Adjoining County News.

Miss Dora Wallace who has been undergoing treatment in a Gastonia hospital has returned to her home in Yorkville. Her condition is much improved. Citizens of Yorkville have 195 hogs to kill this fall and winter according to statistics gathered by R. E. Montgomery, inspector for the board of health. Mr. Montgomery has recently inspected all of 480 hog pens in the town and incidentally has counted the number of hogs in the pens. His count of 195 of course does not include all the little pigs; but he counted only those porkers large enough to kill for meat. He estimates that the 195 hogs will average 165 pounds each. The total meat supply raised by citizens according to his figures, is 32,565 pounds. *Senator Hart said this week that various representatives of the Federal Department of agriculture had already begun writing him requesting a hearing before the delegation for York county relative to the farm demonstration work for another year. It has been reported that the tax payers at their annual meeting with the delegating to Columbia for the annual legislative session will probably request that appropriation for the farm demonstration agent and the woman's home demonstration agent be discontinued this year. *The making of the Chambers victims on the York county changes have recently been incited with influenza serum due to the fact that two or more convicts were given were discovered among convicts last week. The county physician was unable to give the serum to all of the convicts because his supply ran out. It was stated yesterday that the remainder would be inoculated at the county hospital supply could be obtained. *Gilmore Deas and Hal Neilser, convicts of the York county changing who recently made their escape, were captured at large. It was reported last week that a relative of Deas who lives in Rock Hill would testify that he knows the changing; but so far nothing has come of it. Deas and Neilser were trustees at the time they ran away on Sunday night last week. Both men who are white had been convicted of car breaking in Rock Hill. *The bridge over Bullock's Creek at the Chambers place on the road between Sharon and Hickory Grove has been completed. It is expected that the bridge will be opened in a few days. Some approach work yet remaining to be done. The bridge was built by Austin Bridge Co. of Columbia, S. C., and cost several thousands and dollars. The bridge company has moved its pile driver over to the West Road to begin the work on the bridge on that road to be built over Pallock's Creek between Hickory Grove and Sharon. Work on the Bullock's Creek bridge at Chambers West road is now progressing satisfactorily. It was stated yesterday by Mr. R. McCarter, merchant and farmer of Filbert No. 1, returned yesterday morning from Danville, Va., where he had spent the night. He believed to be Will Moore. Several months ago Mr. McCarter was alleged to have been held up and robbed by a man wearing a green gross. One of the negroes, Will Rankin, was captured and sentenced in the court of general sessions following conviction. The other negro has never been apprehended. Danville police officers recently received information in that city believed to be the man wanted for the assault on the merchant, Mr. McCarter was unable to identify him as the man with Will Rankin at the time of the hold up. *Well, remarked yesterday a Yorkville football fan, "I would applaud from the decision of the high school football committee relative to Douglas Sims, star player of Rock Hill that they have decided to play Rock Hill in Yorkville. He has been sustained in the row he raised. "It was Prof. Montgomery, you know, who started the fuss about the Rock Hill team being allowed to play high school football in this section. Prof. Montgomery promptly refused to allow Yorkville High to play Rock Hill in Yorkville several weeks ago when Rock Hill persisted in a determination to play Sims in Yorkville. Prof. Montgomery made the fight that he did and I feel that when all the hot blood of the various parties has cooled down a little, the Rock Hill ball will feel that he did the right thing in making the row that he made. *A verdict was returned for the defendant, W. B. Allen, Jr., against Dr. Samuel Friedhelm, Jr., of Rock Hill, tried in the court of common pleas for York county. The plaintiff, a young man of Rock Hill, asked for damages against the de-

INCREASE LOAN LIMIT.

West Federal Farm Banks to Increase Loan Limits—To Create Credit Associations.
Washington, Dec. 7.—The administration had ready today a definite program of legislation for the financial relief of farmers formulated in agreement with Senate leaders on both the agriculture and banking committee and to be pressed with their support at the short session of congress. Approved at a conference yesterday between President Harding, Secretary Wallace and 15 Republican Senators, headed by Senator Lodge, majority Senate leader, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, who has been making an active part of the question, the program contemplates utilization of the federal farm loan board as the agency for extension of larger and more liberal credits, both as to interest rates and time to meet the present agricultural situation. The relief plan, designated to reach the small farmer as well as the large cattle raisers and grain growers, was outlined in a statement following the conference by Secretary Wallace and Senator Lodge. It is proposed by way of the farm loan board as the medium of government relief to make it available to the thousands of small farmers who own and who, in the opinion of those at the conference, are not shamed as have the larger grain and cattle producers in the credit relief afforded by the farm loan board. The relief because of the limitations under which it has operated.

