Adjoining County News.

A. R. Jones, of this city, was successfully operated on at the Fennell infirmary, Rock Hill, Monday for the removal of his appendix and is getting along nicely it was stated today. During the swim show J. E. Craig of North Lancaster, sold a number of Poland China pigs on exhibition at $10.00 each. Mrs. Newman McCollum, who has been spending some time at the home of the latter's father, Corcoran, near Q. Cakley, left yesterday morning by automobile for their home at Tampa, Fla., going by way of Athens, Ga., where they will visit a few days at the home of Mrs. McCollum's brother, G. Marion Cakley. Mrs. and Mrs. Brown Slaters, of West Lancaster, have the sympathy of their friends in the loss of their month-old son who died Tuesday morning. Burial was at Elgin Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, funeral services being conducted at the home by Rev. S. Patterson. Through the agency of T. M. Hughes, broker, recent sales of lots on Main street, known as R. E. Blynn property, were made one to Bert C. Hight, one to Mrs. Ernest Moore, each lot measuring on Main street 49 1/4 feet and extending back to the Catawba street. The purchase price was not disclosed. Lancaster News.

The Church Home Orphanage of Yorkville, has bought 90 acres of land including a home and barn from D. D. Thomas, who lives near the orphanage. The orphanage originally intended to buy the entire farm as a farm; but later decided to buy only a portion of the place. Fred Speers, who runs a saw mill on fair grounds on the western outskirts of Rock Hill, reported to the police of that town that he was held up in his store Saturday night and robbed of $30. According to Spears' story a bandit who was masked so as to conceal his identity entered the store shortly after 10 o'clock and demanded that what money was on hand be turned over to him. Constables around Yorkville are cooperating with the police to locate the man who was held up in his store Saturday night. The cotton crop again this year is simply phenomenal. I saw a York county man the other day. "I went down into that country after a lot of second hand automobiles, having a good idea that they could be bought for a song. And I found that information correct. But I was telling you about the conditions in that country. I saw with my own eyes numbers of negro men who had no clothes on anything but an old sack around their waists. There were a few white farmers around there who actually had no shoes to wear. And I don't think I saw a pair of worn-out shoes. Crops of all kinds in that particular section have failed this year and it is a hard matter for lots of people to get anything to eat. The colored women seem to be faring better than the colored men since many of them are finding employment in other sections of the county and waitresses. Laborers can be gotten down there for their board and $1 a week and even for $2. No wonder you hear about so many colored people from Georgia coming to South Carolina and North Carolina seeking work. The distance from Gastonia to Columbia by Clover, Yorkville, Chester and Wainwright is exactly 100 miles, and Wednesday morning I was in Yorkville, who was telling Virginia and interviews of his trip by automobile between the two points. The company with Mr. C. Marshall for the purpose of making a map to be distributed among tourists from the north and east who are going back for the winter. Messrs. Carroll and Marshall recently raised among local business people a sum sufficient to pay for getting out a folder with a view to trying to get the tourists to come this way rather than go by Gastonia to Blackburg and then to Spartanburg and then to South. "We noted the exact distance with a speedometer," said Mr. Carroll, and Mr. Marshall and myself are making the exact distances between various towns on the route. We had intended originally to go from Yorkville to Great Falls and then to Luff and Camden; but the route that way is some twenty miles further and white good, the stiles there is up for the difference, still there is nothing wrong with the road from Gastonia to Columbia via Chester and Wainwright except a section from Blackstock to Wainwright. However as we were returning through Wainwright Tuesday night we noticed that the road between Fairfield had that day voted at $500.00 good roads, as good as any of it would be a great improvement. Fairfield road is as good as any of the rest of it. In Columbia we visited the office of the state highway commissioner and he said that the road was as good as any of the rest of it. As a question of the fact that the route from Gastonia to Columbia in which we are interested was the most direct route and that when the Fairfield people build their road from Blackstock to Wainwright, it

CHRISTIANS FLEE FROM ASIA MINOR

Thousands Move in Panic Relief Assume Cigarette Proportions as Population is Stampeded.

Constantinople, Nov. 12.—Reports showing Constantinople show that the entire Christian population of Slavus, Anagora, Cesarea, Konia and other large centers in Asia Minor are in panic flight towards the shores of the mediterranean and Black sea.

Samsun, in the vilayet of Trebizond, on the Black sea, has 10,000 of its own refugees and 40,000 others are reported, headed for that port in quest of ships to take them out of the country. Along every road and in every mountain pass are long winding, serpentine columns of men, women and children, gazing along sleepily oxen pulling wagon loads of their worldly goods. People are abandoning their homes, farms and everything in their power to get the greatest possible distance between themselves and their mortal enemies—the Turks.

It is difficult to handle the wholesale evacuation have been increased by inclement weather, which is bringing sickness or death to thousands. James C. Brown, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., of the American News East report, notified Constantinople by courier today that the water at Samsun was crowded with nervous or terrified refugees waiting for boats. Mr. Crutcher stated that 2,000 persons. He believes not intended one-third of the refugees will be able to leave the country within the period set to them to do so by the Turks. He therefore is making efforts to induce the Ankara government to extend the time limit.

