COTTON PRICES SHOW GREAT RANCE IN QUARTERLY REPORTS

The cotton market is facing a significant range in its quarterly reports. The latest figures show a substantial drop in prices, which analysts believe is due to a combination of increased supply and decreased demand. The low prices are expected to continue for the next few months, affecting farmers and traders alike.

SOUTH CAROLINA'S RICE CROP

South Carolina's rice crop is expected to be larger than last year, with yields increasing due to favorable weather conditions. However, the market remains uncertain, with prices expected to fluctuate depending on demand.

THE RESISTERS

Pressure is mounting on the government to take action against the resisters. Many are calling for stricter laws and increased penalties to deter future resisters. The government is considering legislation to address the issue.

RUB-MY-TISM

Rub-my-tism is a condition that affects the skin, causing itching and discomfort. It is believed to be caused by a variety of factors, including stress and environmental factors. Treatment options include over-the-counter creams and medications, as well as professional medical care.

What Competition

Do you fear most? The competition. The competition from a store which advertises, or the other kind.

Newspaper advertising—competition. Which is it? The former is a vital part of the sales effort for every intelligent, progressive businessman.

For business enterprises which carry an advertising policy, the outlook is always easy.

Chewing Gum in the World

Spends $10,000 a Day for Advertising

This Manufacturer Spends $10,000 a Day to Advertise an Article That Sells for 5 Cents

With this and thousands of similar object lessons before them, there are still a few business men left in this country who lack the nerve to spend $10 a month to advertise a $10,000, $20,000, $50,000 or $100,000 stock of merchandise, or some other kind of business where opportunities are equally large and inviting for live business men and progressive advertisers.
