When the Governor of Oklahoma recently used troops as guards in the State Capitol to prevent the assembling of a special session of the Legislature, some of the older South Carolinians must have been reminded of a somewhat similar situation in this State in the trying times of 1876 when federal soldiers were stationed in our own State House.

After the election of Hampton in 1876, the Republican board in South Carolina withheld certificates of election from the Democrats who were elected to the General Assembly from Laurens and Edgefield counties. The white people believed that the Republican managers, backed by Chamberlain, the Republican Governor, intended to attempt to organize the House of Representatives without the presence of the Laurens and Edgefield members, and thus initiate a scheme to declare Chamberlain elected and electing a new constitution to declare State government. The Democrats were determined to foil that move and Governor Chamberlain knowing it, applied to President Grant for troops to be used in the State House on the day the Legislature commenced its session. The President complied with the demand and consequently, General Ruger, commander of the federal troops in Columbia, at midnight before the day for the meeting of the Legislature placed a company of infantry in the State House, most of them midway between the doors of the two houses. Sentinels were posted at all doors on the first floor. All persons wishing to enter, including the justices of the Supreme Court, were halted and examined as to their right to go into the building.

The Democratic membership of the House, numbering 64, went in a body to the hall of the house, the Edgefield delegation in front and the Laurens next. In the Edgefield delegation were Gen. Mart Gary and John C. Sheppard, later Governor. The Laurens men were J. B. Hunter, J. W. Watts and J. B. Anderson. When the head of the column reached the door, the Edgefield members demanded admittance at the same time the Laurens men demanded admittance. The Edgefield members were certified copy of the official record of the vote of that county for members of the House showing that the Laurens had each received a majority of the vote. B. Dennis had been chosen by the Republican Governor to stand at the House door, examine the credentials of members and say the Laurens men were entitled to enter the hall. Dennis forbade the members from Edgefield and Laurens to enter, whereupon all the Laurens men, except the retired, Spoor afterward the troops were marched to the hall door, made to open ranks and face inward so that any one going in or out would have to pass between the ranks of bayoneted rifles. Before leaving the hall, John C. Sheppard was arrested and taken to the State House, where he was held by the Democratic members of the House, concluding with these words:

"In protesting against this barefaced usurpation of this trampling on the laws and Constitution of the State, this defiance of the highest tribunal of the State, it is the purpose of those who move in this armed intervention, but to make our solemn appeal to the American people without distinction of party. Our veterans and our law and our respect for the Supreme Court and the usages of all legislative assemblies forbid our participation in such unprecedented and revolutionary proceedings."

The Democrats retired to Carolina Hall and organized the famous "White House League." They took its name from its non-honored Speaker Gen. William H. Wallace, of Union. On November 30 they proceeded in close column to the State House, moved into the Hall of the House and then there was presented the novel spectacle of two Houses and two Speakers in the same place.

On December 3, the Democrats learned that the Republicans had laid their plans to elect the members from Edgefield, Laurens and the other counties. Chamberlain had secured for that, undertaking a body of about a hundred negroes from Charleston, known as the "Black Legion," to be sent by the Democrats to various parts of the State, requesting the Ku Klux Klan, Was Not Unknown in This State.

Laurens, N. C., Nov. 9.—Captain W. S. Coburn, Ku Klux Klan attorney, of Atlanta, Ga., who was killed by Fox in his office, is well known here, having held the position of depot agent in 1907-08.

While holding the agency, he was very energetic making both friends and enemies, being quick to resent anything any one said that came in cross purposes with his own.

A promotion was given him as claim agent of the S. A. E. Boon that he formed a partnership with Tom Feltner, a farmer, of Atlanta, who had a big practice at that time. They handled some large cases in South Carolina.

presence in Columbia of armed white men in sufficient numbers to protect the lawful House from black desperadoes. In response, 5,000 determined South Carolinians, fully armed, rallied to Columbia in a little more than twenty-four hours. Their Representatives in the House were no less resolved to resist any effort to remove the members from Edgefield and Laurens, and had the right might come up in the House and were ready. It was planned that on the first act of violence in the hall, Mackey, the Laurens member, would be instantly shot to death, and it is certain that any who bloodshed resulted, Governor Chamberlain would have been a brief moment in the history of the State. When the House convened, after roll-call, Col. James L. Orr moved that the house adjourn, whereupon Speaker Wallace made a brief announcement of the adjournment, and declaring that, with a view to preventing bloodshed and for other reasons, the House would withdraw from the hall to the "Wallace House" retired to Carolina Hall and the armed men who had been summoned to protect them went home.

