CHESTER, S. C., FRIDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER, 24, 1909.

Columbia, Sept. 21.—This morcing's session of court was taken up with a second court was taken up with a continuation of preliminary skirlab-ishing in the first of the dispensary graft cases against James S. Farcum, the legal battle attracting a large crowd of lawpers and others.

The defense's motion to quash: the second and third counts in the indictment, on various technical grounds and then defense read a long denurrer to all three of the counts, specifying various grounds as to each count. Although he said he thought, there was merit in the first objection to the first count he finally overruled this.

A LEGAL, BATTLE.

The legal batchis appears to be a very interesting and instructive one, Defining research of the control of the control of the cases starts out with one of the cases starts out with one of the foset arrays of legal talend drawn up here in battle order in many years. Within the bar this morning there were seated in addition to almost very member of the local bar, Dispensary Commissioners Wood, Murray and McSween, Col. W. W.
