William B. McCleave of McConville, formerly engaged in the cotton business in Greenville, now a patient in the U. S. Public Service Hospital in Greenville. Mr. McCleave has been in bad health for some time past and an examination showed that it was due to exposure while in military service. In a letter to a friend in Yorkville yesterday he said that he was being given the best attention in Greenville and that he was hopeful he would soon be on the road to recovery. "Three members of the family of the late E. P. Block of the Lockmore Mill Village who have been critically ill for several days with pneumonia and influenza were reported this morning as being some better. The entire family has been stricken during the past ten days, the father dying Friday, the mother on Sunday and the eldest daughter on Monday morning. The other three members who were sick including the baby about five months old were reported this morning as being about out of danger."

The Yorkville Cotton Oil Company, Yorkville, up to November 25 of this year had crushed 1,950 tons of seed against 1,775 tons up to the same date of last year, and compared with a four-year average of 1,499 tons. Reports from thirty-seven South Carolina mills show that they have crushed 69,822 tons of seed up to November 25 of this year against 109,920 tons in 1922. This year's crush for the 37 mills reporting is only 50 per cent. of the average.

Charged with assault on R. L. Sherrer by striking him on the head with a single barrel shotgun following a quarrel at Clover. The farmer was committed to jail yesterday. The affair happened in the Beth Shiloh section. Sherrer was painfully hurt but his condition not serious. Seventy acres of the M. R. Perrot farm on the road between Clover and Pilbert have been sold to J. F. Perrot of Clover. The price paid was $3,150, the transaction being made through the real estate agency of C. W. Sherrer of Yorkville. Beginning Tuesday night in the Fort Mill graded school building, the fall session of the town's adult school for "literate" will be opened for two sessions a week, with Miss Minnie Garrison and Emma Anderson as teachers. During the session of the school conducted last spring, there was an enrollment of more than 50 adults and the enrollment of the fall session promises to be equally as large. Constable M. M. McKnight and Mr. R. L. White of Broad River township captured another big moonshiner outfit about three miles south of Hickory Grove, last Friday. The operators had just fired up the still and got things running when the officers swooped down on them. The still was a copper affair and there were about 200 gallons of beer at the place ready to be made. The first response to the request of The Yorkville Enquirer for information about York county couples that have been married in the last few years or more comes from Mr. H. J. Sherrer of Blairsville, who tells of his neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. J. Archie Steele and Miss Annie Post, who were married February 16, 1871. They have four children, all living and married as follows: R. Ed Steele, chief of police of Yorkville and his wife, May Mintzer. They have no children. Miss Rosa Steele, who married J. G. White. They have five children. Cal Steele, chief of police of Great Falls, and his wife, Mae Helen. They have four children. Susie Steele, wife of Rev. Hugh Woods, they have several children. The difference in the ages of Mr. and Mrs. J. Archie Steele is only three months. —Yorkville Enquirer.

GERMANS PLAN A WAR OF REVENGE

Conclude Secret Agreement With Russia, in Charge, London, Mail Reveals, Says 'The Times' Published in Paper.

London, Nov. 30.—That the Germans are actively planning a war of revenge chiefly against France, for which purpose they have concluded a secret military agreement with Russia, is the main point of a memorandum by a person in close touch with the best informed German circles in Berlin and Munich, communicated to The Daily Mail which displays it under big headlines.

The paper claims to have made exhaustive inquiries in Germany, London and Paris into the memorandum's accuracy with the result, The Mail says, that it has been very largely supported thereby. Except for precise details, The Mail's story does not differ materially from similar statements printed from time to time in anti-German papers.

The memorandum particulars with respect to alleged arrangements to enable Germany to utilize Russia's resources, including complete re-organization, which will make Russia a capable of supporting both herself and Germany, so that Germany may ignore any sea blockade.

It says that German armament firms will establish factories in Russia, which armies will be equipped with the best modern Russian and military will be built in Russian and under German officers.

