black-Draught, night and morning, and it sure is splendid and certainly gives relief."

Theftford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

For over seventy years this purely vegetable preparation has been found beneficial by thousands of persons suffering from effects of torpid, or slow-acting liver, indigestion, biliousness, colic, coated tongue, dizziness, constipation, bitter taste, sleeplessness, lack of energy, pain in back, puffiness under the eyes—may or all of these symptoms often indicate that there is something the matter with your liver. You can't be too careful about the medicine you take. Be sure that the name, "Theftford's Black-Draught" is on the package. At all drugists.

Balance! at sea and on land.

"STANDARD" The Balanced Gasoline

A GREAT ship far out at sea was shaken by an ominous shudder. One of the four propeller blades had been thrown off and before the engines could be stopped the driving shaft began to pound and whip. Sailors dangling in a rope sling went over the stern and chieled off the popping blade. Afterward with power reduced but balance restored, the vessel made port.

When a cylinder is mixing your car goes by jerks. Its power plant is unbalanced. The gasoline that feeds your motor must be balanced. A refining experience of more than half a century and constant research have produced a finely balanced motor fuel called "Standard", the gasoline that gives you instantaneous starting and swift pick-up—maximum power and high, economical mileage. You don't have to turn out of your way to find this balanced gasoline. Every pump you meet with the red "SO" on the globe displays it. It's the all-round motor-fuel. Use it exclusively for all-season economy and satisfaction.

Made right here in the Carolinas, at Charleston, S. C. Sold at hundreds of pumps that bear this seal.
