Noted Persons At Winthrop

Winthrop students have the opportunity to learn from and appreciate diverse artists and cultural figures during various events. Prominent figures such as Mrs. Ruth Ewing, the former director of the Johnson Theater, and Mr. David Johnson, a noted artist, have contributed significantly to the cultural life of the campus. These individuals not only enrich the academic experience but also foster a sense of community and engagement. The Johnsonian proudly presents a series of events that highlight the ongoing cultural activities and the commitment to fostering a vibrant intellectual and artistic environment.

Campus Electricity Finds Many Jobs

The demand for electricity on campus has increased significantly, necessitating the hiring of new employees to manage the infrastructure. These positions not only provide employment opportunities but also support the ongoing operations of the institution. The Johnsonian highlights the importance of these jobs and the impact they have on the daily life of the campus community.

Students' Post Office, Bank Give Maximum Convenience

Winthrop's modern canteen has often been called the second "Cord of Central Station," because it is the scene of so many meetings of students between classes. The lunchroom is conveniently located on the second floor of the Administration Building. It is equipped with two large fountains, a cabinet, a deep freezer, automatic coffee makers, paper towel dispensers, and card machines.

The canteen is operated by the College in a service capacity and employs three waitresses. A few students have part-time jobs here.

Students enjoy the convenience of this "gathering place" and the wide variety of things they can buy there.

Winthrop Students Become Active In Red Cross

The Student Red Cross chapter at Winthrop has been in operation for several years. It is a group of students who are interested in the work of the Red Cross, and they have been active in various activities, such as blood drives and relief work.

Winningest, Flock To Modern Canteen In Slack Moments

Students rush to the modern canteen to get that all-important cup of coffee. Winnie's, the restaurant of the future, is the place to be in the morning.

Many Students Earn While They Learn

WINHURP Daughters Work On All Continents

"The Sun Never Sets on Winthrop Daughters." This statement is put on a true today as it was when Dr. E. R. Johnson first wrote it some thirty years ago. In Johnson's opinion of the college for forty years, she saw its growth and success through the years, the college has worked toward the success of her vision.

Many Winthrop alumnae are far away from home, but they continue to support their alma mater. For many alumnae, the Winthrop experience is the experience of a lifetime. They continue to believe in the values of the college and are proud to support it.

ATTAIN PROMINENCE

Winthrop alumnae have attained prominence in many fields. Some have made significant contributions to the arts, sciences, and society. Others have served in leadership roles in their communities and countries.

ASSOCIATIONS

Winthrop alumnae are part of a strong and thriving community. They continue to support the college and each other, sharing in the success and growth of Winthrop University.
Queens Make News Throughout Year At Winthrop

Frances King Will Reign As May Queen Of 1953

The first of May, many years ago, dawned warm and sunny near the Atlantic shore of the United States. In those days, victory was the all-important word, and the people of the nation were jubilant. The young maids of Winthrop High School were gathered in the school yard, ready to welcome the new May Queen, Frances King.

Frances King was chosen by her classmates as the May Queen of 1953. The ceremony was held in the school auditorium, where Frances was crowned by the former May Queen, Pat White. The students sang songs and danced in the school yard, welcoming Frances as their new queen.

Miss Hi Misses Visit Campus

Each year Winthrop honors its women students with a special week of activities. This year, the theme of the week was "Making a Difference," and the women students of Winthrop were encouraged to think about how they could make a positive impact on their community.

The week began with a visit from Miss America, who spoke to the students about the importance of service and community involvement. The students were also encouraged to participate in various activities, such as volunteering at local hospitals and food banks.

The week culminated in a special performance by the Winthrop Chorale, which sang songs about the power of women to make a difference in the world. The performance was followed by a reception at the Winthrop Inn, where the students were able to network and make new friends.

Dance Weekends Are ‘Big Seven’ Of Year

By PAT SACKELFORD

When you’re greeted with the scenes of a pantaloon filling with three bushels, a huge silver bell giving out the sounds of a horn, and a J wireless signal being sent out by the Winthrop girls, it usually means but one thing:

the Johnsonian wants three a year at the College.

First of the dance are student body dances, sponsored by the Student Government. They are preceded by a dance committee composed of two girls from each of the four classes and a dance committee chairman from the senior class. These girls oversee every detail of the dances from choosing the orchestra to ‘underestimating’ the crowd and have a hand in the planning of the dances.

Get ‘Big Name’ Band

Unusually at the Winthrop Christian Ball a “big name” reflected in record for an even more gala evening.