Poland is to be crushed and annexed by Russia, so as to give Russia a common frontier with Germany. The Mail claims that its inquiries regarding the memorandum have elicited the fact that 500 German officers are now in Russia trying out the conditions of the new agreement; that many engineers from Krupp have begun the re-organization of the Russian armament works, while German engineers are also reconditioning the Russian railroads.

Prof. says The Mail has been obtained by the allies that the Germans are delivering large numbers of airplanes to the Russian government, one firm dispatching commercial airplanes to Smolensk, where they are converted into military machines.

Further statements deal with alleged constant anti-surreptitious visits by German youths to Russia similar to war preparation.

Now Is The Time to Fight The Boll Weevil Turn The Stakes Under!

ARE MAKING COTTON. Some Dawson, Georgia, County Farmers are Making Good Cotton. Crop Despite the Boll Weevil—Tells How They Do It.

The following article from the Georgia News will be of interest to our readers:

Terrill has always been Georgia's greatest cotton producing county, area considered. A dozen or more years ago, before the advent of the boll weevil, this county was given the distinction by government statistics of producing more cotton per square mile than any other county in the United States with the single exception of one county in South Carolina. Since the boll weevil came Terrill county has maintained its supremacy as a great producer of cotton, and government statistics this year show that it has grown a larger number of bales than any other county in Georgia, notwithstanding the fact that numbers of the state's most fertile and best agricultural counties are one-third to two or three times as large in area. Terrill was one of the first counties infested by boll weevils when they first entered the state in 1916. It was there were first predictions of disaster and possible suffering, and belief on the part of many that the year of cotton as a money crop was at an end. Such were the forebodings. But with determination and resolution, which have ever characterized them, the farmers of the county met the new situation bravely and hopefully, and set a goal to give the destructive cotton pest which had destroyed untold millions of wealth the gift of its life. They brought in battle array against its hungry hordes their energy and industry and knowledge of approved and successful farming methods, with the result that the boll weevil, if not completely routed, has met with a check, and its progress has been very materially reduced its destructive ravages.

The result has been that not a single year since weevil infestation has the cotton crop been a failure in Terrill county as it has been in vast sections of the state. Production has been very greatly reduced, it is true, but at that the smallest yield any year has been 10,000 bales.

This year the production has been approximately 22,000 bales, and although this is far short of yields in past years it demonstrates that the boll weevil can be successfully combated to a certain extent.

Practically every farmer in the county who stays on the job, and used his head in planning and cultivating has realized a profit from his cotton crop this year, while some have produced really remarkable yields.

Among the latter are R. M. Davidson, who has gathered 400 bales from 36 acres; J. P. Perry, 285 bales from 17 acres; W. H. Dinwiddie, 215 bales from 37 acres; W. D. Davidson 510 bales from 40 acres. Among others who have grown large crops are Tom Br. and W. J. Haskins, W. J. Tilley and many more who might be mentioned.

On parts of their crops some of these farmers made a bale to the acre. Mr. Dinwiddie has gathered 60

NEGROES ARE GOING NORTH TO GET WORK.

They Are Leaving Atlanta for the North by the Cars, Says Correspondent.

Cleveland, Nov. 30.—Another migration of negroes from the south to the industrial cities of the north is believed to be under way. During the last few weeks many negroes from Georgia and Alabama have gone to work in Youngstown and Pittsburgh steel mills, according to advices received here, while hundreds have obtained employment in Cleveland.

According to William R. Connor, executive secretary of the negro welfare association, 13,879 negro men from outside the city have registered for employment during the last four months. Some of these, he said, returned to their old homes during the recent depression but most of them had left the south for the first time.

They are leaving Atlanta for the north by the cars. Connor said between 500 and 1,000 obtained employment at the Carnegie Steel company at Youngstown, and a smaller number at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, advised state. Hundreds have gone into the Connelville coal field since the middle of the summer.

WILSON TO GET BACK INTO POLITICAL FRAY

His Physical Condition Greatly Improved, He Will Take Active Part in Democratic Party Affairs.

