WANTED: INTELLIGENT LEADERS

We, as a student body, shall be faced during the next weeks with the problem of choosing student leaders. We shall have a double responsibility this year because we have recently adopted a revised form of government, and we need to choose those students who are best suited to adapting themselves to the new situation.

The student body showed great enthusiasm over the adoption of the new amendments to the constitution. We felt that the committee on reorganization had done its work well and we wished to express our appreciation. We should not stop with mere empty enthusiasm—evanescent as the rainbow—however. We must of necessity do some hard thinking before elections in an attempt to get the best that Winthrop has to offer in the way of leadership. We wish to reiterate the statement which is made every year to the general effect that students should accept offices not because of the honor and the points involved, but because of the genuine interest of the student in the activity, if a student finds that she has no interest and little capability, she will certainly be doing herself and her activity a great injustice if she tries to assume responsibility.

We would urge, too, that the students vote by ability rather than for popularity. Just because a girl is well-liked and can "pull a vote" does not prove that she is in reality a leader. We realize, of course, that it is almost useless to ask students to cast their votes by any other than the popularity standard.

We feel that the students who will be elected to the new legislative body, the Senate, should be considered with as great care as possible. We know that the future of student government lies largely in their hands. We need intelligent, broad-minded thinkers to make the laws for the government. We fully realize that it would be foolish to consider abolition of all rules, as some of the superficial minds on the campus suggest. We recently heard a minister say, "Some laws are necessary, and the intelligent consider them reasonable." We are very much of the same opinion, and we believe that the statement applies no more to the citizens of the world at large than it does to the citizens of Winthrop College.

We beg the student body as a whole to use intelligence and discretion in selecting leaders for next year.

VENEZUELOS—KING MAKER?

Hostilities have abated in the newest "trouble spot" in Europe. The Greek revolt, arising in Crete, Macedonia, and Thrace, is being effectually subdued by the Greek government, notwithstanding the fact that the insurgents have so able a leader as former Premier Venizelos. This white-haired old diplomat, it will be remembered, was high in favor at the time of the World War because of his success in ousting from the throne the Greek royal family, which incidentally was opposing the side of the Allies, and of assuming control as premier of the new government.

This time he seems to have been up to his old tricks, for the demands of the rebel forces was the Premier Tsoliaris resign and deliver the reigns of government over to Venizelos. Once he fought to destroy a king; is it not possible, the idle speculator wonders, that this time he wished to create a king? England has a royal son with a lovely Grecian princess-wife—and no kingdom! Perhaps the possibilities of procuring a crown for him were being sounded out. Perhaps Venizelos, versed as all diplomats are in the Code Polonois, had an inkling in the back of his mind that a Windsor "should" someday occupy the throne of Greece.

Book and Key Club Entertains Freshmen

Distinguished freshmen were entertained by the Book and Key, honorary scholarship society, Monday afternoon, March 11, in the Reading Room of Johnson Hall. Mary Magolda played a piano solo and Almira Johnson, a violin selection; Mary Moss and Dorothy Chambers read original poems "To You" and "A Lullaby." Billie Fruit explained the purpose of the Book and Key and the requirements for entrance into the society.

After the program refreshments were served by the social committee.

Caroline Mackey gave a wonderful pep of delight when a University of Minnesota professor at a luncheon the other day stated the difference between an asylum and a university. "You have to show improvement to get out of an asylum," said the professor.—(A. C. F.)

Anniversary Observed By Education Club

Elementary Education Club celebrated its first anniversary with a St. Patrick's Day party in Johnson Hall, Saturday night, March 9. The library was decorated with ferns and shamrocks and each member of the club wore something green. St. Patrick's Day games and contests were played. Green and white ice cream and cakes were served. Comings were presented to the sponsors, Misses Lockhead and Goggans.

FURMAN

Local parties have been dull lately. There has been hardly anything to talk about until two or three couples left.—The Harrier.

A surplus of $24.57 was reported by the Princeton University (N. J.) athletic association for the fiscal year 1932-1934.—(A. C. F.)

WINTHROP... WEEK BY WEEK

(With Apologies to McIntyre)

So they say:

Mr. Graham: "We're going to build another dormitory at Winthrop to house all the rumors."

Annie Rosenblum: "I've had three dirty spells since that last chemistry test."

Mrs. Kinard: "Both Carolina is a lovable, livable State, but certainly not healthy."

