Inside...

Winthrop History Series ................................................................. page 6
WC Model U.N. Delegation Receives Award ................................. page 8
Decision '76 ................................................................................ page 2
WC Entertainment: Tom Webb On Concerts ................................ page 2
Editorials, columns ....................................................................... pages 4 & 5
Webb Explains Why Elton John Won't Appear At Winthrop

by Sheila Nolan

The following is a recent interview with Tom Webb, Director of Diskus Student Center, concerning students' demands for campus entertainment. Student can write letters to The Johanna, drop by the Student Center office, or attend the upcoming "gripe" session to voice their opinions the Programming Board.

"Variety has been here. We had an up-and-coming group on campus that was well publicized by radio stations in Charlotte, the campus radio, THE JOHANSON-SONIAN, Rockhill papers, theDiskus newsletter and posters. We had a reduction in ticket sales, a bike give-away, and a money-back guarantee. And yet, our turnout was only 250 people."

This was Tom Webb's feeling after a February 15 concert featuring the Wright Brothers Overland Stage Company, held in Byrnes Auditorium.

"The Wright Brothers have sold out at the University of Tennessee, Detroit, Mississippi State and Texas Tech," Webb said.

Judging from ticket sales, Webb felt that students at Winthrop have not supported the past two or three concerts.

"Last year, B.J. Thomas, Sha Na Na and Mother's Finest were all on the same bill, a variable selection for supposedly anyone and still the campus did not turn out," Webb said.

"Of course anyone would like to see a big group like the Doobie Brothers or Elton John, but we'd have to spend half of our entire budget to accomplish that. Also, performers' fees are up 37% over last year and budget increases have not kept up with these figures. Thus programming has taken on a different scope at most schools, such as short courses or coffee houses such as ACROSS THE STREET.

"Although we don't work with Clemons' or Caroline's budget, we'd like to provide the same variety," Webb said.

"Elections are coming up and we need people to chair positions.

A "gripe" session will be held in Diskus within the coming month before elections are held, according to Webb. The Programming Board officers will be present to hear gripes and suggestions.

"Winthrop is a successful campus, but how do we break it when the students want the initiative to stay and participate?" Webb asked.

Webb Explains Why Elton John Won't Appear At Winthrop

Candidate And Party Profiles Selected

by Alan Rash

Each candidate will be profiled as follows: Fred Harris, Stan Jeter, Harry Jackson, Pam Griffin, Milton Shapp, Laura Ford, Sargent Shriver, David Kee, Birch Bayh, Ms. Douglas Holingsworth; George Wallace, Gary Roberts; Morris Udall. Judy Fawell; Jimmy Carter, Gillian Kerley. Folkens indicated that potential candidates such as Frang Church (who might announce soon) would be profiled by Joanne Schneider.

SGA Installs Telephone Tape Service

by Sheila Nolan

"SGA has installed a telephone tape system in its office which operates from 8:30-11:30 a.m. on Monday and Wednesdays. 3-5 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. Students may call 2179 after 6 p.m., students can call the information desk," according to Margaret Williamson, president.

"Students may call 2179 requesting information concerning career counseling, credit by examination, Diskus, dorm chapels, placement services, intramural, and others," Williamson said.

Wallace Or Bayh Better Than Any Republican According To County Democratic Leader

by Alan Rash

York County State Executive Committeeman Bayles Mack "would like to see a president with the Democratic Party who has not run and lost." But in a recent telephone interview, the York County Democrat who is trying to line up a vote for George Wallace or Birch Bayh over any Republicans. Democratic candidates are simply more in tune with the needs of the people, and the majority of the people in this area fit this description.

Mack predicted victory in York County for any Democratic nominee over Ford or Reagan with the notable exceptions of Morris Udall, Birch Bayh, Fred Harris, and Milton Sharpe.