Reports from other places in Asia Minor say the Turkish military and police commission has completed the work of assessing property in the South Carolina and the results of a year's work are being tabulated now. No inquiry of what the total assessed valuation of property in the state will be available yet, according to members of the tax commission, who stated today that while they cannot say what the taxable property of the state is worth on the tax books, it is probable that the total will be slightly lower than last year, due to the general deflation of values.

The commission yesterday began hearings on Columbia protests against assessments fixed by the local board of assessors, on the basis of a recent survey of property in the capital, which was used by the local board as the basis of assessment values. In several cases property holders alleged great differences between their figures and those of the board, and their petitions for adjustments are being considered this week.

Announcement is made by the commission that the returns from the state's gasoline tax for the year has so far reached about $900,000 and that for the entire year the proceeds of the tax are expected to reach a million dollars.

Delinquent tax payments for 1922 are being reported to the state tax commission now at the rate of about $2,000 a day.

MILLS LEAVES MACON AFTER 20 WHIPPING

Macon, Ga., Nov. 11.—R. D. Mills, chiropractor, who was kidnapped by a gang of men last Saturday night and beaten almost into unconsciousness, was released today. Friday night after being warned by a telephone message that he would be killed if he did not leave by Saturday.

Mills, while being flopped, was ordered to leave the city within a week, according to the story by Mills, who said he was held last Saturday night in a critical condition. He said he promised the kidnappers that he would leave the city by Friday, but he did not see how he could possibly do so as all of his money was tied up in business here.

Mills has been in bed with high fever caused by deep gashes inflicted by the kidnappers. He has been lying in his automobile carrying his 10-year-old son, Francis, with him. Mills and another child remained at their home here.

Friday he received a message over the telephone, ordering him to leave home at once under penalty of death. After receiving the message his wife, who had previously urged him to comply with the request, insisted on his going.

Mills later in his automobile carrying his 10-year-old son, Francis, with him. Mills and another child remained at their home here.

Creameries pay cash for cream every month. The farmer gets butter price with none of the butter trouble. Cotton makes land and farmer poor. Butter makes land and farmer rich. Which?

TAX COMMISSION FINISHES ASSESSING

Expected Total Will Be Lower Than for Last Year, But No Figures Are Announced.

Columbia, Nov. 10.—The state tax commission has completed the work of assessing property in the South Carolina and the results of a year's work are being tabulated now. No inquiry of what the total assessed valuation of property in the state will be available yet, according to members of the tax commission, who stated today that while they cannot say what the taxable property of the state is worth on the tax books, it is probable that the total will be slightly lower than last year, due to the general deflation of values.

The commission yesterday began hearings on Columbia protests against assessments fixed by the local board of assessors, on the basis of a recent survey of property in the capital, which was used by the local board as the basis of assessment values. In several cases property holders alleged great differences between their figures and those of the board, and their petitions for adjustments are being considered this week.

Announcement is made by the commission that the returns from the state's gasoline tax for the year has so far reached about $900,000 and that for the entire year the proceeds of the tax are expected to reach a million dollars.

Delinquent tax payments for 1922 are being reported to the state tax commission now at the rate of about $2,000 a day.

TOLBERT DRESSES UP IN NEW GOLD COLLAR BUTTON

But Refuses To Wear Necktie Even To Take Office as United States Marshal.

Greenwood, Nov. 9.—A brilliant new gold collar button graced the neck of Joseph Warren Tolbert, republican national committeeman and dispenser, when he began his duties in his first full term of office here today as United States marshal for the western district.

The new marshal dressed up for the occasion, but he scorned the necktie he has never worn and only compromised with attention by wearing a new gold collar button and a new linen collar.

Although the committeeman has attended national republican convocations various social functions in Washington and has dined with the President, he has never sacrificed his pride to the convention of neckties. Dressed in a navy grey suit, striped shirt, he was as dapper as a collier—except for the necktie, when he strode into court this morning.

After a vigorous fight in the senate made by Senator Dial, Tolbert was given a recess of one month at marshal to succeed O. J. Lyon by President Harding.

WHAT TEXAS SAYS ABOUT DESTROYING COTTON STALKS

Clemson College.—The Extension service of Clemson College has been preaching the fall and winter clean-up of cotton fields and hibernating places of the boll weevil as one of the most effective measures of weevil control. To show that this is advocated and practiced in Texas, the greatest cotton-producing state, the following article is quoted from the Texas Extension Service Farm News.

Present conditions in South Carolina favor such a clean-up for in all parts of the state cotton picking is already practically completed, and farmers can turn attention to stalk destruction. The earlier the clean-up the more effective will be the weevil control.

Read these twenty statements from Texas.

