FRIDAY, AUGUST 10.

The city election in Charleston was held last Tuesday and is now a thing of the past, except for the canvassing of the votes, which is being done today. The returns indicate that Mayor Grace was defeated for re-election by his opponent, Solicitor Stoney.

However, the following from the Orangeburg Sun in connection with Charleston politics is worth reading. "The action of the governor of the state in sending a battalion of the national guard to the city of Charleston will serve to emphasize the horrible conditions in that city. We do not know whether anything will happen to require the use of the soldiers or not, but the sending of them without any information as to events on election day, but the fact that the chief executive of the state is deemed it expedient to have four companies on hand to prevent disorder is an eye opener to most of the people of the state."

"Personally, we think the situation distressing. When the leading of the state is so divided, the point where municipal elections are fraught with grave danger to life then it is time for the state to take a hand and show how an election can be conducted. If the next four years roll around with the same deplorable condition in evidence the governor of the state might as well declare martial law, even if it takes special legislation, and send enough troops into the city to manage and supervise the election."

"It is not out of the question who is elected mayor of Charleston. But the existence of such a state of anarchy must exist in Charleston as a result of every South Carolina. The time has come for the balance of the state to tell the Charlestonians to put their hands in order, and if they can't do it, then the rest of the state might as well do it for them. Whenever a community is unable to govern itself it should rank with Cuba, and other such centers of near-civilization. In that event it needs a helping hand from the outside, and the helping hand should not be too slow."

Because this country's timber supply has been mined from the forest much as coal has been mined from the ground—without thought of replacement—America faces an inevitable timber shortage, foresters of the United States Department of Agriculture declare in a recent report on the timber situation printed for free distribution.

However, if timber crops were to be grown and intensive forestry methods observed on all forest land in the country—some 700,000,000 acres—the Nation's timber problem could be alleviated, it is stated.

"Three outstanding measures are necessary to bring about the growing of timber crops on forest lands," according to the report. "The first step is to stop unrestrained forest exploitation and the denudation which is a direct result of timber mining. The second step required is to reduce waste in the use of timber, and the third objective of paramount importance is to increase timber production to the full capacity of the land. Protection from fire, insects, and disease, of course, must go hand in hand with all reforestation projects."

"In short, with the utmost that can be done many years must pass before we can really have a forest produce through growth as much timber as is now yearly taken from them, and a period of shortage is inescapable."

If the claimed cure for tuberculosis, as reported from Paris, is established as being safe, young Dr. Rafael Santos, of Porto Rico, will be the most famous man of science in the history of tuberculosis. No greater boon possibly could be given to humanity than a cure for the white plague, for in every land it takes its toll from every race and every class. Humanity has learned to dread tuberculosis as a scourge. Today, although actual progress has been made in its treatment, it is regarded as the most powerful enemy with which mankind has to contend. The layman is interested in the Sanofi treatment, which, though it would reasonable and plausible. It has been known for generations that tuberculosis germs ascend to sunlight. The rays of the sun kill them immediately. The minute organisms that ravage the lung tissues are only able to continue their degeneration in the dark. The heliopathic treatment, however, has consisted so far in exposing the patient to the sunlight and fresh air without a possible direct application of the sun's rays to the affected tissues. Now, when Dr. Santos claims to have invented an instrument with which the sun's rays and ultraviolet rays actually may be introduced into the lungs, hope may be received that, after all, a way may be found to combat the disease.

Scientists are known for a long time that the sunlight will kill tuberculous germs. No matter what the temperature or other environment may be, the germs die if exposed to the bright sunlight. Then, since the fact became known that certain rays could be made to penetrate opaque matter, such as human flesh and bone, it was believed a treatment of that kind would be effective. The difficulty did not lie in getting the rays to the affected parts, but in protecting the tissues while destroying the germs. As far as that is concerned, all physicians know there are therapeutic agents which will destroy tuberculous germs, but none that did not also injure the tissues under treatment. Dr. Santos insists his application of the ultraviolet rays will destroy the germs without injuring the tissues.

