NEW YORK CITY

FASHION LETTER

ALL MODELS ARE VERY SIMPLE

Many Stylish Modes for Evening Wear—Plaits and Checks Will Be Much Used

New York—The return of the one-piece tailored costume to popular favor and its general adoption on the other side of the water as the most suitable of costume costumes has brought into general use the one-piece blouse.

One of the novelties of the season is the jersey goods and their great adaptability for the evening. This material is light of weight and silk and is to be found in all the season's colors.

Even with the most intricate of details, with the many buttons now so much used, it is possible to have many of the waists fastened on the left side or front without spoiling the good effect, as was the case in the seasons of the past.

Changes from the satins and taffetas up to the moiré and silk are to be worn much with satins where the waist is made to fasten on the left side.

For dressy wear when a separate waist is preferred, the bodice is made of contrasting color and often a fine contrasting color is used.

After death, what—Caesare Lombroso. After you and I have come to care the rose will spread its fragrance on the breeze.

The swallows twitter round the chimney still; The April winds will blow across the brook will wind its leisure way along.

After you and I have come to care the rose will spread its fragrance on the breeze. The foolish still will foolishly brag when home the spits they rent.

They will be needed most who give delight, And wrong will still be wrong and right be right.

After you and I have come to care the rose will spread its fragrance on the breeze. Where none shall be undone and none despoil.

Where none for another's gain shall strive; But here the wise men still shall be the strong.

And right will still be right and wrong be wrong. They will be needed most who give delight, And wrong will still be wrong and right be right.

After you and I have come to care the rose will spread its fragrance on the breeze. Where none shall be undone and none despoil.

Where none for another's gain shall strive; But here the wise men still shall be the strong.

And right will still be right and wrong be wrong. They will be needed most who give delight, And wrong will still be wrong and right be right.

THE FOREST

THE GOOD THAT WILL BE SULT FROM IT

Forest Facts by the Secretary of the Appalachian National Forest Association

Washington, D. C., November 6.—The backbone of the entire eastern portion of our country is the Appalachian range.

Many persons throughout the south, who are directly interested in the proposed Southern Appalachian National Forest, provision for which will be made in the next session of Congress, are asking what the Southern Appalachian project means, or what will be the effect of the establishment and maintenance of a national forest along the crest of the Appalachians?

In the first place, a national forest upon its creation comes immediately under the administration of the Forest Service, one of the bureaus of the Department of Agriculture—the Department which has done and is doing so much for the southern states.

Under the national forest system, no wall or barrier is placed around the forest lands under government control.

HOUSHOLD HINTS

A Little Sugar added to the soap will greatly improve the lather and clean the power. It will also remove all dirt and chemical stains.

Grated raw potato makes a splendid cleanser for the tub. Rub it over the surface and flush off with a clean cloth wrung out of warm water.

Apply the white of an egg upon the gill frames and they will disappear.

Cover plaster of paris figures with a thick coating of starch and water, let dry on the surface and the dirt will brush off with the dry powder.

Worn brooms or whisks may be dipped into hot water and uneven edges trimmed with shears. This makes the broom softer and gentler. It also makes the broom almost as good as new.

To clean coat collars, which often show white inside after a little wear, use a little ammonia in which a pinch of salt has been put to make a salt mixture. This, used as a cleaner, will remove discolorations.

Put a little ammonia on the bottom of a sputtering door, or on the sill, will sometimes remedy the trouble. If the difficulty lies in the hinges, do a little kerosene and apply, working the door and getting it together.

To keep an iron sink in good condition, scrub once or twice a week with kerosene and kerosene. Every night wash the sink with lime or the strainer and pour through it a kettleful of boiling water.

Iron rust stains on marble can be removed by rubbing with a solution of lemon juice. Other stains and discolorations may be taken off by mixing one ounce of finely powdered chalk, one ounce of pumice stone and two ounces of common soda. Sift these together through a fine sieve and mix with water.

When thoroughly mixed rub this mixture over the stains or discolorations until they disappear. Wash the marble after this with soap and water, dry and polish with a clean cloth and the marble will look like new.