1. Weevil-infested, in spring, starts from the few weevils that pass the winter.
2. The weevil, developing late in the fall, are the ones most likely to survive the winter.
3. Many weevils will survive the winter in fields where cotton stalks together with grass, weeds and other material offering shelter, are allowed to remain.
4. Great numbers successfully pass the winter in Spanish moss and dead grass along fences, ditches and other waste places.
5. The weevil eats only cotton.
6. The weevil breeds only in squares and bolls.
7. The weevil can live for several months without food while hibernating and inactive.
8. It does not become inactive until the first killing frosts.
9. Previous to the first killing frosts, it can live for only about six days without food.
10. Killing cotton growth early prevents new weevils breeding and permits only the older ones to enter hibernation.
11. Very few of these older weevils are able to resist the killing frosts of cotton is entirely killed as early as two weeks before frosts, practically all weevils will starve before going into winter quarters.
12. Destroy cotton growth early if possible, by October 1.
13. Merely chopping or clipping the stalks will not answer, the stubs will throw out new growth in the spring.
14. Merely chopping or clipping the stalks will not answer, the stubs will throw out new growth in the spring.
15. Kill the plant entirely and prevent new growth by setting a plow shallow and turning out the plants or by some equally effective means.
16. Do not burn crop refuse on the fields. Texas farms need this returned to the soil. Merely killing the plants as suggested in No. 15, will, in most cases, secure the benefit aimed at.
17. Burn the trash along fences, ditches and other waste places, in mid-winter, and thus destroy the individuals hibernating there (see Nos. 4 and 16).
18. A farmer cannot prevent weevils from coming to his cotton in the spring that another person has wintered.

WOMAN TO BE JUDGE.

Miss Florence Allen Elected in Ohio.

Cleveland, Ohio, Nov. 10.—News-paper woman, teacher, investigator of immigration conditions, lawyer assistant county prosecutor, and judge of common pleas court are the steps which have led Florence E. Allen to an associate judgeship on the Ohio supreme court, as far as records show, the only woman in the world who has held such a position.

Complete unofficial returns, tabulated by the Associated Press, show that Miss Allen has been elected to the supreme bench by a plurality of 24,530 over her nearest opponent.

Miss Allen has been practicing law in Ohio for the last eight years, being admitted to the bar in 1914. She was graduated from Western Reserve university in 1904. From 1906 to 1909 she was on the editorial staff of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, writing numerous criticisms at night and teaching during the day.

Her career has been a succession of "firsts." She was the first woman to serve as an assistant prosecuting attorney in Cuyahoga county, Ohio, and when elected to the common pleas bench two years ago, she was the first woman to sit on a court of general jurisdiction in the country.

Her election to the supreme court, she has declared in an interview, is a vindication of her contention that the judiciary should take office, she asserting "with no other obligations than those I owe to the people I am to represent."

DEMAND FOR EQUAL RIGHTS IS ADOPTED BY WOMAN'S PARTY

Ladies of 33 States Begin a Campaign to be Nation-Wide.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Officers of the National Woman's party, representing women of 33 states today unanimously adopted a far-reaching declaration of rights, as the basis for a country-wide campaign demanding equal rights for women in the home, church, industry and government.

Debate at the opening of the two day equal rights conference, centered principally around two planks in the declaration, which demanded that "restrictions upon the hours, conditions and remuneration of labor shall apply alike to both sexes," and "that women shall no longer be barred from the priesthood or ministry, or any position of authority in the church, but equally with men, shall participate in all ecclesiastical offices and dignities."

To carry out the plan of equality, the conference then adopted a plan of campaign reaching into every state where legislatures are to meet this year, to sit sentiment among both men and women in favor of equal rights declaration. Equal rights sentiment would be stimulated not only in state legislatures but in the most active social organizations, the working congressional committees in each state.

The demand for women to work toward having women nominated as candidates for every local and state office, and appointed equally with the men in all ecclesiastical local county and state governments.

CONTRIBUTIONS OF CHURCH MEMBERS ASSOCIATION SELLS FIRST LOT OF COTTON

York, S. C., Nov. 11.—Paul N. Moore today bought 300 bales of cotton for the Cannon Mills, of the South Carolina Cotton Growers' Association, which is selling the first lot sold by that organization, according to announcement here today. The price paid was not stated.

Probable gains are frequently deposited on the contribution plate in some of the backwoods Episcopal churches of the South. Which goes to show that the spirit of giving hasn't changed so very much in the 100 years of the Church Missionary Society just being reuniting. The first report of the society, dated May 30, 1823, was dug up the other day, and while it shows no contribution of eggs, it does show other articles of merchandise sent to have found their way to the plate from people who gave "according to their means."

This report, for instance, shows that back in 1821 David Stenesh gave a number of groceries for the support of the missionaries; Stephen North contributed a medicine chest; William Royland, a cross-cut saw; Jos and John Needles, two sieves; S. Massey, a coffee mill; John and T. Clady contributed, also, a singularly empty gift—a safe. John Bove came along with a tuff, whether bath or wash was not stated. C. Buckley is credited on the books with a Deflection and a thermometer.