Regarding the characterization of the CHARLOTTE OBSERVER as a liberal paper by GOP leader Ray Turner, the Democrat commented, "The OBSERVER is a moderate paper. It is influential, but it simply doesn't have the clout to sway an election. The people of York County are simply too independent in their thinking to allow a newspaper to change their vote." Mack's response to Black voters who might question his willingness to support George Wallace, was to term him as more liberal than Bayh. He said, "Wallace has changed since he 'stood in the door.' His philosophy is the terms of labor, social security, and other domestic issues is liberal--much like Bayh. Reagan and Ford are pro-business in their approach."

He discussed how liberal the Democratic Party would have to become before he would become "disturbed.""Democratic Party has a lot of room for people who want to meet the needs of all people, and lost."

But I don't work with the economy of Great Britain. For example, the nationalization of health programs and of the oil industry would probably be a good thing.

Mack plans to run as an uncommitted delegate to the Democratic National Convention, resides in Fort Mill.

We Were Wrong

A page-two photograph in last week's issue incorrectly identified Decision '76 coordinator Dwyanne Elmore as "Dwight Elmores." Also, in the issue's list of all names, an explanation was printed concerning the full page of boldface type that appeared in the Feb. 7 issue. As stated in the explanation, it resulted from an error in production--but the error was mechanical and could not be corrected by the printers before the publication deadline.

Candidate And Party Profiles Selected

by Alan Rash

The Winthrop College presidential Primary, Decision '76. A mail-in ballot election for April 6, is moving forward on schedule, according to Karl Folkens, one of five Decision '76 coordinators.

Folkens is coordinating the preparation of profiles of the two national political parties and of all declared candidates. A final compilation of the work is to be published in a special Decisions '76 issue of THE JOHANSON-SONIAN.

According to Editor Linda Whitmer, "The special issue will focus the attention of the entire student body on national politics in this important election year. Each student will be well informed by April 6 and this will enhance the effectiveness of the primary.

In naming the profiles, Folkens said that it was hard to single out students for recognition, but the profiles had accepted substantial responsibility toward making the primary a meaningful experience for the campus.

A. Daniel Urschel will serve as administrative assistant to Folkens and Robin Abbot will serve as editor.

A profile of the Republican and Democratic parties will be compiled by Gay Randolph.

President Ford's campaign will be handled by Lena and Maria Leon and former Governor Reagan's campaign by Kathy All.

The long list of Democratic hopefuls will be profiled as follows: Fred Harris, Stan Jeter, Harry Jackson, Pam Griffin, Milton Shapp, Laura Ford, Sargent Shriver, David Kee, Birch Bayh, Ms. Douglas Holingsworth; George Wallace, Gary Roberts; Morris Udall. Judy Fawell; Jimmy Carter, Gillian Kerley. Folkens indicated that potential candidates such as Frang Church (who might announce soon) would be profiled by Joanne Schneider.

Describing the enthusiasm and cooperation of these involved students as "tremendous," Folkens said, "We will be successful. These people are working hard and doing a superb job I feel certain a majority of the students will vote on Tuesday, April 6."

SGA Installs Telephone Tape Service

by Sheila Nolan

"SGA has installed a telephone tape system in its office which operates from 8:30-11:30 a.m. on Monday and Wednesdays. 3-5 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday. Students may call 2179 after 6 p.m., students can call the information desk," according to Margaret Williamson, president.

"Students may call 2179 requesting information concerning career counseling, credit by examination, Diskus, dorm chapels, placement services, intramural, and others," Williamson said.

Students interested should ask a SGA advisor if telephone number. The operator will replay it and remain on the phone to answer any questions the caller might have.

The tape system idea originated at the University of Cincinnati, and the University of Kentucky.

"I hope a lot of people take advantage of the service. It is a quick dissemination of vital information," Williamson said.

Williamson said that she hopes students will call the SGA number for information, rather than the various offices.

NOW Meeting

The Rock Hill chapter of the National Organization for Women met at the Westminster House, Dr. Pat Ebert, guest speaker, will deliver an address on "The Psychology of Women."
The Drama Festival Is A Learning Experience

by marsha maxey

"The twenty-first annual Drama Festival will be our biggest yet," said William I. Long, professor of Drama and coordinator for the event. "We have twelve original one-act plays and twenty-one professional one-act plays scheduled to be presented by the twenty-five high schools registered.