The world will await the experiments designed to prove or disprove the claim.

GUERNSEY CATTLE BURNED TO DEATH

Fire in Barn Takes Lives of Eight
Fino Cows Near Aiken, Property of Four Springs Farm.

Aiken, Aug. 9.—Fire Wednesday night destroyed the barn on the Four Springs dairy farm, just off the Aiken-Augusta highway and a short distance from town. In the fire eight fine Guernsey cows perished. Some of them were about two years old and were very valuable. It was seen they were so badly burned that they ended their suffering.

Four Springs dairy farm is the property of Mrs. Elmer Sheffield Phelps. She is summering in Maine.

It is not known how the fire originated.

NEGRO WOMAN KILLED BY UNKNOWN DRIVER

Williston, Aug. 8.—While driving on state highway No. 27, inside of the town of Elko about dark last night, two negro women, while men in a Ford touring car ran over an old negro woman named Anna Brooks. She died early this morning from the effects of her injuries. The sheriff and coroner of Barrenwell county attended the inquest in Elko this morning and spent a good part of the day in and around Williston writing on a case. The men who were apparently intoxicated were not local men.

S. C. WAREHOUSE SYSTEM MAKES UNUSUAL RECORD

Columbia, Aug. 7.—The state warehouse system is making a record for quick payment of fire losses, according to a statement today by J. Clifton Rivers, state warehouse commissioner.

According to the commissioner, warehouse 15, Orangeburg, John F. Blanks, manager, burned Sunday a week ago with a loss of $15,000 in stored cotton and the claim was paid the following Thursday, before the loss had ceased multiplying. The system, he said, had another recent heavy loss. Warehouse 802, at Chesterfield, burned Sunday with a loss of $27,000 in cotton, owned by C. H. Rivers, of Chesterfield. This claim was paid 10 days after the fire, based on 32 cents and cents a pound on long staple cotton.

STRANGE LOVE AFFAIR CAUSED A KILLING

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 8.—Police today are seeking to learn more of the strange love affair which they believe is at the bottom of the killing yesterday of Mrs. B. H. Stewart, 40, by her son, Ella W. Wells, 70.

Jealousy, they thought prompted Wells to kill Mrs. Stewart, whose body was found last night in a clump of bushes ten miles from the city, several hours after the bodies of Wells and his wife had been found in their apartment here. A revolver still held in Wells' hand indicated he shot his wife and then turned the gun upon himself. Wells came here a year ago from Oklahoma. He was reputed to be wealthy.

GASOLINE PRICE ROBBERY SAYS S. DAKOTA GOVERNOR

Pierre, S. D., Aug. 7.—Characterizing the price of gasoline in South Dakota as "highway robbery," Gov. McMeister this afternoon ordered the state warehouse at Mitchell to sell gasoline to the public at 16 cents a gallon. He also prevailed upon the people of the state to form a committee to purchase the product in carload lots until such time as dealers "cease their policy of greed and avarice."

The governor declared that gasoline costs 14 cents a gallon in carload lots in South Dakota and that oil companies are selling it at 28.

THE GUERNSEY MEETING.

The York-Chester-Fairfield Guernsey Association will hold the annual meeting at the farm of Mr. W. B. Stringfellow, seven miles north of Chester, Tuesday, August 14th. All friends of the Guernsey cow are urged to be present. "Bring the entire family to the meeting, with a well-filled basket, and let's have one of the largest crowds ever assembled at this meeting," the Association urges.

One thousand more four-gallon cows or better are needed in Chester county alone, and if the proper care and attention is given her, she will help pay the milk bill.

Bring the ladies and well-filled baskets.

DON'T LIKE THE DECISION.