Little Load Lifters. Jelly cake should have the edges pared off carefully to make it roll easier.

Pepper peppers are better for seasoning soups and sauces than ground pepper.

For removing from the hands stains made by paring fruits and vegetables use oxalic acid.

Brushing it very lightly with a clean sponge dipped in chloroform.

Old, loose kid gloves worn while ironing will keep the hands in good condition and free from calluses.

For a refreshing dinner salad, mix white cherries, bits of orange and pineapple with dressing and serve on lettuce leaves.

To make buttercream mix four cups of brown sugar, two cups of butter and three tablespoons of water and boil until crystals in water.

Do not wash colored clothes in the same water with all white ones. This especially holds good if one happens to have table linen with colored borders.

After the weekly washing rub a little vinegar and spritz of camphor over the clothes. This keeps the hands in good condition summer and winter.

THE CITY COUNCIL

He's my own cousin, mamma says; but I'm not a girl.

Because he's always lived in town and so he hasn't seen me.

So very many things. He said he never married a cow.

And all the grass he ever saw was a yard till now. He never gather roasting ears; and he never killed a cow.

Threw up a stick to knock down nuts and a nut of the tree! And he don't know where honey grows.

My I would be to be old and not know more than him!

When he looks there ain't a creek and he never goes.

A fishing, and he hasn't got a suit of clothes, and he never goes.

The kind you have to have to fish; and he says he can't go barefoot with us because the grass and weeds would hurt his toes!

He won't chew alligator skin bark or beewax; he's afraid!

It's because he told us that he don't know how it's made.

And he won't dig up angle worms because they wiggle so.

I never saw the place he lives, but my I must be slow!

He don't know how a spring board and hasn't got a hat.

And that you can dip a drink up with—he never heard of that!

He'll be right in the woods he hurries up to get!

Back home because he's afraid he'll get his straw hat wet.

One day we killed a garter snake—it'll be right in the woods he hurries up to get!

He thinks of all the things he's learned he didn't know before!

TUESDAY, NOV. 9, 1909.

In Columbia on Saturday President Taft saw some of the fairest of the state fairs.

But if the President had only come to Chester he would have seen prettier, the sweetest, the best of them all.

Now is the psychological time to present a free site if we want another cotton mill. Somebody ought to make a move in the matter.

It is a surprise that some of North Carolina's prominent men have claimed that state as the birthplace of Mat Henson, the colored cook of Commander Peary.

We have it on Lancaster now in the matter of the second crop pears. Even with all their grating criticism they will admit that we have them this time.

By the way we wouldn't be surprised if Lancaster isn't the birthplace of Mat Henson. His wonderfully surprising accounts of that North Pole expedition is stamped with the Lancasterian way of things.

Like the Rock Mill Record we are done with free advertising for the state fair. When they want any space with The Lantern they will pay for it and when we want tickets we will pay for them.

HENRY'S DEFEAT.

The defeat of Francis J. Henry for reelection as District Attorney in San Francisco is a serious disappointment to good citizens everywhere. His defeat will mean a great set back to the death blow to the prosecution against the grafters there.

Henry has led the prosecution in the face of bitter opposition and even at the peril of his life. Once he was shot in the chest and again he was shot from his bed and again he was shot lead against the grafters. They feared him; for he was relentless and neither threats, offers of bribes, or even shooting could shake him.

One of the chief persons who have been going after Calhoun as a descendant of the South Carolinian of that name, and President of the United Railways. He seems to have been the chief agent in the case, tried but without result.

It is very evident that this paper is either owned by Calhoun or some of the political friends. That was stamped all over the face of the article. As the News and Courier excused some of Calhoun's business transactions on the ground that "it was common out there."

To the people of our state this smacks of the dispensary graft. It was the custom to give bribes to get business from the dispensary not none the less it was graft. And so with the San Francisco case.

We are sorry to see the defeat of this fearless, this invaluable district attorney. The apathy of the American people at times is amazing and passing all understanding.