Tampa, Dec. 1.—That former President Wilson in his greatly improved physical condition proposes to take an active part in the politics of the democratic party during the next two years and to have a share in shaping party policies for the next presidential campaign is indicated in a personal letter from the former President to Frank G. Heatly of the Tampa Tribune.

"My miles are quickened by the prospect of battle," the former President's letter said. The letter is being followed by a hundred persons were destroyed. Many persons were burned or injured, but none seriously. A negro said to be 105 years old was reported to die.

The firemen withdrew today, after extinguishing the flames, but a battalion of state troops is on duty today and persons today would the remains of valuables in the ruins. Church societies, the Red Cross and the National Salvation Army are supplying food.

Army cots and tents are being brought from Fort Greco, Fayetteville. Mayor Clark called a mass meeting today to take action to relieve the sufferers, mostly negroes. The fire started in the kitchen of a negro house while the department was fighting a quarter million dollar blaze in the Roper mill, and great highway destroyed the firemen could reach it. The dismantling of houses and pulling them down with a switch engine failed to check the blaze.

Crowd here citizens donated many thousands of dollars to aid sufferers at a mass meeting held here today.

HELP COTTON PLANTERS TO GROW BETTER STAPLE

State Cooperative Association Already Active in Behalf of Members.

Raleigh, Nov. 30.—While there has been no let up in the delivery of cotton to the North Carolina cotton cooperatives, the management announces that plans are already being made to enable members to grow better cotton next year.

Arrangements have been made through Dr. R. V. Winters, cotton seed specialist with the state experiment station, to buy 10,000 bushels of improved seed, which will be sold to members of the association. These seeds will be distributed so as to secure the best results and is a part of the general campaign to improve cotton growing business in North Carolina.

Notice to members that a second advance would be made December 15 on all cotton delivered up to December 1 helped to boost deliveries the latter part of the month, but there is still much cotton to be delivered by members, it is stated.

Since getting established in permanent quarters the cotton cooperatives have settled down to steady grinding, and promise quicker service to members. The grading department got 80,000 bales behind deliveries, but it is not gradually catching up and by December 15, the peak of the movement for the season will have been passed.

Just back from Washington, where he attended a meeting of extension directors, from all the states, Dr. E. W. Kilgore, director for the public in the cotton association, announces that the thought paramount in the mind of the country today is cooperative marketing and that it is here to stay.

MORE SUITS ARE BEING PREPARED

Government to Sue Contractors Who Built Army Camps. Additional Suits Involve Between $200,000 and $30,000,000.

Washington, Nov. 30.—Additional civil suits, involving $200,000 to $30,000,000, which the government proposes to file last week, are being prepared by the department of justice, and it was understood today, probably will be filed within 10 days.

The first of the department's civil suits against war camp contractors was filed last week, and it was understood that they were the forerunners of other actions. It was indicated that criminal proceedings were pending.

The action brought last week involved the construction of camps at Upton, Sherman, Jackson and Fannin. It sought a recovery from the involved contractors of companies of more than $200,000. Campments built during the war cost the government a total of $209,000,000 and it is said Attorney General Daugherty hopes to recover between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000 as offset charges.

Preparation of the civil suits has been under the direction of Roscoe C. McCulloch, a special assistant to the attorney general, who as a member of a special house committee made an extensive investigation several years ago of alleged war frauds, particularly those relating to army camp construction.

During the past week Mr. McCulloch, with a corps of assistants, has been before a special federal grand jury, called into session here to consider alleged wartime frauds. No indictments have been obtainable from either Mr. McCulloch or the attorney general as to the nature of the evidence being presented to the grand jury, but it has been strongly indicated recently by the department of justice that Mr. Daugherty was determined to make an extensive investigation of alleged war frauds with a view to instituting criminal action as well as civil suits against alleged offenders.

EXCURSIONS IN THOUGHT.

Those Who Have Eyes to See and See Not.