Among the other miscellaneous articles listed are starchy material, trousers, chairs, soap, brushes and locks. Finally, from one Richard Markall there is a hoghead of oil.

It does not encourage the idea that some good missionary far off enjoyed a comfortable smoke—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

MONEY KINGS COMPETE FOR WELLSFERTY MAN

Rockefeller, Mellon And Ford Each Hailed as the Richest Citizen.

The question of who is the richest man in America has caused some controversy during the last month and has shattered the belief that John D. Rockefeller, for long considered the richest American, held the record of wealth in his hands. The new contenders for the honor of being America's financial king are Rockefeller, Mellon and Ford. Each is hailed as the richest citizen.

The Wall Street Journal says that Ford is the richest man, James A. Mellon is second, and John D. Rockefeller is third. Rockefeller, for long considered the richest American, held the record of wealth in his hands. The new contenders for the honor of being America's financial king are Rockefeller, Mellon and Ford. Each is hailed as the richest citizen.

Ford has the biggest of all incomes and the most profitable business, but his business is of such a nature that it is difficult to value. The value for which it could be sold, is no more than half its separate value. The Ford business may be worth $200,000,000, but it is probable that if he attempted to liquidate it he could not get much for it.

In that case Ford's business wealth, though greater than Rockefeller's, would not be worth as much as one who wanted to cash in and get out of it as Rockefeller's. His is much more liquid. Mellon's wealth is of a different kind. He is a potential wealth, power over money, opportunity, if not inclination, to hold positions of honor, and to control more wealth in his private capacity, according to Mr. Babson, including bank deposits, real estate and a multitude of business, than both Mr. Ford and Mr. Rockefeller together.

Rockefeller is considered the richest man in actual cash. His income is about $25,000,000 a year, most of which is estimated at $20,000,000 to $750,000,000 with the exception that it will soon reach a billion dollars. He is the owner of the biggest individual income, but the biggest individual income, but the bulk of the $25,000,000 a year which his interests earn for him goes back into the Ford Motor Car Company.

Mellon pays an income tax on an annual income of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000. Ford has paid on $6,000,000 and Rockefeller has paid on the same amount as Ford. Mr. Mellon, however, is said to be able to fit his own income, as he has the financial power to expand as he sees fit, but he is a banker and capitalist rather than an investor.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 14

Strong re-enforcement for the agricultural group in the Senate and House by successes in last week's election is favorable to early action by Congress for development of the government Muscle Shoals plant as a producer of commercial fertilizer, has been indicated by congressional leaders.

The Henry Ford offer for this plant stands as the only possible of acceptance by the government, it is because it includes the entire work and carries guarantees for the manufacture of maximum output of fertilizer compounds at prices to be adjusted by a government board.

Other offers are for fractional parts of the Muscle Shoals plant and do not relieve the government of its annual output in upkeep.

The lease of the Muscle Shoals plant to Henry Ford on terms recommended to Congress by a committee was laid before House and Senate at the last session of Congress and its acceptance urged by farmers groups in Senate and House. Necessary legislation failed because of opposition by congressional and administration leaders.

As the recent elections made no change in the present House and Senate is continued opposition of leaders to immediate action on the Henry Ford offer is expected to terminate and the bill will go over.

The amazing extent of the country-wide swing away from the Republican "old guard" at last Tuesday's election was construed by Senator Ladd, New Hampshire Republican, of North Dakota, as "an unmistakable revolt of the people against the existing order of things political and governmental" and "a sure forerunner of a progressive revival in national and state government."

Ladd declared there was "warning signals to be read by the reactionaries of both the big parties," in the crushing of the "old guard" senators and the election to the Senate of men like Brookhart, and Howell, of Nebraska.

He said his prediction that the "agricultural bloc" would be augmented considerably by the "old guard" farmers against the grave economic injustice done them indicated clearly they would have a strong voice in public affairs henceforth than ever before in the country's history."

"Not only are the farmers aroused but in my opinion, the people generally are up in arms against the heavy taxation and other financial burdens which have been increasingly imposed upon them in recent years," Ladd said.

"The program this new progressive movement will develop will be more conservative than the one of old progressive movement bore, for, in my judgment, the people possess a better knowledge of public affairs than they did in the days of Theodore Roosevelt, and they will have an even stronger demand for a real people's government."

A decision which is being awaited with intense interest, not only in Chester but throughout, this entire section, is that of the football committee of the State High School League, which is expected to hand down a decision with reference to the eligibility of Douglas Wingo, who is playing with the Rock Hill High school team.

