According to a story being told in political circles Ralph H. Cain of Sharon, a candidate for probate judge of York county ran across one of the Messrs. Avel of Greenville at the recent political meeting at McCombsville. "How are you, Mr. Avel?" "Abel is my name, sir," replied, "I am glad to meet you."

CLOSED MINDS

In nine cases out of ten let some one propose that a method or process be changed and what happens? The suggestion is immediately opposed by almost everyone. There is a flood of reasons why it cannot possibly be done.

The habitual attitude of most human beings is resistance to change. That is why no industry has ever revolutionized from the inside. There are few exceptions.

Every innovation makes its way against opposition. Life is a series of adjustments and success is adaptation. This is the lesson of all history.

Those who cannot or will not adjust themselves must be snuffed out. It is pitiless, perhaps, but it is true. Nature has no place in her scheme for the closed mind.

Closed minds, like everything else, are relative. But in a general way it may be said that most minds are closed to all but a small range of adaptations. Mediocrity is simply another name for this condition. Openness, on the other hand, is no more than open-mindedness.

Henry W. Grady told the people of this section time after time to raise their "hog and hominy," but their minds were closed and it was cotton, cotton and then more cotton.

Possibly the boll weevil is an outside influence which will revolutionize our county.

CALIFORNIA WOMAN BUYS AND ANOTHER WOMAN'S HUSBAND

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 22.—An over by Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckles Hakefield, first wife of the late "Jack" Spreckles, California millionaire, and her second husband, San Francisco society man, has secured a divorce from her for $100 a month for the rest of her life. She is to have $100 a month for the rest of her life. She is to have $100 a month for the rest of her life.

WANTS HIS SLEEP.

Mecon Street Car Man Declares Wife Laid Awake Night to Neg Him. Mecon, Ga., August 22.—Because, he says, his wife murdered his sleep, she when he "erewed" in the morning the few small hours of the morning. C. F. Nobles, street car conductor, filed a petition in Bibb Superior Court Monday, asking for a divorce. Peace and sleep at any price is what Nobles asks in his petition. He is perfectly willing to support the family, he states, if he can only have a divorce.

It was a long time ago I told Mrs. Kendrick that I loved her husband and wanted to marry him. I promised her she would have a home with me and Adney and myself as long as she lived. She is a very sick girl and I have been in bed for a long time. I have had times when I have been in bed for a long time. I have had times when I have been in bed for a long time.

My wife nagged, quarreled and fussed at me from the time I got up," the petitioner declared. "If I fell asleep, she would dig me in the face and tell me I was snoring. She would kick me in order to keep me from sleeping. All of this, the petitioner set out, was done "through anger and without reason." Sleepless nights got the best of Mr. Nobles on August 15. He left home for his job, but his wife had torn his shirt off his back, thrown his clothes in the street and cursed his sister and mother.

The wife said: "Mrs. Wakefield wrote me a letter five or six weeks ago when I was in a sanitarium asking me to come to her home in Sausalito. I had met her a year ago and I thought her motive was one of kindness and friendship. Soon after I arrived she told me that she was in love with my brother. She said she would give me $100 a month for life and would see that my baby was well taken care of. I thought she was kidding me and I secured a divorce from Mr. Wakefield. Ten days ago she and my husband both told me that it was their wish that they should be allowed to camp in the Lake Tahoe district."

Chicago, Aug. 21.—As the Rev. Johnson Myers, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, explained to his congregation that more money must be contributed if needed repairs were to be made, a dozen figures, masked and robed in the garb of the Ku Klux Klan, marched into the room. They halted at the altar.

URGES SWEEPING PROBE INTO COAL

Washington, Aug. 21.—Sweeping investigation of all questions bearing on the coal industry, as urged by Fresh Air Harding in an address to Congress, was called for in a bill introduced today by Chairman Winslow of the House Interstate Commerce commission, and which may be pushed through the house tomorrow under suspension of the rules. For three hours the committee on Commerce and Public Safety worked today on what Mr. Winslow described as perfecting amendments. His labors had not been completed tonight, and another session will be held tomorrow morning. No sharp differences of opinion developed, it was said, and it is the hope of republicans members of the committee to have the bill ready for the house by noon. Leaders declared tonight it would be passed Wednesday, if it were not held up by a vote tomorrow immediately after consideration of a special rule sending the bill to conference.

