TUESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1925

While not a citizen of Chester county yet the fact remains that the passing of Mr. James B. Duke, in New York City, Saturday evening, means a distinct loss to our county. When we consider the Southern Power Company, the Southern Public Utilities Company, the Republic Cotton Mills, etc., in which Mr. Duke was greatly interested, and the building of which has meant so much to the prosperity of Chester county, it is not surprising that his passing is our loss. Mr. Duke was really a big man. He was blessed with material things and with this equipment he developed, thereby creating employment for thousands in this section of the county. Only a few months ago he gave away millions of dollars and so arranged matters that the investment of these millions will go on doing good to the people of this section. A truly wonderful man who most excellently fitted himself to go to his reward. We mourn his loss.

OBSERVE THE HOG.

The hog has been maligned and libeled, according to John M. Evard, professor of animal husbandry of Iowa State College.

But human beings can learn a lesson from the hog, according to the educator, who advises those who want to learn how to keep fat and fit, to study the occupants of the sty.

Years ago the hog was a slender, bony fellow, when the business of rooting for a living was more serious than it is now. Then man took him in hand and made his life easy—and now look at him.

All this is because farmers treat hogs more like humans. Hogs have profited by being domesticated, but some people with all their superior ability, have not learned as much as the hog.

The hog is possessed of the same traits as man and he isn't any less intelligent than the man, the horse in reasoning power.

So let's give the hog credit for knowing something of his opportunities, which is more than can be said of people who waste obscure their talents.

Predictions that you don't bet on are the ones that come true.

GANG MOVING TODAY

County Board of Commissioners Today Moving Chain Gang, to Calhoun Highway to Complete Road Which State Highway Department Will Pay for Excepting Topsoil.

Mr. Holmes Harden, chairman of the County Board of Directors, on Saturday submitted to the other members of the board a contract offered Chester county by Adminal McGowan of the State Highway Department, with reference to the building of the unpaved section of the Calhoun Highway on the Fish Dam road to Broad River. The other members of the board voted that the contract be accepted. The county chieftain is today being moved to the road above mentioned and will go to work at once in completing same to the State. It is understood that the State Highway will not pay for the topsoil in view of the fact that the Calhoun Highway is listed as being one of the roads which is to be eventually hard-surfaced, and the topsoiling will have to be done by Chester county.

The letter from Adminal McGowan to Mr. Harden follows: Mr. W. Holmes Harden, Chairman Chester County Board of Directors, Chester, S. C.

My Dear Mr. Chairman—Confirming the verbal understanding reached here today between you and Mr. Worthing representing Chester county, and the State Highway Engineer, representing the Highway Department, you are authorized to proceed with the construction of Federal Aid Project 235-B, using your county for carrying the project entirely to completion with the following understanding:

1. The Highway Department agrees to pay the whole cost of this work, excluding top soil surfacing, not exceeding $30,000.00.

2. The Highway Department agrees to pay the following unit prices for the different items:

Clearing and grubbing, $700.00 per acre; Common excavation 25 cents; Rock excavation, $1.30; Top soil, no charge; Class "A" concrete, $25.50; Class "B" concrete, $19.00; Best steel, 60 lbs, $15.15; Pipe 18 inches, $1.70; Pipe 24 inches, $2.40; Pipe 30 inches, $4.00; Pipe 36 inches, $5.00; Guard rail, 68 cents.

It is understood that the county will supply funds for the cost of the following material and charge to the Highway Department.

It is understood that the first estimate, on which you expect payment from the Highway Department, will not be presented for payment until after 1 January, 1926.

A detailed estimate of quantities and cost is being prepared and will be forwarded to you within the next few days.

Please accept the conditions outlined above by letter at your earliest convenience.

Yours faithfully, S. Samuel McGowan, Chief Highway Commissioner.

BERT SWOR WITH FIELD MINSTRELS AGAIN

America's Premier Blackface Comedian, Returns to Al. C. Field Minstrel in New 30th Annual Edition.

Bert Swor, who has for years held the title of "America's premier black-face comedian," has signed on the dotted line and will be seen again this season with the Al. C. Field Minstrel.

The improvement alone is enough to cause joy in the hearts of all mineral lovers, for Swor has gained such great popularity in his chosen work, or rather, play, that there is hardly a city, town or village in the country that has not heard of him. His return to the Field banner in the 30th year of its continued success and popularity, is significant, for it seems that Swor must return sooner or later to the organization he has spent so much time with.

His career with the Field show began in 1911 and he stayed until 1918, when he left for two years in vaudeville. He returned again in 1920, and has been here three years, and since that time has been appearing on the big vaudeville circuits.

Jack Richards and Billy Church, America's sweetest singers, will present new and pleasing songs; directors, other members of the cast are Harry Frankel, Johnny Healy, Billy and Loren, Jack Kennedy and Joe McFee.

