THAMARA SWIRSKAYA GIVES DANCE PROGRAM

Noted Dancer Is Assisted by Trio and Musician—Presented Here Tuesday Evening

Thamara Swirskaya, "the Spirit of Russia," appeared in a program of dance and music presented in Main Auditorium of Winthrop College, Tuesday evening, April 18, at 8 o'clock. Swirskaya was assisted by a trio of dancers, Misses Austin, Mahoney, and by Emanuel Laskov, pianist. Prayer of the Iona, Mousmarky—Thamara Swirskaya and Trio. Berceuse, Lido—Emanuel Laskov. Topak, Mousmarky; Music Box, Lido—Thamara Swirskaya. "Mother-of-pearl" Waltz, Chopin—the Trio. Dance from Prince Igor, Borovinn—Thamara Swirskaya. Valse of the Roses, Grieg—Thamara Swirskaya.

"Sinfonia," Sibelius—the Trio. Polchenette, Rachmaninoff—Emanuel Laskov. Grecian Sulek, "Opheus," Gluck—Thamara Swirskaya and Trio. Arab Slave, Amant—Thamara Swirskaya. Lohengrin, Liszt—Emanuel Laskov. Carmina, Popular Mexican Air—Thamara Swirskaya. Encores: Tango, Popular Mexican Air—Thamara Swirskaya. Water Flaying—Emanuel Laskov. Prelude, Rachmaninoff—Emanuel Laskov.

"Of my dances, the dance I enjoy very much," said Swirskaya, "the one that makes me laugh, is my music box. Of myself I have no diet. I pay no attention to food. I eat whatever I want. I drink wine with my meals, but I am against the wild drinking parties where they look stupid and act bad."

Swirskaya has been dancing nearly ever since she began to walk according to her own statements. "The thing I am proud of," she stated, "is that Thomas called me the most musical body in the world."

"I have been everywhere," Swirskaya stated, "but I have never seen such spitting girls as here. They spit and spit," she said, "each trying to outspit the other," the artist exclaimed. "Nowhere in Italy, where I have been—in France, Spain, Java—have I seen so many spitting people."

Emanuel Laskov, pianist and composer, after having been in America for six months, announced that American girls are a thousand times as nice as European girls.

Student Poets Give Program In Chapel

Poetry Society gave a resume of the life and works of the late Edwin Arlington Robinson in chapel Tuesday. Mary Louise Boyington, president of Poetry Society, said in her discussion, "Edwin Arlington Robinson, who has just died, was the most widely-read, serious American poet. He was three times winner of the Pulitzer prize, and although he wrote poetry for forty years, he was never persuaded to read a line of it in public." Four other members, Betty Carrison, Marilyn Wilson, Anne Warr, and Corinne Crum, read the following of his poems: "Rimner Oweery," "Richard Cory," "Credo" and "On a Rainy Day." "John Cornish," Mary Louise concluded the program with the remark, "Edwin Arlington Robinson is dead; but the poet lives on."

CONSTITUTION REVISED AT DEBATORS MEETING

Dr. Keith Announces Teams to Represent Winthrop at Other Colleges

Dr. Warren G. Keith announced at a meeting of the Debaters' League Wednesday, April 17, that debating teams would be sent out on April 28 and 27 to Atlanta and Salisbury. Lucretia Daniel and Margaretie Ziegler, affirmative, and Annie Rosenbloom and Martha Moore, the negative, will go to Atlanta. Debaters, affirmative, and Evelyne Radwiner and Alice Safy, negative, will probably go to Charleston to debate The Citadel and The College of Charleston.

During the meeting of the League, Wilson Josephson, manager of the Y. W. C. A., discussed the activities of the League, and Grace Smith, who made trial speeches for entrance into the association. Frances Lide and Catherine Wagoner were accepted into the League after making their maiden speeches.

The meeting was turned over to Bobby James, who read and explained the constitution as it was revised by her and her committee, composed of Keith Ehrley, Mary Stuart Mills, Mary Hart Dargan, Katherine Park, Mary Caroline Rogers, and Sara Weatherly. Following the business session, Dr. Keith announced "Dimples" Thomas as the winner of the after dinner speech contest in which Virginia Walsh, Mary Moore, Mayson, Billie Cole, Addie Stokes, and Nancy Lane, also competed. This contest was held just before the meeting Wednesday.

