The Johnsonian Proudly Presents

Noted Persons At Winthrop

Winthrop students have the opportunity to enjoy many visiting artist and lecturer programs throughout the year. This week, the Johnsonian proudly presents a few of the special events that have been scheduled. Here are a few highlights:

Dance Forum

Winthrop College held a weekly dance forum this week. The dance forum was held in the Student Center, and was attended by a large number of students. The forum featured a dance performance by the College Dance Ensemble, and a discussion of dance theory and history. The forum was moderated by Professor Mary Johnson, who is an expert on dance history.

 Administration Building Hostess

Greet Visiting Artists, Lecturers

Mrs. Jessie Meadsway, secretary of the Administration Building, welcomed visiting artists and lecturers to the college. Mrs. Meadsway greeted each visitor personally, and ensured that they were comfortably seated and had everything they needed for their presentations.

POLITICS, COLLEGE STUDENTS, KOREA

Mrs. Ruth Ewing Boiles, former U.S. representative to the United Nations, discussed the current political situation in Korea with a group of students. Mrs. Boiles visited the campus on a lecture tour and discussed her experiences and insights on the topic.

Winthrop Bursar Believes

Founders’ Dream Came True

Manager Artist, Lecture Series

A M. GRAHAM, college bursar, has his own Winthrop tradition, as releasing every Monday afternoon over a cup of coffee in the Johnsonian office, Graham enjoys the company of the Winthrop girls there. Mr. Graham has a chance to tell some of his favorite jokes.

EMERITUS AS Assistant

Mr. Gra, m, assistant professor of the Department of Economics, is assisting the Johnsonian office in various capacities, including the preparation of the weekly edition. Mr. Gra, is a well-known economist and has been a fixture on the Winthrop campus for many years.

WINNIES CLUSTER AROUND

Sunny Side—perhaps to learn some of the finer points of writing—will be held this evening in the Johnsonian office. The-Winners cluster around the editor, discussing all aspects of the newspaper.

PREPARING FOR THE SAT. NIGHT MOVIE

On campus, J. A. Hutchins, director of the Maintenance Department, is making preparations for the movie. This is only one phase of Mr. Hutchins’ work.

The Johnsonian Honors

S. C. Miss Hi Misses

The Miss Hi Misses competition continued this week, with several candidates vying for the title. The competition is held annually to honor the most outstanding students at Winthrop College.

Ballet Russe

The Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, the famous Russian dance company, captivated the audience with their renowned performances. The performance was held in the college auditorium, and was attended by a large number of students and faculty.

Mrs. Rehfeld Visited the Campus on a Lecture Tour

Mrs. Rehfeld, who is a well-known author and speaker, visited the campus as part of the lecture tour. Mrs. Rehfeld is a noted scholar and has written extensively on various topics.

The Johnsonian, founded in 1953, is the official newspaper of Winthrop College. The newspaper is published weekly and covers issues related to the college community. The Johnsonian is a valuable resource for students, faculty, and alumni who seek to stay informed about Winthrop College news and events.

Winnies Flock To Modern Canteen In Slack Moments

Students' Post Office, Bank Give Maximum Convenience

Winnipesaukee modern canteen has often been called the "Cradle of Comfort" because of its ability to serve so many students between classes for a cup of coffee or a tin of coffee and a bit of attention on the latest issue. The canteen is also the place where one can enjoy a bite, read the mail, catch up on the latest gossip, or even finish the next class assignment.

The canteen, built in 1927 and seating 52 people, is thoroughly modern. It is equipped with two self-service fountainets, cabinets, a deep freezer, automatic coffee maker, napkin dispenser, and candy counter.

The canteen is operated by the students in a self-service capacity and employs three waitresses. A few students have part-time jobs here.

Faculty, as well as students, find the canteen a favorite spot for rest and refreshment from the laboratories and lecture rooms—place where they can contemplate world affairs, or discuss the latest bell gong.