CLARA PHILLIPS CLIMBS FROM JAIL AND MAKES ESCAPE

Woman of Hammer Murder, Famed She Herein at Liberty.
Los Angeles, Calif., Dec. 6.—Clara Phillips climbed out of a window in the woman's section of the county jail and escaped early today. She was under a sentence of ten years to life imprisonment after conviction for the hammer murder of Alberta Meadows. She was held in the jail pending formulation of an appeal. The aid of several steel saws her escape was effected at 2 a. m. according to a report to the sheriff by the jailer. Belief was expressed that she had been aided by other inmates. Bars were sawed through and after crawling out the window she disappeared to the roof of an adjoining building, climbed down the fire escape and disappeared.

ANDERSON MAN KILLS THROUGH SHOTS—PROHIBITION OFFICERS CAN ONLY WATCH.

Anderson Man Kills Through Shots—Prohibition Officers Can Only Watch.
Anderson, Dec. 4.—Wood Simpson, alleged veteran moonshiner, staged a spectacular escape near "Little Cuba," an island in Savannah river, near Smith's ferry, 20 miles from here, when he fled from a party of county and prohibition officers operating jointly and made his escape by rolling over several hundred feet of rugged shoals that held the officers' boat so that they could not follow. Simpson arose at the foot of the falls, his clothing badly tattered and disappeared in a clump of bushes on the river bank. A 70 gallon distillery in full blast, 19 gallons of liquor, 200 gallons of beer and Eugene Harty, Simpson's companion, were taken in the raid. Simpson has been in a number of whisky escapades, according to officers, having recently completed a year and a day for manufacturing. An effort will be made to capture Simpson Tuesday.

PROFITS IN PIGEONS.

Greenwood Man Ships Squabs to Chicago.
Greenwood, Dec. 5.—Shipping dressed squabs by express from Greenwood to Chicago at a handsome profit is the feat of G. G. Steele, Greenwood pigeon fancier and Associated Press operator for The Index-Journal. For the past two years Steele has raised pigeons as a hobby and is now increasing his flock so that he can ship squabs in commercial quantities. Some of his pigeons were imported from Belgium and he claims one of the best pigeon flocks in this section. Mr. Steele is shipping squabs in dozen containers to produce dealers in Chicago at $4.84 per dozen. A dozen of the variety of homing pigeon, raised by Mr. Steele, will weigh about 9 1/2 pounds at four weeks old. Squabs cost from 12 to 25 cents each to raise, the breeder says, depending on the amount of feed grown by the pigeon breeder. After paying express charges of 6 cents per dozen, a good profit is realized and the demand is so great that he could ship a carload of birds. Mr. Steele declares, "It is gratifyingly profitable, the prospect for pigeon growing in this section, and expects to expand the industry here."

WEEVIL POISON PLANT URGED FOR GEORGIA.

State Board Calls on Business Men for Money to Buy Plant.
The immediate erection of a plant to provide the farmers of Georgia with calcium at a reasonable price, in order that cotton may be grown profitably in this section, was recommended by the State Board of Entomology at a meeting. The board issued an appeal to business interests of the state to get behind the project and form a stock company for the erection of a calcium plant. The board will ask the next legislature to issue bonds and construct a state-owned plant, charging enough profit on the raw interest and retine the bonds.

WEEKLY FOOTBALL COMMITTEE.

Y. J. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture and Chairman of the Board of Entomology, declared that he has heartily concurred in the recommendation of the board, and believed the calcium arsenate plant, located near some of the fine lime deposits which will solve the problem facing the cotton farmer.
Last year the cotton crop of Georgia was increased by the use of calcium arsenate, and experiments have profitably under bolt weevil control, which the world furnish calcium as fine as any in the United States. The board of Entomology has not been able to get an advantageous contract on the job this year, such as it had last year, and the plan for a Georgia plant is the result of this failure. Calcium arsenate is a mixture of calcium and arsenic. It is said that Georgia has a lime deposit below Meron, and perhaps others in other parts of the state. The board is anxious to have the plant located near some of the fine lime deposits which will solve the problem facing the cotton farmer.

KEEPING THE BODY FIT.

