Where Are You Going?

Why should a student take time, out of relating to write a story? For the reason that we do anything that is really worthwhile—from making life meaningful instead of achieving a success of holler-shall happening.

What do you know about your major field?

Why are you studying it? Do you have a good reason to do it? If so, what is it? If not, what is the purpose of the course going on right now?

The reason for the course in the University is to make you know what you're going to learn. If you started out to California, you'll take along a map that you may not find the way.

A Nonpartisan Revolution

After all the political bickering and occasion- al progress between the two major American national political parties, it is not our belief, but rather an ambition to have a good reason for their purpose when we see them united on a single cause. Support our Church in an international matter which demands it. Support our nation in a fair defense for the defense of Fornas is an example of such worth.

The President had hoped for a demonstration of American unity with which to confront the inefficient Communicate in the Fornas Scull, and that was what he obtained. The resolution was not of a vote of confidence for the President because the point that the "Campanile shall not be polluted to take Fornas and the Fornas by force" has been the policy of the U. R. since 192.

There were only three votes against the resolution in this house, and Congress was not yet over.

Kanso is true. If this column tends to be a little "grumpy" side, just read it casually and follow up with a large. It's coming to you from the Created-Independent. My case has been designed and if the parenthesis doesn't fluff off. I'll be on an out of this world with long stops. This is a prediction, because it is a plot that has been written for the President's party, his several critics in regard to the last retaliating gave him the chief's enthusiastic support.

Such a remarkable exhibition of solidarity, solidarity has rarely been achieved in matters of that sort. It has the appearance of mutual trust and a real willingness to work together by a President of one party and a Church whose major numbers pole of any party. It is an indication of which both Republicans and Democrats can be proud.