The Winthrop Ball, Mid-winter’s, and the Spring Formal are also well attended and bring glory to the campus. Wadsworth, Closing, Presbyterian College, Davidson, and Carolina turn out in force of special appeal to the freshmen and sophomores are their own “s-op” staged at Johnson Hall. Student attendance.

Modern Dance Students Present ‘The Wizard Of Oz’

At the conclusion of The Winthrop Student Council’s presentation of The Wizard of Oz,” a modern dance presentation of the famous child’s favorite, will be held. The Johnsonian is proud of the fact that Johnsonians are planning an evening of music and dance to be held on Saturday, February 22. Presenters for the evening will be: Miss Barbara H. Johnson, Miss Betty L. Johnson, Miss Betty L. Johnson, and Miss Betty L. Johnson. The evening will begin at 8 p.m. with music played by the Winthrop Dance Band. The program will include a variety of modern dances, including the popular tap dance and the “Witch’s March.” The evening will conclude with a special presentation of the classic film, The Wizard of Oz.”

In A “WINTER WONDERLAND” of soft blue lights, silver trees, and skater silhouettes Winthrop girls and their friends dance to the jazzy music of Ms. Trentholm, herself, at the annual Christmas Formal staged in the Dining Hall of the College.

Student Describes Tricks Of Fashion Seen On Campus

To say that our city blue and white dress is still in vogue would be a gross understatement. Walking girls and boys in the city have never been more picturesque. The gold and blue colors are everywhere, from the tassels on the caps to the ribbons on the shoes.

RHYTHM booms

This week with metallic effects in such colors, the city has become a veritable metropolis of fashion. The gold and blue colors are everywhere, from the tassels on the caps to the ribbons on the shoes.

December in the Western Wood

When the colored Percys, the colored singers, and the colored dancers take the stage, the city becomes a veritable metropolis of fashion. The gold and blue colors are everywhere, from the tassels on the caps to the ribbons on the shoes.

A CHANGE

As in years past, the changing of the guards in the city has become a veritable metropolis of fashion. The gold and blue colors are everywhere, from the tassels on the caps to the ribbons on the shoes.

The first Monday of each month is a high point in the city's fashion calendar. The gold and blue colors are everywhere, from the tassels on the caps to the ribbons on the shoes.

In the good old days cooking was an art, as well as a science, and was considered a social event. In the city, the art of cooking was a social event. The city is a veritable metropolis of fashion. The gold and blue colors are everywhere, from the tassels on the caps to the ribbons on the shoes.

'THE PRESS people, and I want to start this off right, the first time I've ever had a staff meeting, I'd like to welcome you all. I wouldn't have been here.

Mary Donaldson does not seem to care about the number of people who call her "Miss Donaldson."

She is the dean of women at Winthrop College, and she is always busy. She is responsible for the administration of the college, overseeing the lives of the students and ensuring that they are in accordance with the rules and regulations of the institution.

WINTHROP'S HISTORIC ADMINISTRATION BUILDING, constructed in 1894, is one of many activities at Winthrop. It houses the administrative offices, an auditorium, a federal post office, classrooms, a central heating plant, student activity rooms, and the main entrance.

The campus bell is in Winthrop's historic tower, which rises up from the top of this historic building. When Winthrop was first built, the original buildings were the Administration Building and one chemistry.

Winthrop History Reveals Great Growth, Progress

The Winthrop College campus is a microcosm of the growth and progress that has characterized the institution since its founding.

Winthrop's history began in 1853 when it was founded as the Union Female Seminary. In 1886, the college was renamed Winthrop Female College, and in 1908, it became coeducational.

The college has grown significantly in size and scope over the years. In 1953, the Johnson Administration Building was completed, and in 1959, the Johnson Science Building was opened.

Winthrop has continued to expand its facilities and programs, and today it is a comprehensive university with a diverse student body and a strong emphasis on research and service.

The college's beautiful campus is a reflection of its commitment to excellence in education and to providing a supportive and inclusive environment for all students.
The Winthrop Training School, built in 1932, is a hallmark of unusually beautiful architecture. It was built in accordance with the best teaching plan of the time, and both the building and grounds have been kept up-to-date to provide ideal facilities. The seven-acre grounds have been completely surrounded with a fence for the protection of the children. The area given over to tennis courts and other outdoor activities has been graded, and playground equipment has been put in good repair. As part of a general $75,000 improvement program at the Training School, a grammar has been added. Complete renovation of existing facilities, dressing and bathrooms is currently underway. This is a holding of over 50 rooms, including offices, auditoriums, laboratories, and classrooms for the kindergarten, the junior, and the high school.