MEETING AT CANTENE is by no means the less of the Winches' domicile. The informality of the canteen, refreshments, and chatting with friends, make it one of the favorite spots on campus. Winthrop Students Become Active In Red Cross

Winthrop College Red Cross chapter is the campus office of the American Red Cross, serving the Charlotte community. The Red Cross chapter's activities include blood drives, first aid training, and community service projects. Red Cross chapters provide a way for individuals to get involved in Red Cross activities and make a difference in their communities. In addition to blood drives, the chapter also conducts training sessions for first aid and CPR.

Famous Shaw Chorale Performs Here

The Famous Shaw Chorale performs a variety of musical selections, from traditional pieces to contemporary compositions. The group is known for its high level of musicality and artistic excellence, and has performed at numerous events and venues across the country. The chorale's repertoire includes works by composers such as Bach, Mozart, and Beethoven, as well as modern pieces by living composers.

Pastor Explains Revised Bible

Pastor explains the revised King James Bible, the new translation of the Revised Standard Version, as it is presented in the King James Bible. The new translation is designed to be more accurate and understandable, with clearer language and updated terminology. The pastor's explanations aim to help the congregation better understand the scriptures and their significance in their lives.

Carmen' Opens Artistic Series

Carmen' opens the artistic series at Winthrop College. The production is the first of its kind at the college and is directed by associate professor of drama, Dr. Richard Ells. The production is performed by the college's drama department and features a cast of talented students under the guidance of experienced faculty members.

Teacher Writes Article

Miss Ailse, head of the physical education department at Winthrop, wrote an article which appeared in the January 16, 1953, volume of "The Link" for Special Physical Education students. The article was published in "The Link" for Special Physical Education students and was intended to encourage and support these students in their studies and in any other activities they may pursue.
Senior Order Is Top Honorary Organization

Dignified Order Has Lighter Moments

By JOHNNIE DAVIS

Senior Order, Washington's most distinguished honorary organization, staged its annual series of activities during the past year, with emphasis on new and lighter methods of presenting old college traditions.

Although informal initiation varied from school to school, the basic requirements remained the same. The new Junior Class was initiated to present the theme of the order for the year. The theme, "The Quality of Life," was presented by the new Junior Class, "The Quality of Life," was presented by the new Junior Class, "The Quality of Life," was presented by the new Junior Class.

Many Students Earn While They Learn

WINTHROP DAUGHTERS WORK ON ALL CONTINENTS

"The Sun Never Sets on Winthrop Daughters." This statement is apt as we know it was true when D. E. Johnson first wrote it some thirty years ago. In 1924, he said that Winthrop women were far away and not just in the United States. In those early years, women were not only working in schools, but were also teaching in foreign countries. Today, there are Winthrop Daughters all over the world, from Japan to South Africa, from Australia to Europe.

Winthrop alumnae are not just in the States. They include graduates from around the world. The majority of them are in the United States, but there are also alumnae in Canada, Mexico, Argentina, Australia, and New Zealand. Many alumnae have returned to the States after working abroad, and have continued their studies or careers. There are also alumnae who have returned to Winthrop to teach or work in the alumni office.

The camaraderie of the alumnae for their Board is a win-win situation in any event because it provides a forum for alumnae to gather and bond.

HONOR SENIOR GIRLS FROM SOUTH CAROLINA

Miss H. C. Williams presented on May 15 the presentation with the seniors and their families. This was the third annual presentation of the seniors at Winthrop College, and it was a great success. The seniors were presented with their diplomas and certificates, and they were given a standing ovation by the audience.

The presentation was held in the Alumni Hall, and it was attended by the entire student body, as well as by the faculty and staff. Dance Weekends Are 'Big Seven' Of Year

By PAT SHACKELFORD

When you're greeted with the scenes of a masquerade filling a large ballroom, a large silver ball going in the Arenas of Winthrop, you are in one of the biggest affairs of the school year. These affairs are not just for the Winthrop girls; it usually means but one thing— the biggest weekend of the year at the College.

