CONVINCED PASCO ARBUDDOR OF BABY

The Crank's Refusal to Divulge Whereabouts of Charges, and Inspectors Believe Several Persons May Yet Be Involved.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Postal inspectors and local police tonight expressed themselves as being convinced that "The Crank," identified as Augustus Pasco and known to the authorities as Paquala, is not only the man who obtained the $12,000 from George H. Goughlin, father of the kidnaped Norwichee baby, but is the actual abductor of the thirteen-month-old child.

Pasco, who was arrested last Monday at Egg Harbor, N. J., after he had been traced into a room supposed to contain $10,000 as further ransom money for the return of the missing boy, is still hidden by the authorities. "In no circumstances," they declare, will his whereabouts be revealed until they have completed their investigation of the story by itself.

An important development in the case today was the identification of Pasco as Augustus Pasco, a name which also led to an examination of the finger prints of Paquala, and of the police headquarters here, with the kidnaped finger prints found in the Goughlin home, and it is asserted by the police that they agree so definitely to convince them that they were made by the same man.

Served Term in Prison. Pasco was released from Moyamensing prison here last March after serving nine months for breaking and entering, larceny and carrying concealed weapons. He had no record as far as prison. But when Pasco was left in a room in a lodging house here, he appeared to be plentifully supplied with funds.

This was after June 17, when Goughlin deposited $12,000 under a secreted trusty station at Swedesboro, N. J., and later, after the letter signed "The Crank" demanding the money for the return of the child. The money disappeared and no trace of the child was found. Pasco deposited about $2,500 in a local trust company and later bought a ticket for New York City. Gretta, N. J., near Egg Harbor, and also an automobile.

Prior to serving nine months in the county prison here, Pasco served a term in the Elmira, N. Y., reformatory beginning in April, 1910. Three years later he was arrested in Newark, N. J., for carrying concealed weapons and after that in Paterson Park here as a suspicious character. From the time he appeared in March until June when he was released, his movements are not known and the Goughlin boy was stolen on June 2.

Refuses to Confess. According to George A. Leonard, chief postal inspector, Pasco said he did not know anything about the kidnaping but that he was hired by a man to take the money to the railroad as a signal for Goughlin to throw a box out of a railroad window. Leonard said Pasco did not reveal the identity of this man.

Postal inspectors throughout the local tonight expressed the opinion that a number of persons might have been involved in the abduction and are also of the opinion that a woman figured in the case and is now caring for the child.

The authorities expressed the belief that the prisoner refused to admit the kidnaping because under Pennsylvania law the penalty for crime is life imprisonment, while the term for using the mails to obtain money by fraud is five years.

COX WILL BEGIN SPEAKING TOUR OF NATION SOON

Will Travel in East Until September, Then in West—Nominee Will Outline Democratic Policy in Acceptance Speech Today.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 6.—Governor Cox will carry to the country in a few days, on speaking tours continuing until November, the Democratic platform which he will outline here tomorrow in accepting his party's presidential nomination.

The governor announced after conferences late today with party managers here for tomorrow's nomination, that he would not speak throughout the middle and eastern states until September 1st, and then tour the entire west, including the Pacific coast.

"We feel that we can win," he said, "wherever folks are and where the case can be stated. State lines don't amount to much."

The nominee's speaking plans were arranged with George White, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, head of the speakers' bureau for the Democratic national convention, and Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, head of the speakers' bureau for the Democratic national convention.

The latter will be made at the Graveland race track at the New York city, and will include a series of full grown in about 30 days. After that, for a large stage about two weeks in the left arm while living in the ground. In all the life cycle takes about seven or eight weeks, and there are several broods per year.

The last brood hatches in the larval or pupae, and appears fairly in the spring.

Control. "On smooth grass land the worms may be crushed by a heavy roller or roller. A deep furrow, followed by a shallow one, will begeth, it swarms and it is a crop they are approaching, with a vertical side next to the crop to be protected. The worms will be made in the bottom of the furrow 10 or 15 feet. In crawling out of the pupae stage, the furrow the worms will be there. The furrow can be covered up with soil or killed with kerosene."

Methodists to Plan for a New Financial Drive. Southern Church Wants to Raise $25,000,000 for Cause of Education.

