ARMY WORM HERE

Southern Grassworm (Army Worm) If Here—Watch for Him—Do not Destroy the Grass—It is Being Destroyed by the Army Worm—Most Use Arsenic of York

The Southern Grassworm has made its appearance in Chester county and is proving to be a serious pest on the farm of C. C. Edwards, A. M. Wherry, L. Wooten, J. B. Westbrook and the county. It is being destroyed and it is hard to determine the extent of the possible injury. The grass in the fields and on the ditch banks, they attack corn and cotton. Young corn recently plowed out that had grass in it and cotton for that matter is being injured the most though older corn or cotton will be attacked soon as the grass is destroyed.

The Southern grassworm is not native to the United States, although occasionally it winters over in the southern part of the country. It feeds on many plants, grasses and cultivated plants and is often a pest. Winter control is the best, as the attack follows the flight of the moths into new territory. The grassworm works very rapidly and it is hard to control. Injury to the plants. They gnaw sections partly in two, eat the growing tips and cause other injuries which result in stunted growth and dwarfing of the plant.

When numerous on cotton or corn, the worms are so numerous that they can be applied at the rate of 5 lb. per acre. The usual method of utilizing cloth sacks on poles carried through the fields on the stalks. The arsenic is a fast method of applying the poison.

A cloth board about 18 inches longer than the distance between the rows is used for the pole. To form the bags at either end, four blocks of the same material and 4 inches long are nailed endwise to the underside of the pole. One of the poles is placed at each end and the other two about 10 inches from the pole about 8 inches from either end, and the holes are closed with cords when a bushel or more of the material is placed in the bag. The sides of the material are placed close together and the holes are closed with cords when a bushel or more of the material is placed in the bag. The sides of the material are placed close together and the holes are closed with cords when a bushel or more of the material is placed in the bag.

Chester friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Neely, of Rock Hill, will regret to learn of the death of their little two-year-old son, which occurred at Black Mountain, N. C., Wednesday, August 4, 1920. Mr. Neely is spending the summer at Black Mountain in the interest of his health and that recently he has been very ill but it is reported as somewhat better the past few days.

Word was received in Chester a few days ago of the death in Richmond, Ky., of Dr. M. C. Heath, former well-known citizen of the upper section of Lancaster county. Dr. Heath was a brother of the late B. P. Heath and O. P. Heath. He was a graduate of the University of South Carolina and practiced at Bellevue Hospital, New York, prior to taking up his practice in Richmond. He was 76 years of age and the last of a family of fifteen children.

The court house was packed last night when the various candidates for county office appeared before the people of Chester to ask their suffrage in the primary election. The polls will be held on August 31st. The candidates received close attention and the meeting was void of any "mud-slinging." The speeches of the candidates were along the same lines as those made at previous campaign meetings held this summer.

Mr. J. S. Wannamaker, president of the American Cotton Association, who spoke at the picnic in Tirzah Wednesday, spent a few hours in Chester Wednesday afternoon on his return to his home at 801 Matthews. Mr. Wannamaker says that strong pressure is being made to bring the price of cotton down this fall and that unless the farmers will pull together we are liable to see cotton selling for less than twenty-five cents.

After Chester Trade. In speaking of the opening of the ferry between Fort Leno and Lancaster at the Lequeater & Chester Railway bridge site, The Lancaster Citizen says: "The opening of this ferry will mean much to the business interests of this city in that it will bring trade here from the Chester side that now goes elsewhere. The road leading from Lancaster to the ferry, in an excellent condition, part of it being new plain. A day and night service is now being maintained."

The above case should cause business men to realize that the automobile has changed things in this and other communities and in order to get business the business men of this county must get after it with real stuff. Printers ink is no good way to bring business to a town.

Victory Medal.

Major W. L. Davidson, Commanding Officer Post No. 1, American Legion, has received from the War Department the necessary Medal for securing the Victory Medal, which each ex-serviceman or woman is to receive from the government.

All those who were in the service between April 6, 1917, and November 11, 1918, or any part of that time, and who were honorably discharged from the Army, Navy, Marine Service or the Naval Corporation, receive a Victory Medal by presenting their discharge to Dr. W. J. Davidson, 124 Main Street, Chester, S. C.

A discharge is absolutely necessary, and it is hoped that the veterans of the World War will present same as soon as it will take about two months for the records of each applicant to be checked, and the medal to be issued with the discharge returned to the owner.