The Enquirer sports editor says: There has been a petition in circulation on the streets of York protesting against the action of the league directors in giving to Union the two protested games that York won from Union. There is a feeling among a large number of fans that the action is unfair; that by virtue of the previous agreement between the managers of the two teams the games properly belong to York, and at the worst the games can only be thrown out; that Union is no more entitled to them than is Rock Hill, Chester. There are local fans who charge that the action is a frame up to put Rock Hill in the finals with Union instead of York, which would be more difficult to beat. The declaration went on to set forth that unless York can get a fair deal it is the sense of the signers thereof that York should pull out and let go the $250 that has been posted as a forfeit. There is another element among the fans, which, though disapproving the action of the league directors at Chester, insist that York should fight it out to the end regardless of consequences, and not go on record as a quitter.

In this play there is too much mother-in-law which brings about trouble and confusion for the poor married man. This play is given for the benefit of "The Cheestonian" to take care of a deficit in the publication of this magazine the past season.

Keep the date, Monday night, August 24th, in mind and help the young people by your presence.

Chester, S. C., Aug. 8, 1923.

The Chester City Public Schools will open Monday, Sept. 10th.

I hope that all parents of children entering the first grade will see to it that the little fellows are vaccinated in due time as that they may not lose any time on account of sore arms.

The first faculty meeting will be held Saturday afternoon, Sept. 8th, at 4:00 P. M. in College St. School building.

Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 5th and 6th, will be enrollment day for new pupils at the Superintendent's office in the McFadden Building.

Friday and Saturday, Sept. 7th and 8th, will be examination days for new pupils and all pupils with conditions to remove on account of failure during the past session.

A complete list of the faculty will be published as soon as confirmed by the Board of Trustees.

Very truly yours,
M. E. Brockman,
Chester, S. C., August 16, 1923.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Mayor and Health Department Call on Citizens to Clean Their Premises and Keep them Clean.

From various sections of the State come complaints of mosquitoes and already a few have put in their appearance in Chester. The city officials have been working hard to keep all breeding places clean and well cleaned and from time to time the citizens have been called upon to clean up their private premises. Some few have done so but there are many who have paid no attention to the appeal, and it is now found that they MUST be insisted upon in cleaning up.

The city officials regret to take any action against a citizen about not keeping his property in proper condition but we MUST have this cooperation if we are to keep our city free from mosquitoes.

Every citizen is urged to immediately clean his premises so that there will be no mosquito breeding places.

S. C. CARTER, Mayor.

BIG MEETING AUG. 16TH.

Big Bar Clover Soil Building—Boll Weevil Meeting at L. M. Wooten's Farm, Lewis Turnout, Aug. 16, at 10 o'clock.

You have read in a previous issue of this paper regarding the cotton Mr. Wooten has grown this year with acid phosphate/potash and with bar clover as the only source of ammonia.

Dr. N. E. Winters, head of the boll weevil investigations in this State will be present at this big meeting to discuss the poisoning of the weevil and give the results of this year's experiments with dusting, molasses mixture, and Hills mixture.

But we must first of all make the cotton before we can worry about saving it from the weevil. Consequently, this is to be a real big soil building meeting. Bar clover seed are cheaper now than ever known and there should be many tons of this seed sown this morning. The foundation of all permanent prosperity is a rich soil. Without a fertile soil there can be no big crop to reward you for your year's toil. Without a big crop there can be no feed for the Dairy Cow. The Hog and the Hen, and Livestock property balanced means more Silos, Alfalfa, Clover, Crop Rotations, and consequently a happier and a more contented people. All Dairy communities are prosperous.

Considerable excitement was created "On the Hill" yesterday morning when Mr. Alex Frazer drove up in his "Baby Lincoln," and reached his pool table and withdrew—not a gun—but an open ball of cotton, which he exhibited with great pleasure. His greatest joy, apparently, was having exhibited an open ball before Dr. R. L. McFadden. Dr. McFadden was present and contended that he had a ball open as much as Mr. Frazer's last Sunday.