R. N. Allen.

The magic allurements of the South Sea Isles has been on the screen so much that deep in our primitive hearts we hear the call of the wild. In the movies we have seen life reduced to the simplicity of the Garden of Eden. How lovely indeed, must be the charm of the South Seas with all of spirit of eternal romance which enthralls its picturesque islands and at the same time the dangers of our filling a cannibal's stomach do not daunt our secret wishes to visit those wonder spots.

Frederick O'Brien in his book "In the South Sea Islands" makes this spot the most romantic in all the world. After reading his book we feel that there would be nothing so lovely as to own a yacht and cruise with plenty of money to finance the venture. But Mr. O'Brien frankly says as a fair warning that if we went down there we might not see what we had bargained for. It is useless to look to find in the South Seas what I have found. It is there, glowing and deep, and yet, as each beholder conjures up different spectacles of the human spectacle alone in each can see the islands of romance only by the lens life has fitted upon his soul.

In this short and simple sentence Mr. O'Brien has stated a truth that explains many things. Why do different people have different views from different standpoints? Why do any two people disagree at all? Answer: because they have different points of view. It is not so much the difference between two points of view as the difference between two points of view. That inability to see the same thing from the same point of view is the cause of the difference between two points of view. That inability to see the same thing from the same point of view is the cause of the difference between two points of view.

LONGER SUITS WILL BE FILED IN SPRING, 1923

Shorter Jackets Will Be Popular. Sleeves Will Be Loose and Bell Shaped.

New York, Dec. 2.—Longer jackets and shorter jackets will grace the Boulevard Queen in the spring of 1923, according to the styles shown here today at the annual convention of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' association.

The straight line silhouette will remain but will be varied by draped blouse effects, flaring lines in sport and auto coats. Sleeves are to be long, with wide cuffs, many long and jackets will be gathered in narrow bands at the wrists. Plaids were shown in the sport coat trends.

Longer, more rounded jacket and blouse style of suit gait are being made for wear with a plain skirt or dress to constitute a three-piece suit. In many instances the skirt is draped and has an even hem line.

The soft, clinging styles will give their place to spring coats which are of three types—wraps, capes and straight-line coats, either with or without a blouse. Silk will appear in many of the dresses worn.

TWO MILLION DAMAGES

IN NEWBURN, N. C.

North Carolina City Takes Inventory of Loss in Great Fire—Eight Hundred Homeless.

New Bern, Dec. 2.—One person is dead, and two million dollars damage was done by the fire that swept this town yesterday, the estimate by the show today. Five hundred persons are out of work, and the homes of eight hundred persons are destroyed. Many persons were burned or injured, but none seriously. A negro said to be 105 years old was reported to die.

ROY HENDERSON, CHESTER COUNTY, S. C., BEGINS LONG SENTENCES, MANICIANCING.

Gaffney, S. C., Dec. 2.—Roy Henderson, the youth who has been in the news for some time, was charged with killing two little Kirby boys taken to Columbia Tuesday night to commence the service. His sentence which is life imprisonment. It will be remembered that on receipt of his counsel Butler and Hall, he was sent to the state hospital for the insane for observation before his trial, and that the physician reported that he was possessed of the mentality of a nine year old boy. He was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment from this verdict, and judgment an appeal was taken, since which time the defendant has been in the Cherokee county jail, but in the last term of court he announced that they were willing for him to commence serving his term for three days, while the appeal will be abandoned. Judge Henderson still maintains his innocence, and has never deviated from this trend, and has told that the little boys were killed by a snake, when his dog was killed.

THE FOOTBALL DECISION.

"Chester Dies Hard." Under this caption an editorial appeared in the Rock Hill newspaper with reference to the football game between Chester and Rock Hill, and had special reference to the ineptitude of a certain player or players which Chester claimed was functioning on the Rock Hill team. This editorial was written and printed before the "fatal" meeting of the executive committee in Columbia last Saturday and consequently before a Rock Hill player was declared ineligible by the football committee.