Dr. Wheeler: "Subway conductor, my eyelashes. I wanted to be a motor-man."

Allice Saff: "I want to be a heart balm."

Edith Gorman: "Well, Lucy know, Am what Lucy know, the whole world know."

Billie Fruit: "Everybody picks on me, and I'm not supposed to say anything."

Mary Burgess: "I've no ideas. My mind's blank."

Dr. Johnson: "I've written him a letter to set his mind at rest."

Miss Malchus: "The French have a very polite Bible."

On of our enterprising young reporters flitted for us a poem written one of our budding young authors, Anne Moss, and entitled "Doodle Bug." Here it is: Have you ever looked for doodle bugs in their hills of finest sand? Or called them softly once or twice till they backed up in your hand? Or have...

We're afraid our Annie has been hiding her light under a bushel. Thingamabob: A rat, who resides in the walls of Annie Rosenblum's and Rose Rudnick's room has been christened "Bitter-sweet" by the disburse, Mrs. J. And "Missie" Puller, upon hearing the description of the new 3-cent stamp, plaintively inquired, "Well, Vance, how much does it cost?" Somebody has stolen a salamander from the nursery school. What in the world would anyone want with him anyway? ... "Necton" Lowndes was all excited over a selection in German which the Big Moment had sent as reminding him of her. Imagine her confusion when she found out that it was translated "Ah, to throw myself on my courageously..." A parochialist says that, while dropping one has time to reflect upon the disappointments of life. Punch remarks, "And then one arrives at the sad conclusion that it's a hard world."

Adjustment: "If I do you look for in a shirt" We'd say buttons if it's been to our laund'ry.

"Time" says that numerous anecdotes have followed in the wake of "Green Pastures." In Roanoke, a negro went to his boss and asked "for foah bits to me 'de 'Green Pastures'." In Atlanta, a fat negro manny waddled up to the box office to buy a ticket only to be told that she should have bought her ticket by mail order. She hung around all day, returning late to inquire "when do the trains take in girls to get their turn?" In New York, Richard E. Hartson greeted Mayor La Guardia. The mayor said: "Do you think I'll meet any politicians in heaven, Lawd?" To which the actor genially replied, "Don't you mean will any politicians meet you in heaven?" Punch says that a man who broke a railway carriage window 40 years ago has sent the station master 5 pounds. We understand that the window is to be repaired.

Purely Personal Piff: We wish that all our advertisements could be deleted from the library magazines. We feel like striking Armenians or something like looking at the appetizers. ... Things we could do without: people who disturb the peace by childish shrieking and yelling. One of our favorite people: Miss Ketchin. ... We found a poem in The Post, we believe, which expresses to our mind the colossal conceit of the male. Here it is: A Paragon Oh, you may think my girl is not As fair as most you see; That face and figure aren't no hot, And with you I'll agree. But I have found no cause to rue This lack of beauty. Why? Well, she's the world's one maiden who Seems even worse than I.

BLUE SPECTATOR

Mary Burgess gave a party to celebrate her A on Training School—the passed, by the way, was "Mm Ingram." ... And Hallie Mae was caught red-handed in Dr. Phelps's office feeding our dignified registrar heaping handfuls of cheese tid bits. ... Did you happen to see Maryland sneak out her tongue at Dr. Wheeler, or bear her about in exasperated tones, "Now you lay off me!" ... Did you get a lying glimpse of Ora Belle knocking poor, defenseless Mr. Noel down in her camp? ... Jessie Dorsey read and her tongue at Dr. Wheeler, or bear her about in exasperated tones, "Now you lay off me!" ... Did you get a lying glimpse of Ora Belle knocking poor, defenseless Mr. Noel down in her camp? ... Did you see Mrs. Sims as her next-door-neighbor in the infirmary without seeing her. (Ask her how!) ... And a horrified freshman mousie "I was just beginning to recognize twenty board members, and now they have to go and give us seven-ty-two!" But, really, don't you think our amendments are just "swell" ... "Dimples" Thomas has a strange way of calling the spirits fourth at the mystic meetings in South. The other night she boomed out in a special voice "Spirits, are you there? If you are, knock three times; if you aren't, knock once."