First of all the students are student body dancers, sponsored by the Student Government Association. They are prepared by a dance committee composed of four girls from each of the four classes and a dance committee chairman from the senior class. These girls oversee every detail of the dances from choosing the orchestra to understanding the lessons the students are teaching in the ballroom.

The "Big Nine" of The Johnsonian Honors Society, Misses Miss Hi Misses, are responsible for the arrangements of the senior body of Winthrop College. They are left to black and white in the senior body of Winthrop College.

The Johnsonian Honors S. C.'s Miss Hi Misses

Evidence and insights into the character of the senior body of Winthrop College are gained through their efforts. These efforts are truly of the highest order.

JANECE DOSCHER Misses Miss Hi Misses for the senior class, president of the senior class, student body president, and a member of the student body executive committee.

ANNE SATRIDGE Misses Miss Hi Misses for the junior class, co-president, student council, and a member of the student council executive committee.

PATSY COOK Misses Miss Hi Misses for the sophomore class, co-president of the sophomore class, student body executive committee.

GLADYS COOK Misses Miss Hi Misses for the freshman class, secretary, student body executive committee.

Virginia Warren of Lander (Secretary of Student Government) and Teddy Worth of Lander were honored as Misses Miss Hi Misses in the Johnsonian Honors Society.

Dean Of Women Receives Admiration Of Winthrop Girls

President Sims Writes Open Letter

Winthrop's Historic Administration Building

By AILEEN WHITI

"I like people, and it's a mission to try to make the best possible conditions for them," says Miss Donaldson. "I'd like to think that I'm doing a job I like. I wouldn't have this job if it weren't for the people." Miss Donaldson's kindness to the students is apparent to everyone who knows her. She always has time to listen to their problems and give them advice.

Winthrop's Fourth President

HENRY BURCLIFFE SIMS, Winthrop's fourth president, accepted presidency of the college in 1944. In 1914, at the age of 21, he presented his father as an officer of the Grocery Stores Times and Democratic. He was elected to the South Carolina Senate in 1916 and served there until he came to Winthrop.

Vast Improvements Being Made
In Buildings, Facilities, Grounds

"The new building, the residence hall, will be opened to the students," says Miss Donaldson. "It will be a great improvement in the living conditions for the students." The residence hall is being built to accommodate the increasing number of students at Winthrop.

Winthrop Story Is Unfolded
In These Pages

"The story of Winthrop College is the story of its students," says Miss Donaldson. "It is a story of the progress and growth of the college, and of the students who have made it possible." The college has been in existence for 100 years, and has grown from a small school to a large institution with many students.

Winthrop's Historic Administration Building

Built in 1914, the Administration Building is the center of many activities at Winthrop. It houses the administrative offices, auditorium, faculty and staff offices, classrooms, television room, student activity center, and the museum.

The center of the Administration Building is the auditorium, which seats 500 people. The auditorium is used for concerts, lectures, and other events. The museum, located on the second floor, contains a collection of historical artifacts and memorabilia.

The museum also includes a library, which is open to students and the public. The library contains a collection of books, periodicals, and other materials related to the history of Winthrop College.

Winthrop's Historic Administration Building

The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on weekends. It is closed on Sundays. The museum is free to the public and does not require reservations.

Winthrop History Reveals Great Growth, Progress

It began with an idea’s dream, the opening year, a find! It was received with open arms. The first word was its heart. Isolated and without a home, it was received into the South Carolina landscape and educated to be a beloved sister. It had a distinct character. It was a vital force in the state, and its influence was far-reaching. It was a beacon of hope, a symbol of strength, and a source of inspiration. Today, Winthrop stands as a monument to the dreamers and visionaries of the past.

From a total enrollment of 41 students in 1902, the school has grown to a present enrollment of 2,500. The growth has been steady and consistent, with the school reaching its current size of 1,000 students in 1950. The campus has expanded to include dormitory facilities, a library, a gymnasium, and a variety of academic buildings.