Prangings were instituted in the State Supreme Court to have that tribunal decide which of the two bodies was the lawful House of Representatives. The decision was in favor of the "Wallace House," but Gen. Buger declared that his orders required him to ignore the judgment of the highest court in upholding the Republican body, to exclude the lawful House at the point of the bayonet.

Chamberlain went through a pretended "inauguration," which caused great excitement on the part of the whites, but Gen. Hampton, in a public declaration, denouncing the "inauguration," and maintaining the peace, making his famous declaration: "The people have elected me Governor, and by the Federal Government I will be Governor or I shall have a military Governor."

South Carolina memorialized Congress for removal of the troops, but the situation was unchanged until President Hayes, on April 3, ordered that they should be withdrawn from the State House. At noon on April 10, 1876, the soldiers who had been stationed there were finally marched out, after four months, and on the same day Governor Chamberlain surrendered the Executive office to Governor Hampton. The redemption of South Carolina was at last an accomplished fact, and the white people under terrible protest to go otherwise, had displayed self-interest and obedience to law unsuited to the white man's saving device, enabling more leg-criticisms fall where they may.

Had a real treat this morning. I am going to pass it on to you. Yank Macaulay illustrated the difference between legal language and ordinary conversation, as follows:

If a man were to give another an apple he would simply say: "Have an apple?"

But if the transaction were done in legal form the lawyer would draw up a deed of gift in the following form:

"I hereby give and convey to you all and singular my estate and interest, right, title and advantages of and in said apple, together with all its skin, juice, meat and pips, anything hereinafter or hereinafter or in any other means of whatever nature or kind whatsoever to the contrary in any wise notwithstanding."

And another lawyer would come along and take it away! he was unable to "cash in on a good reputation." He probably couldn't find any one to endorse it for him.

FRANCE WARNS GERMAN POWERS

Can't Remain Disinterested and See Dictatorship Grow. Under Polite Diplomatic "Normalities" Dictators Told to "Keep Their Hands Off."

Paris, Nov. 9.—France warned Germany Thursday that this government cannot remain a disinterested spectator in the event of an attempt to establish a military dictatorship in Berlin.

The representations, presented through the French ambassador in the German capital were couched in diplomatic terms, but under the polite forms used in such communications, aspiring dictators were told to keep their hands off.

France has no intention of interfering with Germany's internal affairs, it was said at the foreign office tonight, but a return of the militaristic party to power to Germany would mean almost certain repudiation of the treaty of Versailles.

It is believed here that opposition of the nationalists to the preceding German republican governments has been due to their regarded as the lukewarmness of these governments in their resistance to the execution of the treaty.

The advent of a military dictatorship in Berlin would make use of any more discussion as to the origin of an expert committee to investigate Germany's capacity to pay, it is held here, since the policy of the new regime would probably be to utterly disregard the reparations debt hence, the French government decided upon the warning not only as being opportune but necessary.

It is known that Marshal Foch who is closely watching developments in Germany has come to the conclusion that a new tide of pan-Germanism is rising. He has said that there is coming in Germany a nationalist movement comparable with that which followed the war would Napoleon, while Prussia was given the post of watchman of the Rhine and that the allies would be stupidly blind if they failed to take this into consideration.

The question has been a subject of discussion among the military advisors to the inter-allied council of ambassadors, but extreme rumors circulated here to the effect that France is arranging to call out two contingents of troops at declared preposterous in official circles.

WOODS OFFERS TO INCREASE GIFT IF OTHERS FOLLOW

Clinton, S. C., Nov. 7.—John T. Woodside of Greenville has offered to increase his original gift of $10,000 to $20,000 provided the remainder of the denomination raised the $70,000 needed for the dining hall and dormitory at the Presbyterian Village near South Clinton, according to the announcement made by this president, Dr. D. M. Douglas.

The money must be raised within 60 days, the campaign, having begun on October 20, giving December 20 as the time limit by which the money must be raised.

The offer of Mr. Woodside will be a supplement to that of Capt. E. A. Smith, some time ago. At that time Capt. Smyth offered to give $25,000 for a dormitory provided the remainder of the denomination raised the other funds within a specified time. The offer of Capt. Smyth was extended.

At the addition to the dining hall to the college, which will be completed by Thanksgiving or shortly thereafter, the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education has pledged $35,000 while the dormitory which it is proposed to build will entail an expenditure of $75,000.