Phelps Family Uses A Coined Word, Blue-John

Did you ever hear of "blue-johning"? Did you ever "blue-john"? Dr. Phelps has. "I'll tell you the story about it," he said as he leaned back in his desk chair. "An old friend of mine, Joe Cook, of Hattiesburg, Mississippi told it to me. "A long time ago, when a family down on a Mississippi plantation was having a 'snack' just before dark, one of the men declared that he liked blue-john. "Blue-john," explained Dr. Phelps, "is milk on the blink—or just before it turns." Well, that fellow had to drink blue-juice for forty years after that just because he had liked it. "We all do thing like that, and we all have to live up to them afterwards," continued Dr. Phelps. "I don't know what makes us do them—but we always keep it up. Something inside of us compels us to. "Our family has changed blue-juice into a verb, and when one of us does something that he afterwards has to live up to, the others say he is 'blue-johning'."

News-Y's and Other Y's

Spring is coming—through spasmodically, we admit—and once more it's time to begin thinking seriously about elections. Call in the neighbors before it's too late and get involved in some heated ball sessions—the best man at the win, so pick out the best man now.

Have been hearing rumors about another formal Y. W. C. A. Y. It is to be in honor of the science department this time, and we hope those who receive the notices will not disregard them, as a great many have done heretofore. We really do want you, and after all, the activities of the Y. W. C. A. are for you. We also hear rumors of something "extra special" in the way of refreshments, so try to come—you can help enjoying it.

The social committee gave a swimming party a couple of days ago—another one of those "come-and-bring-a-trifle" affairs. Refreshments were served in paper bags and a good time was had by all. Then there was the "pop" party which took place in the Freshman Cabinet—and the Y. Cabinet had a steak supper at the shack Tuesday night. (Hope they were good swimmers—or maybe they came back before the rain got too deep for high-water wading).

We're looking forward to having the Clemson Deputation Team visit our Services Sunday night. Clemson always has a worthwhile message to bring us and we enjoy having them here. Our Deputation team has made two trips now—one to Clemson and one to Carolina—and were glad Winthrop is able to participate in these legislative activities. We like to make a name for ourselves, too.

Anybody still wondering if she has given up the right thing for Lent? Why not attend some of the reading groups and good things going up the bi-weekly sandwich. The second in Mr. Marion's series of lectures on "The Life of Christ" will be held Sunday night in Johnson Hall. And the children is selling "Post Toasties" now—or "cornflakes" if you prefer.

Forepax And Scalpel Pledge New Members

Open in the Professional World of Today" was discussed by Helen Lawson, Sara Touchberry, Mary Wells, Catherine Nelson, and Elizabeth Friverson at the meeting of the Forepax and Scalpel Club Friday, March 13, in Tillman Hall.

Elna Pearson, Henrietta Barwell, Virginia Herby, Dorothy Waters, Jane Cooper, Nell Jackson, Evelyn Martin, Lorena Galloway, and Mary Sesse were admitted to the club.

After the program, refreshments were served.

P. C. Confers Honor On Prof. Magginn

Mr. W. D. Magginn, Professor of Education and Vice-President of the South Carolina Educational Association, has been selected by the faculty and officers of Presbyterian College as a candidate for the degree of Litt. D. This degree, granted for services rendered to education and to the church in the State of South Carolina, will be conferred upon Mr. Magginn at the commencement exercises, May 28, at Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., Carolina.

DELTA SIGMA CHI HAS PROGRAM ON GARDENS

"Gardens From the Seventeenth to the Twentieth Century," as the subject discussed at the regular meeting of Delta Sigma Chi, Home Economics Club, Wednesday, March 13, in Johnson Hall.

Frankie Garrison talked on "Bakers' Garden," and Evelyn Baker spoke on "Spring, Summer, and Autumn Gardens." Mary Frances Gonnell, accompanied by Edna Reeves, sang "Rose in the Bud" and "How a Lovely Garden." A report on the course of the Beta Alpha Home Economics Association held at Columbia College, February 22 and 23 was given by Evelyn Rhodes.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Gym-Cracks

Those basketball games last week were marvelous. Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen did some grand playing.

Highlights of the games: Rommie Mathis being present with two flying legs instead of the ball... Eleanor King causing "breezes" to blow these Freshers over the boundary line... Marjorie Mitchell and Katie Coker ringering goals from far and near the backboard... Sunshine Pierce trying to look over, around, or through "Freshman's" Dautler... Julia Thomas taking great sides on one bounce... "Bo" and "Flo" against "Touchy" and Caroline Shaw... Marjorie McMeekin playing the Freshman games from the sideline... And so on and so on—

Highlights of names for Physical Education: "Athletic Majors," "Physical Culture Majors," "Phys (fuz) Ed Majors," "Gym Majors." For further information refer to Virginia McKeliken and Annie Rosenblum!