The Drama Festival will run February 26-29 in Johnson Hall. High school Drama clubs from all over South Carolina were invited last fall to participate in the annual event. The schools which are bringing plays this year include Spring Valley, A.C. Flora, Rock Hill, Clinton, Orangeburg-Wilkinson, Northwestern, Sumter-Council, Palmetto, Lower Richland, Sumter-Haynesworth, Irmo, C.A. Johnson, York-Comprehensive, Buford.

Also, Keenan, Greenville, Cardinal Newman, Spartanburg Day School, St. Andrews, Wilson, and Wade Hampton will attend.

The high schools will present their plays afternoons and evenings Thursday through Saturday afternoon. A panel of judges will rate each play. The actors will be checked on such points as voice, characterization, movement, contrast, ensemble, timing, and motivation. Technical aspects such as set, lighting, costumes, tempo, and make-up are also carefully judged. "This year's judges include Del Hamilton, Mrs. Louise Thomas Miller, Warren Spehla, Christopher M. Reynolds, and others who are not yet committed," said Long.

After each session, directors and the audience, which is made up of the visiting high school students, discuss the plays while the stage is being set for the next production.

"The Festival is aimed at training as well as being entertaining. At the end of the Festival, the judges will pick out two or three school's plays and will work with the students who can stay overnight on their play. They offer suggestions and let them repeat the performance to see how the training shows," Long added.

"The plays are given ratings of superior, excellent, good, honorable mention, or fair. There are categories for Award, cups, and pins awarded as well as an Over-All Merit Cup. They really go about choosing that," Long added.

In addition to the plays, there are Make-up and Costumes contests. And this year's festival will feature a presentation of "The Magnificent Adventures of Ty," by Arts, Inc. of Valdosta, Georgia to be performed on Saturday afternoon. Also, the Green Ice band, a local group, is scheduled to play.

"There's no discipline problem even with several hundred high school students attending. The chaperones are responsible for them and the students and adults alike are carefully screened. The newsletter sent to all participating schools instructs them to "Leave trouble-makers and drug and alcohol addicts at home." There is a check made by security patrols at the hotels and the 1 a.m. curfew is strictly enforced.

But the students attending are very serious about the Drama. "They're committed with the idea to see all the plays and learn from the other students. It's a great event in their lives," Long concluded.

WC Sponsors High School Music Camp In July

A two-week music camp for high school students will be held for the first time this summer at Winthrop College. The dates are July 11-24.

Designed to offer quality musical instruction, the camp is open to all high school students, including those who have completed the eighth grade. Students should be able to play a musical instrument.

This year's camp will feature a major division and will be offered in preparation of "The Magnificent Adventures of Ty," by Arts, Inc. of Valdosta, Georgia. Students will participate in small ensembles, including jazz, brass, woodwind and percussion. Private lessons in the student's major instrument as well as advanced classes in keyboard harmony, orchestration and band arranging will be offered. A specialty class is being planned in band leadership, including drum majoring, instrument repair, conducting patterns, shows and writing manuscripts.

The band camp will be highlighted by a concert on July 23 at 8 p.m. in Byrnes Auditorium featuring a jazz ensemble and a concert band performance by the high school students.

In addition to the many musical opportunities, recreational activities include movies, dances, swimming, tennis and a trip to Carowinds.

The cost of the camp is $115 for day students and $185 for students who wish to stay in dormitories. The fee for dorm students includes room and board.

Dr. Grover Pitman, conductor of the Winthrop band, is musical director of the camp, and Donald Rogers of the Winthrop faculty is camp coordinator. Private instruction will be provided by the Winthrop College faculty and the principal players of the Charlotte Symphony.