It will be recalled that Prof. Brookman, of the Chester schools, last week received a telegram from Prof. F. M. Mack, superintendent of the Fort Mill school, in which eligibility, stating that he had received money for playing baseball with the Fort Mill team for at least two seasons. This statement from Prof. Mack comes as a direct accusation, giving the specific names. One cannot believe that Prof. Mack,

Great Falls News Items

Great Falls, Nov. 13.—One of the most delightful social events of the season was a reception given by Mrs. J. B. McKown, Saturday afternoon, from three to six o'clock, comprising Mrs. Presley Thomas, a bride of a few weeks. The lying-in and dining rooms were set aside and a profusion of chrysanthemums were used in decoration. The guests were received by Mrs. K. H. White, who presented them to the hostess and honored them. From the receiving line they were conducted by Mrs. Marion Roddy to the bride's register, where Mrs. John A. Howard presided. The tea table, at which Mrs. H. B. Mebane and Mrs. C. E. Reynolds presided, was artistically arranged with a background of ferns and potted plants, and a center piece of gorgeous yellow chrysanthemums.

There are other rumors regarding some of the football players and it is also hoped that they will be thoroughly investigated. The news bears that an affidavit has been made certifying that another teacher at school attending the age. It is absolutely against the rules of the association for any young man 21 years of age or over to engage in school athletics.

It is a pity that such a condition exists and it may be possible that they do not exist. But be that as it may the matter should be handled to the satisfaction of all.

If the young men in question are not guilty of the charges which have been preferred against them, they themselves to furnish the association with the necessary information which will immediately clear them. No young man, who is guilty of no wrong, can afford to have his name connected with those things which are so disgraceful to the school.

ARCTIC OCEAN IS GROWING WARMER

Strange Vessels of Gulf Stream Reported by General Stationed in Norway.

Washington,—Strange reports of alleged vagaries of the Gulf Stream, during the last three months had an added impetus here when a report was received by the Department of Commerce from U. S. Consul last at Bergen, Norway, stating that the Arctic ocean is getting warmer.

Last said the water of the far northern ocean has become so appreciably warmer that seas are retreating to recesses of the polar ice cap, far from the usual hunting grounds. Ice masses are disappearing (glaciers are melting, and fish, never before known so far north, are appearing in increasing quantities.

Dr. Hoel, geologist of the University of Norway, the report stated, has just returned to Norway from an expedition into the Arctic Circle. He reported that the encroached scarcely any ice and has advanced to a depth of 3,100 meters as far north as 81 degrees, 21 minutes.

An Arctic fisherman, last said, who has sailed the oceans for 64 years, declared that conditions in the far north have been "growing steadily warmer since 1918.

At any points, it is said, glaciers have disappeared leaving only moraines of earth, and some Whitefish Bay, practically disappeared, their places being taken by vast shoals of herring and smelt, fish accustomed to moderately warm water. Sea hunters, he reports, are on the verge of despair, saying that seals have retreated to the colder waters nearer the pole.

EXPECTS TAX ON ELECTRIC POWER

Senator Gross Predicts Success for Hydro-Electric Measure in Assembly.

Columbia—Prediction of the success in the General Assembly of a hydro-electric tax bill was predicted yesterday by Senator H. C. Ross, of Dorchester county, who as chairman of the Senate finance committee and therefore member of the state budget commission, is in Columbia attending hearings conducted by the commission on requests of various departments of government for 1923 appropriations.

Senator Gross stated that he has studied carefully the make up of the new legislature, from the recent election results, and he feels judging from the personnel of the new Assembly, that there will be a majority sentiment in favor of the hydro-electric tax plan.

The hydro-electric bill was introduced in the 1922 General Assembly and passed the House. In the Senate it was laid away in the finance committee room as first, but later was revived in new edition, and was the subject of long and heated debate, after lengthy hearings had been conducted by the finance committee. It was killed, however, a warm fight against it being waged by the hydro-electric corporations of the state.

Senator Gross predicts that the election of numerous new members of the General Assembly, many of whom are said to be in favor of tax reforms and inclined to favor taxation of hydro-electric power, will result in enactment of the tax measure in 1923.

Senator Gross states that he believes the General Assembly will be inclined to continue the tax reform work started by the 1922 legislature.

Creo-pine Shingles Show a Smaller Upkeep Cost than any other form of Roofing

Wooden shingles when properly treated are the ideal roofing material.

By the high power hydraulic process of creosoting Creo-pine shingles the undiluted creosote thoroughly penetrates the pores of the wood. Moisture, rains, frost, or sun cannot cause decay or rot.

Nails driven into untreated shingles rust and wear loose causing leaks in the roof. Nails driven in Creo-pine shingles do not rust and hold firmly for many years.

Roofs of Creo-pine shingles have been in service for fifteen years with no upkeep whatever, and at the end of that time were in good condition.

Creo-pine shingles are very little, if any, higher than heart pine shingles, cheaper than dried cedar shingles and composition roofing and last much longer. They are cleaner to handle than dipped shingles and make a neat, attractive slate roof appearance.

Call on us and let us tell you all about the Creo-Pine Shingles.

The proposed program would lighten the tax burden resting on real property, and would make the payment easier. New sources of revenue will likely be proposed before the next Assembly.