The school’s athletic program has also expanded, with teams in basketball, baseball, football, and soccer. The school has produced a number of athletes who have gone on to compete at the collegiate level.

In conclusion, Winthrop University has grown from a small institution to a respected and well-known school. The institution continues to provide a strong educational experience for its students, and it remains a vital part of the South Carolina community.

Winthrop furnishes the state with more women in the fields of teaching and secretarial work than any other college in the state. This initial fact results from the popularity of the Commerce Department of the college, which offers several extensive fields of study.

The major fields open to the young career woman today are teaching, secretarial work, and business administration. Two-year commerce medals receive certificates and Bachelor of Science degrees are awarded the four-year majors. Future secretaries take dictation, bookkeeping, and actual office practice courses. All of the conveniences of an office department are found in the student office equipment of the commerce department.

The office practice course, the best equipped in the South, is believed to be one of the finest in the United States. Business administration majors receive a general business knowledge, and are well-prepared for the wide field of opportunity open to them upon graduation.

WOMEN LEARN HOW TO MAKE PHOTOGRAPHS

"Photography is a simple way to express yourself, to capture memories, or just to have fun. It's a way to be creative!"

This statement is shared by many of the women who are majoring in photography at Winthrop College. They are learning the basics of photography, such as how to use a camera, how to compose a photograph, and how to develop film. They are also learning about the history of photography, the art of photography, and the business of photography. They are learning about the various types of photography, such as portrait photography, landscape photography, and photojournalism.

Winthrop Has Ideal Home Economics Facilities

Department Is Leader In Homemaking Theory

By BETSY ROSS

A leader toward progressive education, Winthrop College's Home Economics Department was the first in the United States to establish a home management house which may run for six weeks just as if it were their own home.

Through the Home Economics Department, Winthrop College students have the opportunity to participate in the actual running of the housekeeping chores within the Comfort House, a life-like home management house. The students actually live in this house and it is equipped with all the furnishings and utensils of a real home.

The Comfort House is a challenging experience for the students who live there. It provides an opportunity for them to apply the theories they have learned in the classroom to practical situations.

In the summer months, the Comfort House provides a unique opportunity for the students to earn college credit while gaining practical experience in the field of home economics.

The Comfort House is a living laboratory for the students, who are able to apply the theories they have learned in the classroom to practical situations. The students are responsible for all aspects of housekeeping, from cooking and cleaning to laundry and landscaping.

The Comfort House is equipped with all the necessary appliances and utensils, and the students are able to cook and serve meals, wash clothes, and care for the garden. The house is furnished with all the same amenities as a real home, providing a realistic environment for the students to practice their skills.

The Comfort House is a unique and valuable resource for the Home Economics Department, offering students a hands-on learning experience that prepares them for real-world challenges in the field of home economics.

Other organizations may hire interns or offer opportunities for students to gain practical experience, but the Comfort House provides a more comprehensive and immersive experience that prepares students for the demands of the field.

In conclusion, the Comfort House is an exemplary program that prepares students for their future careers in home economics. Through this unique living laboratory, students are provided with the opportunity to apply their knowledge and skills in a practical setting, preparing them for success in their professional lives.

The Comfort House is a testament to the dedication of the Home Economics Department at Winthrop College, and its role in preparing students for success in the field of home economics.

Girls Learn About Children at Nursery School

Only College In S. C. With Nursery School

Winthrop is the only college in South Carolina that has a nursery school connected with the college. Twenty years ago on the first floor and in the basement of Winthrop Hall, Winthrop began its first nursery school. This nursery was made of three rooms, and most of the equipment was homemade. Even the observation booth was homemade.

In 1904 the nursery was moved to the basement of the old Winthrop Hall. It was then moved to the first floor and in the basement of the old Winthrop Hall. In this nursery there were only three rooms, and most of the equipment was homemade. The nursery school was connected with the college, and the children were cared for by nursery school students. The nursery school was run by the college, and the children were cared for by nursery school students.