Deadline for applications is May 15. For further information and application forms, contact the School of Music, Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina 29733 or telephone (803) 323-3255.
Dear Winthrop College,

I know it is supposedly winter and that bears hibernate, but we are human beings, at least that is what the biology books say. And Winthrop had a great concert Sunday night. Don't tell me you did not have one dollar and the time. Mr. Webb and the Dinkins board worked themselves to death and the Winthrop male and female did not show. The 150 of us that attended got a real treat.

D. Starres

Dear Editor,

Early last week, I found out that Dean "the cop" Clinton will no longer be with the security force after March 1. He has been on the force about eight years, but he has found a better job with Duke Power.

Denny was the cop everyone knew: even after your second week as a freshman. He would sit down and have a cup of coffee with you at Dinkins and talk to you about everything. He was just "the cop." That was his last name as far as most people were concerned.

Of course, there are people who do not carry these same sentiments about him, but you have to admit he had a job to do and he did it well. We will miss Denny, most likely because he did not project himself as an authoritative person, but rather as a friend. A friend to the students.

Something was coming down and coming down had.

Denny was the "informal" cop. Hardly anyone called him Digg. Clinton, many probably didn't know he was a sergeant. He was just "the cop." That was his last name as far as most people were concerned.

Of course, there are people who do not carry these same sentiments about him, but you have to admit he had a job to do and he did it well. We will miss Denny, most likely because he did not project himself as an authoritative person, but rather as a friend. A friend to the students.

Dear Editor,

I have a slight niggling about the last week's editorial. It is true that most problems in the library are due to faculty, but female students do not show. The 150 of us that attended got a real treat.

D. Starres

Dear Editor,

My conversation (debate?) with the cadet continued (N.O.W. versus U.S. Military/Academy). I will suggest that we end the discussion, or grounds that he was losing. His final advice to me, which I took to be more or less a salute from West Point, was, "Give 'em hell, McGuire."

TJ

BOX 6800
WRITE US.
THE
MUD-SPATTERED
BANNER

John Blalock

OH! SAY, CAN YOU SEE, BY THE DAWN'S EARLY LIGHT,
(To the starling an-battered children)
WHAT SO PROUDLY WE HAILED AT THE TWILIGHT'S LAST GLEAMING?
(juvenile whores selling their bodies for junk)
WHOSE BROAD STRIPES AND BRIGHT STARS,
(convocting stampoting bicenentennial ear tags)
THRO' THE PERILOUS FIGHT,
(the screams of rape and murder viciouus)
O'ER THE RAMPARTS WE WATCHED
(Attica)
WHERE SO GALLANTLY STREAMING?
(a dozen dead at LaGuardia)
AND THE ROCKETS' RED GLARE,
(nuclear overkill)
THE BOMBS BURSTING IN AIR.
(Angolan dying for detente)
GAVE PROOF THRO' THE NIGHT THAT OUR FLAG WAS STILL THERE.
(The Canal Zone, Puerto Rico, Guantanamo Bay)
OH! SAY, DOES THAT STAR SPANGLED BANNER
YET WAVE
(in support of Chile...Spain...Korea...)
O'ER THE LAND OF THE FREE
(Nixon, Haldeman, Ehrlichman, Mitchell)
AND THE HOME OF THE BRAVE?
(still Missing in Action...Vietnam)

Jim Good

I ended up just this past weekend at a friend's house with a notorious crew of Rock Hill rowdies at two in the a.m. with the slowest courting through the old brainpan and the bozo smoke so thick you could cut it with a knife and lemon—blush...you know, like carrying on and just mumblin' and stumblin' about half-stake and ready to be jounced onto the compost heap when I found myself dead thick in the middle of a very seri-ous and somewhat disconcerting political discussion.

As a rule I tend to avoid subjects of this nature in a relaxed atmosphere, but our mouths were in gear and there was no way out. My friends were sitting there on either side of me explaining "The Plan" for escaping the Goodfno Yoo-Essofaye once Ronnie "The Gipper" Reagan gets elected. It seemed thoroughly apparent to them both that the total and immediate destruction of Our American Way of Life will follow with such an eventuality. They described to me all the horrors of the Orwellian police state that would soon arise, every opponent of Our Pez stalling it behind barbed-wire fences.