Education Majors Put Theory Into Practice

Mary Lou Hooty, of San Francisco, a senior public school music major, is doing her practice teaching at the Winthrop Training School. She is teaching seventh grade boys and girls Christmas carols.

"Music can be a powerful tool in education," said the student. "It can help students express themselves, and it can also be a vehicle for improving their cognitive abilities. The Winthrop Training School offers a wonderful opportunity to put theory into practice."

Student Teacher, Jean Rosette Johnson, senior music major, of Fort Mill, is working with the Winthrop Training School. She is teaching elementary music classes and helping to prepare the Christmas concert.

"I love being able to put what I've learned in school into a real-world setting," said Johnson. "I'm thrilled to be working with such a dedicated group of students and teachers."
Winthrop furnishes the state with more women in the fields of teaching and secretarial work than any other college in the state. This is made possible by the popularity of the Commerce Department of the college, which offers several intensive fields of study.

The major fields open to the young woman today are teaching, secretarial work, and business administration. Two-year commerce majors receive certificates and Bachelor of Science degrees are awarded the four-year majors.

Future secretaries take dictation, bookkeeping, and actual office practice courses. All of the requirements of an office manager's office are found in the modern office equipment of the commerce department.

The office practice course, the best equipped in the South, is believed to be one of the finest in the United States. Business administration majors secure a general business knowledge, are well prepared for the wide field of opportunity open to them upon graduation.

Department Head Is Also Author

Dr. Harold Gilbreth founded Winthrop's Department of Business Administration and is also its Department Head. He has a great deal of practical experience in the field of management and is an expert in business administration and management theory.

Winthrop has one of the largest and most up-to-date offices in the South. It is equipped with all the latest secretarial and business equipment. The students are trained in the use of this equipment and are prepared for the modern office environment.

Winthrop's students are trained in the fields of accounting, bookkeeping, and business administration. They are well-prepared for the business world and are highly sought after by employers.

Winthrop's success is due to the fact that it offers a wide range of courses and programs that prepare students for a variety of careers. The college is well-equipped and has a dedicated faculty who are experts in their fields. Winthrop's graduates are respected and are in high demand in the business world.

Winthrop Has Ideal Home Economics Facilities

Department Is Leader In Homemaking Theory

By BETTY ROSS

A leader toward progressive education, Winthrop College's Home Economics Department was the first in the United States to establish a home management house which may run for six weeks just as if it were their own home.

For six weeks, the students of the Home Economics Department have been living here in the Home Management House under the instruction of Mrs. Betsy Ross, the head of the Home Economics Department.

The Home Management House is situated in a separate building and contains all the facilities of a home, including a kitchen, living room, bedroom, and bathroom. The students are responsible for managing the house, including cooking, cleaning, and laundry.

The students have regular classes in the morning, and in the afternoon they work in the Home Management House, preparing meals, cleaning, and doing laundry. They also have opportunities to practice their skills in various areas of homemaking, such as sewing, baking, and gardening.

The Home Management House is a valuable resource for preparing students for careers in homemaking and related fields, and it is a unique feature of the Home Economics Department at Winthrop College.

Girls Learn About Children at Nursery School

Only College In S. C.

With Nursery School

Winthrop is the only college in South Carolina that has a nursery school connected with the college. Twenty years ago on first floor and in the basement of Winthrop Hall, Winthrop began its first nursery school. This nursery was made of three rooms, and most of the equipment was homemade. Even the nursery school's first director was homemade.

The vandalism of the nursery school is this as attractive as the college and the dormitories. It has its own playground and facilities for children. The school has two rooms and especially toowhere to play. It has a place to eat, to rest. It is a place to play.

Music Is Important Department At Winthrop College

Teacher-Training, Extra-Curricular Use Are Two Objectives

Winthrop College is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and its degree programs are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The department of music is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools in the field of music. To secure this recognition, the department is required to meet certain standards established by the Association. The requirements include a well-balanced program of music study and a strong emphasis on the development of the individual student.

Training School Presents Program

The Winthrop Training School for Teachers, the Music Is Important Department at Winthrop College, sponsored the training school's first Christmas program. The program was designed to provide extra-curricular activities for students in the Teacher-Training program.