Columbia, Aug. 7.—Plans for a new financial drive in the Southern Methodist church are to be set up at conference next week, according to an announcement at the headquarters of the Southern Christian Advocate in Columbia today. The drive will raise $25,000,000 for educational institutions of the Southern Methodist Church. The dates have not yet been announced, but the drive will be in charge of Dr. W. C. Kirkland, of Columbia, president of the Southern Christian Advocate.

Car His Little Girl. Sparta, Aug. 6.—Clady Ford, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. St. Fowler, of the Spartan Mill village, is expected to recover from injuries received when a car was overturned at the residence of H. Y. Johnson, of this city. The driver's skull was fractured, witnesses are said to have expressed the belief that the prisoner refused to admit the kidnaping because under Pennsylvania law the penalty for crime is life imprisonment, while the term for using the mails to obtain money by fraud is five years.

ARMY WORM LIFE, HABITS, DEVELOPMENT, CONTROL

Farm Agent Issues Statement For Killing Pest, Following Discovery in County.

Charlottesville, N. C., Aug. 7.—Following the announcement in Wednesday's paper that the "army worm" had appeared with a cany with the legal department of the governor, if necessary, in connection with the refusal to allow the landing of the Western Union cable to be from Barbados to Miami.

Mr. Phillips states that the government is refusing to allow landing of the cable under the precedent set by President Grant, who in 1889 refused a landing for the first Atlantic cable because the French government had granted a monopoly to the company.

Breaks Arm in Camp. Fort Mill, S. C., Aug. 6.—John McKeen Spratt, who is a Col. in the 10th S. C. Infantry, was injured in his left arm while diving from a limb of a tree into the river with his horse, and has had to return to his home.

Samuel Campers is, apparently, concerning about production, in the American Federation of Labor has been crying out against the horrors of reduced production, the occasion being the laying-off of workers in large concerns.

The action of corporations which today is a transgression which is nothing less than a violation of a duty and a heinous offense against the people in need of every possible ounce of production.

When we ask, if we may be pardoned for asking, since when has Mr. Campers begun thinking and worrying about the people and their welfare?

Impetuous Youth. Daniel Kennedy, an Irish youth of one hundred and three summers, who has lived in Nebraska for twenty years recently announced that he is satisfied with the United States and that he will settle here permanently.

Woman Breaks Hip. Union, Aug. 7.—Mrs. Jacob Rice suffered a very serious injury last evening when she fell, breaking her hip, while carrying a bundle.

FAREWOOD WON FROM ROOSEVELT

Candidate For Vice President Leaves Navy Department.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic vice presidential nominee, today concluded his duties as assistant secretary of the navy and left for Dayton, Ohio, to accept nomination, ceremonies tomorrow for Governor Cox.

Before leaving the department in which he has served for nearly eight years, Mr. Roosevelt held an informal reception at which he greeted officers and civilian employees.

Ponzi—Wizard. Consider the case of Charles Ponzi, Boston money wizard, who reached out and took—so he says—$8,500,000 in eight months, to say nothing of the money he made for investors.

He thought foreign money at ten to one and had it sent back to America in money orders or International Reply Coupons which he was able to cash in at par.

Produce Oil. Postmaster amassed millions—but produced oil. Carnegie amassed millions and turned out mountains of steel. The list is long.

Money-maker. He is the least desirable variety of money-maker. However, the U. S. government, which is now frantically "investing" in the Ponzi, is at the same time, bragging of having made millions by a financial process.

COX IS HAILED AS UNBORN NOMINEE BY SEN. ROBINSON

Candidate in Whose Selection, Most Combinations Nor Placated Not Engaged—Untrammeled Judgment of Delegates With- out Coercion From Bosses Picked Cox.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 7.—Hailed as a candidate in whose selection the country might combine, not placated by the record of the platform, Governor James A. Cox was formally notified today by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, chairman of the notification committee, that he had been chosen by the Democratic national convention as the party's presidential nominee.

The convention reached its decision through the exercise of untrammelled judgment of the delegates without interference of candidates from political bosses.

"The honor and responsibility of the nomination came to you because your position, in accepted campaign issues is known to the country, and the platform adopted and the record of your public service demonstrates your leadership."