Frazer contended that he should have it on display to get credit. Some one remarked that Mr. Frazer had put the ball of cotton in a stove to make it open, but he said at it he could produce the first ball of open cotton.

At the present writing it appears that there will be no baseball in Chester this afternoon or tomorrow afternoon, as was anticipated, and as was provided by the schedule of the Palmetto League.

Some time ago York played two games with Union and Union protested the games, claiming that York played a man who was not eligible. The matter was taken before the Board of Directors of the League, and they voted to give the two games to Union. This was supposed to have ended the matter.

Last Wednesday night a meeting was held in York and this same matter was again taken up and it was voted that the games would not go to Union but would be counted in York's favor. Union felt that they were not getting a square deal and henceforth withdrew from the League, forfeiting Thursday's game to York and cancelling the games with Chester for today and tomorrow.

Union has $250 deposited with the treasurer of the League, and when they withdrew they, knowing they forfeited this money. As to who will get the money or how it will be divided remains to be seen, but the fact is that Chester has lost two days' game receipts, which would probably amount to at least $500.

Beginning next Wednesday York and Rock Hill will play seven games to decide the championship of the Palmetto League. The team winning the majority will be considered the champion. According to the present arrangement these games will be played in York and Rock Hill, alternating between the two towns.

Just why they should play as many as seven games is not known in Chester but it is presumed that the reason for so many games is to "get the money." It is thought that York or Rock Hill, and possibly both, are behind in finances and by playing seven games they are hoping to get "out of the hole."

An article elsewhere in this issue from the Yorkville Enquirer would indicate that if the two games forfeited to York had not been returned to York that York would have "flew the coop."

Marine fad-hot rivets through a hole of model is replacing the old "rivet" rivet and the boy with the "rivet" rivet as a means of transportation. The new apparatus is known as the "Perfex Rivet Gun" and consists of a patented metal tank with a connection welded to the side for the air-supply line. The discharge valve is opened by a movement of a steel rod attached to the handle. A metal receiver with a buffer block is at the discharge end of the conveyor tube. This prevents the rivet from being deformed when suddenly arrested upon reaching the end of its run.

Aloke Little Sulphur Creek, near Hamilton, California, north of San Francisco, the ground is estimated for 10 miles with geyser holes. A company has dug two wells each 225 feet deep. Deeper than this their drills refused to go. An artificial cooling was sunk in each hole to bring up the steam generated, and was forced through a 3-4 inch pipe into a steam turbine. The pressure of the steam on the 3-4 inch pipe aggregates 70 pounds to the square inch. With a five-inch vent, the pressure aggregates 10 pounds. The turbine through which the steam from the two wells is forced generates 1,600 kilowatts. An extensive power development project is being planned.

NOTICE OF A SPECIAL ELECTION

Pursuant to authority hereinbefore published notice of a special election to be held in the several counties of voting in Chester county on Tuesday, August 14th, 1923, is hereby given.

The State of South Carolina. To the Commissioners of Elections for the County of Chester: Whereas J. L. Glenn, Jr., who, at the last election held in November, 1922, was chosen a Member of the House of Representatives for the Election District of Chester County, to serve for two years, has since said election resigned, and whereas the Constitution of the State of South Carolina provides that in such a case a writ of Election shall be issued by the Speaker of the House of Representatives for the purpose of filling the vacancy thus created, for the remainder of the term for which the Member so resigned was elected to serve:

Now, therefore, You and each of you are hereby required, after due advertisement, and strict regard to all the provisions of the Constitution of the State of South Carolina, to give your duty in such a case, to hold an election for a Member of the House of Representatives, for the Election District of Chester County, for the remainder of the term for which the said J. L. Glenn, Jr., was elected; the Polls to be opened at the various places of election in the said District on Tuesday, the fourteenth day of August, 1923, by the various sets of Managers for those places respectively, and the count, and the vote, and the declaration of the result of the election to be in accordance with the provisions of law providing for the general election, and the manner of conducting the same.