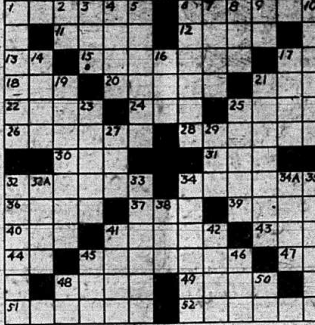

John M. Leopold and his orchestra add greatly to the general effectiveness of this year's production.

Stenciled to Ten Months.

A prohibition case of a more or less interest tried at Chester last week was that of the State vs. J. W. Chauncey of Great Falls. The case was watched by many from start to finish. It will be recalled that a mistrial occurred in a previous trial of Chauncey.

The jury in the case brought in a verdict of guilty and Saturday morning Judge Featherston called for Chauncey and after giving him a lecture sentenced him to serve fifteen months at Great Falls, as he is able to perform, all of which is to be suspended except ten months.

PUG DOGS

What has become of the pug dog that once wore the sign of affluence that graced the hearth-tops of many homes—that were a mark of aristocracy?

A New York newspaper writer says there's not only two pug dogs in New York City. How? He knows it beyond comprehension, but if he's right, it's useless to try to locate a pug dog in Chester county.

Think what the present generation is missing in not having a pug dog might be appreciated. A pug dog was just a pug dog—and that's about all that could be said for it. He derived his name from the fact, evidently, that he had a pug nose. Or perhaps pug noses got their name from pug dogs. "That's too long the world."—Blair Bellco.

Winchester, Va.—The Arthur C. Jones Woolen Mills are planning to double the capacity of their mill here.

Spartanburg, S. C.—R. C. Fiske announces that a new company has been organized to take over the property of the Spartanburg Cotton Mills at Cannon Wadsworth, and that in the future the concern will be known as the Wadsworth Mills. The plant equipped with 11,322 spindles, will manufacture cotton yarns, and it is planned later to install looms for weaving.

F. A. Bearden, of Spartanburg, is secretary of the company, and A. M. Hamilton, of Commerce, superintendent. Directors are B. C. Fiske, Horace L. Bomar, John A. Leathers and Frank Hodges, of Spartanburg; and George A. Norwood, of Greenville.

Durham, N. C.—The Durham Cotton Manufacturing Company, which during the past two years has been producing other fabrics, has recently had sufficient call to turn a limited number of looms onto Malvern 28-inch chevrons.

These shirtings will begin coming out about the middle of November, made in blue and gun metal shades. The deliveries are November to March. Joshua L. Bailey & Co. are the selling agents.

Charlotte, N. C.—A plant to manufacture cotton handkerchiefs is to be established here by R. W. Eldridge & Co. of Orange, Vermont. A building on South Church Street, formerly occupied by the Charlotte Clothing Manufacturing Company, has been leased by the company and it is planned to have the machinery in operation in about 30 days.

R. W. Eldridge, president of the company, who has been here to complete arrangements for the plant, will reside here as manager.

About 150 persons will be employed at the mill here.

Rock Hill, S. C.—The Hamilton-Carhart Cotton Mill Unit No. 2, at Carhart Station, has been sold to a corporation headed by York Wilson, William Wilson and Alex-Lone, as reported last week.

At an early date the Carhart management, it is said, proposes to dispose of the Carhart mill, located at Carhart Station, at Elberton, Ga.

The plant at Carhart will be put into operation, it is said, in the next 60 to 65 days. Many new residences will be built, and 10 is said, there will be both day and night shifts. More than 12 months ago this textile plant suspended operations.

The Carhart Slater Cloth Mill No. 3, at Rock Hill, which supplies denim to the overall plants at Atlanta and other places, will be retained by the Carhart management.

C. L. Cobb, Rock Hill banker, will represent the Carhart Cotton Mills management in the negotiations for the sale of the Elberton plant, which has been idle for more than a year.

The new corporation now being formed to control the mill at Carhart will be headed by York Wilson and will be capitalized at $150,000.

Balfour, N. C.—The Balfour Mills are installing 8,000 additional spindles and 100 Hopedale high speed looms which they purchased some time ago, as reported.

Work of completing the new steam-electric plant is almost completed and will give the mill power to operate 25,000 spindles. J. E. Strine & Co., Greenville, are the engineers.

Greenville, S. C.—Work will begin at once on the plant of the Piedmont Plush Mill, on the outskirts of this city, the concern having been awarded by Potter & Shackelford, a Greenville firm. The contract was let

TOO BIG

By Wickes Wamboldt

A few years ago a special training of prominent Georgians toward the North and the East. When they left New York they were entertained by the Merchants' Association of that city.

The Governor of Georgia was the first speaker. "New York," he said, "is too big. It's too big."

The Governor was right. New York is too big. It's a whole lot more towns a whole lot smaller than New York that are a whole lot bigger.

After a city reaches 50,000 it begins to get too big. It has its traffic problems, its slum problems, its crime problems, its great problems.

There is no way to get away from big city problems except not to have big cities. There is no way to solve the traffic problem except not to have big cities.