By Bruce Belden, M. D.
If one selects the food that one eats merely upon the basis of its appetite to the sense of taste, it is quite possible to get going with respect to nutritional requirements. One needs to know what the fundamental requirements of the body are, after which he may safely indulge his fancies. The most important fundamentals regarding food may be stated as follows: First, salads should be eaten daily. This will insure the regular consumption of some raw fruit, raw cabbage, raw celery, tomatoes and lettuce. The consumption of such foods provides an abundance of vitamins, in which our regular diet of cooked-foods is likely to be lacking. Second, a liberal helping should be taken every day of some "food" classed as greens, or leafy vegetables. These possess dietary properties which make them unique among the vegetable foods. Third, a quart of milk should be taken every day, or its equivalent in the form of manufactured dairy products.

COMMON LAW ATTACKED.

It wasn't so very long ago that a bill to prohibit the teaching of the theory of evolution in the state schools of Kentucky was passed in the Kentucky legislature; the hue and cry of it resounded throughout the United States at the time. The Kentucky bill was in favor of scrapping a fundamental doctrine of science, may perhaps have descended from the old "backskin" of Henry Clay's time when Henry Clay was young he was a brilliant and big standing member of the Kentucky legislature. One day in debate on a bill up for consideration he quoted the common law of England as decisive of the point then under discussion. An old "backskin" heard the argument with astonishment, then leaped to his feet and began, "Mr. Speaker, I want to know, is it true? Are we all under English common law?" The speaker, informed the anxious inquirer that the common law was recognized as part of the law of the land. "Well, sir," resumed the old man, "when I remember our fathers, the Kentucky legislature of that day, under English common law?" The speaker, informed the anxious inquirer that the common law was recognized as part of the law of the land. "Well, sir," resumed the old man, "when I remember our fathers, the Kentucky legislature of that day, under English common law?"

COLE BLASES NOT OUT OF POLITICS

York, Dec. 4.—The Yorkville Enquirer, last week carried the following interview with former Governor Cole L. Blaise.
Former Governor Cole L. Blaise is not out of politics. Furthermore he doesn't know that he ever will be. It all depends upon what friends want him to do. In a talk with "Views and Interviews" Saturday morning while he was here assisting in the defense of William C. Farley, Mr. Blaise said: "No, I am not out of politics and I will be out only when I am in an other world. I expect to fight for the honest people of my state as long as I live, and you may mark my prediction that 1924 will see a slaking up in South Carolina not equalled by 1880. Now watch that prediction." "God loves the right and the right will prevail," the former governor went on to say. "The law may come by awhile by such means as have been used in South Carolina since 1912; but the people will yet stand up for their rights and will see that their rights are being unjustly stolen from them. Then they will fight as they have never fought before." "I may be a candidate in 1924 and I may not be. That is for those whom I have always fought for and always expect to fight for to decide."

EXCURSIONS IN THOUGHT.

Concerning The Habit Of Doing
R. N. Allen.
Two boys were discussing an unusual exploit by a cat (of the story goes). A dog, after the manner of his kind, had gotten the cat a merry chase and, because of his longer limbs, had gotten the "mooser" into close quarters. Being near a tree he had scurried up the tree backwards. Old Dog Tray had given Tabby little time to meditate over the next move to be made and every-thing was done poste haste. The elder of the two boys expressed his doubts as to the cat's feat and the younger, by emphatically insisted upon the truthfulness of his account. "I do not see how the cat could ever go up the tree backwards," insisted the older boy. "I don't know either," said the other boy. "But the cat just natched had to do it, it had no other way." William James in his fine essay upon "The Energies of Men" points out the fact that every one is a usually trained to make energy for unexpected emergencies at strain. But James insists that few people suspect their hidden riches and do not know how to make them. He stated below to get one's second wind in any kind of undertaking is often the difference between success and failure. It is a natural automatic demand for the sake of the individual for assistance—and the effect there-of seems like unto a miracle. It is a wise parent or teacher who has caught a glimpse of the possibilities embodied within the soul of his most cantankerous child. Biography has shown time and again that a man can see at a glance that which has made good while the master scholar, to whom everything came "easy" usually over-estimated the value of his virtue to be a donee—but there are possibilities even in a dunce as dense molasses on a cold day. To be up against a wall means to be on the threshold of real life. Lack of responsibility runs more people than ever work ever killed. Even a fool can see at a glance that the shoddering-of responsibility makes ugly character. It may be said of a man who has done a thing well that he has done it to a fine degree of responsibility and they will and done it!"

SOME BUSY TOWN

Rock Hill Herald Comes Back at
Prof. Allen and Chester Reporter.