Horrible indeed. The horror that struck me was in the realization that in the event things really did begin to turn fascist, all of these intelligent, idealistic Sons and Daughters of America would be long gone, cooling their heels in the Cayman Islands or some place. As the great General Ho was "Rapid Retreat" Congreve used to say, "When in doubt, get the hell out." Or in the words of more recent statesman, "When the going gets tough, the tough get going." Clear on to Catalonia.

Isn't it nice to know that the people who were so agitated at the fear and loathing and ludicrous paranoia of the Tricky Dee administration are so quick to say "Ronnie is out to get us." These reactionary bastards are our sworn enemies. Why not break up a nice little meeting? Our word lesson for today involves the noun "prejudice." This word basically means "judgement without basis of fact." Pre means before and justic means judgement. In other words, "prejudice" involves assuming a thing to be a certain way based on something other than a studied knowledge of the subject matter. So here's these left-wing intellectuals who so happily look down upon the "cracker" Wallace for his ignorance going around like Chicken Little yelling that the sky is falling just because there's a reactionary in the White House. Would you like me to tell you what became of the last reaction­ary who was there? Actually, he got tossed out and became quite rich as a result (the wages of slo). O.K. so maybe we'll have to kick Ronnie out too, but I cannot believe that he is out to "get" anything except elected. If he starts "getting" people they have shown they are perfectly capable of "getting" a bit, themselves. It really has to shake you up to think that a substan tiol number of people in this country (college educated, yet! Oh, my, my, think that the Armed Services is government set up in such a way that it could pop and fizzle into a pile of gritty ash like the semi-annual hemorrhages of a banana republic. No, the sad truth is that we are in a slow and inexorable decline. We have reached our inevitable stage of decay. There will be no more super cultures in our lifetime or in our children's. We have seen to it that the preponderant supply of material riches to be had is this world no longer exists. We can no longer take 6.0 on Earth, so when we fall back on taking what we can from each other. These political innocents of the left and the right have better be prepared for a hard jolt with reality when they begin to discover that it isn't just here this happening. Here is as good a microcosm of the world as all. After all, we're the ones who are on top. It will be up to us to look at us, for pity's sake, "No place to turn, no place to hide; this whole journey is only what you make it."
Those Amazing Kinards

Cheryl Carnes

The second president of Winthrop, James F. Kinard, and his wife Lee Wicker were among the most outstanding of Winthrop's first families. Kinard, the successor of Dr. D.B. Johnson, left a distinctive mark on the campus, not only in name—Kinard Hall, but also through his ability to carry forward the traditions and beginnings of the college.

James Flicksney Kinard was born at Kinard's in Newberry County on July 17, 1864. Kinard was fatherless as a young child; his father was killed during a Virginia battle in the Civil War.

As a youth Kinard attended Newberry Male Academy and entered Newberry College. In 1882, he won a scholarship to the Citadel, from which he graduated in 1886.

Kinard, upon graduation, served as head of the Newberry Male Academy for two years and returned to the Citadel as head of the School of English and Psychology. Soon he rose from professor to dean to acting president when President Johnson was off campus.

Therefore, it was no shock when the Board of Trustees awarded the title of president to Kinard upon the death of Johnson. After all, no other person had worked so closely with Johnson or knew the background of the college as well as this man.

In the years in which Kinard served as president he never once strayed from the trust that the board had in him. Kinard served as president for the college from 1929-1934. In 1934, Kinard felt that he was too old for the job, so he resigned. Upon his resignation, President-Denton Phelps, the new successor, along with the Board of Trustees decided to name Kinard president emeritus.

Kinard served in this capacity as an aide and advisor to the college until his death.

While at Winthrop, Kinard married the head of the history department, Miss Lee Wicker from Farmville, Virginia. Lee Wicker became increasingly important to the Winthrop community after her husband's death.

At the age of 81, Mrs. Kinard began to travel extensively. For political reasons, she traveled with her husband to Puerto Rico. South America, Mexico and Hawaii.