Under the offer of Mr. Woodside and Capt. Smyth, the building, giving provision of securing from these sources alone more than half the needed funds, it is believed that the Presbyterian Board of the entire state will rally to the support of the college within the next few weeks. Plans for the dormitory have been made and it is hoped to have this completed by October 1924, particularly in view of the fact that the Presbyterian Synod of South Carolina meets here.

Ground was broken recently for the new Leroy Springs gymnasium at the college, near the athletic field at the college. The building will be attractively built from the ground up and will be a matter of pride not only to the donor but to the college over which it stands.

The governor stated that he considers it of vital importance that the law officers feel that the public and the state law enforcement machinery are in their work. Frank Knox, director of all such problems the governor will invite all mayors, all the solicitors in the state and all the solicitors in the state and federal district attorneys, and the state and federal constables. The conference will be held at the State House.

This conference is the result of the recent governor's conference with President Coolidge in Washington, D. C.

It was suggested that each governor have such a conference for a discussion of law enforcement, especially enforcement of the prohibition act.

VERDICT OF GUILTY INDICATED IN COURT

Case of Lieutenant Commander Huntley Completed at San Diego in Short Order.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 9.—Another apparent verdict of guilty was reached today in the court martial trying officers involved in the wreck of seven destroyers at Point Huen, Cal., September 8. The trial of Lieutenant Commander Donald T. Hunter, who commanded the destroyer Delphy squadron leader, was completed at 1:30 p. m. by the court.

The court's sentence was a reprimand for the trial of Lieutenant Lawrence F. Blodgett, the court's sentence regarding Commander Hunter being interpreted to mean that he was guilty of many customs, as a verdict of guilty.

As in the case of Capt. D. H. Watson, who was tried in the same court, the actual verdict, sentence and recommendations of the court will not be known for several weeks, until the proceedings are reported in the official record.

WILL PRESENT NEED FOR MODERN PRISON

Governor to Bring to Attention of General Assembly "Need" for Penitentiary Constructed in Accord With Present Day Requirements and Ideas.

A state prison, adapted to modern requirements and in accordance with modern ideas, will be recommended to the general assembly by Gov. Thomas G. McLeod in his annual message.

"The details of plans for the penitentiary," the governor said, "are matters to be worked out, but I believe that the method and the means of accomplishing our aims can be found."

"I expect to lay the issue as clearly as possible before the members of the legislature," he said, "and have no doubt that they in their wisdom and patriotism will find and initiate a solution to the problem."

The need for the penitentiary, the governor said, was no new thing with him. Reference to it found in his inaugural address and three months ago in a statement, printed in The State, he sounded the keynote of the move for a new penitentiary, now nearly gaining the interest and attention of men and women throughout the state. A. M. Scarborough, superintendent of the state prison, said that the chief executive in the endeavor and since this first announcement, made August 11, ministers, educators and laymen have joined in the effort to arouse public sentiment for a realization of the fact that the state's prison is an ancient and antiquated thing, neither designed nor fitted for present needs.

"At that time," the governor said, referring to his interview of August 11, "I said that I was more impressed than ever with the necessity of a modern prison, adapted to modern requirements. I am very glad that now public sentiment is beginning to take physical needs of the penitentiary, for only by providing suitable living quarters, proper working conditions and social and religious facilities can we make possible a modern prison system."

"The present prison building expresses the old and prevailing conception of a prison, it is of the middle type in which security is emphasized at the expense of sunlight and air. There is no possibility of ventilation, and in the present building, which is the living quarters of the majority of the convicts. The necessity for a new penitentiary is patent, and it is the duty of the state to meet the needs of the prison so that in our dealings with this unfortunate class we will express the highest degree of humanitarianism and mercy."

"Prison conditions do not now for did they ever rest solely upon the basis of supervision and management. Every investigation made has shown the necessity of improvement in the physical conditions of the prison. It is a matter to be taken up and discussed by the people of the state with whom rests the final solution of the problem."

"I have expected for some time that the people of the state would take an interest in the penitentiary, and I am ready to cooperate with its members in an endeavor at arriving at some satisfactory solution of the problem."

"I am intensely interested in the move and I trust that the people of the state will be aroused to the necessity of a new penitentiary, having a prison system where punishment is still meted out as it should be, but where also living conditions are improved, both mentally or physically ill, have the best advantages and where provisions are made that religious and moral good is a fact, and is merely a perfunctory duty but may be made an attractive and useful part of the prison life and management."