WOLFE AND WINTER HAVE ENCOUNTER

Exchange of Blows at Pickens Meeting. Crowd in Attendance Estimated at Not Less Than Sixteen Hundred. Pickens, Aug. 22.—A flat "encounter" was engaged in at the state campaign meeting here today between Mr. W. Wolfe and D. M. Winter, candidates for attorney general. Mr. Wolfe received the full force of one blow on the left cheek and as he reeled and fell he grappled with Mr. Winter and both rolled over several times in a clinch. Friends pulled Mr. Wolfe off, the present attorney general having gotten on top. The clash was caused by Mr. Wolfe's not being turned into the state treasury fees and costs collected by him or who should have been collected by him when cases of the state were won in the United States district court, the United States circuit court and the United States supreme court, as he could find no record of this in his annual reports. Mr. Wolfe explained at the meeting at Anderson Saturday that he had receipts from the state treasury for all this money, he having turned in, he said, an approximate $800.

THE COITTON SITUATION

The cotton outlook, according to reports from New York and other points, is more encouraging for better prices in the near future. The general condition of the crop in the south is being averaged as "fair," and while insect damage has not been extensive there are reports that some areas are showing opening of the bolls. There has been too much rain in Louisiana, on the other hand, and the coast section of Georgia reports similar conditions with marked deterioration. Altogether the conditions appear to be shaping towards a decline in conditions as of August 25, which will accord with the expectations we have communicated.

HIGHWAY POSSIBILITIES.

The state of New Jersey now contains six miles of roadway said to be the finest stretch of transcontinental road between New York City and San Francisco. It is the most recently completed section of the Lincoln Highway, and carries the heaviest traffic of any part of that 3,000-mile route. An immense volume of traffic between New York City and Philadelphia, including thousands of heavy trucks, passes over it. This stretch of road is 22 feet wide. Most of it has a base nine inches thick and an asphalt surfacing three inches thick.

So Penn's is always fresh and is a truly new idea for chewing tobacco. Have you ever really chewed fresh tobacco? Buy Penn's the next time. Try it. Notice the fine condition. And after that, use fresh chewing tobacco — Penn's.

SOY BEAN TAKING PLACE AS MAJOR CROP

Washington, Aug. 14.—The soy bean is rapidly taking a place as a major crop in the farming systems of the corn belt, replacing oats to a considerable extent and taking part of the corn acreage, says the Department of Agriculture. Although primary uses for forage, pasture and ensilage, the growing of seed during the last few years has become a very profitable industry.

County soy bean associations, growers, county agents and station officials, notably in Illinois and Indiana, have concerned themselves in the development of a commercial outlet for the seeds, it is noted. Several mills in those states have become interested in the possibilities of that bean as a source of oil and meal.

Two mills in Illinois have planned to use about 750,000 bushels this season, it has been reported to the department, while other mills are planning on a smaller scale.

The department inspectors have found considerable acreage put to growing the soy bean in the corn belt, and some belt states, showing and meal are ascribed by officials as a possibility for the future.

The various ways in which the soy bean and its product are utilized in the United States indicates a ready market for the commercial production of soy bean seed, the department circular ability to soy bean oil is largely used in the manufacture of soaps and paints, and it is also used in the manufacture of hard and butter substitutes, rubber substitutes, linoleum and printing ink, and as a salad oil. The cake or meal is a superior cattle feed and of high value for human consumption.

CAUSES OF HEADACHES.

Dr. R. H. Blahy writes: "Too many people think that headaches are just an incident to be borne with patience or dozed with powders and forgotten."

"A headache is nature's warning of some physical defect. Taking powders to kill the pain is just like blowing your feet to dry them when the thunder of the approaching train as you try to cross in front of it."

"The thing to do when you have a headache is to look for the real source and then remedy the ailment, which may be merely constipation or indigestion or lack of exercise and food."

"There are a dozen or so other ailments that may cause headaches. Often it's difficult to locate the exact source of trouble. There may be defective teeth or eye-strain, irritation in the nasal passage, or it may be the first evidence of a brain tumor. It may signify disease of the kidneys or of the arteries. It may mean poisoned blood, whether from tea, lead, tobacco or intestinal toxins. It may mean impurities in the blood, at in anemia; or fatigue of the nervous system, called neurasthenia."

"Often the immediate cause of a headache is over-stimulation of the heart, an accompaniment of a number of organic disturbances, resulting in abnormally high blood pressure within the brain. The majority of headache remedies contain powerful heart depressants, which bring only temporary relief and leave the heart in a more dangerous state than before. There is always danger in drugs sufficiently strong to depress the heart."

"A competent physician usually can tell by a few questions just what the cause is."—Orangeburg Sun.

Polls will open at eight o'clock a. m., and close at four p. m., when the votes will be counted. Any but the following named bales will observe the Australian ballot law: Baton Rouge, Blackstock, Hallsville, and White's Store. In fact it takes money to operate any business—even a Ford business.

Printing is our business. We must have printing to do business and when we do printing we must make money in order to continue to do business. No business can operate long unless it makes a profit on the business done. Every sensible business man knows that he should be willing to allow the other fellow a reasonable profit.