Everywhere she traveled she carried the name of Winthrop with her, until her tragic death in a fire at her daughter's home in Charlotte on January 21, 1963.

The Kinards were very important to Winthrop. Without the knowledge and guidance of the second president the college could have not have developed as extensively during its early years, and Mrs. Kinard showed women, especially those of the Winthrop community, that a woman could do amazing things in the modern world for the good of all. What a couple these two individuals were!

Next week an article concerning the daughter of the Kinards, Mrs. Katherine Stroud, a native of Rock Hill, will be featured. Don't miss it!

'VISIONS' Exhibition Opens This Week At Winthrop

The "Visions of Reality" exhibition from the South Carolina State Art Commission opens this week and will run through February 27 at the Winthrop Gallery of Art. The exhibition, sponsored by the Proctor Foundation in Charleston, will be open to the public without charge Monday through Friday 9:00-4:30. It is open Sunday afternoon, 2:00-5:00.

This exhibit features 23 paintings, drawings and sculptures which document the American scene. Some of the artists utilize a visually realistic approach, while others combine multi-images of one object within a single format.

The exhibit is part of Art Tours, a Traveling Exhibition Service of the South Carolina Arts Commission. Funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts, Art Tours is designed to share the art resources in the state by providing communities with exhibits drawn from the State Art Commission and major museums in South Carolina.

Among the works included in the exhibition is Darrell Koons' "S.C. Railroad Station" from which evolves a mood of isolation and permanence. Precisely rendered in the medium of masonite, the railroad building stands abandoned, silhouetted against a wild winter sky. Both the mood and the precision of detail command the viewer's attention.

Another work in the exhibition is "Washday" by Eleanor Spyrell. The painting is a rendering of a woman hanging her wash on the line beside a simple frame cottage. "Washday" is both spontaneous and fluid, suggesting images rather than meticulously defining them.

Other works featured in "Visions of Reality" are: "Killer Whale" by Arthur Rose; "Game for Three" by William Halsey; "Conversation" by James Howard; "Bucket of Stone Carving Tools" by John Michel; "Second Thought" by David Brown; "What Happens When Two Clouds Meet" by Michael Tow; "P & #1" by Phil Mullen; "Landscape" by Alice Ross Ballard; "Weathered Sign" by Ray Davenport; "The Station" and "B.C.-Three Roads" by Thomas Seawell; "Spring" by Gilmer Petroff; "Compositions in Warms" by Louise Yancey; "Janet, Lancaster" by Roy Drausin; "Interior with Chairs" by Jean McWhorter; "Dredge Floats" by Chevia Clark; "Agonda Luxembourg" by Corrie McCallum, "Bear" by Lawrence Anthony; "Scarecrow Hill" by Robert J. Mills; "Mod Girl with Glasses" by Sigmund Abell; and "End of Day" by Edmund Yaghjian.

THE STATION by Thomas Seawell
A selection from the "Visions of Reality" exhibition.

DORM WHAT???
Dorm chaplains???

You have a dorm chaplain—if you live in a dorm......
When and Where???
You have a sign in your dorm telling you the weekly hours and regular place.

W H Y ?? ?? ?? ??
You have another pair of ears, another heart, and some alternatives.....come and see.
Small Audience Enjoys Wright Brothers

Standing Ovation From 250 Listeners

Sheila Nolan

"This is the most beautiful campus we've played," said Ronald Perry, manager of the Wright Brothers Overland Stage Company. "I hope you'll all come back and have a good time."

With that as an introduction, the Wright Brothers began playing at 9 p.m. in Byrnes Auditorium, Sunday, February 15. The show concluded at 11:30 p.m. with a standing ovation.