Applications are also on hand for those who died in the service or who were killed in action, the next of kin filling the application.

The Clemson College Weekly News says: H. K. Sanders, Chester County Agent, fifteen men and club members visited the Saville Jersey auction sale and enjoyed same. One club member stated that after he saw the bags there he had reached the conclusion that he did not have a hog worth mentioning at all. It opened the eyes of the Duroc men and the club members to see a sow sell for $12.00.

Mr. Marion Holcomb of Nancy, Ky., says: "For quite a long while I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache. I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these, I would be constipated. ONE CENT A DOSE

Does it Pay to Advertise?

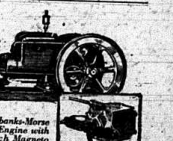

Recently we advertised our Suede Theo Pumps, they are great bargains—We sold a number of pairs and one fellow just went wild over them, but the poor guy didn't have the money to buy, so he broke into our store and made straight for those Suede Theo Pumps and the greedy buck took five pairs, however, we have a few pair left and you had better get them before another "night hawk" decides to take the balance.

As soon as you find the baby worms on the grass, spray all ditch banks and the places where the rows. This will keep them in check. By watching the grass in the fields, around the edges, along the roadsides, through the field banks and everywhere grass is growing, you may be able to find the worms at work. The worms in the soil are busy they are making their first appearance around the grass on the field.

Watch therefore for the Southern grassworm, watch the ditch banks, either one of the methods referred to above will kill this grass worm. As soon as you find him on the grass, stir in the fields or on the ditch bank, or any place about the farm, use either of the above methods referred to, and prevent his spreading, by spraying all grass around the field and the ditch banks.

Good Roads Leads To Good Times

CONTRIBUTION MAKES FOR EFFICIENCY

Without it it is likely to be a mere life in a mere of pass fashion, lacking the power to construct expression of the best and best that all his ambitions fly over the head of him and he takes no interest in the results. It is granted that through lack of a proper appreciation of his necessities makes no provision for their needs. In other words, he has no idea of what he wants to do, and does not know how to put them into effect. He weathers his misfortunes over a wide field and acquires nothing, ignoring the fact that the most constructive work is done in a time in which he makes the most of it. The tendency of the present times is to do with the widest possible range of activities, to produce lightweight results. In our anxiety to have a definite way to prove our efficiency by the number of trades and mailings of notes, hoping in some vague way to reach the interests of the people, we are losing sight of the legitimate performance of a business. We are living in an age that is exacting a heavy toll from us and we should be more disposed to produce the results of our production. This can be done by concentrating our whole attention and all our energies on the work in hand. We cannot do by filling our minds with one thing or doing many things at one time or by devoting our time and attention in spots, as it were, to the performance of the tasks we have undertaken. Unless we are willing to pay the price of winning success it is useless to fritter away time and energy that must be placed to better use. If we undertake to do many things we shall soon find that we are accomplishing none, but are merely postponing what we are really postponing. It is very easy to see where we are largely responsible for our own defeat that could have been avoided. It is very easy to see where we have created effort that is too late, but there are times when the experience of other points the way if we have eyes to see.

It takes a big amount of resolution and determination to make ourselves concentrate upon a task that may be altogether pleasing to our taste, and we set out with high hopes which do not follow to the end. Of course, there are always exceptions to this rule, and experience shows that we may share our interests with advantage to ourselves, but as a rule, the sincere worker chooses his life work with wisdom and discrimination, and having once made the choice it is up to him in large measure to stick to it. The world hates a quitter, and many times a man who considers himself a failure for having left his work in the lurch could have easily prevented the catastrophe by simply concentrating his attention upon it as the proper moment. Concentration is a mental force that is not appreciated at its true worth but

COUNCIL MEETING.

Communication From Civic League.—Position For Sidewalks.—Paved Plank Road.—Opera House Rented For Season.

The regular monthly meeting of the city council was held Tuesday evening and those present were Mayor Washburn and Aldermen Lee, Chah, Nichols, Clark, Taylor and Estes.

The city read the minutes of the past meeting, the monthly financial statement and the report of the Chief of Police. The report of the Chief of Police showed that $442.50 in fines were collected during the month of July. The statement of the clerk showed that more than two thousand dollars in interest had been collected on the bond money placed in the bank.

A communication from the Civic League was read with reference to the failure of the sanitary carts to visit houses with the regularity. This matter was referred to the Health Officer but it was shown that the city officials have been unable to secure the necessary funds to permit to give the needed attention, although they have made repeated efforts.