This writ, together with your return and all papers pertaining to the election, to be made under it, are to be transmitted to the Secretary of State.

Witness the Honorable T. M. McWilliam, Esquire, Speaker of the House of Representatives, at Columbia, this twenty-third day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three.

T. S. McMillan, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

J. WILSON GIBBS, Clerk of the House of Representatives.

YOUTH DROWNS WHILE RESCUING ANOTHER

Abbeville, Aug. 7.—Paul Maney, 13-year old youth of Democrat, this morning was drowned in Big Key Creek this afternoon while attempting to rescue his cousin, M. L. Maney, Jr., aged 12, who called for help when he slipped into a deep hole. The drowned boy was said to have been a good swimmer.

Rex Dillingham, 18 years old, was found in the creek and brought to M. Maney, Jr., unconscious. He responded to first aid treatment. Young Dillingham then went about finding the body of the drowned boy, bringing it to surface half an hour later.

The 1890 Census as a Guide?

A formality of sovereignty has been the chief obstacle in the way of rational immigration safeguards for the United States.

Congress has been reluctant to put into the law a provision requiring examination of prospective immigrants in the land of their origin. This reluctance has been due to the fear that foreign nations would look upon such an American governmental agency as a blow at their sovereignty.

It was the first of the United States that she would co-operate with us in the restriction of her emigration. Now, the Manchester Guardian, one of the most influential newspapers in the British Empire, has suggested that it would be wise if American nationals abroad were strictly limited in the number of passport visas they might issue to those who planned to go to the United States to live.

The opinion of the Manchester Guardian is likely to become the opinion of the British people. Any country that is so opinionated as to be willing to forego an idle formality of sovereignty to permit the substance of a well regulated migration of peoples of one land to another.

Events since the 1923-24 immigration quota became operative have accelerated the impracticability of changing the detail of the present immigration law. July was not half over before the quota of immigrants from the British Empire had been exhausted. Some of those who arrived immediately after the quota of Great Britain was exhausted were Scotch shipbuilding workers. Scotch labor was urgently needed in this country and those qualities as prospective citizens were granted to be made by the Ellis Island authorities.

Time to make emergency proceedings on their behalf was unfortunately.

Senator David Reed, of Pennsylvania, has never been numbered among the ardent restrictionists. His views on immigration have been similar to those who believe our industrial needs rather than our racial problems should determine the number of foreigners we accept. But he recently was quoted in expression of views which place him in line with those who hope that American stocks be not destroyed by hordes of non-assimilable aliens.

Senator Reed suggested that the 1890 Census be made the basis on which quotas are determined. He suggested that that quota percentages be increased. He said that such a change in the law would increase vastly the skilled labor of the country would receive. English-Scotch, Irish, Scotch-Irish, Scandinavians would be the persons whose admissible immigrants would be increased by this change in the law.

Senator Reed's suggestion is a wise one. Whether the reason be the one he gives, or the one that the North European stock is more likely to supply the mental and physical qualities most in keeping with American tradition, the result will be the same.

The quota laws should be changed so make possible a healthy and controlled immigration of persons fitted to become real American citizens and no time should be lost in procuring agreements with foreign powers whereby examination of prospective immigrants may be made at the source.—Dearborn Independent.

NEGRO ATTACKS AN AGED WOMAN

Dragged into Woods and Overcome by Her Assault: Posses Are Combing Guilford and Surrounding Counties: Three Are Excited

Greensboro, N. C., Aug. 7.—Sheriff's posse tonight were combing Guilford and surrounding counties for a "tall, slim, young, black, middle-aged" negro, who this morning at 10:30 o'clock is alleged to have criminally assaulted Miss Martha Sowers, aged 60, at her home near here.

