WHAT A NATION WANTS'
SERMON BY DR. SHEPPERSON

DUTCH PROPHECY

What A Nation Wants

Dr. Thomas Shepperdon, Secretary of the Board, in his sermon last Sunday, said that this Liberty Week was to begin with the words of the Bible: "Give an Individual an Individual a Good Job and he will go to Sleep." He explained that if a nation wants its future, it must give an individual a job, not just "something to do," but a real job, a job that is needed and that will make him important to society.

The man with a soft job lived from hand to day, and in the end he could not sleep. The man with a job went to the manufacture of goods, to the development of industries, to the building of public works. He became a part of something bigger than himself, and he had a stake in the future.

The speaker said that the United States was faced with a decision. It could continue to subsidize things that did not matter, or it could give real jobs to its people. He warned that the country could not afford to sleep, that it must wake up and work hard for its future.

The sermon ended with a call to action:
"Give an Individual a Good Job and he will go to Sleep."