Winthrop Choral Club Sings Lenten Cantata

Winthrop College Choral Club, directed by Professor Walter B. Roberts, will present "The Seven Last Words of Christ," a lenten cantata, by Theo. Doke De Bo, arranged by Stanley Ornberg, Sunday night, April 21, at 7:30 o'clock, in Main Auditorium. Martha Shealy, soprano; Mr. Harry Parkin, baritone, and Mr. J. Will Proctor, tenor, will be the soloists for the cantata; and Miss Ruth Stephenson, organist, and Miss Pauline, pianist, will be the accompanists.

The cantata is the story in song of the seven utterances of Christ from the cross. They sound out above the hills and jeers of the multitude passing below. The cantata begins with the soprano solo, "I Am a People." The first word, "I Am a People," is sung by the baritone and tenor with the chorus. "Today Thou Shalt Be With Me," the third word is a tenor and baritone duet. The fourth word, "See, O Woman!," consists of solo by soprano, tenor, and baritone with the chorus. The fourth word, "I Am a Father," is for tenor and baritone with the chorus. "Father, Into Thy Hands," the sixth word is sung by the tenor and chorus. "It Is Finished" is sung by the baritone, tenor, and baritone with the chorus. The cantata ends with a prayer sung by all.

STUDENT OPINION

We have been asked by Winthrop students to run a column of student opinion weekly, and we find it a difficult task. Very few girls have responded.

In a student opinion column we do not want the same few girls represented with each issue; we want a variety of them; in fact, we would welcome and gladly publish opinions by every member of the student body.

And we don't like to have to ask girls each week to write their opinions for us; we want you all to write them of your own accord on any subject that you wish if you do not like our weekly question.

As you probably know, student opinion is considered of great importance by the administration when any matter is being decided. So let's have more of it.

A WORD FOR N. C. STATE

We admire sportsmanship in any form. Especially do we wish to commend Mr. Edwin Padgett, debating coach from North Carolina State, and the N. C. State debating team for the sportsmanlike attitude they displayed in the debating tournament last weekend. The N. C. State team came to Winthrop expecting to debate teams from P. C., Wofford, and Wake Forest.

SOCIAL CONTRACT

The question is, "Exactly when does chapel begin?" When the chimes stop playing? Can't hear the chimes. When the twenty-third bell rings? Apparently not, for no rushing of voices follows. When the person conducting the exercises rises from his seat? Surely, that is the last possible minute.

FOR THE MOVIE GOER

It seems to us that it is almost futile to bring up the subject of the movies when the year is almost over, the movie contract almost up, and the movies for the rest of the year already chosen. We would like to suggest, however, that students have a voice in the selection of pictures next year.

for dinner at night. Although this formality might prove somewhat of a nuisance to the carefree heart of a Winthrop girl, there is something to be gained from the suggestion. If all of us tried "dressing up" our supper and our table manners occasionally, we would discover a new dining room atmosphere.

In our opinion, one of the most beautiful customs on the campus is the slugging of the blessing. Recently, however, it has become almost a rote by the leader. If we intend to carry on this tradition, we must give it more wholehearted support than it is at present.

Catherine Hunt Fasting - Of all places on Winthrop campus, the dining room is the most visited by the students; and yet, how careless and rude we are when there!

Even though we may not have time to prepare ourselves as neatly as possible before going to breakfast and even dinner, there is no reason why we should not dress more neatly for supper. It would take only a few minutes to comb our hair and put on a fresh collar or blouse.

MISCELLANEOUS OPINION
Lizak Walker Cockfield - Radios are a decided asset to our learning; and it seems a pity that we should be deprived of such an aid.

With radios in the rooms, our education would be more pleasant and our views on every-day topics more general. We could observe our Victoria regulations, and perhaps a little extra fee from home could help pay for the electricity.

Next Week's Question: Do you think our present system of lights out satisfactory or not? Why?

Ed Note: We thought it best to change this week's question; the one for next week, however, will remain as it is. We will appreciate answers and miscellaneous opinions from all students; and please put answers in Box 384 by 3 o'clock Monday.

WINTHROP... WEEK BY WEEK

(With Apologies to McIntyre)
Odds and ends - Miss Staver's mother wrote and asked what she (la mademoiselle) would do if she (la madame) were to send her a check for $1000.

People who come to the table and merely riding the said roof, it may seem that there is nothing lacking in the organization and decorum of Winthrop Dining Room, but upon further analysis, perhaps there are a few conditions which would greatly aid to the appearance, if not to the general comfort and enjoyment of all the students.

lional profit," declares a novelist. Lots of other novelists have complained of much the same thing--Off-hand we'd say that's largely what we write home for.