Senator Robinson outlined the progressive legislative measures in Ohio which he said Governor Cox had declared for in his nomination address.

"The measure has proved so satisfactory that the Democratic nomination has declared for a similar course of co-ordinating national income and expenditures."

"The Democratic platform was a 'clear and unmistakable' in its meaning as to the League of Nations, and while the Republican platform offered a similar platform on the power of the human mind to analyze or understand."

"We believe," he continued, "that the treaty should be ratified and that the other should co-operate with the League of Nations for the preservation of world peace."

THE ROAD MEETING

A large and representative crowd of citizens attended the meeting held at court house in Chester yesterday to discuss the matters pertaining to road building in Chester county, and particularly the issuing of bonds to cover the amount of short-ages existing in several of the various townships of the county under the bond issue of 1915 this ago. J. Mr. Z. V. Davidson acted as secretary of the meeting, and Mr. H. B. Branch secretary.

Col. A. E. Gaston spoke of the issuing and expenditure of the $450,000 bond issue. He outlined the plan as was agreed upon at the time the issue was voted upon and stated that unavoidable conditions had kept the county from carrying out the original mileage. The cost of labor, etc., being familiar to the public there is no need of our going into detail as to why the original mileage could not be built. However, the fact should be borne in mind that after the highway commission had expended about $100,000 of the money they came before the people at a meeting which was attended by citizens from all sections of the county, and stated that the Chester & Chesler highway bridge has the original idea on account of conditions, and asked the people what they wished done. At a later date representatives from each township appeared in Chester before the commission and advised them to go ahead with the work, stating they best could and what they thought best. Hence, it cannot be said that the commission did not carry out the wishes of the people in the matter. It was stated that he was in favor of the county issuing bonds to an amount which would give the highway bridge the county its proportion of the original bond issue. This would necessitate another issue of $750,000 to $1,000,000.

It was stated that it would take approximately $550,000 more to complete the 201 miles as originally bonded and a number of those present stated they were in favor of issuing bonds to complete the original mileage.

At a point Col. J. H. Marion told those present of the law as to issuing bonds; such being limited by the constitution to fifteen per cent of the taxable valuation of the property in the county. Such being the case Chester county cannot issue more than $210,000 in bonds at present without a Constitutional amendment.

Talks were made by Messrs E. W. Gibson, R. Caldwell, H. K. Sanders, H. S. Adams, W. C. McKeown, W. E. T. Wade and others. From what was said at the meeting there is no question but that the people of all sections of Chester county are favoring the building of good roads and they realize that it takes money to build them.

On motion of Col. Gaston, seconded by Col. T. J. Cunningham, it was voted at the meeting to have an election along with the approaching primary to decide whether or not the Chester county delegation shall pass the necessary law allowing the county to issue $600,000 more in bonds, said money to be expended in the township which has the shortest mileage proposed in the previous issue, and that in the event of any surplus same shall go toward improving roads now graded.

A motion was also made by Mr. E. W. Gibson requesting the county delegation to take such action as would permit Chester county to issue more bonds than that limited by the Constitution, in order to complete the 201 miles as originally planned. A committee to look after the details in connection with the election August 31st, was appointed.

RUDENESS.

(By H. Addington Bruce.)

Just remember the next time you are on the point of saying or doing something rude that rudeness hurts nobody so much as the one who indulges in it.

It is like a boomerang which, having missed its mark, comes hurtling back to the thrower. And it has more dangerous possibilities than any wasted boomerang.

Rudeness has cost thousands of young men positions that might have meant wealth to them. It has blocked sales and left unsigned contracts innumerable. If spoiled loans that would have saved from bankruptcy.

Be sure, to be sure, give a momentary reflection. But soon or late this is quite forgotten in the bitter dissatisfaction or its after effects. The rule is certain: never in the game of life.

Even if they do contrive to escape a material penalty—and it must be conceded that rudeness is not always incompatible with worldly success—they have to pay a heavy penalty nevertheless; the penalty of the misery that comes from social isolation.

They may have a multitude of acquaintances, but they are doomed to lack friends. And even acquaintances, unless for business reasons, shun them as pests to be dropped.