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 12:

The Ford boom for President seems to be gaining strength as the days go by. We are sure both the old parties are frightened by it. We do not know what sort of a President Mr. Ford would make, but we are very sure that the scare thrown into the old parties will be productive of some needed reforms in the conduct of our government. At the last analysis, the Ford boom is the articulate protest of the common people against certain abuses and special privileges that have crept into our present operations.

Uncle Sam is afflicted with the lawmaking disease. His case is the worst in the history of the world. The output is so large the law libraries cannot house it, the lawyers cannot digest or assimilate it. It is said to be a fact that the forty-eight legislatures enact more laws than are even proposed by five great nations. The ratio before the war was fifty new laws in our country to one by any great nation of Europe.

community life, a lot of people accept all the good things handed down to them, but make little or no return. They forget the olden days, and the good workers of the present time have created and maintained fine institutions and the facilities of comfortable living, and that a debt is owed to those who have gone before. The only way to repay that debt, is to work for the further upbuilding of the community, and to hand on some new benefits to the present generation and those who shall come thereafter. Those who fail to do so, ask the privilege of riding through community life on a free pass.

CHESTER WON AGAIN.

Chester Defeated Rock Hill on the Local Grounds last Friday by a Score of 12 to 6—A Very Snappy Game and Enjoyed by a Large Crowd of Fans.
Last Friday afternoon the Chester High school football team met and defeated the Rock Hill High on the gridiron at the Chester Fair Grounds, the score being 12 to 6.
It is estimated that more than one thousand people witnessed the game, a large crowd of fans being present from Rock Hill.
The game started when Rock Hill kicked off to Chester. Chester failed to show pep and for a few minutes it looked as if the locals might get a drubbing at the hands of the old time foe. However, just as it looked as if Rock Hill was going to drive the ball over Chester's goal the locals lightened and began to get things going their way. With the ball on Rock Hill's 35 yard line Chester attempted a forward pass, which was intercepted by Kendrick, who with good interference, raced for a touch-down, the first score of the game. Chester was off on this play, and should not have allowed Kendrick to get away. However, this was football and Rock Hill had the score 6 to 0.

In the second quarter Chester had the ball most of the time and spent the quarter in Rock Hill territory but could not handle the play. In a touchdown game.
In the second half Chester came in strong—every man was on his toes and they fought like college players. With line plunges Chester put the ball on Rock Hill's one yard line and A. Kennedy put it over for six points, tying the score. Stone failed to kick goal and the ball was kicked off with the score standing 6 to 6. Again Chester was fighting and with the ball on Rock Hill's 20 yard line in Rock Hill's possession a punt was intercepted by A. Kennedy and he raced, with fine interference, for about forty-five yards before being downed. The ball was snapped to Captain McInch and the second touch-down for Chester was made. Point for goal failed and so stood when the final whistle was blown.
Rock Hill has a good football team and a heavier backfield than Chester, but could not gain sufficiently after the first few minutes of play through Chester's line to amount to anything. Rock Hill received several penalties for slugging, in which they lost about 45 yards during the game. Rock Hill called time out four times in the first half and also four times in the last half. During the latter part of the game Dozier looked as if he was going to get by with a sweeping end run, when Ed Kennedy downed him with a flying tackle and Joe Wade also hit about the same time. Dozier was injured in this play and was forced from the game. Both Kendrick and Wade were also injured but neither enough to keep them from playing.

An outstanding player on Chester's team was Lonnie Campbell, in center. This young fellow is going strong and watches the game closely. Chester boys, after the first few minutes of play did good work and all deserve special mention. Only once during the game did a Rock Hill player manage to get through Chester's line and throw a player for a loss.
The News would offer a little criticism of Chester's backfield men by saying that they do not at all times hit the line at the proper moment. Chester's line men were opening the Rock Hill line but at times our backfield men did not get in quick enough and the line would close without their making gains which they should have done with the front men making the openings they did. Anyway, we won the game and the boys fought like tigers and while we offer a little friendly criticism along with it we praise them all highly.
Let's go to Columbia again for the State Championship.

"PEP."
It isn't the work you are doing, my lad, that counts at the end of the game. It's just how you handle yourself good or bad. That brings you to fortune or fame.
It isn't because you are short or are tall. That leads to your courage or stress. For many a fellow whose body is small. Has scaled to the heights of success.
No matter how many granddaddies you had, The test of your worth is to do! And failing in this you are only the cad. Though fifty granddaddies were true.
Look up and be brave though a thousand men frown, Stand firm and be straight as a die; And naught under heaven can keep the lad down Whose soul has the courage to tie.