Tingumbobs: Mrs. Sims called Mrs. Hardin down for being up town without a hat. . . . Miss Bishop and Miss Callahan just celebrated their birthdays one week apart. . . . We've just read this statement by a Pennsylvania professor: "Everything pleasant in life is either wicked or indigestible."

Here's a bit of philosophy we gathered from The Post. It's called "Shining Your Neck Out None but the brave, beyond a doubt. Deserves to snag the salt. And seeing how women dish it out, None but the braves would dare.

Slack your neck in a lion's jaw; He's tame and old and toothless; But women are nature in the raw. Look out for them; they're ruthless.

THE HIT OF THE WEEK
Of course, poets are generally supposed to be peculiar. But what non-strochities has the new editor-selected The Journal come into contact with that she should think that a poet consumes gallons of beverage? Puns!

Question: How do you think we could improve conditions in our dining room?

Edith Gering--Had you ever heard of singing a blessing before you came to Winthrop? To me, that seems of an expressing gratitude is "what or can't feelation." Here, the spirit in which our blessings are sung is not at all reverent. Would it not be more desirable for our dining room committee to work out a plan by which individual students could be called upon to return thanks for our food.

elegant words, "Let's Eat!" When we get down to bare facts, that is the main purpose of the dining room, but it is only civilized that we combine a few of the social graces with what sometimes seems to have evolved into a necessary evil.
To those spectators who come just inside the entrance and stand and marvel at the miracle of so many people being fed under one roof, without literally riding the said roof, it may seem that there is nothing lacking in the organization and decorum of Winthrop Dining Room, but upon further analysis, perhaps there are a few conditions which would greatly aid to the appearance, if not to the general comfort and enjoyment of all the students.

EXTENDS
EASTER GREETINGS
To Winthrop Students and Faculty

BLUE SPECTATOR

NOTE: Emma Costello, the maid in Johnson Hall, wishes to express her gratitude and appreciation to the students, members of the faculty, and groups on the campus that have shown her kindness by expressing their sympathy at the death of her husband.

Least Costumed Dancer! Your ever-present speaker awakes next morning with a very happy picture in her mind of someone dancing the Carlton in an entirely new style. Maybe we haven't had accompaniment necessary to inspire the correct rhythm. . . . Talking about dances—let's change it to balls. The Tapes must have been pretty swell—the stories are improving every day. . . . For the benefit of a few of us students who can't get galavant around the country, N. C. State graciously sent two representatives down to Winthrop. 'Tis said the debaters were quite calm until Wenechle came into the scene. We're wondering if she was the incentive for their parting remark. "Never before have we stopped at a school in which the atmosphere was so conducive to arguing. . . . And then it was Miriam Riley who wanted to know if the Winthrop girls were going to sing in their halls at Clemson. We leave this problem to the music students. . . . Woolworth's reposing must have been an over-whelming success with three-fourths of the Winthrop girls so extravagantly interested. . . . We're convinced of the fact that everybody is still excited about the Junior-Senior—sounds very thrilling to the Freshmen, who are looking for inconspicuous entrance doors to the dining-room. . . . Then there was the Freshman who passed the President's Home the other day and wanted to know who lived in that pretty brick house. . . . It's reached the point now that you're a snay if you don't knit. Everybody knows what you are if you do knit—so where are you? . . . Mrs. Gibson thought she had large hips until she heard the measurements of Winthrop girls. . . . We present a bouquet to Harrydell Thompson and think that she deserves more. . . . Have you heard about the breakfast the girls gave in Practice Home? While we were dreading of yesterday's failure and today's quiz, they were entertaining Winthrop College's royalty. . . . We have become very much interested in the "Music Room Case." Mr. Gore is still trying to solve the problem of who sent him the toy drummer. He says it isn't a freshman—anybody too afraid; it couldn't be a sophomore—too busy; and the Juniors are too dignified; so. . . . And we recall that Rose Rudnick will soon be a shadow of her former self if her last name is spelled with a "w" instead of an "r." Winthrop has been called some peculiar names, but the new law has been reached. A stranger riding through Rock Hill passed the college one night and inquired: "What cotton mill is this?" . . . And just wait till Easter morning—the Freshman Y Cabinet will have a surprise for everybody. So, be on the lookout!

It's absurd for this man to charge us $10 for towing us three miles. That's all right, he's earning 10-1 have my brakes on."

