TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20.

The manufacture of cornstarch has grown to such proportions in the United States that the average man consumes about 50,000,000 bushels of America's great crop each year. From each bushel of corn the average manufacturer makes 33 pounds of cornstarch, and in 1921 the 10 largest concerns made nearly 1,650,000,000 pounds of this product, which was more than 90 per cent of the total produced that year. This industry, which began in the United States in 1844, has been increasing greatly in recent years. By 1880 the factories had reached a productive capacity of 230,000,000 pounds and practically all of it was consumed here. By 1921 there were nearly 50 plants and $6,000,000 worth of the output was exported. These figures are from a report recently made by the Department of Agriculture as a result of an investigation.

The department, through the Bureau of Chemistry, which inspects the food and drugs act, finds that cornstarch, with the possible exception of granulated sugar, is the least adulterated of all food products appearing on the markets. In addition to being used for food, it is also used for many technical purposes.

In the food industry cornstarch finds its greatest use as the basis for the manufacture of corn sirup or glucose, about one-half of that produced in 1921 having been employed for that purpose. It is employed by confectioners in making gumdrops, by housewives and chefs in thickening sauces and making gravies. Confectioners also use it for forms in making soft candy is poured into making used in the manufacture of baking powder and pie filling. It is a household item. Large quantities are also an important ingredient in cosmetics and pastes and is used to a limited extent in pharmaceutical preparations.

Another attempt will be made to scale Mt. Everest, the world's highest mountain, in 1924. Brigadier-General Honorable C. Bruce has been chosen to lead the first attack.

After chopping with axes for more than two hours, workmen succeeded in rescuing a man from a block of asphalt where he had been imbedded all night at Canton, Ohio. He had fallen over a small embankment into a pool of warm asphalt while walking near an asphalt plant the night before his discovery. In the meantime the asphalt hardened. He apparently suffered no serious effects.

THE GAME SATURDAY.

The game of football at the Chester Fair Grounds last Saturday afternoon between Thornwell Orphanage and Chester High school resulted in a victory for Thornwell, the score being 32 to 0. This was an up-state elimination game, Chester having won the championship of the Catawba Association.

Thornwell will play one other up-state game, and it is predicted that they will win it with ease, after which they will meet a team from lower-South Carolina for State honors. The winner of the lower state will probably be Columbia High or Charleston High, and the game will probably be played in Columbia. However, Thornwell is anxious that the state championship game be played in Chester and it might be that Chester will get the game.

Chester was completely outclassed in the game last Saturday. Thornwell showed a brand of football seldom seen in high school circles and which showed that the members of the Thornwell team had taken every advantage of their close proximity to Coach Johnson, of Presbyterian College at Clinton. After only a few minutes of play it was realized that it was Thornwell's game. Stamps booted the ball behind Chester's goal line on the first kick-off. The ball was brought out to the 20 yard line and after three downs, in which Chester failed to gain the necessary yards, the ball was punted by Stine. The Thornwell boys showed team work and rushed Stine who managed to make only 10 yards on the punt. From the 30 yard line Thornwell proceeded to cross Chester's goal in short order. This few minutes of play showed the game belonged to Thornwell.

Chester managed to make only three first downs during the entire game, and each of these was made by Stone. One was for forty yards was skillfully executed. Thornwell used a close formation, which was too much for the Chester boys and a number of times the man with the ball would be lifted or tripped before he could locate the carrier. Stamps, who Thornwell kicked two field goals out of three tries. He is also expert on forward passes and has three men standing to land all passes. The Chester boys did not lay down on the job by any means but it was just a case of too much Thornwell.

A feature worthy of special mention was the fact that neither team received a penalty during the entire game. The Chester boys made a clean as it is possible to make football.

The Thornwell boys arrived in Chester Friday afternoon and were entertained in various homes in the city during their stay until Saturday night. Saturday evening, at Parity Presbyterian Church, the local high school team, the local high school gave a reception in honor of the Thornwell boys, which the boys greatly enjoyed and they gave a high in their praise of Chester's hospitality. As a matter of fact Chester feels very close to Thornwell Orphanage and since it was consumed here. The interchange would rather it be done by Thornwell than any other team in the State.

The boys wish Thornwell State Honor.

S. S. INSTITUTE ENDS.

Sunday Schools Institute at First Baptist Church Comes to a Close. Large Number in Attendance and Much Good Resulted From Institute.

When it was decided by the officers of the First Baptist Sunday School to hold a Sunday School Teachers' Training Institute, it was felt that a forward step was being taken. Results have justified the optimism of the Sunday School officers. Beginning with an attendance of over one hundred for the first classes the first day of the Institute, interest and enthusiasm ran high to the end.

Dr. T. J. Watts of Columbia came to Chester Sunday, November 11, to organize the Institute. Filling the pulpit in the afternoon, the Pastor, by traced the origin and development of the Sunday School. He showed clearly that the Sunday School and Church are complementary rather than supplementary to each other. In his usual happy manner he carried the congregation with him and Sunday afternoon the Institute was easily and enthusiastically organized.

Beginning with Monday night the Sunday School Building was a scene of unusual activity. Promptly at 6:30 over and over again teachers, pastors, members of the Senior B. Y. P. U., and interested friends of other denominations, sat down to a supper which was served by ladies from the various circles. One gentleman who always has a good appetite says that though he has been in several large churches he has never enjoyed food more deliciously served than by these good ladies.

Practically all officers and teachers of the First Baptist Sunday School, and every member of the Senior B. Y. P. U., took courses. There was a generous attendance by members of other denominations, there being twenty-five visitors and also twelve teachers enrolled for courses.

Mr. C. S. Layzell, Supt. of the Central Baptist Church, Memphis, Tenn., taught the course based on the "Intermediate Department Manual." Mr. Layzell is a layman whose exclusive work is that of superintending a Sunday School. His general lectures on the Intermediate phase of Sunday School work were sparkling, snappy and therefore much enjoyed.

The courses in "The Normal Manual" were taught by Dr. C. G. Dunford of Anderson College. This genial, lovable old gentleman won the heart of everyone who met him. As a religious teacher he has few equals. His policy is not to talk to the pupils but to get them to talk to him—deep sound pedagogy, too!

Perhaps the most popular and useful courses were those on the Beginners and Primary Departments taught by Mrs. A. L. Shumpp, of Birmingham, Alabama, and the Intermediate Department and those dealing with Method by Miss Elizabeth Nickolls, of Columbia, S. C. These courses were pivotal and were easily the most important of all the courses given.

The Advanced Course based on "The Seven Laws of Teaching" was handled by the pastor, Dr. W. G. Moore. As a teacher of adults Dr. Moore has few equals and the effective manner in which this course was handled impressed all who attended it.

A WILLIAM D-MILLE PRODUCTION

WITH

MAY McAVOY, LOIS WILSON, ELIOTT

DEXTER AND GEORGE FAWCETT

"Poor Mother, must she live only for her children? Neglecting herself? Finding her happiness only in the happiness of others, younger than she? Or can she, as this mother does, live a life of youthful gaiety, rosy dreams and happiness?"

William DeMille takes this delightfully human theme and makes of it a screen masterpiece, with comedy predominate.

Added—Charles Murray in "The Life of Betty," a comedy gem and Pathe News.