Miss Sowers, who lives with a sister near the Pomona mill here, went from the house to a spring nearby to get a bucket of water, and the negro jumped out of a patch of woods, seized her, choked her and dragged her into the woods, there committing the crime, according to the story she told officers.

She said that she thought she could identify the black if he were caught, and a suspect was arrested in High Point and taken before her, but she was sure he was not the man, so he was released. The hunt continued all afternoon and tonight but without result. She could not give a very definite description of her assailant.

A boy told the sheriff's forces that he saw a negro, answering the description Miss Sowers gave, at the spring shortly before the commission of the crime, but the boy was not present when the attack was made.

DAN CUPID USES MAIL TO SNARE A GASTON MAN

Nolan Has Departed for Many Tennessee to Claim His Prospective Bride.

Gaston, Aug. 7.—Dan Cupid's dart, shot through the mail order medium, struck a Gastonian, and as a result the left Gastonia today for west Tennessee to claim a bride.

The groom elect is Mr. J. F. Nolan, courted to many people over Gaston county. The bride-to-be, a widow of seven years standing, is Mrs. Fannie Jacobs, who lives on a 260-acre farm on the fertile plains of west Tennessee, not far from Memphis, and somewhere in the famous Reelfoot lake region. Her postoffice is Pochonville. The exact date of the wedding is not known to the groom. He told a reporter this morning that "it will be pretty soon after I get there. I'll write you a piece about it after it's over."

Mr. Nolan is a widower. Some time ago a matrimonial journal fell into his hands. His friends say he wrote for it; but, however that may be, he got the journal, and, after perusing a large number of advertisements setting forth the charms and a catalogue of the worldly possessions of a varied assortment of fair ones who were willing to be courted, he picked out one who appealed to him. He wrote the lady, she wrote back that she was not just then looking for any new friends—having probably landed a lover through her advertisements. But, she wrote, she had a friend whom she believed might be interested, and she sent Mr. Nolan the name and address of said friend: Mr. Nolan wrote, once, twice, several times, and finally the lady suggested that he come out for a little conference. He did so. It seemed to be a case of love at first sight. The time was soon fixed up. Mr. Nolan came back to adjust some business matters in Gaston before taking another leap into the matrimonial sea.

Asked as to when he was coming back with his bride, he replied, "I'm not coming back. We are going to live on her 260-acre farm. She has chickens, and a big crop of cotton and corn. Yes, I'm not going to farm. I told her so. She said she didn't want me to farm. In the said if that farm wouldn't make us both a good living without our working we ought to starve."

Mr. Nolan lived in Gastonia for a number of years, having moved here from Mt. Holly. He was engaged in farming there, but since coming here he has been engaged in a number of occupations. The best wishes of a lot of friends will go with him to his West Tennessee home.

doesn't exist today until it is created. The time has long passed when we could stand still and wait until business sought us out. We have to go get it now.

The world will not make a beaten track to any man's business door of its own accord. Diamonds are worthless until a value is created for them.

Competition is growing sharper and salesmen, heralded by the printed advertisements, are penetrating remote sections, offering unusual inducements for trade.

Big business is investing more today in newspaper advertising than at any time in the history of barter and trade. No advertising generally results in no sales.

Carefully balanced as an airplane propeller

Standard Gasoline

The propeller, which applies the power produced by the motor, has to be as finely balanced as human skill can make it. And the gasoline which produces the power should be just as carefully balanced.

"Standard", the Balanced Gasoline, gives to your motor the smoothest, steadiest, and most generous flow of power that skilled refining has yet produced. Instant starting; quick, snappy pick-ups; power that lifts you over the hills; long economical mileage; and always that even flow of abundant power. That's what "Standard"—The Balanced Gasoline—gives you.

You can't appreciate the wonderful performance of a perfectly balanced car until you've driven one. And you can't know what balance in a gasoline means until you've used "Standard". At any pump bearing the red S. O. sign of quality.