Music Is Important Department At Winthrop College

Teacher-Training, Extra-Curricular Use Are Two Objectives

Winthrop College is a member of the Southern Association of Colleges and has in its degree courses and academic procedure the usual liberal education prepared for teaching positions in secondary schools and colleges. The department of music is equipped with the character and equipment of high order, and instruction and training in music is given to those who want it in their preparation for the profession. To enable all other students to participate in music to the extent which their time permits, the music department has organized several organizations which are open to every student who is interested in music. These organizations include regular practice groups, and extra-curricular organizations.

Training School Presents Pageant

The Winthrop Training School presented a Christmas pageant. The program was designed to give the students practice in the art of music and to provide a means for them to participate in music. The following organizations were represented:

- Senior choir
- Junior choir
- Mixed choir
- Concert choir
- Glee club
- Orchestra

The programs of the pageant were: a) The famous Christmas carols, b) Selections from the literature of Christmas, c) Selections from the literature of the Bible. The program was under the direction of Miss Katherine Pfahl.

The pageant was an event of great significance, and it was conducted with great success. The students were enthusiastic and the program was received with great appreciation by the audience.

The MODERN WELL-EQUIPPED CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC. In addition to the practice room, the conservatory contains a music director's office, the large auditorium, a library, classrooms, and a music room. The conservatory is equipped with the latest in music equipment.

AN IMPRESSIVE commercial concert program opened the Christmas season at Winthrop. This program, organized by the music department, was well-received by the audience. The program was composed of carols, songs, and music from the literature of Christmas. The program was conducted by Miss Katherine Pfahl.

The program was well-received by the audience and was considered a success. The students were enthusiastic and the program was received with great appreciation by the audience.

Music practical was famous, and the program was designed to provide the students with an opportunity to exhibit their skills and talents.

Winthrop's Library Expands In Size, Equipment, Service

By DOROTHY RAMSEY

From a three-room compartment on the second floor of Main Building in 1928 to a significant addition with 16 rooms in 1932 is the story of Winthrop's Carnegie Library. The first library was located in the present Commerce Department and contained one large reading room and two smaller ones. At this time there was only one librarian who could use the 50 book stacks.

Washington's Signature in Library

A silver spoon bearing the name of George Washington has been found in Washington's Library, which was removed from Washington, D.C., to the Library of Congress. A silver spoon has been in the Library of Congress since 1910, when it was discovered in a box of books donated by a friend of the Library.

The silver spoon was found in the Library's collection of manuscripts, which dates back to the 17th century. It was given to the Library by a friend of the Library, who had been a slave in the Library's collection.

Winthrop's Library Enlargement

The Library is now located in a newly constructed building on the campus of Winthrop College, and is operated by a full-time librarian. The new library has a capacity of 10,000 books and is equipped with modern library equipment.

Librarians are in Demand

The job market for librarians is growing, with many libraries expanding their services and increasing their budgets. Librarians are in high demand, and there are many opportunities for those interested in this field.

W.C.A. Touches Life Of Every Winthrop Student

Sponsors Religious Emphasis Week

By DOROTHY BANSEY

As one of the most active organizations on campus, the Winthrop Christian Association strives to touch the lives of the Winthrop students. It is through the Christian emphasis week that W.C.A. is able to touch the lives of all students, regardless of their beliefs or lack thereof.

TOUCHES SPONSORS RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK

With the support of the sponsors of Religious Emphasis Week, W.C.A. is able to reach out to all students, regardless of their faith. This week-long event is filled with activities that aim to foster spiritual growth and deepen connections among students.

ACTIVITIES ARE STRESSES

The week is filled with activities that emphasize the importance of spirituality and community. From morning prayers to evening discussions, students are encouraged to engage with one another and reflect on their faith.

MORE THAN A WEEK

Religious Emphasis Week is not just a week of activities. It is a reminder of the continuous effort to foster a spiritual community on campus.

TO SERVE THE PRESENT AGE

Is Theme Of Special Week

The theme for this year is "To Serve the Present Age." This idea is reflected in the various activities and discussions throughout the week.