The News has long since quit guessing at printing prices—we have the prices figured out, right ready for you when you offer the job to us, and on every job we do, a profit is figured. We are in the printing business to make money just like you are in the mercantile business to make money.

Some printers still hang on to the old style of guessing at every job of printing brought to them. John Smith brings them a job and they guess less than cost and give him a cheap job. Tom Jones brings in a job and they guess 100 per cent too high and Jones helps pay for the Smith job. That's not right. Every man should pay for his own job. That's the way The News charges for printing. It lets every fellow pay for his own job.

There is no need of your sending a job of printing out of Chester. The News can and will give you a reasonable price on your work as any printer who does printing in a business way. The News is a Home Establishment and every dollar you spend with us stays right in your town to help the town grow. In fact, the employees of The News spend more money in Chester each year than the total business received from Chester business houses. If it were not for "foreign business" The News would have to move its plant out of Chester. Looks funny, but the figures prove it.

Don't send your printing out of town. You might be able to get a cheaper price some where, but there is no printing house in the country which can do printing as a whole, cheaper than The News and stay in business very long. We're not only want you to buy your printing at Home but we've decided to buy your printing here in Chester. That's the way we must all do if we want to see Chester grow.

The Moving Lever.

"At last, the final exodus of the mill to the cotton fields section has commenced, and, strangely, it appears to be due, not to the saving proximity to the raw material, but to the superior industrial efficiency of the pure-blooded American stock which has inhabited the Appalachian mountains from before the days of the American revolution."

This is the observation of Mr. E. H. Pringle, president of the Bank of Charleston, in the course of a discussion on the 1922-23 prospects of the Southern cotton mill, and it is a true observation. Many New England capitalists have stock in the Southern mills and these know that the chief axes in Southern textiles is not in proximity to raw material, but in developed superiority of Southern textile help. The manufacturers of New England in Charleston look for prospects in the South, are moved, above all other things, to get away from the foreign labor which has monopolized the situation up there. Character of labor is the lever that is moving things in our direction.

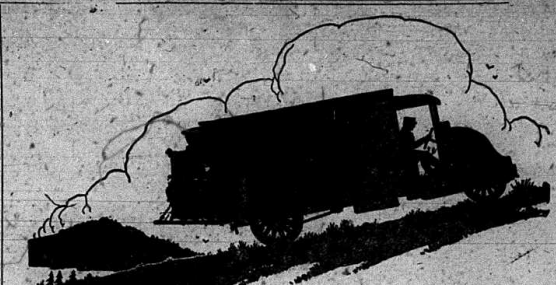

Mr. Pringle maintains that it is the lower wage scale in the South which enables our mills to make cheaper goods than they. But Mr. Pringle contends that close investigation would seem to disclose that it is not low wages, but a low labor cost which gives to our manufacturers their admitted advantage. If recreation and welfare work, carried on by our Southern manufacturers, are counted as part of the cost, the mill which spends for the upkeep of labor in civilization above the foreign borders from Southern and Central Europe, which does not take the mill villages in New England, where formerly the inhabitants were of Irish or Celtic stock, not only are our employees more efficient, but more efficient and more intelligent, and generally to develop, a high degree of loyalty to the company, of enthusiasm for their work, whereas the ignorant alien is an easy prey to the labor agitator and the anarchist, and is readily led to adopt an attitude of constantly seeking after less work and more pay.

Prophetically, Mr. Pringle writes that "coming events cast their shadows in Southern cotton mill stocks, which has been developing for the last six weeks, seems to forecast a period of prosperity for Southern manufacturers who had so long a period of hard times for almost seven years prior to July, 1915."—News and Courier.

PLAIN REVOLUTION.

Let's talk the outrages at Spencer and Columbia by their right name. The dynamiting of the water main at Spencer and the flogging of electric men at Columbia were not strikes, but plain revolutions. They were just plain revolution, nothing less. Nicer terms such as "disturbances" or "disorders" may be used but they do not add to the story. A coterie of men in each case premeditated and maliciously took the law into their hands—and that was revolution. They were no more justified in destroying the property at Spencer than they would have been in smashing the plate glass fronts of Charlotte stores. The Columbia revolutionists had the same right to attack the men who had come to take the job they left as they did to burn the left wing of the state capitol.

It was a strike so long as the distressed workers left their post and went on peaceful vacations. But when they resorted to violence it was no longer a strike—it was anarchy. And yet, to clear their names, assist in delivering them to the bar of punishment. If they are most loyal to their fellows who commit outrages, but will to clear their names, assist in delivering them to the bar of punishment. If they are most loyal to the outlaws of the minority, abet them in the route to fall revolution, be unobtrusive by the presence of troops, if anarchy is what they want, they will have it. If peace is what they want, they can get it by revolution. This government has never before for a minority and never will for public sympathy is steeled against men who essay to challenge it.—Greenville News.