If anyone has heard of "Barnet & Ball Insurance" please send all possible information to the instructor and assistant coaches of the 4th period Tuesday-Thursday tennis class.

Jobs of the week: Miss Hoffman: "If you're ready to have me as your name?" Miss: "Hay." (Rachel Hay) Miss H.: "Name please?" Miss: "Hay." Miss M.: "Oh, pardon me, hey?"

Swimming meet is only two weeks and four days away so all you get in on the "medals" team's trip.

After swimming, comes Baseball, Tennis, Bowling has already started. Individual sports will get going—now tell me there isn't something for everyone!

Corollary sport seems much higher than class spirit. We think that is grand, but why not a little more enthusiasm in backing one's class team? North walked away with the dormitory tournament—who wouldn't with Nell, Sir, and Mary forwarding—and guards, good, too.

Marjorie McMeekin and Mary Wright make up a duff! Dot Harrelson of South isn't such a bad player, either!

Which reminds me: someone was golly rebuffing "Little Nell" about not talking her own while she abd. The reply: "Why make goals, they only stop up the game!"

Greensboro! Greensboro! That's the rage at present—and why? Polly McNeill, Eleanor King, Mary Johnstone, Dot Manning, Sunshine Pierce, Cat Nelson, Sara Touchberry, Chieora Calton, Freda Neal, Caroline Shaw, Lib Smoak, Martha Wardle, "Diddle" Burnett, and Nettie Sweeney are all on the up and ready for a meeting of College Athletic Association at N. C. W. C. W. the week-end of March 22.

Mrs. Ben Ivey chaperoned the party.

NORTH BESTS FACULTY IN ANNUAL GAGE GAME

Basketball Teams Intersperse Play With Deadlocks and Fights

Members of the North basketball team defeated the Faculty team by a score of 30-26 in a game Tuesday, March 12, at 4:30 P. M. in the Pre-buddy Gymnasium.

At the first sound of the referee's whistle "Emmy" Gore captured the ball, sprinted the length of the court with it, and, despite the energetic guarding of "Judy" Post (who was hindered by her falling pants leg), passed it to "Hampy" Jarrell who dashed in record-breaking time to the opposite end of the court, lightly tossed a goal, and clapped appreciatively at the cheers of the audience.

The North team, which had been "crushing" unsuccessfully to check the on-rush of the Faculty, rallied and made good after goal. "Tommy" Noel saved the day for the Faculty team when he snatched the ball, ran wild with it, and after upsetting two guards, scored a perfect goal from directly beneath the net.

Time was called out for "Hampy" Jarrell who, as a result of over exertion, had to be carried from the field. "Roy" James, garbed in a green gym suit, rushed in as substitute, and "Allie" Tingey was sent in to replace "Tommy" Noel, whose supply of surplus energy was fast falling him. At the end of the first quarter the score was 6-14 in favor of North.

The remainder of the game kept the same high pack of excitement in the watching crowds. At the climax, a free-for-all scuffle between all the players, a sofa and the three layers of operators who had been standing on it collapsed, and the crowd went wild. "Lester" Wellner caused several interruptions because, unable to contain her enthusiasm, she shouted "whee" as each play, thus distracting other players who frequently mistook her cries for the referee's whistle. The score at the finish was 30-26 in favor of North.

The game was frequently held up by time-outs called for deadlocks or fights over the ball. "Emmy" Gore was particularly assertive in this way. Time after time he tackled "Fanny" Hoffman, pulled the ball from her reluctant fingers, and started on one of his hundred-yard dashes.

Members of the faculty team were as follows: "Jenny" Couch, "Tommy" Noel, "Roy" James, "Emmy" Gore, "Hampy" Jarrell, "Ammie" Feider, "Frances" Simpson, "Judy" Post, "Fanny" Hoffman, "Lester" Wellner, and "Allie" Tingey; members of the North dormitory team were as follows: Neil Jackson, Sis West, Mary Ferguson, Regina Lagare, Nancy Ashcroft, Iren Barwell, Nancy Coote, Alma Allen, Betty Swaney, Emily Harrison, and Helen Slicer. "Eleanor" King and Cat Nelson served as referees, and Polly McNeill and "Sunshine" Pierce were the timekeepers.