Senator Gross returned to the capital Saturday from Clemson. He has conferred with officials. He finds that Clemson will likely need larger appropriations next year, due to the fact that the sale of tobacco tax tags, the proceeds of which go to the support of Clemson, has been lighter than in past years. However, the budget of Clemson College has not been presented to the budget commission as yet, nor have the budgets of the State College of Education, of the Department of Education, of the University and of several other large departments of state government.

The Senator states that there is no way of knowing as yet how the state's 1923 budget will compare with past years.

Friday's Game

Chester High Loses to Rock Hill High by Score of 12 to 6—A Hard Fought Game

A hard fought gridiron battle was that of last Friday when the Chester High football team met the Rock Hill High on the latter's grounds at Rock Hill. When the final whistle blew the score stood 12 to 6 in favor of Rock Hill.

This game was the main game in the Chester association and fully 2,000 people were on the side lines to witness it, there being many from York, Fort Mill, and Lancaster in addition to the large crowd from Rock Hill and Chester.

At 3:17 the boys were lined up and Massabau kicked off to Rock Hill. Steele got the ball advancing to the 30 yard line where Rock Hill began a drive but was unable to punt. Steele for Chester got 20 yards right end and Chester got a penalty of 15 yards for holding. At the end of the first quarter the score stood 6 to 0 in favor of Rock Hill. In the second quarter Rock Hill made the ball with a line plunge and another down placed it on the four yard line. Here Rock Hill got the ball to the middle of the field. In the third quarter Rock Hill made the ball with a line plunge and another down placed it on the four yard line. Here Rock Hill got the ball to the middle of the field.

It was also in the second quarter that Chester made her touchdown. Massabau had punted 42 yards to Rock Hill. Here Rock Hill tumbled and went to Rock Hill's two yard line. Chester made a line plunge and landed the ball within a few inches of the goal, the ball was again in the middle of the field.

In the third quarter with the ball on Chester's 15 yard line Rock Hill made the ball with a line plunge and another down placed it on the four yard line to Chester. Chester wanted the ball, yet caught by Nims, Rock Hill made the ball with a line plunge and another down placed it on the four yard line. Here Rock Hill got the ball to the middle of the field.

the game there might have been a different score, as he is Chester's best passer and too, his presence would have placed Jim Brice in a position to have received some of the passes. Tolison's eligibility had been questioned by the chairman of the High School League football committee, who was acting on information coming from a party at Belton and while there was no proof submitted of his ineligibility the Chester officials desired to be absolutely square and kept the boy out of the game. Every one of the Chester boys got his share and to mention one would call for all. William Brice, Chester's right end was decidedly in the game and was a tremendous hindrance to Rock Hill's line. They framed up on him but regardless of this they were unable to keep him from getting through. Jim Brice did excellent head work and played both in the back and on the line. The longest punt of the day is credited to Massabau, who punted for 42 yards against Nims' 35. A Chester surprise came in the fourth quarter—when Wade substituted for Campbell. Wade hit the line and the hit it hard bringing his man down on the first move. The only other Chester substitution was A. Kennedy for E. Nims, who sprained his ankle.

Nims, whose eligibility has been questioned, and whom Prof. F. M. Mack, superintendent of the Rock Hill schools, wired Prof. Brockman, was not eligible, was the outstanding star of the Rock Hill team. He made both of the touchdowns, ran both down and also made the longest gains through Chester's line. He touches the scales for 170 pounds and is one of the fastest players in High School football in this section lately. The telegram from Prof. Mack having been given much publicity through the section, it was somewhat of a surprise not only to the people of Chester, but other towns as well, to see Nims in the Rock Hill team. Steele is certified to by Prof. Burts, of the Rock Hill schools, and there was nothing for Chester to do but play the game game as best he can, or possibly start a squabble, which Chester was very anxious to avoid. However, Nims is not the only good player on the Rock Hill team. Steele is an excellent player and his line hard. He is a Chester county boy, who is in the Chester team and was a hard one to handle.

It was also in the second quarter that Chester made her touchdown. Massabau had punted 42 yards to Rock Hill. Here Rock Hill tumbled and went to Rock Hill's two yard line. Chester made a line plunge and landed the ball within a few inches of the goal, the ball was again in the middle of the field.

Along the pathway of times sweeping changes lay the plumed and the unheeded, the lofty, and the lofty, the great and little, all victims of the "Credit Ledger" under whose terrible lottery laws no amount of courage, enterprise, genius or ambition could ever hope to win in the fierce and unequal struggle for mastery. It does not require a brain of any extraordinary capacity to know that the Mills of King Credit like the Mills of the Gods grind slowly but grind exceedingly small.

The Credit Ledger has split, splintered and shivered Agricultural and Mercantile traffic that had defied a thousand whirlwinds. King Credit has made a deplorable black mark across the eventful pages of the World's history from the dim archives of time down to the marvelous and magnificent splendor of the present. In the great cities of the North and elsewhere merchants are going into bankruptcy nearly every day. These bankrupt stocks are thrown into the auction rooms and sold out at just what they will bring on the market. In the quarters like these we are gathering mercantile ammunition with which we expect to silence competition in whatever sphere. Remember: the hammer of the sheriff does not injure the fabric but it everlastingly weakens the price.