Did Rock Hill Die Hard? Well, we should smile. It has not been noted that anything like a nice soft "bed" was provided for the passing away of the team which was heralded, "On to Charleston."

Our wireless advises that indignation meetings in our neighboring town were the order of the day and the question, "Is free board compensation or is it hospitality?" was freely debated.

The football committee in Anderson, ruled that free board in Chester was compensation but in Rock Hill it was hospitality. Having been taught that "things equal to the same thing are equal to each other," Chester could not comprehend such a decision and an appeal was taken to the executive committee in Columbia, who took a geometrical view of the matter and ruled that board was compensation regardless of the geographical location of any recipient, and so ended the 1922 squabble in Rock Hill "football." Requested in page.

"Save your pennies, and write down how you spend every penny," says the man of every who has had jobs of experience.

Here are two conflicting philosophies of riches, from the two richest men in America. What is the young seeker after wealth to think? Will he get ahead faster by saving and accumulating, or by putting his money into himself rather than into the bank, investing in experience with a view to capitalizing that experience later on?

Well, like homogeneity and allopathy, the two rival systems of medicine, both seem to work. Only, it depends on the man. Henry Ford succeeded with one, though he worked out the philosophy of it afterward. The elder Rockefeller, who built the family fortune, succeeded with the other, and his son naturally favors it. Each is mistaken when he recommends his system to everybody. Just as Edison is mistaken when he urged people in general to cut their sleep to four hours a day.

Fortunately God has made people alike in fundamentals but infinitely different in their details of character and talent. Otherwise there would be no variety in life, experience and achievement, and men might as well be herrings or locusts.

All that can be done in the way of wisdom is to work out certain broad rules for every individual to adapt himself according to his own character and requirements. The plodder must spend money and get experience. The business adventurer seeks to steady down and save money and keep accounts.

It is estimated by the National Industrial Conference Board that for the year 1921 the American people paid one dollar out of every six earned, for government taxes.

That is serious enough, without considering the additional burden of state and local taxation. While the total amount of taxes collected was somewhat smaller than the year before, the relief was not felt much by the tax-payers, because earnings were less and dollars were worth more.

This is said to be a higher rate of taxation than the German people are paying.

The situation surely deserves to be taken more seriously by Congress, legislatures and other bodies spending public money than it has been so far. There can be no genuine prosperity while this burden rests on the back of the nation. There can be no national prosperity without public thrift as well as private thrift.

THE MEANING OF THE CHRISTMAS SEAL.

The Annual Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Sale is now on in every town and hamlet in North Carolina. The little seals will find their way by the end of the month to every corner of the State. Everyone is asked to purchase and use these seals to provide funds for the tuberculosis cause.

Just what does one buy when one makes an annual purchase of Christmas seals? Surely the purchase includes more than paper and printing, more even than the charm of color and design the seal may possess.

Perhaps you think first of relief work, and picture milk and other necessary food for consumptives. Perhaps your spirit turns to the doctors' bills. There is also the sanatorium where the flushed cheeks of the tuberculous grow rosy as health is restored by proper treatment.

Possibly you have been reading of the need for popular education in health clinics and health lectures. As a matter of fact, in most communities some part of your seal money is expended in each of these ways.

But along with this investment in the maintenance of community improvement you have invested in something less tangible but quite as important. You have made yourself a sharer in the human faith, love and courage that has secured for the tuberculosis movement whatever success it has known.

Very properly, sentiment has little place in tuberculosis work or in any other social health work. And yet the purchase of seals has the right to get the human value in his purchase.

The seal is more than a gay sticker or bought of a pretty girl. It is more, eyes, than a rational means of protection for the purchaser and those who love it. It is a witness to love that seeks out the miserable everywhere to heal them; to faith that can dream of a better day; to will that is staunch enough to move to bring that day.

It is in these qualities that the buyers of seals make his ultimate investment.—Charlotte Observer.