Time's apostle told them in deserved contempt. The churlish like themselves endure them only until the inevitable quarrel comes.

Thus they pass through life in a state of inner turmoil. They may know transient pleasures. They are utterly without knowledge of anything—something true happiness. It is like a pusher them more severely.

That "courtesy and graceless lock doors and lose hearts" is a saying literally true. The chronically rude must perforce confess its truth if you let rudeness enslave you.

Recall another saying, by one of the wisest counselors of the young: "Manners are minor marks, and a rude man has generally assumed to be a bad man."

As, alas! he too often is, and as he is all too likely to become, no matter how good at heart he may be, begin with, if he persists in his rudeness.

For the benefits his unpleasant ways are sure to bring upon him can hardly fail to alter his character for the worse.

From any point of view, then, rudeness is a tendency to be deplored, censured, crushed as one would crush a snake. Of all human traits, in fact, there are few more unattractive in its poisonousness.

Be not proud of it, as some fools are. Recognize it for what it is—a deadly menace to you.

OF VALUABLE LAND.
 Wednesday, August 18, 1920.
 Mrs. A. M. the board of trustees of the Rossville School will sell public auction on the ground thirty (30) acres of land now owned by the Rossville school group. This land fronts on the top road from Chester to Great Falls on the cross road to Richwood. This is subdivided into three tracts of about 10 acres each, plans of which may be seen at the residence of Mr. J. M. Bellware near Rossville School. Terms: 10 percent day of sale; 10 percent Oct. 15, 1920; balance January 1, 1921. This is a fine opportunity to acquire a tract for a home right at a school and on a top soil.

SUPERSTITION.
 (By Frank Crane.)

Little superstitions chain the soul. We talk a deal about being in a free country, but a free country does not do much good so long as we are enslaved spirits. Examine yourself as you read this article, and see if you are not all bound round with whites and cords of foolish fears, and if it is so be that you are, I make your declaration of independence your own little Fourth of July. No matter how small the matter, superstition about anything is injurious; and almost every one in this country has some. The next time you are in a company, challenge them all and see if each one has not some little pet timidity. Each person will begin by declaring that he has no superstitions, and will end by saying that, while of course he knows there is nothing in it, he doesn't really care to sit down with 12 other people at a dinner, or to look at the new moon over his left shoulder. Now, go through your mind and heart and pull up all these little weeds. They seem small, but they contaminate your intellect and limit your free affections. Get rid of your superstitions, whatever they may be, whether you are afraid to pick up a pin that lies with its point toward you, or to do any important business on Friday, or to spill salt (without throwing a pinch over your shoulder), or carry a needle through the house for fear some one will be signing your grave, or to open an umbrella indoors, or to return to your home for something you have forgotten, or do plant potatoes in the time of the full moon, or any other idley.

All these are "survivals" that are little remnants of inherited weakness. They are little spots of decay upon the apple of your soul. Cut them out. There's enough good ness known, in nature and her laws, to fill and give intelligible evidence, to be afraid of, without indulging in fears of things that have no substance nor reason.

Get it down on your tablet that whatever has no food in common sense, no clear linking of cause or effect, is not worthy of the consideration of any thinking being.

Let us, therefore, not indulge in the expensive and poisonous institution of evil superstition. And even if the King of terrors, death itself, let us recall the clear words of Lord Bacon:

"Men fear death as children fear to go to the dark; and, as that natural fear in childhood is increased with tales, so is the other."

PARASITE DESTROYS WORMS IN ANDERSON.
 Prof. Conrad, the entomologist of Clemson College, was called here about the army worms that invaded different sections of the city Monday and Tuesday. Prof. Conrad stated that they were already infected by a parasite that would kill them in a short time, and as the expense would be too great to destroy them by a poison solution, that the best thing to do would be to let this parasite do its work. Prof. Conrad stated that this parasite was a fly with brownish colored head and fall, commonly known as the red-tailed fly, which lays an egg on the neck of the worm, the egg soon hatching and on incubation the fly kills the army worm.

The army worm is not fond of cotton, said Prof. Conrad, and will feed on many crops before he touches cotton. However, if there was nothing but cotton, it would eat the cotton. These worms have been found practically all over the state, and while they are disastrous for the time being they do not last over 10 days where the parasite infects them. There are certain things, such as weather conditions, which affect the parasite, and which might allow the worms to increase.