CAMPUS' AROUND

Our Own Mother Goose Rhymes
Little Jack Horner sat in the corner
Eating a Christmas pie;
He put in his thumb, and pulled out a plum,
And said, "Aw nuts, I thought this was apple."
Humpty Dumpty sat on a wall
Humpty Dumpty had a great fall;
All the king's horses and all the king's men
Had egg-nogg.
Misses Mary, quite contrary,
How does your garden grow?
With cockle-shells, and silver bells,
And the rest haven't come up yet.
In the papers this week we read where eighty per cent of the feminine graduates from a certain college—name withheld—say they have never been kissed. As fond papa said at daughter's graduation, "I wonder if our little Nell will marry or will have to prefer a career."
I'm gonna quit this hold-up game!
I'll hang round Johns no more!
So with a sigh,
And a faint little cry,
The garter stretched out on the floor.
—The Florida Flambeau.

Mary had a little lamb
With fleece as white as snow,
And everywhere that Mary went—
How'd you like to have live stock following you around?
A horrid young dancier named Read
Was too good at handling a fan,
When she skill caused her trouble,
She switched to a bubble—
Now pin-shooters come in just grand!
Extremely Blank Verse
Steaming coffee, sugar,
And rich cream,
Side by side on spotted linen.
One awkward movement,
And the dinner
Spread snowy cream
On ex-spotted linen.
The spluttering waiter raved
At the nonchalant splanter's "Thank awright."
"What a mean all right!" shrieked her.
"Yes," rickicked the married friend,
"S'perfectly awright, on account of
I don't like cream
In my coffee
Now!"

Famous Last Words:
Think I'll take h'misticating this time,
Doctor. . . .
Oh, well, the parachute's got a money-back guarantee. . . .
I don't giveadam if you are Max Baer;
I still hate you to pieces. . . .
Impossible, Mr. Brown; why I hardly know your wife. . . .
—The Pull Dog.

Booty: "She's the most economical girl I know."
Mac: "I'll say she is. I gave her a marshmallow the other day and she powdered her nose with it."
Many girls who go on diets find that they are poor losers. . . .
She: "Oh, I simply adore that funny step. Where did you pick it up?"
He: "Funny step, bang, I'm losing my garter."
Hotel Proprietor: "Do you want the porter to call you?"
Guest: "No thanks—I awake every morning at seven."
H. P.: "Thus would you mind calling the porter?"
The human brain is truly a wonderful thing. It starts working the minute you wake up and never stops until you get to class. . . .
Teacher: "What is your worst sin?"
Student: "Vanity—I stand in front of my mirror for hours admiring my beauty."
Teacher: "That's not vanity—that's imagination."
He: "Since I met you I can't eat, I can't sleep, I can't drink."
She: (slyly) "Why not?"
He: "I'm broke."
—The Periscope.

Simple Simon met a pizman
Going to the fair,
Said Simple Simon to the pizman,
"Hey."

Diary Of A Maid In Uniform

April 11:
Lovely weather makes me long to get closer to nature. Having an urge to climb trees. I pick the sturdiest on back-campus. After several vain attempts, manage to clamber up. Spirit of adventure surges up within my breast. Mount joyously a few more feet until I get stuck fast between two limbs. Might have foreseen this but it is daily growing harder to calculate my clearance. A stream of visitors choose this time to stroll past. Reply to questions heartily and valiantly discourse on the joys of Nature.
Finally manage to extricate myself, ripping quite a few things in the process. This Back to Nature stuff is going a little too far. Dare not descend from my perch in this condition. Walk patiently for dusk, and sneak home.
April 14:
Tables being broken. Some girl fills a vacancy at our table. Am called upon to dish out a little hospitality for her benefit. Feeling sure of her name, I guess forth brightly with, "The girl who lives next door to me is named Helen Smith." Wait expectantly for reply, but she gives me only a blank look and edges nervously away. Wonder how anyone could be so dumb, so utterly lacking in the Social Graces. Disgus-tfully turn away and leave the Dull Lump to her Tunafish.
Learn later her name is not Helen Smith but Caroline Jones. Can only wonder that she took my remark as calmly as she did.
April 15:
Read that erudite journal, The Tiger.
The corps really should keep its mind on Higher Things and not think so much on Winthrop curves.

MUSICAL NOTES

South Carolina State Music Concert is being held on the Winthrop campus today, and tomorrow. Twenty-eight high schools are participating with orchestras, bands, glee clubs, instrumental and vocal solos. Two new features for this year are the Junior high school choruses and the boys' unchanged voice contest. Today, the soloists are contesting; tonight the glee clubs will contest in mass audition at 8 o'clock; and the bands and orchestras will contest tomorrow morning.