P. E. MAJORS' OPPORTUNITIES BECOME WIDER, MORE VARIED

The entrance of spring and the making ready for new seasons always means a change in the rosters of school activities. Generally, this change takes place about the eighth grade. By the beginning of May, about 150 members are in the official school activities; a number of activities are being prepared for the summer season. In order to prepare for the summer season, the activities have been divided into three parts: those activities that are purely academic, those activities that are recreational, and those activities that are social. The academic activities are the most important, as they provide the foundation for future success in college and career. The recreational activities are also important, as they provide a chance for students to relax and enjoy themselves. The social activities are important, as they provide a chance for students to make new friends and to socialize with their peers.

The Johnsonian is a literary and cultural magazine that publishes articles, poetry, fiction, and other creative writing. The magazine is published by the students of Winthrop College, and it is edited by a team of students and faculty members. The Johnsonian is a great way for students to get involved in the literary and cultural scene on campus, and it provides a platform for students to share their creative work.

HONOR SENIOR GIRLS FROM SOUTH CAROLINA

Winthrop College is proud to honor its senior girls from South Carolina. These girls have demonstrated exceptional academic achievement and leadership, and they are an inspiration to their peers. The college will celebrate their achievements at a special ceremony, where they will receive recognition and praise from faculty and staff members.

THE NIGHT REPORT

Winthrop girls go home for Christmas vacation, they gather around the Christmas tree on front campus and sing carols. Foreign language classes sing carols from other countries.
English Dept. Provides Career Foundation

Literature Appreciation Another Goal
A reprinted segment of "What is an English major do after graduation from college?" states this answer, words to the wise, in his "Future of English Studies in the University" article in the April 1953 issue of The New England Journal of Higher Education. Dr. Paul Minnigerode, head of the English Department, Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S. C., tells the story of his department's growth in terms of instruction and student enrollment.

Department Head Collects English Boners For Scrapbook

Life is interesting for Dr. Paul Minnigerode, head of Winthrop's English Department. Dr. Winthrop is a widely-discounted, sharp-tongued boner that has been in circulation for many years. It is not uncommon to find Dr. Winthrop in a discussion with a student or faculty member, both of whom are eager to learn more about the English Department at Winthrop College.

 Hundreds of 1953-1954 English Department boners have been collected and will be displayed at the annual boner show, which is scheduled to take place in January. The show will feature a wide variety of boners, ranging from humorous to serious, and will be a must-see for anyone interested in the English Department.

Psychology Prepares Girls For Variety Of Careers, For General Living

Psychology is an open field for careers if it is a young field. These careers include positions in personnel work in industries and businesses, in research, guidance clinics, and in government work. Washington's Department of Psychology not only gives courses toward a career, but also these courses prepare students for general living.

A major in psychology includes 12 semester hours, with a minor completed after taking 18 semester hours.

Girls contemplating majoring in psychology should consult their guidance counselors or the professor of psychology before planning their course of study. Psychology, the Exceptional Child, and Psychology of Abnormal Behavior contribute to an understanding of the development and personality of this age group.

A few of the other courses are Personality, Social, Abnormal, Applied and Clinical Psychology. They give students principles and guidance, stressing practical application.

A course in Psychological Measurements is a survey of the field of psychological tests. Students in this class get practical experience by actually administering tests to individuals and by observing trained examiners.

Winthrop Is Host To State Meeting

The Johnsonian Honors N. C.'s Miss Hi Misses

Members of the Johnsonian Club have presented programs at the annual meeting of the National Benevolent Association, which was held in Asheville, N. C., last week.

High school students in North Carolina were among those who participated in the meeting, which was held in Winthrop College in that state. The program featured several speakers, including Dr. L. E. Johnson, president of the college, and Dr. J. E. Marr, secretary of the association.

The Johnsonian has been the official newspaper of the school since 1924, and has been produced by students under the guidance of the faculty. The paper is published bi-weekly and covers news and events on campus.

