Mr. A. M. Feaster, who is a representative of Swift & Co., Charlotte, N. C., was in town today.

The new church being erected by the Associate Reformed Presbyterian congregation of Sharon, a thriving town seven miles west of York, is approaching completion and will be ready for occupancy by November 1. The edifice will cost approximately $12,000 and will be commodious, modern and ornate. W. W. Blair of Bullocks Creek township is the contractor. The Rev. E. B. Hunter is the pastor of the church, which is enjoying a period of steady growth and expansion.

Mr. A. Balser has returned home from the Northern markets.

Mrs. Z. V. McClinton returned yesterday from a month's stay at Myrtle Beach.

The following young ladies left Edgemoor this week for the cities where they will teach: Misses Rose Seash Hake at Clover, Elizabeth Gaston at Darlington, Martha Glass at Snow Hill, N. C., Lillian Robinson at Asheville, N. C., Edna Fudge at Lake City.

Great Falls People Hurt.

The following dispatch is from Gastonia, N. C., and is dated yesterday. This would indicate that the accident below mentioned, happened early yesterday morning.

The dispatch follows: "Carl Hollis, 20 is in a local hospital with a fractured thigh, and Mrs. J. W. Chandler, both of Great Falls, S. C., is suffering from minor bruises, as the result of their car missing the bridge in south Gaston county over Crowders creek this morning shortly after 12 o'clock. The parties were returning to their South Carolina home after having visited relatives of Mrs. Chandler in Gastonia. A small child, grandson of the woman, escaped injury."

The car, going south, missed the bridge over the stream near the fill, and plunged into the "patience land" beside the road. The party lay unaided among the wreck until 3:30 this morning until their cries were answered by J. N. Neely, a resident of the vicinity. The latter hurried to the scene and found the car overturned and the passengers in a state of shock. He then called for help and the car was righted and the passengers were taken to the hospital.

SHOOTING HIMSELF

MORNING OF TRIAL

W. R. Fowler, Charged With Murder in Connection With Harkins Death, Fires Bullet Into His Brain.

Greenville, Sept. 4.—W. R. Fowler, 49, of the Double Springs community, Greenville county, who is charged with murder in connection with his shooting and killing Fred Harkin, of the same section on May 27, perhaps fatally wounded himself about 6 o'clock this morning when he fired a bullet into his brain at his home. While he was still alive at a late hour this morning, attending physicians said that he cannot survive.

Fowler's case was to have been called for trial today and it is believed this fact is responsible for the decision to end his own life. He was out of town in the sum of $1,500 awaiting a hearing of the case.

When his family heard the shot this morning, they ran to his side and found him prostrate on the floor, and bleeding profusely. He murmured as he sank into unconsciousness, "A man is never himself again after he has had to take the life of a fellow man."

Deputy Sheriff P. H. Jones rushed to the scene when the report of the tragedy was received at the sheriff's office, today. He investigated the circumstances surrounding the affair and reported that the man undoubtedly fired the bullet into his own brain.

Fowler killed Fred Harkin while the younger man was with a young lady in the Double Springs section on May 27.

The difficulty which brought on the shooting is said to have had its origin when the two men had a quarrel over property some time before.

Holding to the theory that good biscuits, or even fairly good biscuits, have a great deal to do with the success or failure of a marriage venture, the county clerk of Clarkburg, West Virginia, will issue a cook book for the bride along with the marriage license.

A partial eclipse of the sun will be visible in this part of the country on the afternoon of Monday, September 10, when the sun will enter the shadow at 3:36 o'clock. The eclipse will be at its zenith at 4:43 o'clock, when it will cover seven-sevenths of the sun's surface, and ending at a portion of the face, after which it will gradually subside. This eclipse will be a total eclipse of the moon, so the moon from the Pacific Ocean and Yucatan.

"Keep those tires up!"

—says the experienced Fleet Boss. And he's right, absolutely. His long experience has shown him that it wastes gasoline to run on under-inflated tires—that a loss of 15 or 20 pounds of air pressure in the tires can cost you as much as 1 to 1 1/2 miles per gallon, whereas an extra passenger cuts off only 1/10 to 1/5 of a mile.

Polarine is built around a practical experience of more than fifty years which has shown us a thousand and one things that affect the performance of a motor oil or fuel. You can trust it as thoroughly as you can trust the finest tire or motor car.

"The Modern Way" to sell goods is to let the buyer know all about them, is well illustrated at the demonstration of the Majestic Range in the store of Clark Furniture Co.

As a special inducement to buy a range during the exhibit of the Great Majestic Range at the store of Clark Furniture Company next week, every purchaser of one of these famous ranges gets his choice of two fine cooking sets free. We have a presentiment that there are going to be many fine new Majestic Ranges in the kitchens of our neighbors and friends before the week is over. The temptation to own a Majestic is irresistible when one learns the facts about Great Majestic in its relations to economy in the home; many will find themselves saying "it was up to put up with an old range any longer."

SPECIAL NOTICE

Urgent Notice To Parents:

At 10 o'clock Thursday morning only a minimum number of children for our first grades had been enrolled. I know there are children in the community who intend coming to school. Let me urge the parents to register them at the Superintendent's office Friday and Saturday mornings. No children who have not been registered at the Superintendent's office will be admitted Monday morning, as the teachers will all be busy classifying those who are regularly promoted and the new pupils with registration certificates.

One hundred and twenty-two pupils were enrolled today. Most of these are for the higher grades for the fourth on up through the high school, which is a very strong indication of the fact that a great number of new people are coming into our community.