The bearded musicians, dressed in Western tuxedos, cowboy hats, and boots, played everything from gospel, folk, hard rock, and ballads, to instrumentals. They've played with Tom T. Hall, the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, Jim and Jesse, Red Buttons, and Jewell McRae. The group consists of Tim Wright, lead vocals, guitar and banjo; his brother, Tom Wright, lead vocals and guitar; Steve Walker, percussion and vocals; Ben Thomas, steel guitar and the only member of the group who could read music; McDowell, and Perry who also plays the harmonica.

"We wrote the stuff we play. Well, we write half the stuff we hear. Well, we write at least a fourth the stuff we play," said Tom Wright, keeping an excellent rapport with the audience.

"Tom (Webb) told us not to expect a full house," Tom said. "He said they usually come in later. I said how late, and he said April."

The 250 people present applauded, laughed and clapped throughout nearly every song, and for the people there it appeared to be nothing but a success.

"They're gonna be big," said one student leaving the concert.

"Yeah," said another. "Those are the kind of people that will cost 56 to see the next time."

Do You Have Ears In Your 4-Wheeler?

by Connie Osuna

The CB radio has become the hottest-selling item on the market recently! Approximately 2.4 million CB operators are licensed by the FCC and perhaps another million are operating radios illegally. Most operators are not truckers but ordinary automobile drivers who enjoy the trucking life and the truckdriving lingo.

The CB radio is not only used for warning people about the highway patrol, but can also be used for emergencies. If someone is in need of help, he can give his location and there will usually be help in only a few minutes. The CB is also a means of anonymous communication. Each operator has a "handle" or code name and he is requested to give his handle when cutting-in on the CB.

To operate a CB radio, a person must apply for a license to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC). It usually takes about two months to receive a license. The person is then given a Rules and Regulations book and if he fails to obey the rules, he can be fined as much as $75.00. Although CB radios are presently the hottest-selling electronic gadgets around, they will not last forever. But who knows? The trucker's new electronic "ears" may play an important part in the everyday life of each American. Ten-four.

The following is a brief glossary of terms and phrases heard on CB radio: Double nickels-55 mph Ear-OK Four-wheeler-passenger car Fork door-Last rig in convoy Green stamp-money Hair-Over-unmarked patrol car Seat covers-Girls in care Smokee boy-highway patrol Smokey taking pictures-State trooper with radar Ten-four OK We gonna Transmission completed

Children's Theater

Auditions

Auditions for the Children's Theater production of "Bip Van Winkle" will be held February 24 and 25 at 3 p.m. in Johnson Auditorium, according to William L. Long, director.

All interested children are invited to audition.

Unclaimed Items

The housing office is holding in storage articles left in dorms by students. Any organization interested in selling unclaimed items, please contact the Housing Office, 2nd Floor Dickinson.

*REDKEN\ RETAIL CENTER

*THE HAIR GALLERY\n
Precison cuts, color, perms

1044 MT. GALLANT RD.

Ph Plus Skin Care
Protein Hair Care

Hear

Rockin' Rico at 4 p.m. weekdays on Rock Hill's WYIC Radio Dial 11½

Women Shopping Center 386-2962

Winter Intake Spring Merchandise!

Spring tops, blouses, sweaters, skirts, jeans, and pants One rack of pants & blouses $5

10% discount with W.C. ID
WC Model U.N. Delegation Receives Award At Princeton

by Sheila Nolan

Winthrop's delegation to the recent Princeton Model U.N. received an award for superior representation of its assigned country in the Legal Committee.

The delegation, including Alan Rash (chairman), Debbie Mollycheck, Tommy Jackson, Laura McGuire, and Sam McKeown, left Thursday, February 12 and returned Sunday, February 15.

"There were 50 to 60 countries represented by such schools as West Point, Kings College, Smith, Vanderbilt, and Northeastern," Rash said.

The group was originally supposed to represent Lebanon. However, due to an error in assignment, Winthrop represented Mauritania.

"We played a really central role in Security Council discussions, the committees, and in the General Assembly. We were involved in the Palestine question: Mauritania is very much pro-Palestine since the population of the country is a mixture of Arab and Black people," Rash said.

The Winthrop delegation was also involved in defending Mauritania's position regarding the Spanish Sahara, and in questions regarding Angola.