Cocaine Fiend Arrested.

John Myers, colored, was arrested Saturday by the police and hauled before Mayor Hardin on the charge of being drunk on cocaine and being disorderly. He was sentenced to thirty days on the chain-gang as a result.

John seems to have been very joyous under the influence of cocaine. It is related that one of his victims consisted in getting up on his neighbor's dining table and covering himself with the table cloth. A tendency to dance and shout about when a nuisance to the neighborhood in which he lived. The law against selling cocaine is very drastic and the officials are not resting with a view of finding those who sold the stuff to John.

Not a Conviction Secured Yet

Unless Any Charged With Selling Liquor.

Criminal court started yesterday morning on second week. All of the jurors were called to the court by J. E. Levin and S. M. Williford. G. W. McElruder, Fred Walker, S. H. Alley were excused. In their stead were drawn Jas. Higgins, A. W. McElr, J. W. Wicks, D. Cross, and McFadden Reid.

Peter White was placed on trial charged with selling liquor and was not found guilty. James Johnson charged with selling liquor, was found not guilty.

The cases against Cat Gilmore, Louis Giles charged with liquor, were not pressed by the Solicitor. A bench warrant was issued for the arrest of Omar Harell, charged with breaking into the store of J. W. Wicks. John Estes and George Moore, charged with liquor selling, were found not guilty.

The cases against the following, charged with liquor selling, were not pressed by the Solicitor: John W. Isaac Williams, Simon Rice, Jordan Stracy, J. D. Felts, John Simpson, and Ike Williams. The testimony was sufficient for trial and the Solicitor saw that there was no use in taking up the time of the court in the trials when the defendant would not convict.

TODAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

George Moore was placed on trial this morning charged with liquor selling and was acquitted. The case against T. G. Moore, John Young, and William Lipsey for assault and battery with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapons is on trial and will likely take most of the afternoon. This is the only case growing out of the shooting near a Sandy River Church last summer. All defendants are negroes.

Criminal court will likely be wound up tomorrow when the civil business will be once begun.

Blaze Last Night.

A fire which practically ruined the kitchen of the residence of Judge G. W. Gage on York street. The fire broke out in the lower part of the kitchen, supposedly from rats fooling with matches. The flames were discovered by Mr. Cuthbertson, who was passing along the street at the time, and he ran in and notified the family.

The alarm was struck in the fire department responded promptly. A fire wall prevented the flames from getting at the house else it would have probably been a total loss. As it was the kitchen was practically ruined by the time the flames were extinguished. The loss is $1,000.

The blaze occurred at 8 and 9 o'clock and drew a large crowd from all parts of the city.

Woman Slaps Man's Checks.

Thomsonville, Ga., Nov. 6.—On a Coast Line train from Albany today Mrs. McBride, of New Orleans, was insulted by a man named Faircloth, supposed to be in an intoxicated condition.

As he was about to get off at Camilla, the lady notified Conductor Lewis and the offender was collared by him. The lady, slight of stature and dressed in black, approached the man in custody, and with several vicious swings slapped both cheeks until they were red. The man was held by the conductor until the lady's request, as she thought he ought to be punished. When the incident had passed, the man left the train apparently satisfied with the result. The woman was taken to the station and the man was being very much wrought up over the situation. The incident caused some little excitement on the train and was witnessed by all the passengers in the coach.

Mr. R. H. Wilson, of Learyville, and Miss Estelle Ashe, of McConnellville, were married at the Kennington Saturday afternoon, the wedding being held at a supper at Mrs. Wilson's. Mrs. Wilson's friends, who are extending congratulations. Mrs. Wilson was teaching school at or near Kennington, and Mrs. Ashe was a stenographer at a school in his finances. The contracting parties are both well known here and have the best wishes of a big number of friends for a long and happy life.

MR. S. M. JONES

CROP ESTIMATE

A Maximum of 10,500,000

Bales and a Minimum of 10,250,000 Bales.