A furrow plowed straight is much better by far Than both-built castles of clay, And many a farmer-boy shines like a star By the side of a monarch today! Ah, no, it is not humble labor, my lad, That counts at the end of the game. It's just how you handle the job, good or bad, That leads you to fortune or fame.

Thornwell Beats Union

Union, Nov. 9.—Thornwell won a fast and an exciting game here yesterday from Union 18 to 0. The visitors outplayed the local boys with interference and, and at the end of the first half the score was 6 to 0. The champions came back with a drive in the second half and won more touchdowns. Union's apparent chance to score was lost in the first few minutes when, after making four consecutive first downs, Union lost the ball on downs, by inches, on the 29 yard line. For Thornwell Deagan and Stamps were outstanding. Union's best players were Kelly, Captain Vaughn and Looney.

The local office headed the entire list in percentage of sales and when the close of the campaign was made it was found that the Chester office stood with a percentage of 57.2. Other cities in the contest were Reidsville, Thomasville, Winston-Salem, Greenville, Anderson, Greenville, Charlotte, and Hickory. The officials of the company in Charlotte, are high in their praise of Chester and the fact that Chester headed the list will be published in various newspapers and electrical magazines throughout the country. It should also be noted that the Chester office made its sales without special salemen, the work having been done by Messrs. Bulla and Darby and Miss Sadie McKee. Some of the larger offices participating in the contest had regular salesmen to handle the work. A total of 665 Daylight Kitchen Units were placed in Chester, which is enough to make a white wash twenty miles long, one being placed on each pole.

REPORT OF CHESTER FAIR.

Enough Realized This Year To Pay Off Cost of Improvements on Property.

Sufficient funds were realized from the Chester County Fair this fall, as reported to the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, to pay off outstanding obligations for property improvements, which were made last year to the fair, and amounted to $10,000.

Chester has a most creditable fair ground, which is also used by the community for an athletic field and playground. In the last five years a total of approximately $15,000 has been expended through the Fair Bureau, of the Chamber of Commerce, in building and in acquiring the new addition to the grounds. This does not include the cost of the original fairground property and such improvements as are on it at that time. The Board of Directors were very much gratified at the showing made this year, which leaves the property in a building and in acquiring the new addition to the grounds. This does not include the cost of the original fairground property and such improvements as are on it at that time.

The Australian tempest weevil is a new undesirable immigrant that has been discovered in the South. Agricultural experts fear it may do great damage to cotton. It measures for its suppression are not taken at once.

Senator Curtis, of Kansas, never takes an elevator if he has time to climb the stairs. He says climbing stairs is the best "reducer" even tried. During the past summer he lost twenty-five pounds by this practice.

At the time of recent eclipse of the sun, September 10, along the southern coast of California, there were on the State Highway 400 miles of automobiles, packed closely together. The occupants were journeying from Los Angeles to San Diego and Tia Juana, Mexico, to see the total eclipse. Traffic moved at six miles an hour and 1,000 artists were made for cutting out of line and endangering others on the Torrey Pines Grade, just out of San Diego. Gasoline stations were drained early in the day and fuel was sold for forty cents a gallon instead of fifteen cents.

freed from automatic pistols in the hands of two assassins. Stewart fired one shot at the two men but the bullet went wild and he fell before he could shoot again. The police are seeking Salvatore Stannia, part owner of the place, and his brother, Ralph, a waiter. The shooting ended Stewart's all day activities to corral a gang of rum runners. One hundred customers trampled over the agent's body in their mad rush for the door when the firing started. The orchestra dropped their instruments and ran. When the police arrived a few minutes later the only occupants of the place were waiters. They are all held as witnesses.

TO KNOW IF IT IS "ALL WOOL"

When you go to buy woolen material there are many pitfalls you have to learn to avoid. It is quite true that most of us cannot afford to buy our cloth made up of all new wool, but at least we want to be able to tell when a cloth is made up of one hundred wool mixed, or all new wool.

The peculiar feeling quality of wool makes it possible to construct a large amount of better-inexpensive fibers. Now this may not always be any great disadvantage, and it is certainly more desirable to buy a good, firm piece of part-wool dress goods, when the price is right, than a cheap, inferior grade, even if it is "all wool." A cardinal point every shopper needs to fix in her mind is that "all wool" is not necessarily good wool.

