A previously stated in The News attorneys have placed the proposed "county session" case before the South Carolina Supreme Court and the decision of the court will be awaited with interest by many people. Chester and York counties are not the only counties in which the case for the holding has been made. In other counties the question is now being raised as to the duties of the sheriff in the carrying out of the provisions of the act.

The Supreme Court of the State will be in session on the 11th of November, and the hearing of the case will be before the Court then. An order will be issued by the Court directing the county commissioners to file their answer to the complaint made against them for failure to carry out the provisions of the act.