The purpose of the program was to provide an opportunity for students to develop their musical abilities and to gain experience in performing before an audience. The program included a variety of musical performances, including choral, instrumental, and solo performances.

The following organizations and persons assisted in the planning and production of the program:

- Winthrop Training School for Teachers
- Music Is Important Department
- Faculty advisors
- Student musicians

W.C.A. Touches Life Of Every Winthrop Student

Sponsors Religious Emphasis Week

By DOROTHY RANSEY

As one of the most active organizations on campus, the Winthrop Christian Association works to build a bridge of cooperation and support between the students and the Christian churches. Its religious emphasis week is held each year in February and is used as a tool for promoting Christian values and principles among the student body. The W.C.A. is able to touch the lives of all students through its various activities, including an annual picnic for freshmen and sophomore students, a religious emphasis week, and a devotional meeting at the end of each semester.

ACTIVITIES ARE NUMERABLE

The W.C.A. is composed of members from all walks of life. An active, involved, and committed group, the organization makes a difference in the lives of its members and contributes to the overall campus community. The activities of the association are endless, so students of all faiths are welcome to participate.

AMONG THE MANY

Among the many activities that make up the W.C.A., sponsors religious emphasis week. This event is an opportunity for students to come together as a community and share their faith with others. It is a chance to learn more about the Bible and the teachings of Jesus, as well as to share in the spiritual growth of the church. The event aims to bring students together and promote a closer relationship between the church and the student body. Students are encouraged to attend this event to gain a deeper understanding of their faith and to meet new friends who share the same beliefs.

WHEN REALIZED

The religious emphasis week is a time for students to reflect on their faith and to reconnect with their spiritual roots. It is a chance for students to come together and to share their faith with others. The event includes a devotional meeting at the end of each semester, which is a time for students to come together and to reflect on their faith.

HELPING FRESHMEN

A TAPE GROUP in McGowan Dormitory meets for a Christmas program. This group is sponsored by the Winthrop Christian Association, held every Thursday night in the dormitories.

CHIEF FRESHMAN COUNSELOR

An Winthrop College freshman counselor is in charge of the Freshman Counseling Office, which is responsible for the freshmen during the school year. The counselor is a valuable resource for freshmen, as they often have questions about college life and are unsure of how to navigate the college environment. The counselor is available to freshmen any time they need assistance, so freshmen should feel free to approach the counselor for help.

English Boners For Scrapbook

Life is interesting for Dr. Paul M. Wheeler, head of Winthrop's English Department. Dr. Wheeler's widely-dispersed boners keep him busy, but he always has time for pleasant conversation.

We recently interviewed Dr. Wheeler and his departmental members for the Scrapbook. Following is his interview:

"I think that English is something that people are reading and enjoying more and more today. The great names of the world, like Shakespeare, are still enjoyed by students. As a professor, I try to use current events in my classes." Dr. Wheeler said, "I think it is important for students to be aware of what is happening in the world."

"And I think that the English major is something that students can do in a variety of fields," Dr. Wheeler continued. "They can go into publishing, public relations, advertising, or even teaching. And they can do it at any level, from high school to college."
Psychology Prepares Girls
For Variety Of Careers,
For General Living

Psychology is the open door for careers for it is a young field. Three careers include positions in personnel work in industries and businesses, research, in guidance clinics, and in government work. Winston's Department of Psychology not only gives courses toward a career, but also these courses prepare students for general living.

A major in psychology includes 12 semester hours, and a minor is completed after taking 18 semester hours.

Girls contemplating majors in this field are encouraged to plan their studies so that the 12 hours may be included in their requirements. Psychology, the Exceptional Child, and Psychology of Adolescence contribute to an understanding of the development and personality of this age group.

A few of the other courses are Personality, Social, Abnormal, Applied, and Clinical Psychology. They give students principles and guidelines, stressing practical application.

The Psychology Laboratory at Rock Hill, South Carolina, is open once a week in connection with the general course in psychology.

Newspaper Office To Move

Sounds of the running machinery, the constant tapping of word-processing machines, the sight of man working feverishly to meet deadlines is now familiar to us all. The halls of the Administration Building are filled with the hum of activity as the second floor of the Administration Building is transformed into a new and modern Journalism Department.

The changes in the Journalism Department are not limited to the addition of a new radio studio and newspaper office. The Department has also welcomed a new faculty member, Dr. William Johnson, who has brought a fresh perspective to the field of journalism.

The new radio studio is equipped with state-of-the-art technology, allowing students to produce high-quality audio content. The newspaper office is being refurbished to accommodate the new influx of students and faculty.