"All the resolutions that came before the General Assembly involved our country in some way. We were elected as the principal representative of the Third World in the General Assembly," Rash said.

The Winthrop delegation was successful in getting its resolution regarding the law of the seas passed in the Legal Committee.

At a reception held Saturday night, February 14, awards were given and ambassadors from various countries greeted the student U.N. representatives.

Senator Votes Down 'Loud Hour' Bill

by Sheila Nolan

The Senate voted down a bill to change the present 10-11 p.m. "loud hour" to 9-10 p.m. Tuesday, February 17.

The bill proposed the change because the 10 to 11 hour breaks the "continuity of those studying" and the "present loud hour interferes with those who wish to go to bed early, such as student teachers."

Senator Susan Whittier said, "I'd like to speak against the bill since it is 9 most people are at meetings or are "the library, whereas at 10, p.m., he are back on the hall and are ready to have a break."

"I feel that having the loud hour from 9 to 10 could break the continuity of studying. I know some loud hours for some halls don't end until 12 or 1. So, I think, we need to respect the loud hour no matter what it is," said Senator Wyndy Amerson.

Senator Sandy Lawmaster said, "I think 10 to 11 is the best hour for people to socialize."

Senator Patricia Shala spoke in favor of the bill saying, "Academic Affairs poll results indicated that students did want the 'loud hour' moved up."

Senator also heard second reading on the Intramural Board Constitution and passed it unanimously.

The Senate will meet tomorrow, February 24, at 7 p.m.

Intramural Standings

by Sheila Nolan

IMPROVEMENTS have been made in Intramural Standings since last week.

Men

Basketball

Facility

Day Student Rompers

Boaters

Smokin' Jokers

Willie and the Boys

Over-The-Hill Gang

The Hoos

Dinkins Doughnuts

"Perception of middle age varies between men and women and among social classes. White-collar groups perceive middle age as beginning at 50 and old age at 70. Blue-collar workers see middle age as beginning at 40 and old age at 60."

Who/What/When/Where

Intramural Standings

by Sheila Nolan

Rowe String Quartet

The Rowe String Quartet, a resident group from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, will give a concert at Winthrop College Tuesday, Feb. 24. A presentation of the Concert Series, the performance begins at 8 p.m. in Recital Hall. There is no admission charge.

The Rowe Quartet is made up of Patricio Cobus (violin), a former faculty member at Winthrop, the husband-wife team of A-jene and Luca DiCicco, violin and cello, respectively, and Pamela Benjamin, viola.

The group will be joined by pianist Eugene Barber, a member of Winthrop School of Music faculty.

Hayden's Quartet in C major, Op. 33, No. 3, Berg's String Quartet, Op. 3, and Franck's Piano Quintet in F minor are to be performed.

Rowe String Quartet

The Rowe String Quartet is named in honor of Oliver Regan Rowe, a Charlotte industrialist who supported the arts and helped establish the group at UNC-Charlotte.

In the short two years in which the quartet has been together, they have achieved a remarkable repertoire from classical through modern eras.

The next Concert Series presentation is the New York Concerts on March 29.

Anthology Accepting Submissions

The Anthology is now accepting submissions for the Spring, 1976 issue, according to editor Clara Davis.

Poems, short stories, essays, or black-and-white photographs should be sent to Box 6875, Winthrop College Station. All submissions should be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope, or return cannot be guaranteed, according to the editor.

"President Charles Vail is sponsoring the President's Poetry Contest again this year," Davis said. "Material submitted for the contest should be identified as such."

Beta Alpha Meeting

Beta Alpha, business club, will meet Thursday, Feb. 26, at 5:30 p.m. in 101 Kinard.

Elections will be held to select new officers at the meeting.

Beta Alpha members are urged to attend this important club meeting.

SALE! 2 for $1.00

Health and Beauty Aids

Shampoo

Sudan Lotion

Mouthwash

Any 2 for only $1.00

NOW at the Winthrop College Store

Dinkins Student Center