But her elevated railways she had solved her traffic problem; but the elevated only made it worse. And office buildings were built still higher.

New York thought she had solved her traffic problem when she built her subways; but they only brought in still more people. And business buildings crept still higher into the air.

And then New York built subways under her subways and thought she had the answer; but still more and more people came in. And structures pushed higher toward the zenith.

Big cities are fascinating. They do grip the imagination. But there are lots of other, smaller, things which grip the imagination.

Big cities are not good for the welfare of mankind. Big cities develop slums—hell holes of humanity. They develop and attract criminals and provide sanctuary for them.

The bigger the city the bigger the opportunity for crooked politicians. The big city develops a certain hard-boiledness in people, because neighbors do not know each other and have no interest in each other and feel no responsibility for each other.

Folks have more license to do devilment in large cities. It is easier to cover up. Nobody knows them. Nobody cares. They are out from under the influence of public opinion.

At no other points in the world is there to be found such equal, such degradation, such barbarism as in these great cities of civilization where human scores and thousands drift and rot.

Civic and business organizations which are systematically boosting to make big cities bigger cities are working along lines that are good for the man who has real estate to sell, but which are not good for the people.

Walking stick farms are not uncommon in England. To obtain it right angles, the stick is placed down along the ground, and from this receding stalk the sapling shoots upward vertically.

In the twelve sales of the Ferris wheel collection, which was sold by the French Government as part of the Reparations, $1,600,000 has been realized.

A LADY WITHOUT

By Wickes Wamboldt

Recently a man said to us, "The other evening I went to see a play in a supposedly respectable theater in a supposedly respectable town. I will not say whether I would, or whether I wouldn't have gone to that play had I little garment—no tight, mind you—just the very small garment and the lower hem of that two and a half feet from the floor—the thing impressed me as merely cheap and vulgar and the girls as sorry spectacles.

"I heard an old lady behind me whisper indignantly that every woman in the house should get up and leave. It seemed to me more appropriate that the men in the house should get up and leave, and I wouldn't have cared if I had been one of the men to go."

It is said that marriage is on the wane. Statistics show that Marriage is going to be more on the wane than it is now unless women stop taking off their clothes in public. The average woman is not attractive without clothes. She is disappointing.

Almost any girl can put on enough of the right kind of clothes to make herself deliciously mysterious. Even a show-window dummy with a wax face and a wire frame can be made to look alluring with clothes. But the known what kind of play it was.

Anyhow I was there. "In one act a group of girls played a game of cards that was entirely new to me. At each hand the girl who drew low had to take off something. They called the game "Stripping the Keypie." The girl who would be the first to take off the last stitch would be the Kaypie.

"When they started that game I anticipated a series of thrills, but as the game progressed and as the clothes came off I was surprised to find that I didn't get any thrills at all. And when two of the girls finally got down to one more you see of its frame the less you care for it.

But perhaps woman's plan of so dressing nowadays that she leaves nothing to the imagination is going to eventuate in a different kind of relationship between the men and women.

Perhaps it is woman's way of saying to man: "We don't want to be loved for our bodies. We don't want you to marry us, because we have stimulated your imagination. We want you to know what you are going to get. We don't want you to be disappointed."

"We don't want figure-marrriages."

A rural community in West Texas has a cooperative doctor, a certain number of families agreeing to pay him a certain sum to get him to stay in the community.

simply backs and funky looking chests.

"We don't want you to marry us for our forms we want you to marry us for ourselves. And if you can't do that, just trot along and roll your hoop."

"Figure-marrriages aren't desirable marriages, and they notoriously turn out badly."

THE SOUTHERN SERVES THE SOUTH

All share the benefits of this gain in operating efficiency

We are now carrying 130% more freight than we did twenty years ago, but with an increase of only 10% in the mileage run by our freight locomotives.

This increased efficiency has been made possible by the large investment of capital in more powerful locomotives, larger freight cars, greater track and terminal facilities, and the reduction of curves and grades.

The results have been—

Better transportation service for the South; Higher wages for our employees; Freight rates lower in proportion to the general level of prices than they were before the war;

Earning power that will attract new capital for expansion.

All share the benefits of this gain in operating efficiency.

Real Economy in Transportation for Economical Transportation

Quality is the biggest factor in economy; Quality determines the pride you take in your car; Quality determines whether the price you pay is economical or uneconomical; Quality, the finest you can buy in a low priced car, is provided by Chevrolet.

The quality built into a Chevrolet assures economy from the time of your purchase through the entire life of the car.

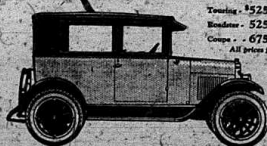

Study Chevrolet quality in relation to Chevrolet cost—then you will realize that Chevrolet prices are unusually low.

The experience of over two million owners has proved that Chevrolet cost of operation is small—that the motor gives a high mileage with a low cost.