There will be a faculty meeting of the teachers of the school system Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in the high school building. Official notices have been mailed to all of the teachers at their homes, several weeks ago, notifying them of this meeting. We have a number of new teachers in our faculty this year, caused by the increase in enrollment both in the high school and in the grammar school. I trust that all of the people of Chester will make these new people feel welcome, as they have in the past.

On account of the increased enrollment at the College Street Primary School and of the large sixth grade at the Foote Street School, we are going to be forced to have afternoon classes at least four grades. I want to appeal to patrons to be just as lenient and reasonable as possible on account of this situation. I regret more than any parent to have to send your child to school in the afternoon, but it is impossible to place more children in a classroom than can be seated, and for that reason the double daily session is necessary in order to use the room twice for the same grade of children in two sections. By another year everything will be arranged properly and no hitch will come, as plenty of classroom space will be available. This makes the burden easier since we have something to look forward to.

THE COW MAN'S BENEFACTOR

"Where there is a cow, there is a home," John Andrews.

What civilization has led the cow or whether the cow has led civilization is a hard question to answer, because they have accompanied one another so closely through the past generations. It is certainly true that wherever civilization has been found there also we have found the cow, and wherever the cow we find she was a nucleus for civilization. She has brought peace and security wherever she has gone, because the very nature of the cow and the accompanying industries has demanded for their best interests, peace and security.

Ed-Govner Lewden, of Illinois, says of the cow:

"She is a most wonderful laboratory. She takes the grasses of the pasture and the roughage of the fields and converts them into the most perfect food for man. In that food there is a mysterious something which scientists have found essential to the health and development of the human race, and which can be found nowhere else."

It is no secret that in the early days of Wisconsin wheat was grown continuously year after year until wheat would no longer grow profitably, nor would any other farm crop. Then it was that the question of what to do arose, and the reply was "It is time to milk."

Recently, in an address to bankers, the head of the Federal Reserve Bank of the Northwest made the statement that in Wisconsin there was not one of the 990 banks delinquent and that they had sent more than $50,000,000 into the Chicago district during the past year. This during the year when states that are practicing other forms of agriculture almost to the exclusion of dairying were clamoring for credit.

Such is the significance of Pat's reply, "It is time to milk," as it applies to states.

A community in North Dakota recently experienced its sixth consecutive crop failure. One crop failure, especially if it came this year, would suffice to discourage most sections, but not the stout-hearted men of the North Dakota community, because in the early days of crop failure, when the inevitable question of what to do was propounded, some one said, "It is time to milk," and last year the average gross income from 17 farms in the crop failure district was $2,325.83.

Strange as it may seem, these men, under the worst of farming conditions, are enjoying greater prosperity than their fellow farmers in sections of the state that have bumper farm crops.

Such is the significance of Pat's reply, "It is time to milk," as it applies to communities.

John W. Newman, former commissioner of agriculture of Kentucky, has eight farms operated by tenants. During the war the price of tobacco was high and these tenants specialized in the extreme in growing the weed. Mr. Newman says that each of them became worth from $4,000 to $5,000, and then a year ago, when the price of tobacco dropped, they lost all and began borrowing money from him to operate the farms.

After loaning them a total of $3,000, Mr. Newman called them together and in his own words said: "Not another cent will I loan you. I will place on each of your farms 19 cows, eight sows and 100 chickens, and if you can't make money off the farms you can go to 'em'."

The cow has yet another attribute which is well worth considering. Wherever she goes she not only brings health, wealth and happiness, but to make her cycle of useful endeavor complete she brings education. Schools flourish where dairying abounds. The farms are smaller and better tended, the population is greater and education is conducted on a broader scale. The study of the cow is intensive and awakens a desire for further advantage in the minds of the young.

Thousands have prospered through close association with the cow, but the possible achievements have never yet been reached. They are without limit.

For 2,000 years she has shown her allegiance to man, responding nobly to the dire that man, in his wisdom, or lack of it, has accorded her, and today she stands supreme as the greatest builder of permanent prosperity.

At His Own Risk

An Irishman who had attended a fair ultimately found himself accused of having caused the death of another man. The case was clear enough, for the poor chap admitted he "had given 'im a bit of a cloud and no stick," and that cloud had closed the man's career.

In the course of the evidence the doctor who had made the post-mortem examination said "the creature had the thinnest skull I have seen in the whole course of my practice." Guilty.

Judge—Have you anything to say why the Court should not proceed to pass sentence upon you?

Prisoner—After a long pause and much scratching of his cranium he said "I have seen in France was a man with a skull like that goin' to a fair?"

An actress who went to Paris seeking new plays for the Theater Guild of New York returned recently without any. She stated the plays she had seen in France were "so dirty" she would be unwilling to reproduce them in America.

IN THE SOUP

An American was boasting to an Irishman about the speed of American trains. "Why, Pat," said the American, "we run our trains so fast that the telegraph poles look like a continuous fence." "Do they, now?" said Pat. "Well, sir, I was wan day on a train in Ireland and we passed first a field of turnips, then wan of carrots, then wan of cabbage and then a large pond of water, we were goin' that fast I thought it was brooch!"

HE TOLD THE TRUTH

As little Johnny was sitting on the steps, a man approached him and asked:

"Little boy, is your mother at home?"

"Yes," was the reply.

The man rang the bell, but no one answered. He rang again, but still no one answered. After ringing a short while, he turned to Jimmy despairingly and said:

"I thought you said your mother was in?"

"She is, but I don't live here," was the prompt reply.