FIGHT STARTED ON SEATING MAYBER.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 3.—A drive to bar Senator-elect, Earl B. Mayfield, Texas, from taking his seat, was launched here Saturday by R. B. Creager, Republican state chairman and personal friend of President Harding.

Mr. Mayfield's alleged connection with the Ku-Klux Klan will be one of the principal grounds—brought forward for barring him from the Senate, Mr. Creager declared. Before proceeding, however, Mr. Creager said that he would confer with the President and party leaders in the cabinet and the Senate.

A bond issue has been floated for the purpose of repairing this road and in all probability the road will be completed by next summer. Recent work has been done on the York county side of the Chester Rock Hill road, however, there is a stretch near the Chester county line which is still in bad condition and one wonders why it was not repaired and put in better shape.

COBURN'S MINSTRELS

PLEASE AT ORPHEUM

Don't Miss "The Georgia Cotton Blossom" Just 43 Fanny as of Yess.

As an old Southern dandy, used within sound of his master's voice from the "big house," and memories came to him of the refrain of "Old Black Joe," the drop curtain lifted Friday night at the Orpheum Theater on 35 members of J. A. Coburn's Minstrels, and an evening of music and comedy. Dan Holt, "The Georgia Cotton Blossom," central figure in the company of merry makers, won instant favor with his slow drawl and unflinching wit as an impersonator and blackface comedian.

With the aid of beautiful costumes and scenic effects, in addition to an unusually attractive program of comedy acts and songs, including selections and medley from all the old-time favorites to more recent numbers, the company presented two plays full of color and laughter. "Darktown Neighbors," a singing and dancing act of plantation days, was made up of all the best remembered characters in stories of plantation days. Hank White, with whom half the fun lay in watching how he said a thing instead of listening to what he said, was one of the many favorites of the evening. Karl Denton, possessor of a beautiful lyric soprano, was the "rose of the minstrel as well as the heroine in an Oriental phantasy, a short but amusing sketch from the "Shiek," entitled "The Vikings," by Edward C. Clifford; "Brother Law Down" by Dan Holt, and "I Ain't Putting Out Nothing But My Breath, and I'm Taking That In" were among the song numbers.

Mr. Holt is a native of Macon, Ga., and made many friends, when he first played in Nashville about 12 years ago, and according to his statement Friday night, has already met more of his old friends than he ever thought to see again. A song which has been used a great many times on public programs in Nashville in response to Mr. Holt's "Songs My Mammy Used to Sing," which he wrote several years ago.

"A audience often checks itself out of a lot of choice numbers by failing to meet an actor half way. Mr. Holt said, "and if the folks only knew it, the man on the stage is more than glad of an opportunity to give them his very best."

The encors were plentiful Friday night in response to hearty applause—Nashville Tennessee.

Among the articles received was a complete set of china. The gifts were all arranged on the large table in the Gilmore room and Mrs. Z. Vance Davidson, in a speech, presided over the gifts in behalf of the auxiliary. After this a program, in charge of Mrs. J. C. McLeare, was enjoyed.

Death of Mrs. W. H. Barron. Many Chester friends learned with sorrow of the death of Mrs. Martha Jane Barron, wife of Mr. W. H. Barron, at the home in York last Thursday afternoon. The death of Mrs. Barron was caused by a stroke of apoplexy which she suffered Thursday morning. She had been in declining health for some time, however.

Mr. Barron was a native of the Allison Creek section of York county and was the daughter of James Biggar. She resided in Chester for a number of years, but a few years ago moved to York. She was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church.

Surviving are her husband and the following children: Harley Barron, William Barron and Miss Maude Barron, of York; Mrs. Fannie Elizabeth Barron, of York; and Mrs. C. C. Wilkes, of Chester.

The interment was made in York Friday afternoon.

EXODUS OF NEGROES TO MIDDLE WEST

Cleveland, O., Dec. 2.—Another migration of negroes from the South to the industrial cities of the north is believed to be under way. During the last few weeks many negroes from Georgia and Alabama have gone to Youngstown, and advisers received here while hundreds have obtained employment in Cleveland.

