Paterson-Tucker. On Wednesday evening at eight o'clock the marriage of Miss Mary Patterson, of this city, with Mr. Selwyn D. Tucker, of Memphis, Tenn., was solemnized at the Methodist church.

The church was a scene of beauty such as is rarely witnessed here; the whole of the front being draped in becoming bridal white. The chancel railing was in white with a delicate tracery of ivory wood in and out of it. The pulpits also with their poles and the background were in pure white, while on the walls were in massive profusion, palms, ferns, and other growing plants.

Across the arch, were draped with white and pink, and inter-twined and gathered at the center with a large bow of white ribbon. In and on among the plants were placed the bride's bouquets, which gave to the whole a soft and pleasing effect. Across the back of the reserved seats, beautiful garlands of tulle and similar were gracefully draped.

Walker, being dressed in white, and the bridesmaids and attendants showed up beautifully against the white background.

Previous to the ceremony, Miss Kate Glenn rendered several exquisite selections, among them being a selection from Faust and Mendelssohn's song. They were all well known wedding marches of Mendelssohn, Beethoven and the ribbon bearers, Master Henry Holmes and William Smith and little Miss Margaret and Anne and Dick entertained the guests.

Directly following them came the brides, Messrs. E. A. Crawford, Jr., and J. H. Glenn, of this city, and took their places to the right and left of the altar. Then came the bridesmaids, Misses Lillian Anderson and Ethel Nichols, of Chester, exquisitely gowned in yellow messaline and carry long veils of tulle and yellow roses. They took their places on the right.

Next came Messrs. W. L. Davidson and Mr. L. P. Walker, Jr. of Spartanburg, and then Miss Myra Young, of New York. Miss Gilder wore a beautiful dress of lavender marquisette over messaline and Miss Young in lavender moire. They carried bouquets of smilax and violets. Following them came Messrs. J. H. Dixon, Jr. of Gastonia and Sheppard Nicholson, of Union.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Smith, of Glenn Springs, Mrs. Baxter Moore, of Charlotte, and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Durbin, of Blackstock, were in the city.

Miss Patterson was one of Chester's most popular and charming young ladies. She is a daughter of the late G. W. Patterson, who was a prominent lawyer of this city, and has numerous friends throughout the state.

The groom is a rising young business man of Memphis, being manager of the Bank of Georgia and Insurance department of the Bank of Commerce, and that company one of the largest, and oldest institutions of its kind in that city.

Character shown by the News. "What is an article in the paper that says a woman's character can be determined by her nose?"

"Well, there isn't anything in it, but there's a surer way. No one can make a mistake concerning a woman's character if she looks at the nose of other women who go to the extent to which they turn up at the nose." Shows just what she is for!—Exchange.

What We Wanted to Know. "Marta, I'm going to have Dr. Squibb's treatment for my rheumatism."

"What do you know about Dr. Squibb's?"

"All I know about him is that Mr. Göttem recommends him to me."

"Who is Mr. Göttem?"

"Mr. Göttem is one of the stockholders of the life insurance company that is carrying a $200,000 risk on my life." Chicago.

A Saddest Thing. It is generally the easiest thing in the world to drive a horse without spirit, but there is one recorded instance. There was a coach driver in a remote English village who succeeded himself with glory for doing so.

One afternoon he and his coach and horse came rattling up to the hotel door like an avalanche. As the coach stopped the driver of the horses dropped dead.

"That was a very sudden death," remarked a by-stander.

"That sudden" coolly responded the driver. "That 'sudden' died at the top of the hill two miles back, and I wasn't going to let him down at the regular stopping place."—Fergusson Weekly.

Ancient Origin of Military Salute. When did our military salute originate? It certainly dates from the earlier half of the sixteenth century, says the St. James Gazette.

"Speculum Humanae Salvationis," which was issued before the invention of printing by movable types, there is an exceedingly plain reference to which Abraham is represented as saluting his father-in-law, the patriarch in medieval armor and apparently on horseback, and it would seem that the salute is bringing him refreshments of water, and the salute is distinctly the military one still in use.

Christmas Dance Enjoyed. The Christmas dance of the Chester German Club took place on last Tuesday night in the armory with a large number in attendance.

Was first on the program and took up the time until supper, which was served at midnight. The ladies of the Patterson library furnished the supper, which consisted of a salad course and coffee and which was fine.

After supper came the German which was led by Mr. J. H. Henry and Miss Brownie Henry, of Greenville. A large crowd of visitors from the near by towns were present and every one had a rare evening of pleasure and enjoyment. Much of the occasion was furnished by Constock's Orchestra of Greenville.

Caught Again. Jim Pratt was water boy on the chaise, his term expiring yesterday morning. Last Sunday night some one stole a pair of shoes from suspicion pointed to Pratt and another negro who was a trustee.

Yesterday morning when he was discharged, Supr. McKewen had the trustee of shoes, who Jim Pratt had hidden, found. He was fined $50 for the shoes on his feet. The trustee reported to Mr. McKewen who caused by Chester police to be arrested and caught Jim at King's Stratton and caught the shoes on his feet. He was lodged in jail to await trial before Judge McLure.