FERTILIZERS SECTIONALISM.
 Manufacturers Report.

Why should Frank A. Murray tell Senator Harding congratulations on your speech of Josephine has had throughout the entire North? This is one country, and it does no good to revert to a sectional vocabulary. Senator Harding—we happen to know, like McKinley, has a vision of being President of the whole country. There is no sectionalism in his soul. Moreover, his speech, we do not doubt, has a very splendid reception in the South and in the West as well in the North. There are literally thousands of Southern men who are quite as heartily in favor of American independence as any in the North or anywhere else. It is no time for sectionalism.

Even more unfortunate is the effort of Senator Capper to drive a wedge between Southern and Western farmers. If the Kansas editor is in fact devoted to the agricultural industry of this country, he must realize the necessity of having a national agricultural policy. The country has had no such policy since the Civil War. It will not have one if Republican senators, such as Mr. Capper, view agriculture as a sectional issue.

"The Northern and Western farmers," Senator Capper is reported to have said, "have turned the burden of restrictions, while the cotton and sugar raisers of the South and the sheepraisers have got away with profits beyond calculation."

It is hardly necessary to point out that more sugar is raised in the North and West than in the South. The Louisiana cane crop can hardly be said to have served better than the beet-sugar crop. On sugar, therefore, the Senator merely wounds himself as either an ignorant or a malicious mischief-maker.

If Southern political influence at the capital was exercised in favor of cotton, will we not rather grovel than that they even begin to be subjected to such friendship.

We suggest that Senator Capper save his country and his party better by sticking to the facts than by the utterance of mis-statements that bear within themselves the full evidence of their falsity.

Making his will by recording his probate words and those of the legal witnesses on a photograph record, a Des Moines lawyer declares he has made a will that is "lawyer proof and court proof."

Beauty is more than Skin Deep

The really lovely women of the world are healthy women. Abundant vitality is the basis of their charm. It exerts a magnetism felt by everyone. Knowing this, the wise woman keeps healthy by close personal attention to certain daily observances, the most important of which is regular elimination of poisonous food waste.

Nujol is the scientific method of treating constipation. It works on an entirely new principle.

Instead of forcing or irritating the system, Nujol simply softens the food waste. This enables the many tiny muscles in the walls of the intestines, contracting and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along so that it passes naturally out of the system.

Nujol thus prevents constipation because it helps Nature maintain easy, thorough bowel movements at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

Nujol is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing Nujol trade mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet, "Thirty Feet of Danger."

HONEST, EFFECTIVE AND GROWING.

The latter fact all on account of the first two. ANTI-FERMENT has never (before) been advertised direct to the public. In spite of this fact more has been sold every year than the year preceding. Its friends have recommended it to their friends because of the honesty of its claims and its effectiveness when used as directed.

WHAT IT IS RECOMMENDED FOR.

That form of Dyspepsia in which the food ferments, or sours, before it is fully digested by the stomach, giving rise in that organ to Colic, Heart-burn, Distention or Flatulence and many other familiar but distressing symptoms. This sour, half-digested food passing into the intestine acts as a foreign irritating body, and produces Diarrhoea, Dysentery or Flux. Inflammatory and dangerous diseases. (These disorders are commonly known as indigestion).

WHY IT IS RECOMMENDED.

ANTI-FERMENT helps nature neutralize by acid condition of the contents of the stomach and bowels, soothe inflamed and irritated surfaces, and stimulate the secretory glands into normal and easy action.

Buick Valve-In-Head Success

The Buick Valve-In-Head motor car's sales record each season is a good example of the confidence and prestige that the world's buyers have placed in Buick quality and manufacture.

The famous Buick policies and principles of twenty years ago still remain intact in Buick construction. They have stood the test of years of constant operation. Naturally the quality, endurance and economy which has been so essential to over five hundred thousand Buick owners in the past is now eagerly sought for by thousands of future motor car purchasers.

Today the Buick Valve-In-Head built by the pioneer builders of Valve-In-Head motor cars stand pre-eminent before the entire motor car field as "first choice" among motor car buyers.
