AUNT MARY'S PHILOSOPHY

Items From The Lancaster News of More or Less Interest to Chester County People.

In either case it becomes a habit, and a habit might hard to break. If there is ever a time when you get over a habit, it is worth a pound of cure. It is worth a pound of cure. It is worth a pound of cure.

The world is full of people who have Aunt Mary's philosophy. They are people who enjoy good health, who enjoy good food, and who enjoy good company. They are people who are content with their lot and who do not envy the rich.

Then, there are those who just naturally look for the best. They are people who are ambitious and who want to do better than the rest. They are people who are not satisfied with the status quo and who are always looking for a way to improve themselves.

There are preachers who so constantly preach "hell fire and damnation" that they forget how to paint a word picture of an attractive heaven. It is entirely possible, after years of preaching, that they will have done it.

Remember, the boss must learn to think what you begin to think, what you would do if you had the boss's job, that the boss's first job was to learn to boss himself.

And that is a bigger task, as the boss is more complicated and difficult to understand. No boss is fit to control other men, or will ever succeed in it, unless he has first learned to discipline himself.

Self-discipline means going without. Self-sacrifice means going without. Things you want, but you do not want to do. And there is nothing much harder than that.

Others do not have that advantage. They must learn it by themselves. There is no school that has the equipment to teach the handling of thousands or even tens of thousands of dollars.

A THRILLING RESCUE BY A BIG OCEAN LINER

GEORGE MCGEE SAYS 'Coushine Justice Comes President Harding, Four Days Late, Returns Here, With 28 Italian Sailors.'

United States liner President Harding poked her way-scared round through the narrow today, four days late, but here of a thrilling sea rescue. The ship bore safely about 28 men and a cat, survivors of the foundered Italian freighter Imazio Florio, saved from the fury of the sea by Captain Paul Greenough and his crew. Captain Greenough said only a miraculous calmness of the sea made the rescue possible. For hours the liner had stood by the wreck, but without the abrupt subsiding of the storm, the rescuers were helpless. The Harding's crew, however, was able to launch a lifeboat, but for hours the Italian vessel lost its second officer before the arrival of the Harding. The Italian vessel was damaged from the ship's bow. Diplomatic representatives of the Italian government have indicated that official recognition will be given the rescuers.

CONSTITUTION DAY

It is appropriate that the observance of American Education Week in the schools, November 16 to 21, should open with Constitution Day, for nothing is more undeniably linked up with the American education system than the great free schools and other institutions which have been responsible for America's development.

It has been said repeatedly that to live under the American Constitution is the greatest political privilege that was ever accorded to the human race, but far too many people do not appreciate that privilege as it should be.

So it is well that our thoughts be turned annually to the glorious work of our forefathers, that the elements of a single part of our system of moving was the most perfect he has recently come in contact with. Let us have a

Though we may at times seem to be straying far from the path laid down 138 years ago to guide us through rough seas, America is far from coming to disaster. There may be occasion, now and then, to view the future gloomily, to fear that elements are at work which may undermine the foundation of the republic, but American values through its heritage too highly to permit to slip from their grasp without a struggle.

We saw men rise to the emergency in 1917, when autocracy threatened our democratic standards of government. We will see men come forward again when our land and its ideals are threatened. We have occasion to be alarmed, not infrequently, at the danger from within, and the appearance of tolerance, and disregard for law that is abroad, but all true Americans have faith in the inherent strength of the people to stand up to right themselves and repel the forces that seek to destroy that which is dearest to loyal Ameri-

The majority still rules, but the minority is amply protected by a sacred document that all honor and respect, not alone during Education Week, but during all the weeks of the year. May we give evidence of our respect by observing the law, being tolerant in our views and charitable in our acts.

Road Work Help Up

Work on the Charlotte-Lancaster highway in the Pleasant Valley section, has been temporarily held up on account of differences between Arch S. Barron, contractor, and the State Highway Commission. Mr. Barron is well known in Chester and is a former resident of this city. In speaking of the matter The Fort Mill Times says:

"Differences between Arch S. Barron, contractor, and the State Highway Commission have temporarily held up a part of the work on more than a mile and a half of the road. Mr. Barron is still siding and surfacing between the Charlotte-Lancaster highway in the Pleasant Valley neighborhood and Bates bridge, two miles east of Fort Mill. It is said that Mr. Barron's contract for construction of the road called for top-soil surfacing, but that after the work was begun a bed of gravel was discovered on the farm of J. Z. Hall and Mr. Barron was directed by the highway department to use this gravel for surfacing instead of top-soil. He found it more expensive to put down the gravel and therefore refused to complete his contract with it. It is added, A representative of the highway department came from Columbia yesterday to confer with Mr. Barron about the matter. The work of grading the new road has been progressing satisfactorily for several weeks and less than half a mile of the road and a half mile now remains to be graded. If the differences between Mr. Barron as to surfacing the road are readily adjusted, it is thought that the road will be completed within a few weeks."

CULL THE BORDER COWS BEFORE WINTER

Clemson College.—If there were a time when South Carolina dairy-herds should be culled of the low-producing cows it is right now. It will take more feed than we have on hand this fall and winter to half-ways feed our profitless cows. Every herd in the state should be culled as close as possible. How about that old cow that has just managed to live through the last winter or two? Beef her as soon as possible. What are you going to do about those two cows that have failed to breed for the last two or three years and will go through this

SELF-APPOINTED MARTYRS.

By Rev. R. O. Lawson
I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, to be content.

We ought to be ashamed of ourselves for whining and complaining and making self-appointed martyrs of ourselves...

We abuse our children if they are a little irresponsible, and rail out on our friends if they are a little unreasonable...

Life has been strangely good to us, and God has laid His hand gently upon us...

Some of us are natural whiners and blabbers and spoiled martyrs...

It is well for us to bear in mind that life was never meant to be a bed of roses...

BILIOUS ATTACKS

From Which Kentucky Man Suffered Two or Three Times a Month Relieved by Black-Draught.

Lawnbrook, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nevin, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Thorndyke's Black-Draught liver medicine...

"I had them I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month. I would get nauseated. I would have faintness and could not eat."

"I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple of times, then I would be very constipated."

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began to use it. I never have found so much relief as it gives me. I won't get without it any further."

"It seemed to clean my system and make me like a new man. I would take a few doses and get rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of pep and could not get tired."