According to William H. Connors, executive secretary of the Ohio Welfare Association, 1,387 negroes from outside the city have registered for employment during the last four months. Some of these returned to their old homes during the recent depression but most of them had left the south for the first time.

"They are leaving Atlanta for the north by the car load," Connors said. Between 500 and 1,000 obtained employment at the Carnegie Steel Company at Youngstown and a smaller number at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, advisers state.

Hundreds have gone into the Connelville coal field since the middle of the summer.

KILLS WIFE AND CHILD.

Saluda, N. C., Dec. 2.—Richard Garrett, white, aged 35 is in the jail at Columbus, N. C., following the double killing early this morning of his wife and youngest child at the Garrett home about seven miles from here. Garrett had released from the state insane asylum about one month ago, upon petition of his wife and relatives after he had spent some time at the institution.

The wife, it is reported, was killed by the fall load from a repeating rifle, following which the man emptied six more loads into her dead body. The youngest child was killed by a single shot from the gun.

The bodies were discovered by neighbors who answered the continual screams of the rest of the Garrett children. Officers discovered the child in the back part of the house while the wife's dead body was found on the floor of a front room covered with gullies. It was literally riddled with shot.

The author of "Black Beauty," a Quaker girl, wrote the story on her sick bed and sold it for $100. More than 3,000,000 copies have been sold in America alone. The writer died one year after the book was published.

HOW DREADS BEGIN.

By H. Addison Bruce.

To English Bagby of Yale university I am indebted for knowledge of two typical cases of phobias, or irrational dreads, illustrating most impressively the curious way in which such dreads are linked with long forgotten experiences of a distressing sort. Also these cases go to emphasize the beneficent results frequently obtained through nothing more than the recall of the experiences to conscious remembrance.

In the first of the two instances related by Mr. Bagby a young woman of 20 was subject to a phobia for a year. The sound and the smell of running water equally afflicted her. When water was drawn for a bath she had to be in a part of the house where she could not hear it filling the tub. When she traveled by train or automobile the curtains had to be drawn to spare her from seeing rivers and brooks and waterfalls.

So greatly was she affected by that which she abnormally dreaded, that the unexpected sight or sound of running water precipitated attacks almost convulsive in character. On several occasions she fainted outright. Nor, although she appreciated how irrational her dread was, could she overcome it, except her will power as she might.

Such was the situation until an aunt, whom she phobias had not seen for many years, chanced to visit her home. Conversation with the aunt brought back vividly to her recollection a fear inspiring episode of her childhood connected with running water.

As a girl of seven she had wandered away from a picnic party, had stumbled into a brook, and had become wedged among rocks, with water streaming over her face. She was not seriously hurt, but she was "terribly frightened," as her aunt recalled her in recalling the incident which had almost completely faded from the phobia's memory.

Now both the latter and the aunt had a good laugh over it. From that day, for no apparent reason, the fear of running water lessened, finally to disappear altogether.

In the second case the fear which afflicted a middle aged man was of being grasped from behind. This came him, whenever he went out, to keep looking back over his shoulder in the oddest way imaginable. He felt himself with the back of his hand against a wall. To go among crowds was agony to him.

All efforts to conquer this dread failed, and the unfortunate man seemed fated to be harassed by it to the day of his death. But it left him of its own accord when, during a visit to the village of his boyhood, he met an old man who formerly had kept the village general store.

"Well I remember you," the old man told him. "You used to plague me by peeling apples and peanuts from the front of the store. But I cured you of it when I crept up behind and seized you one day. You were so frightened you screamed and fainted."

The youthful delinquency and the fright to which it led had been long since forgotten. But clearly this fright had been the starting point of the dread of being grasped from behind. For now the dread departed, never to return again.