Perhaps the greatest objection to a mixture of wool and cotton is the uneven shrinkage of the two, which makes it hard to keep the garment well-pressed—and in shape. Often it is the presence of cotton that causes a wool shirt to be baggy at the knees and to sag at the back and sides, wherever there are long seams.

Then, too, a large percentage of cotton is likely to give trouble with the dyes. This would not apply to white woolsens of cloth, but in colored goods, especially those of very dark colors, the cotton may not hold the dye well. As you know, all dark colors tend to be fugitive on cotton.

It is perfectly possible to determine to your own satisfaction whether there is cotton in a wool sample. Pull out some of the threads and burn them. A cotton thread burns much more quickly than a wool one, and with more flame; wool, when burned, leaves a crisp ash, and smells like burnt feathers.

So the one that has the worst smell contains the most wool! Of course, the chemical ones, and the housewife does not have equipment for trying these. But there is one, and the very best one at that, which any one can try. Take a little caustic soda or potash, and dissolve in a pint of water. Boil your sample of cloth in this solution. It will dissolve any wool, but leave the cotton unchanged. If your sample is all wool it will be entirely dissolved. Skeletons of human beings buried for a period estimated to be between 7,000 and 10,000 years were recently uncovered at Point Mugu, Ventura County, California, by a representative of the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D. C.

HOWARD ON THE LOOKOUT

J. R. Howard, former president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, in his instructive talk to farmers, closed his "careful analysis of the agricultural situation as follows.

"What is the limiting factor today in American agriculture? Some say it is soil fertility and that since our productive domain is gone, it is doubly important to maintain fertility in order to support our rapidly increasing population. Others say that greater capital is the essential need of the farmer, that because of too limited capital he is still poorer than restricted in his efforts to make to make too great use of credit. Still others will tell you that the greatest need was the farm to days is labor, steady, intelligent workmen caring for the livestock and running the more and more complicated machinery in season and out."

"But 'tis none of these. The limiting factor in American agriculture is, and probably always will be, price. The farmer and the laborer will get the labor which will create the capital which will buy the necessary capital. With the laborer and capital we will maintain the fertility of our fields and the quality of our herds. And remember, by price we mean not dollars, and cents, but that balance of values that will take a full load to town and bring a full load home."

WHAT CHANCE HAVE YOU?

By John Carlyle.

Calvin Coolidge, when he was a boy, was so timid that he wanted to hide when strangers came to his home. He didn't have nerve enough to meet them and to shake hands.

But he had nerve enough to see out to overcome his diffidence. Since those days Calvin Coolidge has been a candidate for public office fourteen times. He has been elected every time.

Budgets of life, had to give up high school and take to the streets in search of a job. He found one that paid him $50 every three months. Next year he did better. He got $300 for a year's work, and paid his own bills. Fifty years ago he started the Standard Oil Company. Today he does more good to humanity with more money than any other American. Rockefeller worked.

Henry Ford, working at a night job for small pay, was laughed at as a freakish inventor. He had one thing that so many folks lack. He had the kind of courage and independence that keep a man plugging, despite what people say. Most of us are more afraid of what people say than of anything else on earth.

When Tom Edison was a little fellow his teacher thought he was a rattle-brained that it wouldn't be worth while to keep him in school. He was a railroad newsboy at 14. But Edison had a main idea. He wanted to be an inventor. Whatever the temptation, he wouldn't give up the main idea. His life story is half the scientific history of the last half-century. How many of us have a main idea that "we are going to stick to it?"

Resolute, nervous, near-sighted, he had health, got it slow steady life. He had much to overcome. But Roosevelt had an indomitable soul. He set out to be a big man, powerful in the court side of his country, and he let nothing turn him aside. Today his name belongs in the triumphant trilogy of America. The world links Roosevelt with Washington and Lincoln.

Are you complaining? Are you hanging back because you think you lack opportunity because you have accepted the idea that you have no chance?

Think and investigate, and you will find that the outstanding figures in American life are the men and women who have waded through heavy heads, who have kept on in the face of discomfort, in the face of discouragement and pain. They are those who have overcome.

Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minnesota, says, "It can almost be said with certainty that the average man can live five years longer than he does now. If he would present himself at every birthday for a thorough medical and dental inspection after he reaches the age of forty, could maintain a state of health that would defy the incursions of disease bacteria, dilations of the heart, distortion of diaphragm, cancers, tumors, and so on, could be nipped in the bud. There is too great a tendency to think that people past the age of forty merely vegetate, waiting for death. Some way will be found to keep them vigorous."