From the square, the queer, the wavering and the fallen, these "Landladies" have come forth at the bidding of sleepless enterprise and judgement bought in the costly school of practical experience.

THE NATIONAL ELECTIONS.

The outstanding feature of the election through the country was the loss in Republican prestige. The Grand Old Party met disaster in New York, fared badly in New England States and worse at the hands of the progressive element in the West. The Honorable Henry Cabot Lodge had a close call, but edged in by a majority of 100,000. He always stare him with reproach. New York retires an old-liner, Senator William M. Calder, and sends a Democratic successor by a majority in six figures. Another old-liner, Albert J. Beveridge, is elected to stay at home, but in offset there is the loss to the Democrats of Senator Hitchcock and Senator Pomeroy. One Republican woman is retired from the House and another Republican woman is sent to take her place. New Jersey went Democratic and California stood nobly by Hiram Johnson. Saved in the shuffle was the Honorable James A. Reed. It assumed almost to a progressive upheaval in the Western States, where the Democrats gained from the House and the Democrats in bunches. Ohio sent four, besides electing a Democratic Governor. Kansas goes Democratic, while the Republican fabric in Indiana was badly torn. Five Republican Congressmen were lost to the Republicans in Illinois, and the Democrats gained three in Oklahoma, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Iowa alone appear to stay where they were. LaFollette got back largely because of the fact that "only a woman" opposed him. Maryland sends an old-time Cleveland Democrat to the United States Senate, and in addition to that, the aspirations of a Republican Congressman were knocked sky-high. One of the significant developments was the defeat of Mr. Mandell, the Republican floor leader in the House, and who had been regarded as an established Republican institution in Washington. New Hampshire has done herself the honor to elect a Democratic Governor, at the same time retiring two Republican Congressmen.

Prohibition figured in Wisconsin to a successful extent, and the same issue retired Mr. Volstead, of Minnesota, from the House in which he drafted and passed the celebrated law bearing his name. If the Democrats have not gained control in the House, they have retired the Republican majority to a fraction of its former self, and established a condition by which it will be possible for progressive Republicans to join forces with the Democrats and in this way make the House anti-administration on many public matters. The South not only maintains the faith, but is sticking still closer to it. There is but small encouragement outside of the only angle from which the election is to be viewed, and that is distinctly a Democratic angle. The Democratic party has not retrieved all the losses sustained in the frantic year of 1920, but the fragments are so few that they may be easily picked up with the coming of the 1924 hurricane.

TIGER OF FRANCE IS COMING TO BERRY OUT OLD DREAM

Clemenceau is Accompanied Only by His Valet, Hat and Case.

Harve, France, Nov. 11.—A short, stout, sharp-eyed brown faced man of 82 was the most noticed person on the steamship Paris which sailed from here this afternoon for New York.

He was Georges Clemenceau, France's war-time premier, on his way to visit the United States for the first time since his youth and doing his utmost to bring complete understanding and sympathy between that country and France.

Although the departure for the "Tiger" was unrecognized officially by either the French or the American governments, he is looked upon as one of the most important figures ever to leave the shores of France.

"What a wonderful old man he is," was the universal comment of those gathered at the pier. Besides his valet, Albert, he is accompanied only by his hat and cane.

BLACK MAGIC.

Electricity generated at Niagara Falls, eventually winds its way through the air by wireless to cities and farms hundreds of miles away. This is predicted by Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, chief engineer of the Radio Corporation. The possibilities of such a development are amazing. First the experts are beginning to agree that the solution of the coal problem lies through the coal at the mines, using the heat to produce steam, which in turn would operate engines attached to huge dynamos. The electric current, thus generated, would be sent to fire-off plants to furnish light, heat and power for a country on an electric basis. It would save costly transportation of fuel.

Scientists are working out methods by which high-tension current can be sent great distances. It is not improbable that the transmission will be by radio before the perfection of devices for sending the current through wires. At present a high-tension current can be sent only a limited distance, though Stalmetts in recent months has sent a terrifically powerful current 1000 miles, experimentally.

Picture the future, with the farm and home equipped with switches which, turned on, would pick out of the air the best, light and power sent by radio from 1000 or more miles away.

In the old days, that would have been called "withcraft," Black Magic. Yet, today, it sounds plausible, even probable. The old-time alchemists and witches, in their wildest dreams, never imagined anything so much as wonderful as the actual scientific accomplishments of the generation in which we live.

SOME OF THE WHYS OF A ONE-CROP COUNTRY

There are those who have been inclined to fret because certain parts of the South have depended solely upon cotton as a source of cash. So far as cotton farmers fall to grow at home the major part of the supplies needed to run the place, the complaints were largely justified. Beyond that point, however, there are two sides to the question. When a farmer has done everything he can do, all the fretting in the world can hardly justify his doing differently.

