MOVING GRAVEYARD FOR B6 RESERVOIR

Metroe of Ik. BriUaeU DeeerOee Tkeb Coelaeee I. U» Duast.r. London', Nov. 28—The Daily Chronicle's Athens correspondent quoted the matron of the Britannic, "Miss-R-A. Do wee, who carring many war medals on her uniform—she went through the liege of Udysmith—follows: "The ship had all the hospital marks, and was fitted up like the best shore hospitals. It is impossible to understand why the ship was attacked. We were bound for Mudros, and when the Germans started everything was quiet; then suddenly a bomb was dropped through the upper deck of the boat, killing instantly about 100 persons. Many others were killed and wounded by the smoke and flames. The boat then started to sink. The dead and wounded were thrown into the sea, and the boat went down slowly. The bodies of many of the dead were washed ashore. The boat was a German warship, and was bound for Mudros. The Germans were looking for women and children to take to Mudros. We were awoken by the explosion, and the boat started to sink. We were in the sea for 2 hours, and the German boat came, and we were saved."