Mr. S. M. Jones, in conversation with The Lantern man this morning, gave his estimate of the cotton crop for the year. He says he has posted on this line and has been studying the cotton crop condition especially close. He estimates the maximum yield of 10,500,000 bales for the year. For South Carolina he estimates 1,300,000 bales. These figures are of much interest, as Mr. Jones is an authority on the subject, having studied it very closely. His estimates by states follows:

Table with 2 columns: State, Bales. Alabama 1,000,000, Arkansas 750,000, Florida 60,000, Georgia 1,500,000, Louisiana 800,000, Mississippi 1,000,000, Oklahoma 600,000, North Carolina 800,000, South Carolina 1,300,000, Tennessee 350,000, Texas 2,650,000, All Others 40,000.

Primary for the 13th.

At a meeting of the executive committee this morning in the office of Chairman J. M. Wise it was decided to hold the primary election on the 15th inst. to nominate the democratic candidates for alderman in ward 1 provided there were as many as two candidates offered for the position. If only one candidate offers, there will be no primary. If two or more are announced the primary will be held on the 15th, and candidates will have to file their pledges with the chairman by noon.

A Prank With a Key.

This string about a yard long to a common door key and take the string in the right hand, holding it so the key would clear the door four or five inches. If you can hold the string long enough the key will begin to swing back and forth in a straight line. Let another person take your left hand in his and the motion of the key will change from the pendulum to a circular swing. If a third person will place his hand on the shoulder of the second person the key will stop. Try it and then see if it can.—Washaw Enterprise.

How to Remove Grease from Soap.

You never can get that brocked soap from the housekeeper who is making a rich lamb broth for a kid. "It will be so greasy no digestion could stand it."

She cut half dozen squares of brown paper that fitted easily over the top of the soap in a large tin. She floated the paper on top of the liquid. In a short time the paper was soaked with grease and was removed and thrown into the stove. The other pieces in turn were used in the same way until the broth was free from grease than if it had been washed with soap.

Chicago.—Miss Angeline Schlovan the 17 year old daughter of Joseph Schlovan, a banker, at West Taylor and South Halsted streets appeared before Judge Scanlon's court today ready to go on the witness stand.

On the witness stand she told the police in a confession last February that she had stolen nearly $30,000 from her father's bank to give to a uncle and seven other relatives.

She said in the confession she gave them the money because they promised her by deputy, but she never set for Nov. 4.

Denver, Col.—Charles W. Bennett, a wealthy man, of Birmingham, N. Y. died recently while $200,000 to J. W. Casey, of this city, as a reward for saving his life thirty years ago. Casey is the proprietor of a laundry and a well to do.

Casey and Bennett were school chums in Binghamton, and the incident which caused Bennett to remember so has seemingly occurred when Casey, an expert swimmer, rescued Bennett from drowning in the Susquehanna River. Bennett then told his companion that he ever would remember his brave act.

Lady Sybil Gray is the latest distinguished divorcee. She accompanied her father, Earl Gray, Governor-General of the Dominion, on his recent trip to the Canadian Arctic goldfields. Next to her was the Hon. J. G. MacKenzie, she pegged out a claim for herself with all the prescribed legal formalities and christened it the Sybil.

Her first panning out produced 80 worth of gold, which she considers a very promising start. During the long Arctic winter Lady Sybil will work her claim by deputy, but she will return next summer to supervise operations and examine results in person.—Westminster Gazette.

An elderly lady stepped into one of our shoe stores this morning and it happened that quite a young clerk, who was in the business, stopped to wait on her. "Have you felt all right lately?" "Yes, ma'am, many a time," he replied, solemnly.

COTTON GINNED

TO NOVEMBER 1

Number so Far Packed From

Product of 1909 Indicates a Short Crop.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The census bureau today issued a report showing that 7,012,317 bales, counting round bales and half bales, had been ginned from the growth of 1909 to November 1, as compared with 8,161,557 bales for 1908.

Round bales included this year are 2,255,915, giving a net total for 1909 of 4,756,402, compared with 4,915,642 for 1908.