Speaker Warns Against Quacks

Dr. Charles A. Deane, one of the foremost authorities on sociological research, spoke at the meeting of the National Benevolent Association in Winthrop College last week.

Deane, who is director of the Sociology Department at the University of North Carolina, said that quacks are a serious problem and that they should be challenged.

"Quacks," he said, "are those who claim to have special knowledge or power, but who in reality have none. They may be found in medicine, religion, politics, and other fields. They are a danger to society because they can cause harm to those who believe in them.

Deane said that the public should be aware of quacks and should not be fooled by their claims. He also said that the government should do more to regulate the activities of quacks.

Sociology Students Study Divorce Rates & Real Estate

Information on divorce rates and real estate values in North Carolina was presented by Dr. E. F. Johnson, head of the Sociology Department, at the meeting of the National Benevolent Association in Winthrop College last week.

Johnson said that divorce rates have been increasing in North Carolina, and that this is a serious problem.

He also said that real estate values have been fluctuating, and that this is another serious problem.

Johnson recommended that the government do more to regulate the activities of quacks, and that the public should be aware of the dangers of quacks.

When I use people, I talk too much, but I learn from them and I can't control what they're saying and what they're doing, so I have to be careful.

Col. Nell Wickliffe, a Winthrop graduate, is in charge of all the Army's activities and physical and occupational therapist. She works around the world—wherever there are hospitals.

Winthrop Graduate Holds High Position With Army

It was a lucky day for South Carolina, the United States, and the fighting men in Korea when Nell Wickliffe decided she would major in home economics at Winthrop College. For today she is Col. Wickliffe, chief of the Women's Medical Specialties Corps. As head of the WMS, Col. Wickliffe is in charge of all the Army's activities and physical and occupational therapists. She visits all medical centers in this country and overseas at Okinawa, Guam, and the Far East—whenever there are hospitals.

Weeks In Far East

Col. Wickliffe's experiences are available in her own job. For three years she was chief director of the Japan Expeditionary Force and director of the Philippine Expeditionary Force. Of her job in Japan were having charge of all the food served to our wounded and sick men. She also started the Quartermaster Corps on the adequacy of meals served to the United Nations troops in Japan.

Col. Wickliffe said she made many changes in the food of the fighting men except that she did add more rice to their diet. She commented that probably this wasn't her idea, but she thought the change would please them, for the additional rice and vegetable is the secret of getting the food down.

Johnson Hall, named for its two variously-named benefactors, is one of the most important buildings on the campus because of its multiple purposes. The hall is designed to be a social center of the college and to encourage students to participate in a wide range of activities. The hall's design includes a large auditorium, a small chapel, a library, a dining hall, and several smaller rooms for meetings and study. The auditorium is equipped with modern audiovisual equipment, including a large television screen. The hall is open to students at all times, and it offers a variety of activities and events to promote social interaction and personal growth.

Seniors Place First In Annual Classes Night

Sophomores Again Place Second

A GROUP OF COLLEGE GIRLS came to view the lives of chorus girls in the senior class skit. All classes used the theme, "Opportunities Unlimited." The senior skit was colorful with music and dancing.

JOYCE JACKSON, senior class class leader, made an unusual entrance to help her class win Classes Night. Joyce hung from a rope and was lowered to the stage to call the seniors in from the back of the auditorium.

THE JUNIOR SKIT was a demonstration of "medicine for the masses," emphasizing the unlimited opportunities in the future. Here Barbara Jean Ferro, Marjorie Howell and Patty Shackleford dramatize, in a dance, a certain brand of aspirin.

THE JUNIORS were all dressed up and went to a demonstration—on effect the first woman president. Proclaimed the inventor of erythrophyll, "Jesus Bell" ran on the platform of health of, for, and by the people.

IN THE FRESHMEN SKIT these girls were dressed as real rats who had heard of an opportunity, saw an opportunity, and had spoken of no opportunity.