A petition from the majority of the owners of property on Gadsden street was presented to the council asking that the above-mentioned street be improved. The petition was accepted and the street is to be improved along with the sidewalks more being improved by the R. M. Hudson Company.

It will not be possible to improve the present abnormal state of affairs, but it is because of these conditions that we must do the best work and show the best results if we want to hold our own.

MESSAGE TO THE WORLD.

Ludendorff Discusses the Spread of Bolshevism.

Victory for Soviet Russia over Poland would result in Bolshevism sweeping all of Europe and eventually the entire world in the opinion of General Eric Ludendorff, the former German war leader. His views are set forth in a specially prepared and hitherto unpublished memorandum on the danger of Bolshevism written last month, were received in Washington official circles Tuesday.

"Poland's fall will entail the fall of Germany and Czech-Slovakia," General Ludendorff says.

"Their neighbors to the north and west will follow. Peace steps along without energetic force. Let no one believe it will come to a stand without enveloping Italy, France and England in its hideous coils. Not even the sea can stop it."

Addressing himself to the "civilized world" as a man who knows war, General Ludendorff pleads that his message "not" fail on deaf ears.

"Then it will be too late," he declares, "and the present civilization will crumble as did that of Greece and Rome. And the cause will be the obtuseness of government and the lethargy of the bourgeoisie, as I have always and everywhere, likes to stay quietly at home on days of decisive events.

Bolshevism is a monster that must advance to exist. It is advancing now and in a gradual progress from east to west and is creeping, crawling, between the midland sea and the Atlantic ocean.

The world at large, must therefore fight vigorously to Bolshevism advance in Poland toward Berlin and Prague, Lithuania is already joining Soviet Russia and demanding a slice of the Prussian province of east Prussia. The moment will come when the Bolshevist armies will march into Germany and Czech-Slovakia directly.

"I described the impending menace of Bolshevism in my interview with the press early in February. My warnings were a cry from the wild desert. These messages are addressed to you. Lenin has advanced his lines to the frontiers of China, Afghanistan, Persia and India and is now preparing to continue his victorious progress.

"The prodigious combative resources of Bolshevism, programatically tackled both its far-flung fronts long ago, with perfect logic. We must get used to repelling propaganda as a combative resource of the first rank. The Bolshevists make an even more masterful use of it than their German, French and the United States did to compass the ruin of Germany during the world war.

"Their propaganda is striking the masses of India to the depth of their hearts; it is successfully bringing the split that subsists between the Moslems of India and the disciples of the native religions. In Asia Minor and Persia all the way into Arabia Bolshevism is making its way. The Bolshevist propaganda conducts its moves into the anti-Christian, pan-Islamic spirit.

"Poland and Rumania are undermined. The Bolshevist propaganda operates with more caution in Finland, Sweden and Norway; these countries are expected to drop in the lap of Bolshevism without political efforts. The great objective of Bolshevism is now in Germany and perhaps Czech-Slovakia and Austria."

IT COSTS NOTHING

It does not cost you one penny to list your property for sale with us, and we do not try to make you believe that we have a "buyer" just around the corner in order to get your property listed. We do business straight from the shoulder.

A man who will "trick" you into listing your property will "trick" YOU before he gets through.

If you list your property with us, at an attractive figure we will come around with the buyer.

BUICK

WHEREVER cross-country tours lead, over hills, through sandy roads or on long, steady grades, the driver of this five-passenger open car is assured the satisfaction that comes from the available power such as only the Buick Valve-in-Head motor can furnish. While economy, beauty, comfort and stability, for which Buick cars have long been noted, appeal to the owner, it is this sense or feeling of reserve power in the Buick Valve-in-Head motor that adds the final touch to contented motoring under all conditions.

PLEDGES MILITARY AID

Washington, Aug. 2.—General terms of the defensive military alliance between France and Belgium, as drawn up by General Foch of the French army, and the Belgian chief of staff, were received here today in official circles.

Military support of France by Belgium in future armed conflicts, is pledged upon condition that France prove not to have been the aggressor. Belgium also reserved the right to remain neutral in all disputes between the interests of France and other nations in France's colonial possessions. Details as to France's pledges to Belgium have not yet been received.

The alliance is to endure for a period of from five to fifteen years. Attempts of Belgium to induce Great Britain to join with France in the defensive alliance, as to France's pledge stated, have so far been in vain.