Student Newspaper Is Free From Faculty Censorship

The Student Newspaper, previously subject to faculty censorship, is now free from such restrictions. The students have taken full control of the publication, ensuring that their voices are heard without interference.

Freshmen Have Chance To Work On Paper

Beginning students have been given the opportunity to contribute to the newspaper, allowing them to gain valuable experience and learn the ropes of journalism.

The girls broaden their general knowledge of their field through reading, discussion of mathematics contributing to mathematics, and through lectures.

Winthrop Graduate Holds High Position With Army

It was a lucky day for South Carolina, the State, and the fighting men in Korea when Nell decided she would major in home economics at Winthrop College. She is now chief of the Women's Medical Specialists Corps at the Army's headquarters, chief director in charge of all the Army's dietary and physical and occupational therapists. She visits all medical centers in this country and overseas at Okinawa, Guam, and the Far East—wherever there are hospitals.

Weeks In Far East

Col. Nell Wickliffe's experiences are available in her own red book for three years when she was chief dietitian of the Japan Strategic Command and director of the Diet Service Command. One of her jobs in Japan was being charge of all the food served to our wounded and sick from Korea. She also served the Quartermaster Corps in the acquisition of meals served to the United Nations troops in Korea.

Col. Wickliffe sent her first few changes in the food of the fighting men except that she did add more fruit to their diet. She commented that probably this wasn't her people with the men, but she thinks her.amounts were probably the same or better than her for the additional likes and vitamins that seem to be getting.

Receives Citation

For her standard display of efficient management, she was awarded the Legion of Merit. This citation reads in part: "The citation speaks in the highest terms of your dedication to the efficient operation of all hospitals throughout the command. . . . This effort assisted materially in the promotion of morale and services and formed the basis of a major contribution to the United States, Department of War." For this work, Air-Forces Joint Medical Department, she was awarded the Legion of Merit, which has been the permanent Army citation for this work. For this work, she was awarded the Legion of Merit, which has been the permanent Army citation for this work.

Winthrop College has paid tribute in her former daughters and grandchildren to her gift of the papers in which their work was done. She has said, "The opportunities for the outstanding women are complete in the work from which they have been one of the few included in the Army."

Over 100 Seniors Visit Winthrop For H.S. Weekend

More than 100 South Carolina high school senior girls accepted "Winthrop's" invitation to spend two days on the college campus during Winthrop's H.S. Weekend. Misses Elizabeth Staley, Winthrop's H.S. Coordinator, and Miss Betty Allen, Assistant Coordinator, both of Winthrop's Department of Student Activities, were responsible for the promotion and success of the weekend. Miss Staley attended many of the high school's cultural and social events to scout Winthrop's campus and facilities. A student discussion on present-day social problems was arranged for the girls.

The Senate is Winthrop's Legislative Body

The Senate is the legislative body of Winthrop College, consisting of 30 members elected by the student body. It holds regular meetings to discuss and vote on bills submitted by the students. The Senate has the power to amend or reject the bills presented by the Student Government Association. It also acts as a liaison between the student body and the administration of Winthrop College. The Senate is responsible for the budget allocation, the organization of events, and the representation of student interests. It is a vital part of the democratic process at Winthrop College.

Seniors Place First In Annual Classes Night

Sophomores Again Place Second

A GROUP OF COLLEGE GIRLS came to view the lives of chorus girls in the senior class skill. All classes used the theme, "Opportunities Unlimited". The senior skit was colorful with music and dancing.

THE SOPHOMORE SKIT was built around the theme "Opportunities Unlimited", No. 55. The class officers, in the center, led other cars labeled art, business, and education.

JOYCE JACKSON, senior class cheerleader, made an unusual entrance to help her classes win Classes Night. Joyce hung from a rope and was lowered to the stage to call the seniors in from the back of the auditorium.

THE JUNIORS were all dressed up to go to a dance—-to elect the first woman president. Proclaimed the inventor of ephedrine, "Jeanie Bell" ran on the platform of health diet, for, and by the people.

THE FRESHMAN SKIT was a demonstration of "medicine for the masses", emphasizing the unlimited opportunities in the future. Here Barbara Jean Fenn, Mary-Joie Howell and Patty Shackelford demonstrated a dance, a certain brand of aspirin.

IN THE FRESHMAN SKIT these girls were dressed as real rats who had heard of an opportunity, saw an opportunity, and had spoken of no opportunity.