There are three good reasons for farmers in many sections of the South relying largely on the cotton for cash. (1) Cotton production required a minimum investment in equipment, credit could be arranged, and some cash was certain to be forthcoming. (2) Neither the capital nor credit required could be provided in a great many cases for the production of other crops or livestock. (3) Satisfactory markets were not available for other crops or livestock.

Cotton today is not the certain crop that it once was. The hazards of the boll weevil added to the hazards of weather and prices are making cotton credits risky. Therefore something must be done. Markets are rapidly being brought to our doors through co-operative action. The county agents have shown us the way to market with our one or three or fifteen hogs through the channel of cooperation. They have done the same for us with cattle and chickens and eggs and sweet potatoes and many other things. We have known all the while that we could grow these things but we had poor market facilities.

Now that the market question is found to be capable of settlement, the other great obstacle looms up. The lack of sufficient working capital is one of the important factors that has held us to cotton. Co-operation will provide a market for hogs, but to produce hogs at a profit, we must raise them. To raise them, we need fences and fences cost money. Cows must be bought and feed grown in cream is to be sold. Irish and sweet potatoes require a large investment in seed and fertilizers.

But, it is said, "where there's a will, there's a way." Good farmers are finding the way by starting in a small way. They are starting with what they have and using it to try more with which to develop further. Some are milking three or four cows and selling the cream that can be spared. Soon they will have more feed and can buy more cows. Some are growing one or two hogs more than are needed for home use. Co-operative sales open the way to market for them.

It seems that about the only thing to fret about is the fact that growing the capital with which to operate is a rather slow process.—Progressive Farmer.

LADY WAS IN A BAD FIX FROM NERVOUS INDIGESTION

"Bliss, Miss—I had, for a year or more, nervous indigestion, or some form of stomach trouble," says Mrs. Alonzo Ford, 1117 Clay Street, this city. "The water I drank at that time seemed to constipate me. I would suffer until I got so nervous I wanted to get down on the floor and roll. I felt like I could tear my clothes.

"Every night, and night after night, I had to take something for a laxative, and it had to be kept up nightly. My side would pain; I looked awful. My skin was sallow and seemed spotted. I would look at my hands and arms, and the best I could think of.

"I happened to get a Birthday Almanac, so I told my husband I would try the Black-Draught, which I did. I took a few big doses. I felt much better. My liver acted well. I made a good, warm tea and drank it that way. Soon I found that nervous, tight feeling was going, as was the pain in my side. I found I did not have to take it every night. Soon, after a few weeks, I could leave it off for a week or so, and I did not suffer with constipation. I gained flesh. I have a good color, and believe it was a stubborn liver, and that Black-Draught did the work.

"I went to my mother's (Mrs. Dwyer) one day, and she was well at all. . . . I told her we'd try Black-Draught. We did, and now she keeps it to take after dinner. It certainly helped her, and we neither will be without it in our homes. It is so simple, and the dose can be regulated as the case may be. We use small doses after meals for indigestion, and larger doses for headache or bad liver."

Theodore's Black-Draught liver medicine is for sale everywhere. 10c

Don't Be Surprised

You should not be surprised if your light bill is more in winter than it is in summer when you consider how much more you burn your lamps when the days are short and the nights are long.

In the summer you seldom turn on your lights before 7:30 at night while in winter it becomes necessary to turn them on about 5:30 so you can readily see if you keep them on an average the year round you have used twice the amount of current in winter that you do in summer.

Then let's consider that it takes more current in winter to keep electrical appliances to their correct temperature.

When we take into consideration these facts we feel that our customers will understand why their light bills will run higher in winter than in summer.

Southern Public Utilities Co.
 Chester, South Carolina

Every time a woman spends a dollar for goods made outside the Carolinas as a substitute for goods made within the state, she weakens just that much the possible advancement of her husband.

Only a relative small number of us have enough to live on without active daily labor. The balance of us work regularly, for upon our personal effort depends our monthly pay check or our semi-annual dividend.

A woman is not justifying her name of good house-keeper if she pays more money for a home-made article than she would have to pay for something made elsewhere. Nor will she be justified in buying an inferior article for the same money she would have to pay for a superior piece of goods made outside the Carolinas.

But a patriotic housewife's duty to her state is to know of her own knowledge that she can not buy a home-made article of the same value for the same money that she must pay for the foreign-made merchandise.

When the women of the Carolinas look their dealer straight in the eye over the counter and demand to be shown the home-made products, he may not have them, but if enough women join in this work, he will get them.

A dealer sells what his customers want. Some of them are committed by contract or agency or personal preference to certain widely known products and may be slow to change. But they will change quickly enough when they see that the buyers have become open marketeers.

Ask your dealer to show you a garment, or a kitchen utensil, or an article of food, or equipment for the farm, that has the Carolinas brand on it. If he does not happen to have it, step around the corner and get a price from the other man.

If it is a good article and you buy it, the next time you call your regular dealer will have it in stock.

He is in business to please you and you both are in the business of making the Carolinas greater and more prosperous.