A FEW QUESTIONS
Where can a man buy a cap for his zinc, or a key to the lock of his hat?
Can his eyes be called an academy because there are pupils there?
In the crown of his head what jewels are found? Who travels on the bridge of his nose?
Can he see, when shingling the roof of his mouth, the nails on the ends of his toes?
Can the crook of his elbow be sent to jail? If so, what did he do?
How does he sharpen his shoulder blades? I'll be hanged if I know, do you?
Can he sit in the shade of the points of his hands, or beat on the drums of his ears?
Does the call of his leg cut the corn of his toes? If so, why not grow corn on the ear?
He mumbled a few words in church
And he was married;
He mumbled a few words in his sleep—
And he was divorced.

Music Students Give Recital Thursday Night

Winthrop College Department of Music presented Mary Maggins, pianist, Margaret Denny, soloist, and Elizabeth McConnell, violinist, in a recital in Music Hall Auditorium, Thursday night, April 11, at 8 o'clock. Lydia Dutton accompanied Elizabeth McConnell, and Gene Arant accompanied Margaret Denny.

The program for the recital was as follows:

Sonata Tragica, First Movement, MacDowell—Mary Maggins.

Pastoral, Veracini; Alleluia, Mozart—Margaret Denny.

Andante Finale, from Lucia di Lammermoor, Lechetskiy; Rhapsody, Number 8, Liszt—Mary Maggins.

Melody, Dvorak; Air de Ballet, Chopin—Elizabeth McConnell.

Don't You Know, Opera Mignon, Thomas; He Loves Me, Chadwick—Margaret Denny.

Mr. Tupman Waltzes: Morning at Master Farm; Mr. Winkle the Sportsman, Pachelbel Suite, Walker, Holman, Polanski, Padewski—Mary Maggins.

Faculty Committee Helps Revise Plans

Dr. Paul M. Wheeler, Dr. H. M. Jarrell, and Miss Margaret Jane Ketchin, meeting on a committee appointed by Dr. Shelton Phelps at the request of the presidents of the three literary societies, met with the officers of the three societies in Main Building, Monday afternoon, April 15, at 4 o'clock.

The committee was appointed to help revise the constitution of the societies so that hereafter literary work of the societies would be more influential, the lack of a definite objective would be corrected, and the attendance of too many non-participating members would be adjusted.

Mildred Pettigrew Heads Education Club

Mildred Pettigrew and Margaret Blair were elected president and vice-president, respectively, of the Elementary Education Club at a meeting held Wednesday, April 17, at 5 o'clock in Johnson Hall. Other officers of this organization will be elected at the beginning of the 1935-36 term.

Foreeps And Scalpel Talks Of Science Meet

Lectures given at the State Science Meet in Columbia were reviewed by Rachel Hill, Mildred Prince, and Isabel Keaton during the first half of the meeting of the Foreeps and Scalpel Club Friday, April 12, in Tillman Hall.

The second half of the program featured Miss Julia A. Post, who spoke of "Amber," and illustrated her talk with specimen of the semi-precious gems which she has collected.

After the program tea and crackers were served by the refreshment committee.

Biology Fraternity Adds New Members

Beta Beta Beta National Honorary Biology Fraternity, added six new members to its roll at a formal initiation and banquet on Tuesday, April 16. The new members were: Ly Eklow, L. S. Hove, Elizabeth Pierson, and Eugenia Bonnette. Other members of the fraternity are: Helen Talbert, president of the Pi Chapter, Miss Isabel Foster, Irene La Grone, Jane Hardin, and Helen Lawton.

Miss Mary Schuchart and Miss Alice Trusky were honorary guests at the banquet held at the Peewinkle Tea Room.

Queens Representatives Speak At Winthrop

"Student Missionary" was the theme discussed by Margaret Crockett, Mary McLean, Bobbie Sumner, Katherine Aray, Eleanor Carr, and Mary Wilson, at the Student Volunteer meeting Sunday, April 14, at 4 P. M. in Johnson Hall. The speakers were representatives from Queens-Colleens College.

It happened in an Astronomy class up street. The professor requested that someone in the class name a star which was noted for particularly large and outstanding features.

A freshman in the back row waved his hand vigorously. Finally he blurted: "I know, professor. Jimmy Durante."

—Boston University.