The following article is clipped from the editorial column of the Rock Hill Herald of Wednesday: "Do you know what makes Rock Hill a good town? It is quite largely due to the fact that Rock Hillians are up-to-date, on the job, progressive, and not given to trifling matters that hold back so many would-be communities. We are more convinced than ever of the above statement after reading a few minutes yesterday reading the main section of the Chester Reporter devoted to a communication from Prof. E. N. Allen and entitled: 'Prof. E. N. Allen pays his compliments to Rock Hill Herald and Supr. Burt.' When a school man who so degrades himself as to rub to public print much against the good judgment of the state executive athletic committee, and rave about the imaginary degradations of his fellow school men, when a newspaper will devote the main part of its front page to a controversy that tends to create friction and ill will between neighboring schools and neighboring towns, it is high time that the forces behind these institutions withdraw into their innermost sanctums and take inventory of their mentality. Chester continues to harp on an old tune with a jealous disposition. Rock Hillians have heard enough of it. This city is too busy doing the bigger things in life, in growing in influence and prestige within our state. Chester apparently had no desire to advance from the 'village stage wherein the cracker-box gossip is the main amusement of the community. As previously stated, Rock Hill is not completely satisfied that the decision given by the state board is fair to all concerned but we accept the verdict. As far as the Herald is concerned the issue is now closed and we leave Prof. Allen and the Reporter to continue their ravings for the consumption of those who feast on such rubbish."

SOMETHING DOING IN POLITICS

Once more the reactionary conservative masters of the G. O. P. are conferring with reviv in their own party. LaFollette thinks he sees an other chance like that of 1912, when he was leading, with apparent prospects of capturing the presidential nomination, a progressive wing of the republican party, but suffered a physical breakdown, so that Roosevelt stepped in. The democratic victory that year took power away from both Taft and Roosevelt and kept the republicans out of office eight years. Progressivism became reabsorbed in the old party, so that it won again in 1920. But it had been unavailably secretly brought under control by the old stalwarts such as Penrose, Lodge and their lieutenants.

Under this control a president was picked to suit the bosses and the administration was guided by them until they showed their hand sufficiently to stir wide resentment and rebellion. The recent election revealed the fact that the people were not going to sustain reactionary policies. A lot of new men were elected and the old line leaders given a chilling warning. As a result a fight is afoot for the G. O. P. A fight for control is on and it is not going to be any temporary in a tempo.

Either the older stalwarts of the Lodge persuasion will have to yield a great deal in policy, surrendering the issue on some matters or they will have to holdly challenge a fight to the finish within the ranks hitherto loyal to republican leadership. LaFollette is out to try conclusions with them and nobody can tell yet where the struggle is going to lead. If the party splits as a result of this, it is not going to be any temporary in a tempo. The nation is in a state of confusion and the democratic party in some degree and wise leadership will be required to keep the party sufficiently united to march steadily forward toward its objectives.

Certain it is that we are going to see some lively times between now and November of 1924. The nation and convictions, following the storm of war, and no man is wise enough to foresee what final conclusions a majority of votes will reach. That few things are settled and "anything may happen" is plain enough for all to see as we move on toward a new year of events.

The Civic League is planning a program for an evening of real joy and good cheer for the whole community during the Christmas holidays.

The college girls and boys and some of the best talent of the city will furnish the entertainment. The audience will be given glimpses of Japan, China, the Indian, the Old South and other sections. Music, readings and the Minuet danced in costume will be other attractions.

So, make your plans now to come to the Army on Thursday night, December 28th. Help make this a real Joy Night and encourage the Civic League in its work for the city.

A small admission fee will be charged and refreshments will be served during the evening.

LOOKS LIKE ROCK HILL WAS MADE THE GOAT

It appears on the face of things that Rock Hill has been made the "goat" in the football matter and we believe that if the Association will make investigation that they will find out how many players who are not near so eligible as Nims. As the investigation has started, it should continue until it cleared up and show every team out which is breaking the rules in any way.

It was unfortunate that Rock Hill was the first to be "blamed" but we hope the executive committee says that there was no intentional wrong-doing on the part of Rock Hill from any of the Rock Hillians are good, clean sports and will take the decision in the matter like men. Not only do we think this more of not adhering strictly to the rules applies to the schools but to the colleges as well and should be given prompt attention if good, clean athletics is to prevail—Rock Hill Record.

TO KEEP OUT THE COLD.

By Rita Stuyvesant

This is the season when mothers are planning winter undies for the kiddies. The rugos for woolen socks worn during the winter months makes the selection of suitable underwear a little more difficult.

A union suit of silk and wool of knee length will be found light and warm, and easily laundered in warm soap suds. This type of underwear is suitable for the child of 6 to 16.

Bloomers to match each frock will avoid the necessity for petticoats and will also save laundry. Frocks of wool jersey have become popular during the late fall months for young children, and bloomers to match form an ideal arrangement.