In both cases, it will be noted, chance alone afforded a means of cure, through recalling the forgotten origins of the singular phobias. Fortunately, phobias as a class do not have to depend on chance for their recovery. Modern medical psychology possesses means for revivifying experiences that have been forgotten, and to medical psychologists, accordingly, all afflicted with irrational dreads may hopefully turn in the event of failure to banish the dreads unaided.

"Slimy Taste"

"When I feel stupid, get constipated, or bilious, I take a good dose of two of Black-Draught and it sets me straight," writes Mr. George B. Haislep, of R. F. D. 2, Columbia, S. C. "It cleanses the liver and I feel all right, and have not used any other medicine since I do not see the need of it. I am a guard at the State Reformatory, and have been for three or more years. When I first heard of

BLACK-DRAUGHT

and the good medicine it was, I had been having a tired feeling when I'd get up in the morning. I would be stiff and sore, and had a slimy, bad taste in my mouth, but didn't think so much of it till I began to feel stupid and didn't feel like eating—then I knew I needed medicine. It was then I began Black-Draught, and I felt all made over, ready for any kind of work, ready to eat and sleep. So, for any return of this trouble, I take Black-Draught, and for 25 years it has been my medicine, and I wouldn't be without it at all. My works constant. I am on my feet a lot. I am out of doors, and fresh air and Black-Draught are all the medicine I need. I recommend it to others for I know it to be good."

Creo-pine Shingles Show a Smaller Upkeep Cost than any other form of Roofing

Wooden shingles when properly treated are ideal roofing material.

By the high power hydraulic process of creosoting Creo-pine shingles the undiluted creosote thoroughly penetrates the pores of the wood. Moisture, rain, frost, or sun cannot cause decay or rot.

Nails driven into untreated shingles rust and wear loose causing leaks in the roof. Nails driven in Creo-pine shingles do not rust and hold firmly for many years.

Roofs of Creo-pine shingles have been in service for fifteen years with no upkeep whatever, and at the end of that time were in good condition.

Creo-pine shingles are very little, if any, higher than heart pine shingles, cheaper than red cedar shingles and composition roofing and last much longer. They are cleaner to handle than dipped shingles and make a neat, attractive slate roof appearance.

Call on us and let us tell you all about the Creo-Pine Shingles.

COMPTROLLER GENERAL CLARIFIES DOG TAX LAW

Slighter Must Enforce Law—Failure to Pay Tax is a Misdemeanor, Says State Official.

Last week the comptroller general issued a circular making plain the state law regarding dog taxes, and it is pointed out that the non-payment of the tax is a misdemeanor, under section 4 of the act of levying the tax. Following is excerpt from the circular:

"There seems to be a great deal of confusion concerning the $1.25 license tax on dogs, provided for in the act of 1922, approved March 15, 1922. In order that the law may be uniformly administered over the entire state, you will please handle the collection of this license as follows:

"1. Tax payable during January of each year (February 1st is the last day).

"2. Dog is liable to this license tax if six months old or older on January 1st (a dog born June 30, 1922, is liable to the tax January, 1923).

"3. The dog tax is liable of all other taxes or licenses on dogs, either county, municipal or otherwise.

"4. Dog license tax payable January 1, 1923, the dog owned by the treasurer should bear this inscription 'dog number and county.'

"5. Tax not to be charged on animal's duplicate nor carried on the ordinary tax return. Separate receipt necessary.

"6. Do not turn this tax over to the sheriff for collection. Non-payment a misdemeanor. (See Section 4 of act of 1922, and punishable by fine or imprisonment.)

"7. It is the duty of the school trustees of each district to see that this tax is collected.

Create A Demand

If every person in Chester county would confine their expenditures to the absolute necessities of life, many mercantile establishments would have to close their doors.

The amount of business done in a community depends upon the demand of the people. Thousands of dollars are being spent throughout the country giving publicity to various articles, with the view of creating a demand.

Merchants should advertise their business thereby creating a demand for the various articles they sell.

Eskimo pies are a luxury, yet the manufacturers made millions by advertising and creating a demand.

The less advertising merchants do the less demand they have for their goods.