The report shows the following comparison of ginning in the several states up to November 1 in 1908 with the same time in 1909:

Table with 2 columns: State, 1909, 1908. Alabama 1,000,000, Arkansas 776,000, Florida 60,000, Georgia 1,355,224, Louisiana 780,202, Mississippi 1,000,000, North Carolina 379,822, Oklahoma 412,218, South Carolina 789,900, Tennessee 350,000, Texas 2,650,000, All other States 34,492.

The distribution of the sea island cotton for 1909 is as follows: Florida, 31,195; South Carolina, 3,275.

The statistics in this report for 1909 are subject to slight corrections when checked against the individual returns of the ginners being transmitted by mail. The corrected statistics of the quantity ginned this season to October 15 is 6,590,970 bales.

Christmas Superstitions.

The United States is almost poverty stricken in so far as its collection of superstitions is concerned, our early settlers having failed to import many from Europe, and adopting those of the Indians. Of course some of us don't like to see the new moon over the left shoulder, or start a journey on Friday, and the like, but few of us take even these very seriously. We must go to "the old countries" to get superstitions with any genuine thrill in them. There are numerous which have to do with Christmas.

In north Germany, where the practical yet poetic spinning wheel still turns in the cottages, one must not spin during the 12 nights of Christmas lest he or she walk after death. To the American reader it may occur that this would probably be more desirable to a railway tycoon. If the spinning is done after sunset on Saturday, one will see the work if one wishes to have money and good luck all the year. One should not fall out on hedges on New Year's day. It is simply tempting Providence to own an empty cradle or spill salt, water, or cross knives, or point at the stars.

If a dirty cloth is left on the table over Christmas night it will make the angels weep, and if you point upward to a rainbow it will make the first bleed. Of course you would not like to hurt the feelings of the Man in the Moon. Well, don't talk of cabbage while looking at the moon.

All over England there is a very closely cherished superstition that every remnant of Christmas decorations must be removed before Christmas day. Should a sprig of holly or other evergreen be left in the house one of its occupants will die within the year.—New York Times.

Most people understand that the placing of a marble in the pants prevents lugging, but few seem to be aware that a large clean marble rolled in milk, porridge, custards, sauces or cream, and placed on the string as the liquid cooks. Any discharge of burning will be prevented and thus the fatigue of constantly straining and the cook's time can be saved, as by this means the cook can be attending to several things at once instead of having to give her whole time and attention to one.—London Lady.

A stitch in time saves a lot of gossip.

Second Crop Pears. Mr. R. E. Lynn, who lives on Hinton street in this city, brought to The Lantern office yesterday some second crop pears which grew on a pear tree in his yard. The first crop was not very good and the tree bloomed for the second time this season in September. A nice second crop is now on the tree and the ones brought to the office yesterday are well formed, about half grown, and as good as any second crop pears. This is a rare crop so far as The Lantern is aware of second crop pears, but then Chester county has the finest county on earth, will grow any kind of crop and the majority of them two crops for the season.

When people agree to disagree they are compelled to come to terms.

Uncle Sam's PAROID Roofing

The above illustration is from a photograph of the Plant Industry Building, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. It is roofed with PAROID because of its resistance to fire, rot, decay, and insect pests. The Government also uses PAROID for stables, barracks, washhouses, etc. It is PAROID because it is made of asphalt and is waterproof.

PAROID is the ideal roofing for barns, stables, sheds, poultry houses, warehouses, outbuildings, etc. Equally valuable for roofing or siding. It is waterproof, is easy to lay, is neat and duster proof, also contains no lead, does not crack, and does not run in summer.

About noon Saturday the city was visited by a lightning and hail storm in which considerable damage was done. The barn of Levi Wilson, colored, who lives in "Brookings" was struck by lightning which destroyed the barn and burned up a mule which was in a stable adjoining the barn.

While talking over the telephone at the Wylie mine while the storm was in progress Mr. Paul Hardin was struck by a bolt and considerably stunned. He was thrown to the floor by the violence of the shock but managed to get to the door and call for help. One of his arms and his side appeared to have been temporarily paralyzed by the force of the shock.