The youngest child will want smart panties to wear with the very short frock, and these are usually made with a band that fits over the knee.

The little girl of eight or ten will perhaps need a dainty petticoat to wear under the occasion. Light frock, and for her there is nothing more suitable than a princess slip made without buttons to trouble her. These little slips may be quickly cut out, several at a time, and finished with a narrow flounce at the bottom. The armholes and neck will need to be either bound with bias tape or finished with a narrow hem.

Your young son will be delighted with a two-piece pajama. A soft flannel, madras or cambie may be used for these, and there are many simple patterns.

Creo-pine Shingles Show a Smaller Upkeep Cost than any other form of Roofing

Wooden shingles when properly treated are the ideal roofing material.

By the high power hydraulic process of creosoting, Creo-pine shingles the undiluted creosote oil thoroughly penetrates the pores of the wood. Moisture, rains, frost, or sun cannot cause decay or rot.

Nails driven into untreated shingles rust and wear loose causing leaks in the roof. Nails driven in Creo-pine shingles do not rust and hold firmly for many years.

Roofs of Creo-pine shingles have been in service for fifteen years with no upkeep whatever, and at the end of that time were in good condition.

Creo-pine shingles are very little, if any, higher than heart pine shingles, cheaper than red cedar shingles and composition roofing and last much longer. They are cleaner to handle than dipped shingles and make a neat, attractive white appearance.

Call on us and let us tell you all about the Creo-Pine Shingles.

ATTRACT SETTLERS TO CAROLINA LAND

Farmers from Western States Can Be Interested and Retained. If Sought on Right Basis and Completely Advised—Organization to Handle Matter is Suggested.

(By W. W. Long, Director of Extension Service.)

In reading your agricultural news, we are passing through a series of experiences as the other southern states that have had to contend with the boll weevil, namely, the exodus of farm laborers.

The abandonment of the farms by the laborers is a great many localities of the state, presenting a situation most acute for next year's operations and is raising a very serious question for the future as to the use of large areas of our farm lands.

The state can not afford to have these lands remain unproductive; therefore, the question arises, what are we to do with them? We can't sell them to our own citizens, unless some organized effort is made to interest our best class of tenants to purchase these lands and provide some way of extending long time credits in payment for the lands and some means of financing themselves on a reasonable basis.

Settling the south with farmers from the Northern and Western states has been a failure. The reason for this failure is not difficult to explain. The farmer moving from the New England states, New York

WHOLE PROBLEM OF IMMIGRATION IS CONSIDERED

Washington, Dec. 5.—The whole problem at length today by President Harding and his cabinet and it was indicated afterward that this would be one of the subjects with which the executive would deal in his forthcoming annual message to Congress.

While it was stated at the white house that there had been no decision as to policy at the cabinet meeting, some administration officers were under the impression that Mr. Harding would propose a continuation of the present restriction law with certain amendments sponsored by Secretary Davis and designed to raise the general standard of emigrants embarking for the United States.

The labor secretary, it was said, is opposed to any increase of the existing three percent limitation; at least until the tide of immigration from northern and western Europe reaches the quota allowed by law. Thus far the number of immigrants coming from those sections have qualified only about 50 per cent of the authorized maximum. On the other hand, officials point out that the tide from southern Europe has reached the permitted maximum each year with many thousands of others that are waiting to come to this country.

Amendments to the present law which Mr. Davis is having prepared would provide for an examination at debarkation ports of all emigrant aliens with particular reference to character and to physical and mental conditions. There also would be a blood test. The examinations would be conducted by special health and immigration bureau officers stationed aboard and would entail some enlargement of the overseas forces of both health and immigration.

The immigration program, as explained today, presents many perplexing phases and its solution of it might have its effect on general economic conditions over the country. It was stated that unless a shortage of common labor could be relieved through immigration there would be a tendency toward higher wages for the character of help with attendant increase in price of goods and the indictment for farm hands to flock to the industrial centers. On the other hand, attention was called that a letting down of the immigration bars might produce an over-abundance of labor, with resultant unemployment, lowering of purchasing power and an economic depression of more or less general character.

Create A Demand

If every person in Chester county would confine their expenditures to the absolute necessities of life, many mercantile establishments would have to close their doors.

The amount of business done in a community depends upon the demand of the people. Thousands of dollars are being spent throughout the country giving publicity to various articles, with the view of creating a demand.

Merchants should advertise their business thereby creating a demand for the various articles they sell.

Eskimo pies are a luxury, yet the manufacturers made millions by advertising and creating a demand.

The less advertising merchants do the less demand they have for their goods.