News—Y's and Other Y's

"Should Avoid Acquaintance by forgotten..." sing the old cabinet members as they see their proud successors step into their various positions. They're starting to with a bang, too—retreat at the shack this week-end to make plans for next year—meeting with old cabinet members Tuesday to hear reports on this year's work—then Barstow next week-end...

And that rumble up—it's high time to begin thinking about Blue Ridge. Every class should try to send at least one delegate, because we want Winthrop as well-represented this year as it was last. If you are in doubt as to what Blue Ridge has to offer, just ask somebody who has been before. You low-country inhabitants should know now it feels to be almost chilly in summertime, to swim in cold water, and, best of all, to be right in the heart of the mountains. It's quite an experience—out of scaling the rocky peaks—and it's good for the muscle, too.

We see where the Y. M. C. A. at Carolina put on quite an exhibition, and Y. M.'s and Y. W.'s at other colleges are taking an active part concerning the bills that are being put before congress; namely, the Securities Bill, Anti-Lynchism, and Armament Bill. Other colleges are showing interest and enthusiasm—so let's late part, too.

All's well that ends well, so we close with the announcement that the Freshman Convocation are about to burst forth with a big surprise! Watch for it Sunday.

Gym-Cracks

Winter's went! Spring's sprung! If you don't believe it go out to the "far field" and watch the girls play baseball (also catch a whiff of the spring onions)—evidence enough.

Lab Gregg vows she's a daughter of "Old Man Luck." She rings three rings in her household then Miss Post, Lu Howe, and Diddle come over to watch the proceedings she can't even hit the ring!

Cat Woods has the force when it comes to pitching.

"Little Helen" Stevenson says all she does is let them (balls) go through her legs!

Champion bowlers: Mary and Sara Cunningham, Sara Touchberry, Evelyn Martin, Ben Barnevi, and Virginia Hart!

Tennis starts this week! Get those racquets and balls and start warming up.

Tirzah Ketchin McAlpine sits and reads while Miss Couch serves "tea" at baseball practice—and Tirzah doesn't show up!

Have you heard about the time "Little Nell" Jackson turned Life Saver and rescued her would-be rival in swimming—a poor defenseless kiddy-oo!

The amphitheatre beyond and behind the Athletic Field is coming along wonderfully. Go around and see it!

Bern Mae Baker's new name for Athletic Field—"Onion Field."

Julia Thomas' pet aversion is bowling, but she says, "What's the use of putting the pins up when all you do is knock 'em over again."

Mary says, "It's loomsome without Sunshine, and Polly, and thee." Well of exchange teaching!

Wintrop Debates Charleston College

"Dilemmas" Thomas and Virginia McKeithen debated the affirmative side and Martha Hawthorn and Johnnie Howie the negative side of the Pi Kappa Delta query against the College of Charleston, Thursday night, at 8:30. Each debate was non-decision.

How to Pass—in Two Easy Lessons

"Obviously, the old system," said Fred Phillips, "whereby the exam papers are thrown down the stairs, and the one falling on the top step gets an 'A', and the others are graded according to their position on the steps, is unfair. Under the new system," he added proudly, "the papers will be thrown in the pool and the one that 'sinks' will pass, while the ones that sink will fail. In that way there will be no half way mark. Students," he added firmly, "will either pass completely or fail completely."

—The (W&L) Ring-Tan Philop.

Notes: Letha Chase, Prof.: What does "Aqua terrida" mean?

Stude: I dunno.

Prof.: Well, what's all wet and always bubbling with a surmounting noise.

Stude: Oh, I getcha, a professor.

—Boston University.

Journal Announces Contest Regulations

The Play Contest, sponsored annually by The Winthrop Journal, will end this year, April 24, as announced by Ann Ware, editor of The Journal.

Rules for the contest require that the play be complete in one act and that the author be a member of one of the three literary societies. All plays must be submitted on or before April 24. The prize-winning plays will be presented by a cast chosen from the literary societies, during commencement week.

Professor Maggins Talks To Associations

Professor Willis D. Maggins, President of the South Carolina Education Association, attended a meeting of the executive committee of that organization in Columbia, Tuesday, April 16.

He will speak to the Lee County Education Association at Elizabethton on April 17 and will take with him the girls, Martha Sheryl, Anna Marion Snee, and Gene Arant. Minnie Greese Moore, pianist, and Miriam Riley, violinist, will also accompany him.

Mr. Maggins will speak to the Sumner County Education Association at the girls' high school in Sumter, Saturday, April 20.
